GANDHI PROMISES TO AID INDEPENDENCE MOVEMENT

PATNA, India, April 6 (CP cable via Reuters).—M. K. Gandhi today approved the decision of the Indian Congress leaders to contest the forthcoming elections to the Legislative Assembly and revive the Swaraj (Indian independence) movement.

The Mahatma furthermore promised to render all the assistance he could to the party.

The decision considerably clarified the attitude of the Congress leaders towards the British Government's proposals for a measure of further self-government for India, still under study in London. Apparently they will go ahead with their fight for complete independence regardless of the official steps toward placing India on her own feet.

DATE AND ALMOND MERINGUE

Two egg whites, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one cup confectioner's sugar, one-half cup dates, finely cut; one-third cup broken almond meats. Beat egg whites with salt until stiff and dry. Add sugar gradually, beating the while. When all has been added, fold in dates and almonds. Drop by spoonfuls onto a lightly-greased baking sheet. Bake in a slow oven, 275 degrees Fahrenheit, until dry on the surface and a delicate brown in color. Remove from the sheet while still warm.

NASH STRIKE SETTLED

WASHINGTON, April 6 (CP) — The Federal Automobile Board had announced to-day settlement of strikes involving 4,600 employees at three Wisconsin plants of the Nash Motor Company. The settlement agreements calls for a wage increase of 10 per cent and an hourly minimum of 50 cents for men and 44 cents for women.

SEEK CRIPPLED SHIP

HALIFAX, April 6 (CP)—Weather had cleared to-day off the Nova Scotia coast, and officials of the Department of Fisheries said the Government cutter Arras stood a good chance of picking up the disabled Lunenburg fishing vessel Bruce and Winona outside Halifax harbor.

The motor vessel had been crippled for two days. Her intermediate shaft snapped Wednesday.

YOUNG PEOPLE OF TRINITY CLUB PRESENT PLAY

Three-act Comedy, "Meet Uncle Sally" Presented to Large Audience.

George Nicholls Directs.

Play Will be Repeated This Evening in Reid Street Hall.

A hilarious three-act comedy, entitled "Meet Uncle Sally" was presented before a large and highly pleased audience in Trinity Sunday School Hall last evening by the Trinity Young People's Club. The performance kept the audience in gales of laughter with its swift-moving plot which is packed to the full with a humorous tangle that grows more complex and funny every minute.

The comedy, which had its premier last night and which will be repeated this evening, was under the direction of George Nicholls and the capable work of the well-balanced cast was a splendid tribute to the fine work of the director. It proved to be one of the best amateur theatricals presented here this season, the actors playing their parts well, entering fully into the characterizations and every word of the breezy dialogue being heard distinctly in all parts of the hall.

Jessie Tully as Sally Sherwood, a college student, who masquerades as "Uncle Bill," a heavily moustached gentleman and a "rough diamond" from the Oklahoma coal fields, rolling in wealth, is the central figure in the performance, and she secured the full worth from her important part. "Aunt Dorinda," a spinister who misses no opportunities to fulfill her desire of wedded bliss, pursues "Uncle Bill" and therein arise many complications.

Things start happening right from the outset. Word is received by "Ben Blayne," Max Clarke, and his sister, "Betty," Addie Wright that their rich uncle, "William Hawkins," Bill Holgate is coming for a visit. They immediately conceive the idea of a love match for their Uncle Bill with Aunt Dorinda, aunt of "Bob Durant," Betty's fiance, Malcolm Latimer and "Elaine Durant," Bob's sister and Ben's fiancee, played by Mabel Ferguson.

Sally Sherwood drops in to visit her friends, the Blaynes, and is immediately pressed upon to masquerade as "Uncle Bill," who unfortunately has telegraphed that his arrival has been delayed. Sally takes on the job and she fills the role of "Uncle Bill" so well that she fools everyone and all unwillingly wins the heart of "Aunt Dorinda."

The manner in which the plot is built up and then unwound has to be seen to be fully appreciated.

Edna Forster played her part of "Jenny," the Swede cook, like a professional and Bill Fanjoy as "Snorkins," the Cockney butler, also added much to the comedy.

Others in the cast are: Charlie Huffman, "Dr. Jimmy Snodgrass," an osteopath; Helen Wooten, "Miss Muggs," dean of Ketcham College; Jimmy Ridyard, "Rev. Wright"; Bill Holgate as the real "William Hawkins."

U.K. BUTTER MARKET.

OTTAWA, April 6.—Butter and cheese markets in the United Kingdom were dull this week, according to cabled advice received yesterday by the Department of Agriculture. The weakness in both commodities, however, is considered to be temporary.

Butter: New Zealand, 72s to 73s per cwt. (16.56c to 16.81c per lb.); Australian, 70s to 71s per cwt. (16.12 to 16.36c per lb.).

Cheese: New Zealand, 44s per cwt. (10.13c per lb.); Canadian unchanged, 53s to 54s per cwt. (11.51c to 13.43c per lb.).

When a Newspaperman Showed The World That It Could Be Done

Twenty-four years ago, Tuesday, April 3, Walter Wellman, newspaperman who believed in making news instead of simply writing it, was preparing for the first attempt to fly the Atlantic. When he got started from Atlantic City in October, in the airship America, he didn't attain his goal, but he did break the world's record for sustained flight by travelling 1,008 miles, and he was the first to use wireless successfully in air airship, and demonstrate its possibilities in making air travel faster. Wellman is shown (RIGHT) as he appeared, with broken arm, after he and crew were rescued from the wrecked America at sea. Now they are planning regular schedules by aeroplane and airship across the ocean.

BOX CAR PULLMAN DAYS OVER FOR TRANSIENTS ON THE C.N.R.

Group of Road Camp Workers Pay Fares on Demand.

NO MORE FREE RIDES

LINDSAY, April 6 (Examiner Correspondence) — Ray Morden, special officer of the Canadian National Railway, has decreed that the law must be observed and no longer will transients be allowed to "ride the bumpers' or the box cars, as the case may be.

In the last week a large number of young men have been travelling to and from the northern camps and riding on the C.N.R. line. It is claimed that many of the men have sufficient money to pay their way. It is stated on one occasion Constable Morden stopped ten transients on the northern train and ordered them off. When they claimed they had no money, one volunteered to pay for them all, and did so.

On arriving at Lindsay depot the Constable lined the transients up, made them "shell out' and discovered that every man had enough money to pay his railway fare. The officer collected from each man and and gave the first benefactor the amount he had expended for railway tickets.

Residents of Fenelon Falls were surprised to see a good sized deer yesterday in the vicinity of the town. It romped out of the W. Tippling farm and down the roadway, then passing into the bush at Terrill's farm. A dog barked and the deer changed its course, leaped over a small stream and entered Fitzgerald's woods. The deer is reported to have descended on the vicinity from the west, beyond Cameron Lake.

Parishioners of St. James' Anglican Church, Fenelon Falls, said farewell Wednesday evening to Rev. A. E. Davis, who for nine years has been rector of the parish. Rev. Mr. Davis leaves for Toronto where he will spend the summer. He was presented with a leather club bag and a purse, as well as with an appropriate address. Rev. Mr. Davis has been quite active in community affairs in the Cataract village and in the adjacent community.

Mrs. Matthew Wilson, 93 Melbourne St., town, is receiving the hearty congratulations of many friends on having attained her ninety-fourth birthday.

Kiwanians to-day said good-bye to Kianwian Lloyd Leach, manager of the Royal Bank, who is leaving for Grimsby. His successor, Mr. W. Zilliax, was introduced to the club.

At the same meeting Chairman Moore of the Rink Fund Committee, announced that the fund now totalled $3,700 and treasurer Nugent stated that he had received a personal donation from his cousin, Mr. M. Cork, president of Loblaw's of $100, which would be supplemented by a two hundred dollar donation from Loblaw's Groceterias.

In the absence of a speaker an impromptu program was carried through, with Past President Ford Moynes in the chair. The musical part of the program was supplied by Master George Dunk, boy soloist and by a quartet, namely Kiwanians Fletcher, McBride, Barton and Smith.

Kiwanian Charles Smith was welcomed back from his winter sojourn in Florida.

"The Canadian Car"

The Most Economical Ford Ever Built

NO CAR at any price has ever proved its economy and reliability so definitely and conclusively as the Ford V-8.

It has been driven over 300,000 miles in grueling test runs in various parts of the country. These tests were over all kinds of hills and roads and the cars were driven continuously, day and night, twenty-four hours a day. Each car traveled almost as far every day as the average car goes in a month. These tests have shown that it is the most economical Ford ever built.

Other low-price cars may talk about their economy and stamina. Salesmen may weave a pretty story about this and that. But the Ford V-8 dares to go out on the road and prove what it can do. Deeds are always stronger than talk and it's facts you want when you buy a motor car.

The Ford V-8 gives superior performance because it is the only car under $4000 with a V-8 engine. Scientific dynamometer tests show that it delivers more horsepower per gallon of fuel than any Ford engine ever built.

The cost records of owners show exceptional gasoline mileage and a saving of many dollars because of freedom from repairs and long life.

Ask Ford owners about economy and drive the Ford V-8 yourself. You will know then — from your own personal experience — that it is far ahead in performance, safety and comfort.

TUNE IN FRED WARING and HIS PENNSYLVANIANS. Every Sunday night at 8:30, and every Thursday night at 9:30 (E. S. T.). Columbia Broadcasting System.

"THE whole question of car economy needs cleaning up. An economical car gives economy all round. Price, operation, up-keep—all play their part. If what you save on gas you lose elsewhere, that is not economy.

"Our V-8 develops more power on a gallon of gasoline than any car we have made. It is also economical in the complete sense — initial cost, operation, maintenance."

WOMEN'S LEAGUE AT MILLBROOK

Society of St. Andrew's Church Plan Parsonage Repairs.

APRIL MEETING

MILLBROOK, April 6 (Examiner Correspondence)—The April meeting of the Women's League of St. Andrew's Church was held on Wednesday at 3 p.m., with Mrs. W. Westall entertaining the society at her home, Tupper street north, and the president, Mrs. F. J. Smith, in charge, with twenty-five or more members in attendance.

Mrs. W. Theobald read the resurrection story for the lesson, and correspondence included a letter of appreciation from Mrs. (Dr.) Daley of Port Hope, for sympathy extended at the time of the death of her husband last month. Sick members were reported as improving in health, and the president announced receiving three invitations for the Seth Parker Club, a part of the W.A. membership, to give its entertainment at Cavan, Mt. Pleasant and Pontypool.

These places will be visited when roads are fit, and the discussion was continued for other ways of adding to the funds. One suggestion adopted was that of various members giving an afternoon in their homes, inviting ten guests, charging ten cents, and thus adding one dollar to be turned in, if possible, at the May meeting. Several volunteered their homes for this service, and another novel scheme was also adopted—that of passing round "one of your husband's worn out shirts, asking each member to put on a patch, sewing her contribution under same, and when the garment is finally returned the patches will be ripped open, and the enclosed money counted." Mrs. G. E. Burnham was made responsible for starting off this strange 'donation party.'

Needed repairs at the parsonage, including new floors or floor coverings for hall and study, and papering of the halls, were left with the Parsonage Committee, and the program continued with reading, "Hot Cross Buns," by Mrs. R. H. Edmunds; a poem, "Easter," by Mrs. G. Freelove, and a "thumb nail sketch" of Senator William Buchanan, of Lethbridge, Alberta, whose parents, late Rev. and Mrs. William Buchanan, at one time resided in Millbrook where his mother (Mary Pendrie) was born and brought up. Senator Buchanan's beginning of his successful newspaper career in connection with one of the city dailies of Peterborough in his early manhood, was a part of the interesting material.

After dismissal with prayer, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Weston C. Fallis served a dainty lunch. Mrs. Edmunds voicing a vote of thanks for the pleasant meeting and the hospitality extended. The invitation of Mrs. F. A. Kidd to hold the May meeting at her home was gratefully accepted.

The 'thank you box', hand-painted by Mrs. Maud Hetherington was on the table, and those who wished made donations, leaving the hostess her contribution to the 'afternoon tea' fund in full.

Millbrook Personals

Miss May Attwooll, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Gordon at Toronto for the past two weeks, returned home on Easter Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Pitt, of Toronto spent the Easter week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pitt. This was Mrs. Pitt's first visit since her serious injuries in a motor accident last December, and her many friends will be glad to hear of her practically complete recovery. Mr. A. Brown, who was also badly hurt in the same accident, is at his home and able to be about on crutches.

Mrs. H. McLeod, and son Harry, who spent the Easter week-end with relatives in Hamilton, returned home on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. A. C. Darling and her daughter, Betty, and niece, Dorothy Burnham, of Peterborough, were guests of Mrs. (Dr.) E. L. Burnham on Tuesday. Mr. Darling is in Toronto, having severed his connection with the Roy Studio in which he held a junior partnership, and has secured a good position with the Eastman Kodak Company. Since 1906 Mr. Darling has had a gradually increasing connection with the Roy Studio culminating in the junior partnership which has now been discontinued.

Misses Mary Burnham and Mary Nattress, who spent the Easter week-end with their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. R. Howe, Toronto, returned on Monday evening, motoring back to the village with Mr. E. J. Nattress who paid a brief visit to his parents.

Mr. Lloyd and Mrs. J. L. Byam motored to Toronto just before Easter and visited Mr. and Mrs. Jack Byam and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Martin during a brief stay.

The Seth Parker Dramatic Club, of Millbrook has invitations to put on its entertainment, depicting an evening at Jonesport, with the neighbors, at Cavan, Mount Pleasant and Pontypool, and will keep these engagements when the roads are in fit shape for motoring.

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

CANADA WON POSTAL AUTONOMY

On this date, in 1851 Canada won a long agitation for control of the postal service. Although Nova Scotia had been the leader in postal reform (as in so many other important things in our history) the concession was first made to the Province of Canada. Nova Scotia and New Brunswick having to be content with three further months of postal servitude. It is not generally known that this most important concession in self-government was largely due to that great Earl of Elgin, our first really constitutional governor general. Up to 1840 the British post office had been adamant against any concession to the colonies, but in that year William E. Gladstone became colonial secretary and advised that St. Martin's le Grand be relieved of the colonial burden. Nothing was, however, accomplished until 1847 when Lord Elgin came out bringing instruction from Earl Grey, who had become colonial secretary, to notify the several legislatures of the willingness of London to hand over the postal service. Before Elgin had opportunity to advise the legislature of the Province of Canada, action was taken by Nova Scotia which brought the matter to a head. Two days after Elgin's arrival at Boston (it may be that he sent a message to Halifax) the Assembly of Nova Scotia appointed a committee to study the postal situation. It made a report on March 29 advising a conference of the provinces, as well as making constructive proposals as to management, rates, etc. On June 30 the Nova Scotia proposal for a conference was accepted by the Province of Canada, soon after Elgin conferred with William Cayley, inspector general of Canada, J. W. Johnston, solicitor general of Nova Scotia, and R. L. Hasen, of New Brunswick. A tentative agreement was arrived at, the rate of postage from and to all provinces being fixed at five cents (three pence), and Nova Scotia again took up the leadership. On April 4, 1848, it adopted a bill to agree to assuming the postal service and James B. Uniacke was sent to Montreal where Elgin and the executive council accepted the Nova Scotia plan, with few variations; the assent of New Brunswick was next obtained; and on July 28, 1849, an act was passed by the imperial parliament empowering the colonies "to establish and maintain a system of posts" and, most important of all "to appropriate to their own use the revenue to be derived therefrom."

The transfer, which took two years to effect, was justified by results. Since then the history of the postal service in Canada, before and after consideration, is one to be proud of. It has kept pace with the growth of the country, including the development of the west, at the cost of heavy expense to the national treasury. It is interesting to note in this connection that one of the reasons which induced Gladstone to first propose postal autonomy to the Canadas was his fear of the expense involved in founding a mail service to the Soo and to the Red River. If any reader is really interested in the romantic story of the Canadian postal service I advise the reading and study of "The History of the Post Office in North America" by William Smith, now long out of print but available in any public libraries.

. . . Any one of these dishes is enough to make ANY woman a St. Charles fan—you try it and see! Everything TASTES so much better when built up on the fresh creamy flavor of St. Charles Milk. The soup is so smooth—the vegetables so creamy—the pie so delicious!

But do not risk a disappointment—use St. Charles—the milk with the fresh creamy flavor.

Try these dishes—each one is worth a thousand words of persuasion when you TASTE how good it is.

CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP

2 slices onion, 1 stalk celery, 2 cups stewed or canned tomatoes, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon granulated sugar, ½ bay leaf, ¼ cup water, 1 recipe Borden's Cream Foundation.

Simmer chopped onion, chopped celery, tomatoes, minced parsley and seasonings with water 20 minutes or until very soft. Force through puree sieve. Blend gradually with Borden's Cream Foundation (see recipe below) Reheat. May be garnished with whipped cream. Serves eight.

CREAM FOUNDATION FOR SOUPS

3 tablespoons butter, 3 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper 1¾ cups St. Charles Milk, 2¼ cups water or white stock.

Melt butter in double boiler. Add flour and seasonings. Blend thoroughly. Add St. Charles Milk and water slowly, stirring until mixture thickens. Allow to cook ten minutes longer, stirring occasionally.

To this Cream Foundation may be added two cups vegetable puree or pulp of meat or fish prepared in the following way: Cook vegetables, meat or fish until tender. Force through puree sieve and return to water in which cooked. After blending with Borden's Cream Foundation, bring to boiling point. Beat with an egg beater, to prevent skin forming on top and serve.

NOTE: For extra richness, a half cup more of St. Charles Milk may be added just before serving. A beaten egg yolk stirred in at the same time also adds to the attractiveness of the soup.

EGGLESS MAYONNAISE SALAD DRESSING

½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, ¼ teaspoon paprika, ¼ teaspoon granulated sugar, few grains cayenne, 3 tablespoons St. Charles Milk, ¾ cup salad oil, 2 tablespoons vinegar or 1 tablespoon vinegar and 1 tablespoon lemon juice.

Thoroughly mix dry ingredients. Add St. Charles Milk and blend thoroughly. Beat in salad oil gradually. Add vinegar or vinegar and lemon juice, beating until mixture is smooth. Makes one cup.

CROQUETTES

1 teaspoon finely chopped onion, 4 tablespoons butter, ¾ cup flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoonful pepper, ½ cup St. Charles Milk, ½ cup water or white stock, 2 egg yokes, 1½ cups chopped cooked meat, 1 teaspoon minced parsley.

Cook finely chopped onion in butter 5 minutes. Add flour and seasonings. Blend. Add gradually St. Charles Milk and water or stock. Blend thoroughly. Cook, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add slightly-beaten egg yokes. Cook two minutes longer, stirring constantly. Remove from fire. Add chopped meat and parsley. Turn mixture on plate. Chill thoroughly. Shape. Roll in beaten egg, blended with a little cold water; then in sifted dry bread crumbs. Fry in hot fat (375°F-90°F) using a frying basket. Serves six.

CUSTARD PIE

1½ cups St. Charles Milk, 1½ cups water, 4 eggs, ½ cup granulated sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, unbaked pie crust (9 inch), grating of nutmeg.

Blend St. Charles Milk, water, slightly beaten eggs, sugar and salt together. Line pie tin with unbaked pie crust. Build up fluted edge. Pour in filling. Sprinkle with nutmeg. Bake in a hot oven (400°F) to set edge. Decrease heat and bake about 40 minutes in slow oven (300°F) A knife blade inserted will come out clean when custard is done.

FORTY IN CHORUS SHOW BOAT DAYS

Dazzling and Brilliant Comedy to be Presented by Kinsmen Club.

REAL PROGRESS MADE.

George Zarfas of Canadian Productions Limited has promised to give Peterborough a dazzling and brilliant musical comedy by way of the finest entertainment that has ever been provided by local talent, and even at such an early stage in the rehearsals it is quite safe to predict that he will fully implement his promise.

Last night following their regular bi-monthly dinner meeting held at Empress Hotel, the members of the Kinsmen Club under whose auspices "Show Boat Days" is being produced, adjourned to the Lyceum Hall at the invitation of President C. Alex Sollitt, and were considerably encouraged and enthused about the rapid progress which the production is making.

Forty Local Girls

A bevy of forty picked local girls who are to comprise the chorus, were being put through their paces by Mr. Zarfas, when the Kinsmen dropped in to watch rehearsals. The progress the girls have made with their intricate dance routine within the past few days is nothing short of wonderful.

Probably no local chorus has ever been called upon to perform such a widely-varied dance routine as that which the girls are at present rehearsing. It is equally probable that when the production is staged on the evenings of April 19 and 20 at the Grand Opera House, it will be the general opinion of the audience that no local chorus of girls has ever contributed more life and gaiety to a production.

In addition to the large chorus, there is a cast of eleven players who have been selected, besides a minstrel troupe, who are also rehearsing daily under the able direction of Mr. Zarfas.

Proceeds for Eye Clinic

Proceeds from the production "Show Boat Days," for which tickets are now being sold throughout the city, are to be devoted to the Kinsmen Eye Preventive Clinic, which is performing a valuable service among underprivileged children of the city.

In the knowledge that they are appealing on behalf of a worthy cause, and that the type of entertainment they are offering is of the highest calibre, the Kinsmen are confidently seeking generous public support, which is all that is now necessary to ensure success to the biggest venture undertaken by the club.

In deciding upon production of "Show Boat Days" as a means of raising revenue to carry on their service work the members of the Kinsmen organization were not unmindful of the great success which attended their two previous theatrical ventures, namely the production of "Hay Fever" and "The Rivals."

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

By all signs and portents this should be the first day of spring and, therefore, a very important anniversary of health. The sun once more become a part of our daily life; the streams become torrents of clear, fresh water; the green things begin to appear; the air makes us want to jump up and run, stretch, and break up the old deposits in our muscles and rid ourselves of the accumulated poisons of winter.

I hope my readers will not suppose that this is an unwarranted burst into poetry. As a matter of fact, it actually is literal. Sunlight, air, water, and green things are nature's great restorers. "Nature, M.D.", is the title of a little book by Dr. Richard Kovacs, which treats of the healing of these elements.

Our primitive ancestors made a great point of festivals at the vernal equinox. And especially were these associated with the idea of renewing health. To the great Greek temples of Aesculapius in the spring—temples which were usually built around a healing well—long lines of pilgrims took their way to drink of the waters, to lie in the sun, to restrengthen their muscles with games, to purge themselves, and to eat the green herbs, which restored them to a feeling of health and happiness.

In the northern countries the great cathedrals of stones, as at Stonehenge, were arranged so that the sun would come down the columns, and here in the spring and summer it was worshipped as the Giver and Preserver of Life.

We understand now the explanation of much of the belief in these things. In primitive days, as the long winters drew slowly to their end, the supply of fresh food got lower and lower, and those diseases which are the result of food deficiencies, such as rickets and scurvy and pellagra, were likely to make their first appearance in the spring. The days were dark and cold, and the darkness and coldness added to the effects of the lack of fresh food and made them worse. They actually disappeared or were prevented by exposure to sunlight, by the use of fresh green foods, by bathing in fresh water, by the cleansing effect of baths and purges.

Keene

The Willing Workers' group of the W.M.S. of Keene United Church held a very successful "Thimble Tea" at the manse on Thursday, March 27th from 3 to 5 o'clock. A short program of vocal and instrumental music was much enjoyed before tea was served. It was moved by Mrs. James McFarlane seconded by Mrs. J. Campbell a hearty vote of thanks to the hostess, Mrs. J. S. Ferguson and to the ladies who helped make the tea so enjoyable.

Misses Vera and Ruth Fitchett are visiting friends in Toronto.

Miss Agnes Cameron of Toronto is a guest at the home of her grandmother, Mrs William Campbell.

Miss Elsie Copperthwaite is a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Wilson.

Rev. John Sutherland left on Wednesday for Toronto where he will reside in the future.

Miss Marion Comrie is a holiday visitor at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Comrie.

The Otonabee Young People's Association met in the Town Hall, Tuesday evening with a good attendance present. The roll call answered by "Your Favorite Song" followed by the business discussion of the evening. Four boys were appointed to look after having village road signs erected, a report of same to be given at the May meeting. Current events were given by Lawrence Brown. Miss Helen Clarkson delighted the club with a solo. Mr. John Moore gave an interesting address on Russia. The remainder of the evening was spent in dancing. Mr. Victor Foley supplied the music.

The origin of the practice of grafting apples is not known, but Theophrastus, a Greek of the 3rd century, B.C., was very familiar with the subject.

KINSMEN HEAR W. D. CAMPBELL

"Wit and Humour" is Subject of Most Entertaining Address.

GOOD LAUGH BEST.

As guest speaker at the Kinsmen dinner meeting at Empress Hotel last evening William D. Campbell provided his listeners with an entertaining address on the topic "Wit and Humour."

Introduced to the gathering by Past District Governor Alex L. Elliott, Mr. Campbell quoting from the works of a celebrated physician stated, "It takes nine muscles of the face to laugh and thirty-nine muscles to frown; why work the face overtime; a good laugh is better than all the medicine."

Providing the clubmen with a liberal dose of tonic laughter, Mr. Campbell presented a series of stories being examples of wit and humour, varying from the sparkling, effervescent Irish variety to the more caustic Scotch examples, besides resorting to that provided in the austere surroundings of the law courts and the legislative assemblies.

Dave Jones, ably voiced the appreciation of the club to the speaker in a vote of thanks which was extended by President C. A. Sollitt.

George Zarfas, who is in the city producing the musical comedy "Show Boat Days" to be presented unde auspices of the club at the Grand Opera House on April 19 and 20, contributed to the entertainment with a song number. He was accompanied at the piano by Bert Lacey, guest pianist. The latter also provided a piano solo.

Pullet Lays 150 Eggs Then Misses One Day

AGASSIZ, B.C., April 6 (CP). — Barred Plymouth Rock pullet No. 2, owned by the Delta Land Company of Vancouver, yesterday had seen her perfect egg-laying record broken after establishing a mark of 150 eggs in 150 consecutive days of the annual egg-laying contest at the Dominion Experimental Farm here. The mark is believed to be a world's record.

Pullet No. 3 missed laying on the 151st day of the contest, and is now tied with Barred Rock pullet No. 2, owned by A. Pennington of Agassiz, each having laid 153 eggs in 154 days.

DRIVES HIMSELF TO WORK AT 82

And Still Plays a Little Golf

How many of us, when we are 82, will be the equal in health and activity of this vigorous old Scottish engineer? In a letter he says:

"I arrived here from Scotland on the 7th April, 1870. I am over 82 years old. I drive my Ford car 40 miles over hills and dales to a factory, and can still play a little golf. I have taken the little dose of Kruschen Salts in my cup of coffee every morning for some years, and I believe it is keeping me in good health and enabling me to keep on working at the factories as engineer."—L. A.

Whether you are still in your 'teens or past your prime, it is neither too early nor too late to start on the "little daily dose." Just a tiny, tasteless pinch of Kruschen Salts in your morning cup of tea or coffee! They ensure internal cleanliness, and keep the bloodstream pure. New and refreshed blood is sent coursing to every fibre of your being. Rheumatism, headaches, indigestion, and backache all pass you by.

BEHIND the Scenes in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, CAL., APR. 6.—Each day, Hollywood takes on more the appearance of an armed camp. Last week saw Bing and Everett Crosby take out pistol permits, and now Ann Harding has given up her hobby of driving her own car so that a straight-shooting chauffeur can be on hand to guard against possible kidnap or holdup attempts.

Ann Harding

The blonde R-K-O star is carrying precaution to an even greater extent than other film folk. In addition to a bodyguard for her little girl, and to the chauffeur, she has bought a watch-dog and is having it trained to refuse food except from the hand of one member of the household. This to foil the common ruse of poisoning watch-dogs by tossing them pieces of lethal meat.

TOLUCCA LAKE, home of Dick Arlen, Bing Crosby and other film stars, is the scene of a new mystery novel called 'The Hollywood Murder.' This shocker, which also mentions the Brown Derby, Sardis and several studios has just been completed by Chapman Holden, University of Chicago graduate, in collaboration with your old friend, Rex Lease. Rex has been doing a lot of writing recently. In addition to the novel, he has several screen stories under consideration in Hollywood.

And, for the benefit of you romance fans, he is still very much interested in Edna Purviance.

'RED WAGON', the BIP picture that everyone has been waiting for, comes to the Regent theatre screen for a three day run, starting on Saturday. The story taken from the novel of Lady Eleanor Smith claims the great open spaces for its background, and the gay-hearted, hard-boned sons and daughters of the circus and the gypsy encampment for its primitive passions. Charles Bickford and Raquel Torres are seen in the leading roles with Greta Nissen, Don Alvarado, Anthony Bushell Paul Graetz and Amy Veness in the supporting cast.

SIX NEW MUSICAL numbers, which promise to become national song hits, will be heard in Marion Davis' new picture 'Going Hollywood,' which opens at the Capitol theatre today with Bing Crosby supporting the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star. One of the numbers, Our Big Love Scene, is a melodic theme that threads its way through the length of the picture. Others numbers are, 'We'll Make Hay While the Sun Shines,' 'After Sundown,' 'Temptation,' 'Cinderella's Fella' and 'Going Hollywood.' The play directed by Raoul Walsh, has a case including Fifi D'Orsay, Stuart Erwin, Ned Sparks, Patsy Kelly, Bobby Watson and the Three Radio Rogues.

ALL HOLLYWOOD is hoping that Pat Wing, former starlet and bride of three months, will emerge unscarred from a nasty automobile accident that occurred on the Ridge Route Saturday night.

Pat, who recently gave up the screen to become Mrs. Bill Perry, was motoring with her new husband from Bakesfield to visit her parents and her sister, Toby, in the film colony. As the car rounded a curve another machine skidded and crashed into it.

Young Perry was unhurt, but Pat received an eight-inch laceration across her forehead, several scalp cuts and a dislocated knee. After receiving emergency treatment she was rushed to the family home, where she is now recovering from the injuries and the shock of the experience.

ONE OF HOLLYWOOD'S favorite sports, badminton, will be demonstrated for you in a short subject planned for early filming by the Brothers Warner. The studio has engaged 'Jess' Willard (not the ex-boxing champ) to show how the game is played and will run in several of it's featured comedians for laughs. Even the producer, Henry Blanke, is an expert smacker of the feathered cork.

THE NEW BILL POWELL house is next door to that of Dick Barthelmess, and now the pair are trying to get Ronald Colman to buy the adjoining lot. "Then, if worst comes to worst," says Bill "Ronald can give tennis lessons, I can teach swimming and Dick can be our business manager."

William Powell

Incidentally, there's a reason for Bill's swimming pool to be narrow in width but 60 feet long. His 12-year-old son wants to be a sprint swimmer, and Bill is giving him the place to practice.

EARL CARROLL is making good his promise to Julia Graham, the 19-year-old West Virginia girl, who took a supposedly lethal dose of sleeping potion, because she couldn't make good in Hollywood. The producer has arranged a screen test for the convalescent beauty and is trying to line up a part for her, either in 'Cleopatra' or some other Paramount picture.

ONE OF THE MAIN reasons Colleen Moore hated to close her house in Hollywood was that it took away the jobs of her three Japanese servants, who have been in her employ for more than 10 years. It preyed on her mind so much that she wired them to come on to New York and take over duties in the 14-room apartment, which she and Al Scott maintain in New York.

Came news of the recent blizzard and now the servants refuse to leave California.

NEW SHIP CODE SWELLS CREWS

4 HOUR WATCHES.

NEW YORK, April 6 (CP)—Ship operators on the Great Lakes have undertaken a general remodelling of their vessels to provide space for extra seamen who will be employed under the terms of the new United States Shipping Code, which provides a three-watch system. It is estimated that about 400 ships will add six men each to their crews and about $500,000 will be expended to fit out the ships with additional living quarters.

The Great Lakes' Carriers' Association acted for the ship owners in negotiating the code, which will come under the Master Shipping Code, now in the hands of the NRA. Although difficulties of an international nature have delayed acceptance of the Master Code several months, the Great Lakes Line have proceeded with details of their divisional code, and it is already effective.

The employment situation will affect employees of both the deck and engine departments. The men will be employed on watches of four hours, followed by a rest of eight, thus meeting the requirement that they shall not be employed more than eight of any 24 hours when a ship is at sea or at her pier, except in case of emergency.

CLOSE CALL

ST. CATHARINES.—Aragnas Assadurian, five years of age, had a miraculous escape from death shortly after noon to-day when she rolled between the wheels of a moving street car. The child, apparently frightened by a dog, ran into the path of the trolley. She was brought out covered with dirt and grease, but with no broken bones and suffering only from bruises and a small cut over one eye.

Juvenile Delinquency Laid To Dance Halls

EAST WINDSOR, Ont., April 6 (CP)—Increase in juvenile delinquency in this city was charged to cheap dance halls by Trustee John Corbett at the meeting of the Public School Board last night.

Declaring he had heard stories "that would make the hair stand on your head," Trustee Corbett reminded members the question had been discussed at a previous meeting and a letter sent to civic officials asking for more supervision over public dance halls.

Defence of dance hall management came from Trustee William Sivell, who said, "If a girl says she is 18 and looks it, what can the dance hall management do about it?" He wondered if all boys and girls should be forced to carry copies of birth certificates.

The proposal that a juvenile probation officer be appointed was discussed, but no definite action was taken.

DETROIT POLICE DRIVER FINED, HURT IN ONTARIO

ST. THOMAS, April 6. (CP)—Leo Nemic, driver of a scout car for the Detroit, Mich., police force, was in hospital to-day under arrest on charges of speeding and criminal negligence. Three other passengers of the Nemic car are in hospital with injuries.

Traffic officers Witts stopped Nemic's car and charged the driver with speeding, claiming he was travelling more than 60 miles an hour. After a brief argument, the officer said, Nemic put up $12.75 bail.

A little while after the speeding episode Nemic is charged with cutting in on traffic on number three highway near Wallacetown last night. He crashed his car against a telephone pole.

Japan's most famous archer was Tametomo. He belonged to the great Minamoto family.

If you buy out of town, and I buy out of town and all our neighbors buy out of town, what in thunder will become of our town? Ever think about it?

RICHARD HALL LIMITED

CANTATA SUNG AT BENSFORT

"The Dawn Immortal" Featured Easter Services—W.M.S. Meeting.

PLAY PRESENTED

BENSFORT, April 6 (Examiner Correspondence) — On Sunday morning the church services were in charge of the pastor, Rev. E. M. Cook. A cantata entitled, "The Dawn Immortal" was presented by the Bensfort choir; Mrs. Cook rendered a pleasing solo; Mrs. Lawrence Finnie and Clifford Emberson a duet; and a quartet by Messrs. W. Wood, Lawrence Finnie, C. Emberson and Rev. E. M. Cook. Mrs. James Wood presided at the piano.

On Monday evening the young people presented their play entitled "There Goes the Bride" in the church basement. The play opened by the cast singing "Easter Parade." At the conclusion "Honeymoon Hotel" was sung and "Let the rest of the World Go By."

Cast was: Phyllis, engaged to be married, Mildred Hall; Mrs. Curtis, her mother, Mrs. J. Pue; Dr. Curtis, her father, Mr. C. Emberson; Beachy, her sister, J. Stinson; Billy, her brother, Alf Dawson; Anastoria, the cook, Mrs. C. Emberson; Officer O'Flynn, of the Police Dept., Jack Moncrief; Natalie, Phyllis' friend, Isobel Dawson; Lewis, Phyllis' fiance, Somer Robinson; Sally, the girl next door, Jean Thompson; Tom Eldridge, Bill Howson; Dinty, Tom's friend, Bob Dawson; Ring Bearer, Kenneth Patton; Flower girl, Norma Pue; Directress, Mrs. Harold Howson; pianist, Mrs. Chas. Barnard.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wood sang duets in between acts accompanied by Mrs. Lawrence Finnie.

W.M.S. Meeting

On Tuesday afternoon the W.M.S. met at the home of Mrs. Fred Perrin on the Lakeshore Line. Meeting opened by the singing of "In the Cross, In the Cross," led by Mrs. Chester Fisher. The president, Mrs. W. C. Wood opened the meeting, then led in prayer. The scripture lesson was taken by Mrs. Judson Pue. The report from the bazaar was read by the secretary, Mrs. Stuart Thompson She said that $65.50 had been sent to headquarters. The flower committee was reappointed, namely Isobel Dawson, Jean Thompson and Mildred Dawson.

The starting of an autograph quilt was discussed. The watch tower was taken up with Mrs. C. Barnard responding on "Shopping in Africa." Mrs. C. Emberson gave a reading on "A Good Story." Group A then took charge of the meeting. Isobel Dawson gave a reading on "The Second Message of Earth." Mrs. Chester Fisher a gave splendid reading in song "Memories." This was much enjoyed and was also very touching as she mentioned past members of the W.M.S. who had passed away. The words had been composed by Mrs. Harry Nicholson. Mrs. Harold Howson discussed the 3rd chapter of the study book. Then Mrs. Fred Perrin gave a reading on "If there was no Easter."

A hearty vote of thanks was rendered to Mrs. Fred Perrin for her kind hospitality by Mrs. C. Emberson and Mrs. Stuart Thompson.

After the singing of the hymn the meeting closed by repeating the Lord's prayer in unison. Dainty refreshments were served by Group A.

Mrs. Emma Finnie has returned home after spending the winter in Flint, Michigan.

Master Bruce Finnie of Peterborough is holidaying in the district.

Messrs. Roy and Robert Armour of Peterborough are trapping on the river at Bensfort Bridge.

Miss Bessie Barnard of Moulton College, Toronto is visiting in the district.

Misses Helen Howson, Betty Perrin and Marion Moncrief of Port Hope are spending the Easter holidays at their homes in South Monaghan.

Mr. Ross Moncrief motored to Port Hope on Friday.

Mr. Ralph Brown of Toronto and Jay Whittington of Centreville called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Emberson on Saturday evening.

Among those who attended the relief dance at Centreville on Tuesday night were: Mr. and Mrs. John Brackenridge, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Barnard, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Moncrief, Mr. and Mrs. C. Emberson, Kenneth Moncrief, Gordon Moncrief, Roy Whittington, Roy Armour, Billy Moncrief, John Johnston, Max Perrin, Herb Perrin, Lionel Perrin, Bill Howson, Harold Howson, Jack Varcoe, Jack Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Reg Perrin, Betty Perrin, Beth Moncrief, Grace Finnie, Mildred Hall, Isobel Dawson, Helen Howson.

Mrs. Stuart Thompson and Merton Thompson visited Mrs. C. Barnard on Tuesday.

GARBAGE COLLECTOR APPOINTED FOR CHEMONG PARK DISTRICT

Tax Collector's Time Extended to April 28 at Smith Council Meeting.

ROAD WORK WAGES

A meeting of the municipal council of Smith was held in the county council chamber, Peterborough, on March 31st, commencing at 10 a.m.

The communications were read and ordered filed.

Moved by F. Armstrong and seconded by H. Fowler, that the report of the assessor, after his having examined the wood lots of Messrs. C. E. Moore and Fred Bell and having found them each eligible to twenty acres exemption from taxation, be received and filed.

J. A. Mildleton, tax collector, was present and reported as to his collections since last meeting. The time for him to return his roll was extended until April 26th, 1934.

The tender of Wm. J. Robinson for the collection of garbage in Chemong Park and additional areas for the season of 1934 was accepted and the clerk was instructed to draw up an agreement and have it signed by the tenderer, reeve and clerk.

Moved by C. Westlake and seconded by G. Mullen, that an order be drawn on the treasurer in favor of Road Supt. Thos. H. Graham, covering each of the following sums: $136.03 covering pay sheets Nos. 6 to 9 inclusive; $290.60 covering pay sheet No. 10; 110.70, covering pay sheet No. 11.

Moved by G. Mullen and seconded by F. Armstrong that wages for work on roads under the jurisdiction of Smith municipal council be changed to 20c per hour for labor and 40c per hour for teams, such change to take effect on April 1st, 1934. The wages or road bosses remain at 25c per hour.

Moved by F. Armstrong and seconded by G. E. Mullen, that the clerk advise Mr. Everett Cockburn and the secretary-treasurer of each of school sections Nos. 4 and 11 of Smith township, that at the next meeting of Smith council a by-law will be passed changing the north half of Lot No. 19, Concession 5, of Smith township, from S.S. No. 4 to S.S. No. 11.

The clerk was instructed to write Mr. Oscar Comrie requesting him to remit the sum of seventy dollars to cover the cost of Dr. Morgan's services for an operation in 1933.

Moved by G. E. Mullen and seconded by F. Armstrong, that the following accounts be paid:

County treasurer, fees of Smith township pupils at Peterborough Collegiate, $1,743.61; County treasurer, fees of Smith township pupils at Omemee High School, $14.45; Percy T. Uddy, Globe Indem. ins. prem. and tel. acct., $224.50; Peterborough Examiner Ltd., printing "Notice Tenders for Garbage", $10.08; V. A. PLAY PRESENTED IN OMEMEE HALL

"Introducing Susan" Enacted by Members of Trinity United Church Y.P.S.

OMEMEE, April 6 (Examiner Correspondence)—Coronation Hall on Easter Monday evening was the scene of the play entitled "Introducing Susan" played by a cast from the Y.P.U. of Trinity United Church. The play had much action and amusement, one hilarious scene followed another in rapid succession.

Professor Weatherby whose wife had left him was in dire need of a wife as his rich aunt, Miss Cordelia Quackenbush who contributed to his support was coming to visit him and had very strong views against divorce. Buddy Chalmers, a football player and a student of the Professor was dressed as a girl and was on his way to a masquerade when he was pressed into service. An old admirer of the Professor's wife, Ross Willouby complicated matters with his arrival. An amorous maid with a prize fighting brother added zest to the performance. When Aunt Cordelia arrived on the scene she was thunderstruck, when the professor inadvertently produced three wives. Babs Boswell, Buddy's girl acted as butler and Diana Mayfair an old girl of the professor.

Howard Vaughan played the part of Susan's hot-headed father and Bill Weir and Teddy Marsh were hospital attendants. Roy Faulkner filled the part of Violet's little brother "Cyclone." Helen Reddick and Harvard Reddick gave their own interpretation of the 'Desert Song" which was a delightful scene between acts. Teddy Marsh proved to be a humorous entertainer in his songs "I'm such a hit with the girls" and "I was Dancing Around With Matilda."

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute will be held on Wednesday afternoon, April 11, in the council chambers. One feature of the program will be a debate, "Resolved that the Modern Women have done more for the Dominion of Canada than the Pioneer Women. The affirmative will be upheld by Misses Marcella Sullivan and Christina Stinson and the negative by Misses Grace Orr and Helen Kelleher.

Relatively lower returns for beef production, together with crop failures and low grain prices, have caused farmers in the West to produce more milk wherever possible.

THREE FLOOD VICTIMS.

MENARD, Tex.—The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Carroll and a hired hand named Welch were found to-day on the banks of the Saline Creek, south-east of Menard, victims of raging flood waters that swept this section last night.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN.

TORONTO, April 6.—Ontario grains f.o.b. shipping point—Wheat, 82c to 84c.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, April 6.—With trade curtailed almost to the vanishing point much of the time yesterday, wheat prices showed a general tendency to sag.

Reports of rain or snow both in winter and spring crop sections of domestic wheat territory had a bearish effect. Besides, inflation talk had died down, and Wednesday's sharp upturn of wheat values appeared to have undermined the trade position.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅛c to ¼c below Wednesday's finish, corn unchanged to ⅛c higher, oats unchanged to ⅛c off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 20c.

Corn developed some independent strength. Chicago receipts of corn yesterday were unusually meagre totalling but 19 cars. The Argentine new crop exportable surplus was unofficially estimated at 70,000,000 bushels below a five-year average. Oats merely marked time.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, April 6—Butter and egg prices eased slightly on the Montreal dairy and produce market yesterday, as mild weather continued to prevail, while other lines again continued unchanged. Promise of increased production forced the butter market down ½c to 30c to 30½c a pound for carlots or less of No. 1 grade. Receipts totalled 232 boxes.

The egg market slipped to 19c a dozen for A-large, 17c for A-medium or B-grade, and 17c for C-grade for graded shipments in carlots or less. Arrivals amounted to 3,855 cases.

Current make Ontario cheese again brought 11¼c a pound, with summer cheese at 11½c to 12¼c for white and colored. A total of 20 boxes was offered for sale.

Quebec potatoes in 80pound bags brought $1.05 to $1.10, and New Brunswick Mountains in similar quantities, $1.10 to $1.15. Prince Edward Island Mountains were quoted at $1.35 to $1.40 for 90-pound bags.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, April 6.—Trading in the Toronto butter market yesterday was sluggish and uneasy. Although buying was light, Ontario creamery solids held at 29c for No. 1, with seconds, 28½c. Creamery prints continued to retail at 31c, with seconds, 30½c, in a fair turnover to the trade.

The cheese market dragged with most buying of fresh supplies on the basis of 11½c for new large, paraffined. Old large retailed at 17½c; medium, 15½c; new, 13¼c, with Stiltons at 18c for old, and new, 15c, all unchanged from the previous quotations.

While the egg market moved slowly during the early part of the day light receipts strengthened trading, and arrivals were clearly readily with graded country shipments at 18c for "A," large; "A," medium, 16c; "A," pullets, 15c, and "C," graded, 14c. Wholesale prices were firm, and shippers of ungraded eggs delivered, cases returned, were quoted 16c for grade "A," large; "A," medium, 14c, and "C" grade, 13c. Retailers were asked Wednesday's prices of 20c to 21c for "A" large, loose; "A," medium, 19c to 20c, and "C" grade, 18c to 19c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, April 6 — With outside interest at a minimum and selling restrained to the point it had only a minor effect on the market, wheat prices traded over a narrow range on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday and closed ⅛c to ⅛c lower.

May wheat ended at 67⅝c, July at 68½c, and October at 70¼c. Continental and seaboard houses supplied most of the suppor with the offerings credited to a large local interest.

Most activity was experienced during the first 20 minutes, after which operations turned extremely dull. There was no figures placed on export sales.

Usual dullness prevailed in cash grains, while coarse grains quotations softened.

U.K. CATTLE MARKET.

OTTAWA, April 6.—The steamer Nevisian unloaded 466 Canadian cattle at Birkenhead this week, according to the report received yesterday by the Department of Agriculture.

Under a generally slow trade, heavy Eastern steers made the equivalent of 13.9 cents per lb. dressed weight, including offal. Heavy Westerners made 12.8 cents; medium weight Easterns, 13.9, medium Westerns, 13.37; light Easterns 14.4 to 15c, and light Westerns, 12.8 to 13.9 cents. Rough heifers were quoted from 12.8 to 13.37 cents, and choice from 14.4 to 15 cents. Bulls ranged from 8.5 to 9.6 cents.

Norway Pine Syrup

The Common Cold A Serious Matter

If you do not get rid of the common cold the result may be congestion, inflammation, and irritation of the head, throat and bronchial tubes, followed by bronchitis or some other air passage troubles.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is a remedy for the different ailments of the bronchial tubes. It acts promptly, going straight to the foundation of the trouble, soothes the air passages, loosens the phlegm, strengthens the breathing organs, and, perhaps, preventing some serious bronchial diseases.

Notice to House Owners, Farmers and Others Wanting Help

At this season of the year, house owners and merchants require men to repair and paint buildings, farmers want men to work on the farm, others need their gardens and yards cleaned up. In order to supply these men on immediaet notice, the unemployed men are registered at the Relief Offic under the work they can do, and a telephone call to A. J. Metheral, Relief Officer, 933W, will supply the man desired. Those desiring men or women for work of any kind are asked to make use of this registration service.

STAPLES GIVEN REGISTRARSHIP OF VICTORIA

Two Conservative Members Given Appointments by Government.

RIDING DISAPPEARS.

They'll Get the Axe if Opposition Wins is Nixon Prediction.

TORONTO, April 6.—Two certain subjects for Ontario Liberal Leader Mitchell F. Hepburn's "firing squad"—if Mr. Hepburn is in position to form one after the next election—are W. H. Elliott and W. W. Staples Legislature members, appointed yesterday to positions within the gift of the Conservative Government.

W. W. Staples

While Mr. Hepburn could not be reached last evening for comment, his first Lieutenant, Hon Harry Nixon, sounded anew, with all the force of Mr. Hepburn's original blast the trumpeted edict that al recent Government appointees to offices would be retired in the event of Liberal victory.

Two members of the now-dying Eighteenth Legislature of Ontario yesterday were provided with jobs, when Cabinet Council appointed W. H. Elliott as Local Registrar for Rainy River, and W. W. Staples, Local Registrar for Victoria.

Mr. Elliott, a Fort Frances newspaperman, has been member for Rainy River since 1929. His attendance at the session just ended was interrupted by ill health, but he recovered sufficiently to be in his seat during the closing days of the session. Rainy River riding is not affected by redistribution, and the probable Conservative candidate will be Mayor Fred Morrison of Fort Frances. The Liberal, already in the field, is R. G. Croombe, a railway conductor. Earl Hutchinson, Labor member for the neighboring riding of Kenora, said yesterday that Mr. Elliott's retirement would improve the already favorable Opposition chances for the seat.

Mr. Staples's riding of Victoria South disappears under redistribution, being merged with the North seat now held by William Newman, Liberal. Mr. Newman, one of those who cast his vote against the beer measure, probably will be the Opposition candidate for the amalgamated riding of Victoria. Conservatives have not yet held their convention.

Hon. Harry Nixon, Progressive Leader, said concerning the appointments: "Mr. Mitchell Hepburn made the very definite statement, in which I entirely concur, that every single appointment made after Oct. 31, when the natural life of the fourth term of the Government expired, would be nullified and the appointee retired. I stated that any one who thought they had outstanding qualifications for their jobs would be permitted to make application, but there is no equivocation that every appointment made after Oct. 31 will be cancelled."

A NOTE FROM "DOWN UNDER"
Hundreds of bales of wool pass through the hands of G. Whitaker and Company Limited here in the course of a year, and of all those hundreds, one bale which was opened by Thomas Jones yesterday afternoon contained a little note.

The note scribbled on a piece of paper badly stained by the oily secretion from the wool, was signed by M. Magill, Crownthorpe, Hastings, New Zealand, and contained the information that, "This fleece is belong to Rita the pet."

POSTPONES VISIT.
Major Wallace Bunton, who was to have conducted week-end services at the Salvation Army Temple here on Saturday and Sunday, has intimated that he will be unable to carry out his intended plan, but will be forced to postpone his visit until the following week-end. The Major, who is engaged in police court work for the Salvation Army in Toronto, was at one time adjutant of the local corps.

TALK IS GIVEN GIRLS' GARDEN

Mount Pleasant Girls to Make Application for 1934 Canning Club.

INSTITUTE MEETING

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MOUNT PLEASANT, April 6. — The Mount Pleasant branch of the Women's Institute held its April meeting on Wednesday, April 4th, in the Women's Institute Hall, with a good attendance of members and visitors.

Mrs. I. Lowe presided for the meeting while Mrs. T. C. Morden acted as secretary in the absence of Miss Eggleston.

Literature was read from the Agricultural representative, E. A. Summers, regarding the Junior Girls' Home Garden and Canning Club for the year 1934, and a discussion followed with the result that some of the girls of the community will make application for the same.

The Misses Ruth Tully and Mildred Jones were the committee in charge of the splendid program that was given.

Reading, "Home Comforts," by Mrs. Harry Sissons; reading "Jacob's Laments," by Mrs. Hubert Gardiner; paper, "How we are Governed," by Miss Mildred Jones; paper, "Why Girls Don't Leave the Farm," by Miss Ruth Tully.

The hostesses for the dainty refreshments served were Mrs. Norman Fee and Mrs. Hubert Gardiner.

Those present included Mrs. T. E. Morden, Miss Dorothy Morden, Miss Betty Thompson, Mrs. Vincent Jones, Miss Mildred Jones, Mrs. John Handley, Mrs. Harry Sisson, Eric McLean, Mrs. Alex. Tully, Miss Ruth Tully, Mrs. Melville Jones, Mrs. Rosenburg, Mrs. Thomas Graham, Mrs. Hubert Gardiner, Miss Sarah Easton, Mrs. John Mitchell, Mrs. Ira Lowe.

CENTRETON

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McAuley are spending a few days in Rochester, N.Y.

Messrs. N. Gleason and M. McAuley were visitors to Peterborough on Tuesday.

The Y.P.S. met in the S.S. room on Wednesday night.

The members of the Ladies' Aid had a quilting in the S.S. room. A ten cent tea was served. It was decided to hold a crokinole social on Friday night, April 13.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Birney were visitors to Cobourg on Tuesday.

Recent word was received in the village of the death of Rev. Mr. Batstone, Toronto, a former pastor.

Mr. James Haines had the misfortune while working around his sawing machine to sever two of his fingers.

On Monday night the house and barn belonging to Mrs. Grant Massey was completely burned to the ground. The property is about 3 miles south west of Centreton and was formerly owned by the late Mrs. Mary McAuley. The house was vacant and the cause of fire was unknown.

DRAGOONS HOLD EASTER DANCE

Large Attendance at Military Ball in Millbrook Armouries.

MANY VISITORS

MILLBROOK, April 6 (Examiner Correspondence) — The Armouries was the scene of a very enjoyable social occasion on Wednesday evening, when the annual Easter dance under the auspices of the local Cadet Corps, and of "B" Squadron 3rd Prince of Wales' Dragoons, was held, the attendance being quite large, and including several carloads from Peterborough and other outside points.

Mose Yeoman's Band provided music in the usual popular style, and the booth was accorded a wide patronage, supplies being practically exhausted before the evening concluded. Ken Little was in charge and assisting were Reg McKnight, Reg Edmunds, Lieutenant B. B. Dawson and several others.

A spring-like color scheme in green and gold was tastefully carried out in the decorations. Popular features were the Novelty Dance, with colored streamers thrown in rainbow effect, and the "Spotlight Dance" won by Grant Henry and Ruby Beatty, who received a large box of chocolate.

At the midnight intermission Lieutenant Dawson shook the box containing tickets for the handsomely-upholstered chair which has been on display at F. C. Scott's in recent weeks. R. A. Ford made the draw and the holder of the lucky number was Miss Grace Sloan.

It was well into the morning hours before the dance concluded, the proceeds to be used to send the D.C.R.A. team to Ottawa to compete in the Dominion-wide rifle shooting competition later in the season.

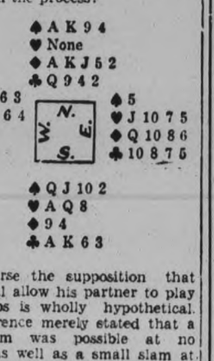
CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

"Montserrat, B.W.I.

"Dear Mr. Shephard: Some time ago you stated that South could make a small slam at no trumps against an opening lead of hearts. I cannot see how this may be accomplished. Will you be good enough to explain the process?



Of course the supposition that North will allow his partner to play no trumps is wholly hypothetical. The reference merely stated that a small slam was possible at no trumps, as well as a small slam at spades, against perfect defense. Use double-dummy methods, when possibilities are considered. Let West lead a heart against South's no trump. Have South take 2 heart tricks with the Ace and Q. Let go one spade and one diamond from dummy.

Take 4 spade tricks, leaving the lead in the declaring hand. Dummy will follow suit 3 times. Then a low club may be discarded, leaving in diamonds the A-K-J-5 and in clubs the Q-9-4. East will play one spade, then he must make 3 discards. East may let go a single diamond only, or a grand slam will result. He must hold his 4 clubs or 4 tricks will be won in that suit.

The best discards from East's hand are a single diamond, so to preserve his Q-10-8 of that suit, then either let go a single low club (retaining 3 clubs and a lone heart) or let go all his hearts and retain 4 clubs. In the end the two alternative methods of discarding from the East hand will have the same result.

Suppose East retains 3 diamonds, 3 clubs and a heart. The declarer may do either of two things. He may run off 4 clubs, forcing East to let go his heart, to prevent South from making a grand slam, and give East a final trick in diamonds, or the declarer may take 2 diamond tricks in dummy and then run off his 4 clubs, giving West the thirteenth trick with a heart.

The normal discards for East are a single diamond and all his hearts. The declarer then will run off 3 club tricks, give East a trick in that suit, and oblige East to lead up to dummy in diamonds, which will result in a small slam. There is no way in which East and West can avoid a small slam at no trumps, if West's opening lead is a heart.

OPENING THE HARBOR

KINGSTON—First attempt of the season to open the local harbor was made at one o'clock this afternoon when the steamer Wolfe Islander attempted to batter through the ice which had locked the harbor since before Christmas. With several passengers aboard and a cargo of freight, including three ice punts, the Islander pulled out of her pier here, but was not able to proceed more than 75 yards before she encountered difficulty.

The A.Y.P.A. of St George's Church held a very successful "hard times" party in the church basement last evening. As this was the first social event in the parish since before the Lenten season, it was well attended by members of the congregation and friends. The evenings proceedings opened with prayers conducted by Mrs. F. Dorrell, president. A program of community singing, games and contests followed, under the direction of Ernest Gibson, convenor of the Social Committee. Miss B. Curtis rendered a vocal solo, with Mrs. R. King at the piano. A three-piece orchestra composed of Messrs. J. Hopkins (violin), Clarence Hopkins (banjo), and T. Arnott (harmonica) played old-time music, and responded to several encores. The balloon race was won by B. Curtis. The newspaper race by Mrs. E. Styles and a contest of baseball terms by Mrs Houston Rev J. L. Hughes and Mr. E. Styles acted as judges for the hard-time costumes, the winners being Mrs. F Dorrell and Mr. A. Sims. The hard-time refreshments starting with soda biscuits, improved later to sandwiches and cake made up in dainty packages and served with tea and coffee. The singing of the National Anthem brought a very enjoyable evening to a close.

A delightful hostess tea sponsored by the ladies of the W.C.T.U. was held yesterday afternoon in the Y.W.C.A. Green Room. The lovely spring-like day drew a very gratifying attendance of ladies who enjoyed the gracious hospitality as well as the splendid program prepared under a capable convenor. As a prelude to the program several piano selections were softly played by Mrs. Olive Rowe and Mrs. James Ellis while the guests gathered in the tea room. The central table was charming with an ivory filet lace cloth. Tall yellow and green candles in silver holders, together with a basket of gay spring flowers, made a very effective setting. Tea was poured by Mrs R. Bamforth and Mrs. F. Kerr. Thirty-one small tables, with dainty covers, centred by bud vases holding a single daffodil, were cosily arranged in the reading room and green room, each table attended by its own special hostess. During the afternoon Miss Ruth Ellis gave some very acceptable readings, "The Cattle Thief" by Pauline Johnston, and "The New Baby," while Miss Pearl Carruthers contributed a pleasing group of vocal solos, including "I Passed by Your Window." Mesdames Telford and Hepburn also added to the enjoyment of the day with their duets, "The Little Church in the Valley" and "Moonlight and Roses." Mrs D. R. Howat accompanied all the vocal numbers at the piano. This unique tea, with its thirty-one hostesses proved to be a very successful affair. Among the hostesses were Mrs. J. H. Rowe, the local W.C.T.U. president, and Mrs. A. J. Throop, the county president who received at the door, assisted by Mrs. J. E. Moore. About one hundred and fifty guests attended.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

The return of blue as a vogue has entered the realms of interior decoration. It is one of those colors which appeals to women. It has a psychological reaction from its association with thoughts of purity as stressed in old paintings of robes of Madonnas, and in gowns on the opera stage when spiritual characteristics are accented. The upward glance out of doors meets the blue of the heavens, and suggests loftiness and fathomless reaches of beauty. But no color can have all the most favorable elements in it, and so there are drawbacks in this, especially when it comes to household uses.

* * * * * * *

Beware of using blue in a room in which sunlight does not enter or where it comes at short intervals such as early morning or late afternoon. Offset this extremely cold color as you would of course with yellow to suggest sunshine, the effect will remain—cold beauty. Blue walls are more trying than blue in rugs. A rug of solid flat blue would be equally difficult but a rug with blue in it, as found in Chinese rugs well combined with yellow, or in other oriental rugs or handsome machine woven replicas of them, seldom give the color without its balance in warm tones. Dark blue is an excellent floor textile color, but when blue is a decorative vogue the lighter and brighter hues are indicated, otherwise the modifying adjective dark is used with it.

* * * * * * *

To have successful blue rooms which will prove pleasant to occupy the following things should be borne in mind: have a sunny exposure, use fadeless fabrics for hangings, upholstery, and accessories, avoid flat blue walls, they are becoming to certain types of beauty only, when the blue is light, and when dark, the rooms will be gloomy; use yellow freely, especially to suggest sunlight on sunless days, and lend cheer to the decoration under artificial light. By following these suggestions the blue room will have more than fleeting beauty, one that is exquisite and will keep its color well.

By GLADYS GLAD

Lovely Skin of Famed English Beauty May Be Achieved To-day, Says Gladys

Of all the famous beauties of history, I really think that the radiant loveliness of Lady Hamilton received the greatest homage. From little Emma Hart of lowly birth, she became Lady Hamilton, English ambassadress, and the mistress of England's great hero, Lord Nelson. Her supreme loveliness swayed all who saw her. And historians claim that one of the greatest attributes was her flawless, camellia-like skin.

There's no denying that a clear, perfect skin can offset a good many other beauty defects. Yet some girls strive for ages to achieve a perfect skin—without results. And I think that in a good many cases, this is because they do not realize that skin beauty depends upon internal conditions as well as external ones.

Fruit juices, in my opinion are among the greatest of complexion beautifiers. Yet women seldom imbibe a sufficient quantity of such juices. Some people have the idea that the consumption of large quantities of lemon or orange juice may prove harmful to the health, as these fruits contain large amounts of acids. This, however, is not true. The fruits are distinctly acid in taste, of course. But lemon juice and orange juice do not remain acids when in the stomach. They are alkaline in their final reaction in the body.

At all events, I can say that of my many friends, those who drink orange juice frequently are the ones with the clearer complexions. Some of them take as many as five glasses a day, and rarely less than three. You can't easily overdo the drinking of orange juice. For the body has the power to utilize large quantities of the organic acids contained in this fruit juice.

I do not advise the drinking of as much lemonade as I do orangeade and tomato juice. Few of us realize the value of tomato juice in the making of a clear complexion. The tomato juice has a high food value, and contains vitamins and minerals that are most important to the body. And any gal who imbibes copiously of this and other fruit juices is Corinne Griffith played Lady Hamilton in a picture titled, "The Divine Lady." taking a long stride toward the acquisition of a lovely, flawless complexion.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Complexion

Judy: My method of clearing the skin of blackheads, pimples and freckles is too long to print here. However, full information is contained in my "Beauty Culture" booklet.

Oily Skin

Lenore: As your skin is oily, I'd suggest that you apply a good astringent before powdering. This forms an excellent powder base for an oily skin.

Household Hints

LUNCHEON MENU

Baked Potatoes Cream Gravy
Buttered Carrots and Peas
Pineapple Meringue Pudding Milk

This is a luncheon menu for the school children. Add a little cheese to the cream gravy served over the potatoes.

Today's Recipes

Pineapple Meringue Pudding.—One and one-half cups bread crumbs, one lemon rind, grated; one cup sugar, two egg yolks, one cup crushed pineapple, two cups milk, one tablespoon butter, one-half teaspoon salt. Scald the milk with the butter, add the egg yolks and sugar mixed together. Remove from the heat. In a buttered dish place layers of bread and pineapple, pour over the custard, sprinkle with the grated lemon rind and bake at 350 degrees until firm, about 45 minutes. Twenty minutes before serving top with a meringue made of the two egg whites and four tablespoons sugar. Return to the oven, reduced to 300 degrees, to brown.

Whole Wheat Date Cookies

One cup white flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one-fourth teaspoon soda, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one cup whole wheat or graham flour, one cup (one-half package) sliced dates, one-third cup shortening, one cup brown sugar, one eg, one-third cup sour milk, one teaspoon vanilla. Sift the white flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Add the graham flour. Mix the dates through the dry ingredients with the finger tips. Cream the shortening; add the sugar gradually, then the beaten egg. Add the dry ingredients alternately with the milk. Add the vanilla and beat until thoroughly mixed. Drop by rounded teaspoons two inches apart on a well-oiled baking sheet or inverted pan. Bake in a fairly hot oven (400 degrees Fahrenheit) until firm and delicately brown (about 10 minutes). If sweet milk is to be used omit the soda and increase the baking powder to four teaspoons. This recipe will make about three dozen cookies.

Canada sent 295 tons of honey to Holland last year, the other exporters being Russia, 227 tons; France, 360; Germany, 331; United States, 471, and Cuba, 2,463 tons.

CRAIG WOOD TO MARRY

NEW YORK, April 6. — (AP) — Craig Wood, Deal, N.J., golf professional, and Mrs. Jacqueline Valentine of New York City obtained a marriage license yesterday. They plan to be married in this city on Saturday.

Wood is 32 years old. Mrs. Valentine gave her age as 27. Her first marriage ended in divorce in 1931.

CHELSEA WIDOW PLAYED SPY HER WILL REVEALS

LONDON, April 6 (CP Cable) — Curious references to having "lived dangerously," mentioning secret service work, were included in the will of Mrs. Penelope Bovill of Chelsea, probated to-day. She was the elder daughter of the first Baron Basing, member of a family whose lineage goes back to the 14th century, and the widow of Charles Bovill.

It was learned from members of her family that the references were to Mrs. Bovill's investigations into Communistic activity in London's Eastern districts, but whether these were official or not remained a mystery. They said that she had forwarded several reports on the matter to the Government, but they did not know whether they were acted on.

The estate amounted to about $13,000.

"Be British," Cried Captain 22 Years Ago

The ill-fated Titanic.

Captain E. J. Smith, commander of the vessel.

Some of the Titanic passengers on board the rescue ship Carpathia.

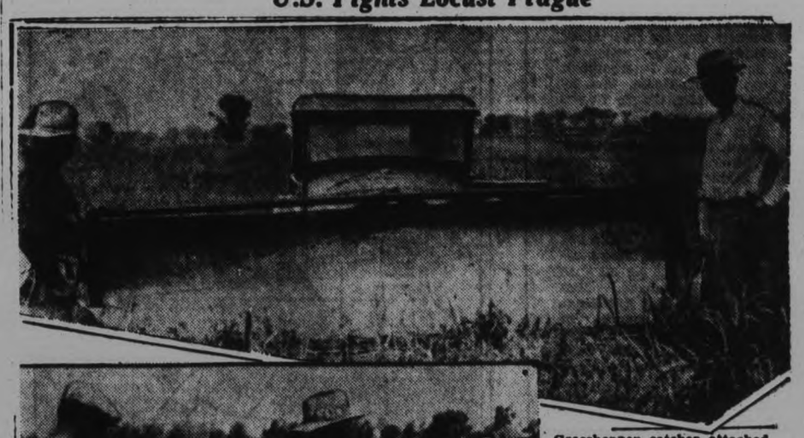
John Jacob Astor, one of the famous men who died in the disaster.

The night of April 14 will mark the twenty-second anniversary of one of the greatest disasters of the sea in modern histo.y—the sinking of the Titanic. The whole world was shocked when the word flashed that the royal mail steamer had struck an iceberg on her maiden voyage from Southampton to New York. Of the 2,223 men, women and children aboard, 832 passengers and 685 members of the crew, a total of 1,517 went down with the ship. It was a tragic night; no suspicion of the impending disaster was made known to the happy throng. Then came the impact, the cries of terror, the confusion and chaos, the shouts of officers, the crackle of the radio, the operator of which stuck with his apparatus till the last, the sudden bursting of the band playing "Nearer My God to Thee", the subsequent calm, Captain E. J. Smith's plea, "be British," the final hissing gasp as the "unsinkable" ship sank beneath the icy waters of the Atlantic, then blackness and silence. It is estimated that twelve men, representing a personal wealth of more than $150,000,000 perished in the disaster. John Jacob Astor was foremost among the noted Americans lost, while prominent Canadians numbered, Charles M. Hays, Thornton Davidson, Quigley Baxter, Hudson Allison and wife and daughter, H. Markland Holson and Vivani Payne, all of Montreal; Mark Fortune, Thompson Beattie and Hugo Ross of Winnipeg; George Wright of Halifax and T. McCaffrey of Vancouver. The Titanic at that time was the largest ship afloat and was making her maden voyage.

Has Only Three Weeks To Live

How many more times will W. B. Miller feel the sweetness of these little arms around his neck? That is the question of a broken-hearted father as he holds his four-year-old daughter, Willie Mae Miller, for whom all hope has been abandoned. Doctors give her at most, only a few weeks to live. She is a victim of leukemia, a rare incurable disease resulting from a scarcity of red blood cells. At St. Luke's hospital in Memphis, Tenn., she touches the hearts of the internes. A blood transfusion turned to water. "I pray every night for a miracle to happen," said Mr .Miller. "Maybe some great specialist will see her picture in the paper and come to her aid."

U.S. Fights Locust Plague



Grasshopper catcher attached to front of an automobile.

Sacking "harvested" grasshoppers for poultry feed.

Female laying eggs.

Canada is not the only country to have a plague of grasshoppers. Down in the United States they find the "locusts" are damaging pests. They have evolved a new method of getting rid of them in Arizona. Grasshoppers disappear at the first frost but they take good care to lay their eggs just under the surface as the illustration shows. So the farmers got out their horses and plows and plowed up the eggs and left them to the birds and the cold to kill. Last summer they perfected the "hopper catcher," a trap affixed to the front of a tractor and harvested them by the bushel. Instead of killing them off they fed them to the poultry. The eggs are laid in uncultivated ground and a comparatively few females can raise a whole plague of grasshoppers in a year. The grasshoppers were so bad down in several states last year that they literally darkened the skies for hours, with their destructive invasion. They even stopped railroad trains and booked traffic on paved highways —their crushed bodies, run over while crawling from field to field, having made the rails or cement too slippery for safe travel. In a single night an army of the hoppers can strip a field of wheat or barley or almost any other vegetation absolutely clean. They have even gnawed the handles off shovels and hoes. Poisoned bran is employed each summer where traps cannot be used, but poisoning has its drawbacks. It is dangerous to man, and to animals aside from the undesirable ones. And poisoned hoppers cannot be fed to poultry.

New Trend In Hats

If you've been feeling rather old and weary, inclined to meditate pessimistically that youth has gone and the only thing left for you is the rocking chair and knitting needles; or if you're young and should be gay, but have an unhappy feeling that you have few friends and the Right Man is a myth, take heart, for 'tis spring, 'tis spring, and you will feel like a new woman in the garments that good old Dame Fashion has for you this year.

Not for a number of seasons, it seems, have clothes had the air which permeates them this year. They're young and gallant, with perky ruffles that defy Old Man Gloom, and that fluttery expectant look that the designers call windblown, but which really is an adventurous looking forward to better days.

Have you chosen your spring suit? Then it's a question of blouse and hat—possibly also gloves and bag. Blouses are delightful. They embody youth. One of them is sketched, a white crepe, the high necked, frilly type, with short sleeves.

The hat worn with it is important, indicative of a new trend. It is a Rose Descat model of black Toyo straw. It is set forward on the head, the brim dips frontward, and a significant crease appears in the crown.

As to accessories, the soft, crushable envelope bag is one of the smartest of the season. Beige or white doeskin slipover gloves are the blouse.

Just 31 years ago Saturday, March 31, the first news was flashed by radio across the Atlantic (New York to London) by wireless-telegraph. Thus it was a new era in transmission was opened up to the world. Today short wave apparatus carries daily reports across the oceans regularly and huge stations are being erected to carry news reports to all parts of the world. How The World Worships In The Observance Of Easter

At Riverside, Cal., worshipers at the cross atop Mt. Rubidoux.

In Upper Silesia, peasants praying on the banks of a creek.

At Jerusalem, young boys praying at St. James church.

At Rome, an Easter procession wending its way along the Via Crucis.

Easter in Canada is not the colorful pageant it is in many foreign lands, though the sentiment may be the same. The above layout illustrates how the people of other nations observe the Crucifixion and Resurrection of the Saviour at Eeastertime.

NOTED BRITISHERS ORGANIZE AGAINST MENACE OF FASCISM

Warn England May Go Way of Italy and Germany.

MUST QUELL MOVEMENT.

By PIERRE J. HUSS
Central Press Canadian Writer

LONDON, April 6.—Alarmed by Fascism's inroads into staid British politics, a group of distinguished public figures have banded together to counteract the movement; and in their baptismal manifestos sharply challenged the "Fascist menace."

Contrary to the usual political denunciators of Fascism, who in England ridicule the possibility of its future weight in national anti-Fascist group stresses that unless steps are taken to the contrary, the Fascists will soon rule England.

Among the signatures to the manifesto are such familiar names as Harold J. Laski, professor of economic and political science at London University; Oliver Baldwin, son of Stanley Baldwin and former Socialist member of parliament; Sylvia Pankhurst, militant suffragette; Julian Huxley, author and intellectual leader; Maude Royden, leader in women's and religious affairs, and others.

"Fascism is an immediate menace to Britain as well as the rest of Europe," the manifesto declares. "Britain may well go the way of Italy and Germany unless this evil is successfully combated."

Warning the public against its gradual encroachment, the manifesto rejects the popular belief that Fascism as a political force will be confined to the continent and holds that the assumption that in Britain "political or racial oppression is unthinkable not only is an erroneous assumption but one that is fraught with the gravest possible dangers."

The manifesto continues:

"Fascism is a real menace in Britain to-day. It masquerades under the cloak of 'organization for the common good.' It appeals to the working classes by promise of higher wages, shorter hours, and security of employment, and at the same time offers to the middle and upper classes an undertaking that the rights of private property will be safeguarded. It speaks of national unity and economic planning in the interests of the state. But behind this mask of high social purpose it hides its real nature."

The manifesto then draws a comparative picture of the rise to power of Fascism under Hitler, stressing the subsequent loss of individual rights and liberty. It concludes with an appeal to the public to organize itself to fight the movement.

"We believe the time has come when all those who love liberty and culture should organize to combat this Fascist menace," it ends. "We have witnessed in Germany the tragic consequences of disunity among the progressive and humanitarian forces. This failure to cooperate was explointed to the full and was one of the major factors in the triumph of Hitlerism. In Britain, Fascism is in its infancy, and can easily be resisted if the will and the necessary organization are available."

Organize To Combat Fascism

Here are some of the prominent Britishers who are organizing to combat the rise of Fascism in Britain. Usually ridiculed, Fascism is termed a serious menace to traditional British freedom by this new group who have issued a manifesto on the aims and purposes of the various shirted organibations. TOP ROW, Miss Maude Royden, noted religionist and social worker; Julian Huxley, author and intellectual leader. BOTTOM ROW, Oliver Baldwin, son of Stanley Baldwin, and former Socialist member of parliament; Sylvia Pankhurst, woman suffragette.

SHIP BATTLES HARBOR ICE.

KINGSTON, Ont., April 6.— (C. P.)—At nine o'clock this morning the steamer Wolfe Islander made another attempt to reach Wolfe Island.

Thursday afternoon, the boat, after battling against the ice for four was able to make her way from Kingston to Garden Island, about a mile from Wolfe Island. Ice between the two islands is quite heavy, but Capt. McDonald express the belief that a landing would be made at Wolfe Island to-day, thereby opening local navigation for the season.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

In trying to impress a pupil with the importance of learning the swing a step at a time an interesting parallel came to light. The pupil is a prominent New York surgeon. He told me that in a certain hospital young surgeons had to assist at operations for at least two years before they could touch a knife. That amount of time was needed to eliminate the tendency on the part of the student to slight some of the details. Of course, swinging a club is not as importana as wielding a knife, but overlooking certain details is just as disastrous to the swing as it can be to an operation. Even though the swing is more complicated than most surgical operations it takes but a few months to learn it if you take it a step at a time.

500 FANS SEE GRAPPLE CARD

Three Toronto Stars of the Game Take Part in "Y" Amateur Show.

NINE LIVELY BOUTS.

Five hundred fans saw an amateur wrestling show in the "Y" gym last night, one consisting of nine lively bouts of straight mat grappling—minus the pro tactics except for two burlesque tangles. Three Toronto stars of the game dished up their stuff in fine style and the local wrestlers all showed skillful and scientific work. The card was received with applause by the appreciative crowd.

H. B. Cowan, local instructor, was referee. He addressed the fans at the start, explaining the purpose of the show and then pointing out the various holds allowed or barred in amateur grappling while Bill Hogan and Fred Williams demonstrated. Bill Taylor, local champion, then went on with Waldie Myers, beautifully-built Ontario 135-pound titleholder from Toronto. They gave a fine performance, showing good training and knowledge of the amateur game, Myers taking the only fall in 7½ minutes.

Bill Hogan and Waddie Waterman, 135, staged a hard even go, the former finally gaining a fall after nine minutes. With Frank Leahy refereeing, Bill Gerow and Frank Peryer tore into each other in a side-splitting burlesque of the professional game. They had the crowd cheering and roaring with laughter with their furious mixing and rough stuff. It was called a draw. Andy Chartran, 152, proved too good for Kitchen Johnston, 154, and tossed him twice in one minute's time, the bout being fast and brief. Fred Williams, local 135-pounder, gave Jack Edgar, 138-pound Torontonian, a great argument before losing the fall in 8½ minutes. Fred was very slippery and skillful and worked out of many tight spots which the aggressive Jack put him in.

Alf Johnston, 152, took two straight falls inside of three minutes from Jack Bennett, 145, taking the aggressive from the start and using his added reach to advantage. Then came another pro burlesque, Frank Leahy and Carlos Routley bringing down the house with a wild and wooly exhibition, the only thing barred being straight wrestling. It was highly exciting and humorous, and ended in a draw with the boys unwilling to quit.

Bill Taylor made an excellent showing against Ben Engleblоom, Ontario 145-pound champion from Toronto. The latter made a strong finish to get the fall after 9½ minutes of hard struggling. In the wind bout, Waldie Myers took the same length of time, 9½ minutes, to throw Carlos Routley. It was a close, exciting and more open bout than most, with the husky local lad giving Waldie a tough time of it till toward the end. He took the first fall in 4½ minutes, but he was satisfied to let it go with a fall apiece with time almost up.

Ability to Finish Off Attacks Gives Easterners Their Final Hockey Victory.

(By Sam G. Ross, C.P. Staff Writer.)

WINNIPEG, April 6 (C.P.) — The husky lads who wear the double blue of St. Michael's College in Toronto to-day were kings of junior hockey in Canada.

After an easy 5-0 victory in the first game, the Eastern Canada champions took a 6-4 overtime victory from the Edmonton Athletic Club, Western titlists, here last night to win the Dominion title and the Memorial Cup

The boys from the Alberta capital never quit trying and they matched the hockey skill of the Easterners all through last night's 80 minutes of hockey that left every player nearly exhausted. It was the ability to finish off attacks that gave the Easterners their win

The East and West were on even footing in possession of the Memorial Trophy as a result of the St. Mikes' victory. Teams from the East have captured it eight times, and teams from the West have held it the same number Newmarket, Ont., Redmen were the 1933 winners.

St. Mike's gained possession of the trophy for the first time. And with Edmonton also seeking possession for the first time the series was keenly fought. Eastern holders of the cup have been Toronto University Schools, Toronto Canoe Club, Owen Grey twice, Toronto Marlboros, Sudbury Wolves and the Newmarket lads. Western winners have been Fort William G.W.V.A., University of Manitoba, Regina Patricias twice, Calgary Canadians, Regina Monarchs, Winnipeg Falcons and Winnipeg's Elmwood Millionaires.

"Pep" Kelly with two goals led the St. Mike's marksmen in last night's battle. Johnny Acheson, Nick Metz, Mickey Drouillard and Art Jackson counted the other goals, with Jackson, Reg. Hamilton and Acheson figuring in assists. The Colville brothers, Mac and Neil, counted one goal each for Edmonton and Bill Carse and Andy Maloney got the other pair. Morey Rimstad earned and assist on Carse's goal.

It was fleet little Andy Maloney, subbing on right wing, who plucked the game out of the fire for Edmonton with only 30 seconds of the regulation period to play. Jackson took Archeson's pass in the second overtime period to give St. Mike's all they needed for victory. Kelly made the victory certain when he rapped in St. Mike's sixth goal with only a half a minute of the overtime period to play.

One of Big Guns

Kelly, who played with the Newmarket champions last year along with Don Willson, was one of the big guns behind the St. Mike's power plays. He and Reg. Hamilton gave the Colville brothers plenty of trouble but the fleet Mac and Neil required a lot of stopping. Along with Morey Rimstad, the Colville brothers kept the Edmonton flag to the top of the mast until the final bell rang.

Bill Carse, dead tired from the heavy pace he had to set in trying to beat the Hamilton boys on the Toronto defence, gave his mates inspiration on every sally.

Both teams came into Winnipeg highly rated and they left with their reputations still high. From the first bell to the last second of the overtime period action was packed into the struggle. The Toronto Irish knew full well they had been up against a smart team when they trooped off the ice to the dressing rooms.

DR. JERRY LAFLAMME YEAR'S OUTSTANDING HOCKEY COACH

Pilots Sensational St. Michael's Junior Teams to Two Titles Majors May Move Up to Senior Ranks Next Year.

STAR PLAYER WHEN ST. MIKE'S WON TITLE

By W. M. GLADISH
Central Press Canadian Sports Writer

TORONTO, April 6.—Over a period of more than a quarter of a century the name of Jerry Laflamme has been synonymous with hockey achievements in Canada. At regular intervals he has been in the sport limelight because of his playing, coaching or refereeing and at the present moment he is holding the centre of the stage as mentor of one of the greatest junior hockey teams ever to step upon any ice. Laflamme was largely responsible for bringing along two junior teams of St. Michael's college, which captured both the "A" and "B" divisions of the Junior O.H.A., with the "majors" defeating Edmonton in a two game series at Winnipeg to win the Memorial Cup, emblematic of the junior championship of Canada.

Dr. William Laflamme—to give his his correct title — has always been a factor in hockey since the time he played for the Woodstock juniors, his home-town team in 1906 when they were the runners-up for the O.H.A. honors. Two years later, he was performing for the junior team of St. Michael's college, Toronto, and a year later, the team having graduated to senior O.H.A. championship and later the Allan cup to the college, the first Toronto team to bring the historic silverware to Toronto.

In subsequent years, following his college career, Jerry Laflamme figured prominently for the Eaton hockey club and the Toronto Granites, both of which were the team to beat in any series Then he turned to the refereeing job and was much in demand in successive seasons as an arbiter for both professional and amateur contests, finally to become a coach for his alma mater with the present result that he has been instrumental in bringing both Ontario junior titles to the college, an extraordinary feat, and then led his "major" team on to the Canadian junior title. His is a record worthy of considerable space in the history of the sport in Canada.

May Move Up to Senior

History is largely repeating itself in the case of St. Michael's and Jerry Laflamme. Back in 1909, St. Mike's presented a team of celebrities which swept to the highest hockey honors and, in a memorable struggle at Kingston against the 14th regiment team, the Saints captured the senior title although all but two of their seven players were still eligible for junior company. In this connection, it is whispered that the S.M.C. Juniors will move up to senior ranks next season——history once more in repetition.

In that Kingston game, St. Mike's vanquished the soldiers by 13 to 9 and it was largely Laflamme's four goals that brought the victory to the collegians. Later, in 1909, St. Mike's defeated Queen's 5 to 4 in Kingston for the Allan Cup, although the score at half time stood 4 to 2 for the Presbyterians.

A Great Record

Laflamme was only 19 years of age, the youngest player of a young team, when St. Mike's triumphed. He was the key man of a brilliant machine which was made up as follows:

Winnett Thompson in goal who also played for St. Andrew's college; the powerful Timmins, also captain of the St. Michael football team which went places in those days, held down the point position; Capt. Jimmy Dissette at cover-point who had made a name for himself as quarter-back of the Parkdale Cance club football team which captured Dominion honors in 1908; Charles Roche, rover, who had previously played with the Owen Sounds hockey team; Art Lowes at right wing, also a brilliant lacrosse player of the day, and Dutchy Richardson, left wing, who had played senior O.H.A. with Woodstock and was also a well-known lacrosse player. Richardson was the old man of the team with his 22 years. Incidentally, there were only seven players for the seven-man hockey of the day, which meant they were all 60-minute performers with no spares or substitutes to fall back upon.

In the later struggle with Queen's for the Allan cup, the St. Mike's turned out the same crew with two exceptions. Pete Spratt of Lindsay and well-known in Peterborough sports circles replaced Timmins at point while Herbie Matthews held down the right wing position in place of Lowes. But Laflamme was still the king pin of the attack.

The Saints of 25 years ago had a great following and there was much rejoicing when they marched through to Canadian honors. Once more the St. Michael's "majors" and "buzzers" have attracted popular acclaim and the quest for the national junior title under the paternal guidance of Dr. William Laflamme has caught the fancy of the crowd. The players out there on the ice have been virtually reflecting the genius of their coach whose record in the Canadian ice sport has been surpassed by few.

Thoms Not For Sale According To Smythe

TORONTO, April 6. — Rumors about sales and trades of Toronto Maple Leaf hockey players have been rife during the past few days, but Manager Conny Smythe said last night that no players had been sold or traded. Offers have been received for Levinsky, Shill and Sands, but have not been accepted. Bill Thoms is not for sale, and no offers for him will be considered. In fact, the Toronto club is not particularly interested in any offers for purchase of Maple Leaf players unless the price is right. Smythe places a high value on his players, but he may be persuaded to part with one or two if the bids are high enough.

LEAFS ARE OUTHIT.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 6. — Ike Boone and his Toronto Maple Leafs made it two straight from Albany in their pre-season series in the Southland with an 8-7 decision over the Senators here yesterday.

After being held runless during the first four innings, while the Leafs gathered a four-run lead, Albany suddenly realized a game was on and came within one run of tieing the score. In fact, the Senators outhit the Leafs in this particular contest, getting twelve solid base wallops in comparison to ten credited to Toronto.

Maple Leafs continued to bunch their hits when runs were in the making.

Youthful baseball players at Coral Gables, Fla., got more than a handful of spring training when Joe Kirkwood, Australian trick shot golf artist, began feeding them sizzlers over the plate. VETERAN BASEBALL LEGISLATOR RETIRES FROM O. B. A. A. OFFICE

Association Representative on Governing Board of A.A.U. For 12 Years.

PROMINENT ATHLETE.

TORONTO, April 6 (C.P.).—Patrick K. "Pat" Kennedy has made known his intention of retiring as the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association representative on the governing board of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada. He has filled the position for 12 years, and his retirement was revealed when the baseball organization's nominations for 1934 officers were published.

Kennedy's name for 12 seasons has been the only one appearing for the nomination to the governing board. To-day, however, the name of Bert Smith of Toronto also was on the list and it was announced he had been nominated by Kennedy. It was Pat's way of announcing his retirement.

Kennedy was born here in the year of Confederation, and in his youth was a star lacrosse player and was a member of Canadians, junior champions of Canada in 1889, 1890 and 1891. He has held the presidency of the O.B.A.A. and was prominent in other fields of sport.

COBOURG LACROSSE OFFICERS

COBOURG, April 6.—(Special)—At a meeting of lacrosse enthusiasts held here Wednesday night it was practically decided to enter two teams in the O.L.A.A. this summer. The Canadian national game became very popular here last summer, when the Cobourg team won the Intercounty League. Officers elected are: Honorary Presidents, Harry Lucas and Herbert Covey; President, Andy Leiper; Vice-President, Alex. Henderson; Secretary-Treasurer, Arnold Hall; Executive, Robert Smith, Roy Black, W. Cooper, Ted Ellison and Rev. Father Wolfe.

GLASGOW RANGERS CAN CLINCH TITLE

Meet Aberdeen in Useful Workout for Scottish Cup Final.

GLASGOW, April 6.—(C P Cable) — With the league championship once more in their grasp, Glasgow Rangers will be able to have a useful workout for their cup final when they meet Aberdeen on Saturday.

The champions have come on fine in recent weeks to overtake Motherwell in the league and reach the cup final with St. Mirren, who added to Motherwell's grief by knocking them out of the cup last week The Rangers now have a four-point league lead over Motherwell and there are only three more games before the season's over so that a win tomorrow clinches the championship. Even if they lost both remaining games and Motherwell won all, the Rangers have a far better goal average than the Fir Parkers.

Adding to the rosy outlook for the Ibrox Park team, Motherwell is drawn against the tough Third Lanark outfit tomorrow. St. Mirren meanwhile have an easy engagement with Cowdenbeath.

The Second Division remains a tangle with four teams in line for promotion, and none of them clash on Saturday.

THIRD PERIOD SPURGE NETS CHICAGO SEXTET 3 COUNTERS AND 4-1 VICTORY OVER WINGS

LEWIS TALLIES ONCE.

Hawks Heavy Favorites to Finish Stanley Cup Series on Sunday.

DETROIT, April 6.—(CP)—Away to a flying start, Chicago's Black Hawks soared homeward today with a two-game advantage in the Stanley Cup series with Detroit Red Wings. The Hawks stunned a Detroit crowd of 14,000 last night by defeating the Wings 4-1 in the second game of the five-game series.

Lionel Conacher

Tommy Gorman's brigade, built along defensive lines and around two stars, Charlie Gardiner and Lionel Conacher, flashed tremendous driving power in every front-line unit in staging a torrid third-period assault that accounted for three goals. Detroit's defence held up—it was the forward lines that fumbled.

On top of their 2-1 overtime win Tuesday night, last night's triumph left the Hawks needing only another victory to capture the highest honor in professional hockey. The Stanley Cup has never been won by either Chicago or Detroit. The Hawks may win by defeating the Wings Sunday or Tuesday in Chicago or next Thursday in Detroit.

Too Much Attack

Far too powerful once they had put down a Detroit uprising in the second period, the Hawks charged relentlessly in the third to pull away from the tired Wings. It was an uphill struggle from the start for Jack Adams' team and after two periods of it there wasn't much left in the Detroit camp except fight.

Lola Couture sent the Hawks into the lead late in the first period, skating through the Wing defence alone to beat the harassed Wilf Cude from close-range. After that the Hawks made the National League champions do the heavy work, meanwhile waiting for openings. There were few of these as long as the Wings were fresh.

Lewis Ties Count

In the second period Herbie Lewis tied the score. He batted in the rebound of Cooney Weiland's hard shot that almost beat Gardiner. The Hawk netman made a great save of Weiland's shot and had no chance to cover up when Lewis sailed in and planted the rebound high in the cords. The Wings seldom threatened after that.

It took the Gormanites a little more than five minutes of third-period play to make victory certain. Doc Romnes scored first on a pass inside the Detroit defence from Paul Thompson. Art Coulter and Johnny Gottselig combined for the second—the best goal of the night—and Coulter, who played a leading role on defence, lashed the puck past Cude.

Gottselig capped it all by breaking away late in the period and scoring on a defenceless goalie. Cude's mates were all in Chicago territory when Johnny poked the puck loose and sprinted the length of the ice. He pulled Cude from his cage before shooting. On a similar breakaway a minute before, the Wing goalie outguessed Gottselig.

Johnny Gottselig

The Wings may not yet be beaten in this series, but there was little hope among Detroit fans that the team that defeated Toronto Maple Leafs in the N.H.L. finals would be able to stage a threatening comeback. The Hawks had a good margin on play in both of the first two games and appeared capable of putting up a stiff defense when one was needed.

In the hope of strengthening his relief forward corps, Adams returned Gordon Pettinger, Wilf Starr and Frank Carson to the lineup last night, replacing Gus Marker, Gene Carrigan and Ron Moffatt. But the shift had little effect, though Pettinger made some good plays working with Happy Emms and Johnny Sorrell.

HOCKEY BREAKS AGAINST WINGS IN THIRD FRAME

"Chicago Scored Three of Cheapest Goals I've Ever Seen," Says Adams.

HAWKS JUBILANT.

DETROIT, Mich., April 6 (CP)—With two games under their belts and only one more to win the prized Stanley Cup, Chicago's Black Hawk hockey team prepared to-day to leave for Chicago where the third game of the series will be played with Detroit's Red Wings.

Jubilant and confident, the Hawks held another celebration in their dressing room last night, rivalling the one they held Tuesday night after the first victory.

But in the Red Wing camp, Detroit hopes fluttered, although heightened a little after Manager Jack Adams had blamed the defeat on bad breaks.

"Every break in the world went against us," he told the players. "They scored three of the cheapest goals I've ever seen. Romnes' goal which caromed off Doug. Young's skate was the turning point of the game. It got us down. The morale went down a notch but you didn't quit fighting. You are young and that goal got your goat. You guys went out there to-night instructed to play Chicago off its feet, and you did it for two periods. You tied the score in the second, and then—well, I don't blame you. That many breaks in one game will make anyone to haywire.

"I tell you it can't last. It isn't hockey. Some of the breaks have got to come our way. The fans like a winner, and you didn't win. So keep your chins up after you get out of here. Forget this game. Sunday night, we'll backcheck this gang right out of the Chicago Stadium."

Over in the Hawks' dressing room, Tommy Gorman, Goalier Gardiner, Lionel Conacher, Taffy Abel and the rest were singing, "It Won't Be Long Now."

OUTSIDERS LEAD IN MAJOR HONORS

Halifax and Ottawa Players to Meet in Badminton Singles.

TORONTO, April 6.—(C.P.) — Out-of-town racquet wielders to-day seemed destined to carry off major honors in the annual invitation badminton tournament at the Toronto Granite Club. Douglas Grant of Halifax, Canadian men's singes champion, and George Goodwin, of Ottawa, were in the running for the singles, men's doubles and mixed doubles title.

To-day the tournament was discontinued with entertainment holding sway. Saturday the semi-finals and finals will be held and champions will be known Saturday night.

Grant eased thorugh the third round of the men's singles with a 15-7, 15-7 triumph over W. T. Pinkerton of Toronto and then teamed in the men's doubles with W. Kramer of Detroit to defeat the Toronto combiantion of Bellamy-O'Hara, 15-10, 15-8 in the third round. Grant, however, went under in the third round of the mixed doubles when Helen Grant, St. Catharines, and George Goodwin, Ottawa, defeated the Halifax star and his partner, Mrs. Wallace of Toronto, 15-12, 15-13.

Rule Changes Made In Canadian Bisley

OTTAWA, April 6 (C.P.).—New regulations for the "Canadian Bisley," the annual meet of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association, will be in effect when the crack shots of the Dominion assemble at Connaught Ranges here next August to match shots for prize-money and honors.

Rule changes announced last night included the abolition of sighting shots in all competitions. Instead, competitors will have the option of taking two practice shots at the target.

Entry fees in most of the squadded matches have been reduced by 10 cents, and the first four prizes in the Governor-General's match have been restricted to past and present members of His Majesty's forces. Hitherto only the first prize has been so restricted.

The meet will open August 6 and will continue for six days.

CARNEGIE AT KINGSTON

KINGSTON, Ont., April 6.—(CP) — Jack Jarvis, boxing coach of Queen's University, and matchmaker for the newly formed Arena Athletic Club, announced this morning that negotiations are practically complete for the bringing to Kingston on April 17, of Eric Carnegie, Ontario and Toronto welterweight champion and Jimmy Coombs, of Midland. The two boxers staged a terrific fight in Toronto about five weeks ago, and are practically certain to be seen at the first show of the new club.

6 MONTHS, LIQUOR CASE

GUELPH, April 6.(CP) — The much-remanded liquor case in which Tom Veroni and Tony Trebizon, local Italians, were charged with keeping liquor for sale was settled to-day when Trebizon was entenced to six months in the Ontario Reformatory. The liquor and motor car were confiscated and the charge against Veroni was dismissed.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Hockey — Bowling — Boxing Basketball — Curling, Etc.

By C. J. P.

The local Senior Lacrosse Club got Harry Beatty of the Utilities Commission to go over to Stevenson Park this afternoon to look over the lighting facilities there in case the lacrossers obtain permission to play there by electric light this summer. Their plan is to lay out the boxed court, 170 by 70 feet, along in front of the west grandstand, coming up against the north stand. This would not encroach by several feet on the baseball diamond, and they state that spectators would not be allowed on the diamond. It might be a good place all right, provided the lighting is okay and satisfactory arrangements can be made all around.

• • • • • • •

As for the team itself, we can't say much about it yet—not knowing anything definite. There'll be seven or eight players from the city and several from the district playing for the Petes' Seniors in a strong senior O.A.L.A. League. Not more than three senior loops are expected to operate in Ontario this season, so they should all be mighty strong squads. The Petes, playing previously as intermediates, have shown enough strength to lick most senior teams in exhibition games, and there is no reason why they can't make good in senior company with a little strengthening. And they should draw good crowds.

• • • • • • •

The following letter comes from Ken Cooper, of the Cobourg Invictus Club, Cobourg: "Dear Sir—As athletic representative of the Cobourg Invictus Club, I have been asked to write to you about the possibility of entering a junior baseball team in the Peterborough Junior City League. You would also oblige us by telling us the entry fee, age limit, and date the schedule would possibly open. Hoping to hear from you in the near future and thanking you, I remain, etc." It's up to those interested in the City League to call an organization meeting shortly and discuss this matter along with others. And we can't write the guy anything until then.

• • • • • • •

As a matter of fact, the various local leagues, baseball, softball and others, should hold organization meetings next week and get lined up. It's high time plans were made for the summer sports as it's the early robin that puts the snatch on the late worm!

• • • • • • •

'Twas surprising the gang of rassiin' fans that ankled up to the "Y" last e'en to take a look-see at the amateur matmen in action. Must have been five hundred on hand, fans not rasslers. Nine good bouts, of ten minutes each, were shown to the appreciative crowd, and it was a quite successful show all around. No admission was charged. The local boys showed some smart mat work and the three Toronto grapplers proved experienced athletes in their game. And the two burlesques on the pro racket were the nerts, and no mistake! Quite a few ladies were spotted in the large assembly that filled up the gymnasium.

• • • • • • •

H. B. Cowan, managing director of the Rural Publishing Co., put on the card. He was Dominion welterweight amateur champion back about 1900, and still makes the simon pure sport his hobby. And he is the man who has been instructing the local amateurs in the "Y" all winter, having some sixteen in his class working out up there two or three times a week. There is no doubt but that the amateur game is much more scientific and shows more skill and clean straight mat tactics than does the modern act put on by the pro grapplers But there also is no doubt but that the slambang roughneck act put on by professionals gives the fans a bigger kick. They love this caveman stuff, and give science the go-by.

• • • • • • •

For example, while the crowd admired the smart showing of the strictly straight grappling matches last night, they made ten times as much noise during the two burlesque pro tussles. Frank Leahy, who has more color than an Easter parade, has all the tricks of the cash-and-carry artists down like nobody's business, and puts on an act that Don George couldn't beat. He had a good opponent in Carlos Routley, who even thought up a few new angles himself. The Feryer-Gerow vaudeville was a scream, too, with the boys more anxious to do their stuff outside the hempen strands. There were plenty of chuckles right from the heels up and considerable cheering and wise-cracking advice while these two merry melees were on!

• • • • • • •

But quite a few of the fans for the first time saw what real rassiin' is when the other bouts were on, particularly after Mr. Cowan had put on a slow-motion demonstration between two boys—with a running explanation of what was happening—of various holds and how they are broken. A couple of bouts were short, but mostly they went just about the limit. The local lads who met the Ontario champs proved there wasn't a great deal of difference, Bill Taylor showing much promise against these experts. We liked the showing also of Fred Williams. And Routley in the last match. This boy Waldie Myers of Toronto, 135-pound Ontario champ, had one lovely build—perfectly proportioned and muscular. It was a neat show throughout, we thought.

OSSIE BLUEGE AT THIRD BASE FOR SENATORS

Rube Walberg Holds Baltimore Orioles to Three Hits in 9 Innngs.

WHITE SOX SHAPING UP.

(By the Associated Press)

MEMPHIS, Tenn. April 6.—(AP)—The veteran Ossie Buege, with his new shatter-proof spectacles looks like a sure bet to hold down third base when the Washington Senators start gunning for the American League pennant.

EL PASO, Tex. — The Chicago White Sox pitching situation appears to be straightening out.

Since starting home in company with the Pittsburgh Pirates, Ted Lyons, Whit Wyatt, John Pomoroski and Sam Jones have started to show signs of being ready.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala.—At last — a Red Sox pitcher who can go nine innings at top speed without the aid of mirrors.

Bucky Harris is all pepped up over Rube Walberg's performance at Jacksonville, Fla., yesterday. Rube held the Baltimore Orioles to three hits.

BARNWELL, S. C.— The Boston Braves stop off here today for a game with Albany; then, on to Washington.

Everyone is watching Hal Lee these days. Hal is holding down Rabbit Maranville's second assignment and is fielding well.

LAKELAND, Fla.— Trimmed by the St. Louis Cards, 4 to 2, the Detroit Tigers came back to the winter training quarters today to meet Montreal of the International League in a two game series. Two of the Tiger casualties, pitcher Rowe and Manager Mickey Cochrane are expected to see action for a few innings.

"THE PERILS OF PAULINE"

At the Theatres

AT THE CAPITOL.

SUPERLATIVES AREN'T STRONG ENOUGH TO DESCRIBE BERGNER IN "CATHERINE", WHICH COMES TO THE CAPITAL MONDAY, TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY.

(From New York Telegraph, Wednesday, February 14, 1934)

All the superlatives that have been spattered in print about the excellent dramatic talent of Elizabeth Bergner are mild. Those fortunate enough to witness the premiere last night of "Catherine the Great" at the Astor Theatre, discovered themselves cheering for a young lady who will be a personality to be reckoned with when critics start naming the important persons of filmdom.

This Bergner girl is not a good-looking damsel, judged by Hollywood standards. But she has something more important than the beauty that is only skin-deep. She has that indefinable something that some call genius. In fewer words, she is every inch an actress.

"Catherine the Great", as a motion picture, may be reckoned another triumph from the British studios. Made by the same company that produced "The Private Life of King Henry VIII", this latest film rivals, in production values, the best of Hollywood's motion pictures. It is directed with understanding and with a keen appreciation of cinematic vaues by the Dr. Paul Czinner who is fortunate enough to be the husband of Elizabeth Bergner.

Sets Magnificent

Dr. Czinner's direction takes full advantage of the opportunities afforded him by the sweep and scope of the story. The sets are magnificent; photographically it is superb and, in costuming and lighting, it shows an intelligence that puts to shame some of Hollywood's more ambitious films.

The story takes liberties with history, but you won't mind that. It tells of the shy German princess who weds the Grand Duke Peter and later becomes Empress of Russia. Her unfortunate marriage to a half-insane, madly suspicious individual seems to find Catherine in great danger.

Fairbanks Mad Czar.

But her tact, her knowledge of statesmanship and her ability to impress her personality upon her associates in the palace bring her through to final control of the Russian ship.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., is entrusted with the role of the half-mad Peter. Flora Robson is the Dowager Empress, while other excellent performances may be chalked up to the credit of Gerald du Maurier, Gibb McLaughlin, Clifford Jones and other English players.

"Catherine the Great" is too important a picture to be missed. By all means see it.

English Sportsmen Will Declare War On "Hush-Hush" Type of Tennis Play

LONDON, April 6 (A.P.).—A campaign to abolish "hush-hush" tennis is in the offing. Guardians of the tennis faith have come to the conclusion that it isn't exactly sporting.

"Hush-hush" tennis is the name given to the pleasant little practice of employing pseudonyms in minor tournaments. The entry list in almost any of the island's spring events will include, say, "The Crap," "Handsome Harry" and similar dizzy aliases.

Now and then a well-known player enters a minor meet on the sly and gives the name "Johnny Jones," just for the fun of it. But others slip their identity with better reason.

A university student, for instance, who doesn't wish his parents to know he's skipping a few classes, can label himself "Garbo" and no one is ever the wiser.

Officials feel it is a little disconcerting to the general public to observe, for instance, that Gandhi won a furiously fought five-set match from Al Capone in the finals at Twickenham.

Further, they contend it is not fair to the player who competes under his true and correct name. He might defeat a star of much higher ranking, yet receive no credit for it in the books.

Sir Frederick Wall Retires From Soccer

LONDON, April 6.—(C. P. Cable.) —British football will suffer a big loss by the retirement of Sir Frederick Wall, noted sportsman, who has been secretary of the Football Association for the past 40 years.

Announcing to-day that he would retire, Sir Frederick said he had not fixed any particular date, but he would certainly continue until after the cup final and the end of the present season next month

Lawn Bowling

(By Herb Martin)

Along about this time of the season, a year ago, the Peterborough Lawn Bowling Club opened up a new in-between season's sport, known as "indoor lawn bowling."

It turned out to be a great success; and so again this season the committee is going to stage another series of these games.

The games commence to-night at 7.30 p.m. sharp, and everybody is invited to come—men and women. It is almost impossible to reach all by phone, so this notice is meant as a public invitation.

Gets $25,000,000—And Life Goes On

April 3rd was a red letter day for Richard J. Reynolds. It was his 26th birthday and he therefore came into the $25,000,000 trust fund left by his father. Those who know the tobacco heir, doubt that it will change his mode of living or love for fast trotting horses, such as the one he is driving in this picture. Speed and adventure have been prime factors in his life, even though he is now a "family man." He is living at beautiful Reynolds at Winston-Salem, N.C., with his wife (the former Elizabeth Dillard) and their son. At different times in his life he has been aviator, star halfback, ordinary seaman on a tramp steamer, and backer of a musical comedy on gay Broadway. Now his interest in trotters is his main hobby. Last year he won the rich Hambletonain trotting classic with his horse, Mary Reynolds. Dick Reynolds is a brother of Smith Reynolds who was shot to death in 1932 after his marriage to Libby Holman, torch singer.

As Hawks Defeated Forts In Allan Cup Final

Here is one reason why the Moncton Hawks defeated the Fort William Thundering Herd in the Allan Cup final in Toronto, and a reason why they will probably beat the Detroit White Stars in a post-season series for the international championship. The picture was taken in the last game of the series, which was won by the Hawks 5-1, shows four Moncton players piled in right on top of Hacquoil in the Forts' net. Hacquoil was the individual star of the Fort William team, but no goalie can be expected to stop the puck when the whole enemy team is taking pot shots from such close range. Moncton won the series for the second successive year.

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterborough's Leading Handwriting Analyst for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Joann Leon,
Norwood, Ont.

The handwriting as shown on your sample for analysis indicates that you have a very changeable disposition. You are sometimes given to fits of depression, and sometimes you are very temperamental. You do not want to let these expressions get the better of you, yet you cannot seem to control yourself. Permit me to suggest that you do not always enjoy good health. Therefore, conditions in general worry you a great deal more than they would under ordinary circumstances. Your well formed capitals show that you have the ability to gain and really appreciate success. You love lively friendships with plenty of good humor and genuine fun. Your nature craves variety, thus you find it quite difficult to settle down to one task for long at a time. You like to fathom the depths of a problem yourself. Your type as a rule needs protection and comfort, from someone with a dominant character, in order to bring out your best characteristics, especially the capacity to love deeply and loyally. However, you are rather young now and most of the above characteristics will be toned down a little as you grow older.

Agnes M. Hawthorne,
Bewdley, Ont.

Your handwriting as indicated on sample for analysis delineates you as a person who is romantically inclined. Some of the loops on your letter formations indicate that you are a dreamer yet out of these dreams should come realization of your ambition. You are sympathetic and understand human nature. You are artistic in more ways than the average. Your mind is keen and observing, your disposition versatile and interesting. Your ambitions are worthwhile. You have the characteristic outlines in your signature of either nursing or teaching. Your mind, once made up is positive, though I think you find it rather difficult to make it up correctly if you are hurried into thinking too quickly. You are one of excellent character.

Claudette Ripley,
Norwood, Ont.

The handwriting as delineated on your sample for analysis illustrates a reserved nature. You seem to be quite conservative and secretive, though the last named characteristic is not predominate. You are a sensitive person, and apt to repress your emotions. You perhaps find that this characteristic makes you become critical and analytical. You are not quite as confident as to your own abilities as you might be, and so should try to develop a stronger will power. However, the writing as a whole suggests good common sense and capable judgment. You are gifted with intelligent persistence, so no doubt know how to make the best of a bad situation, and to complete the work on hand before you allow yourself to begin something else. About your home, you would be neat and very orderly, not too extravagant, and not too close. You would choose your furnishings and drapes with care and good taste.

Jean Cuniskey,
191 O'Carroll Ave., City.

Your handwriting shows that you are rather apt to be excited and crowd your thoughts, so that when you desire to express yourself your words come in a jumbled confusion. Your will power as depicted in the crossing of your t' bars shows normal development but I am afraid it tends to make you stubborn and your determination is keen but not very well developed. You are affectionate but in this as in your speech, you do not seem to be able to express yourself. You might remember that actions speak louder than words. You are the type whose eyes do the most expressive talking for you. You are a type unto yourself. You could be interesting, intriguing, intellectual and ingenious. You are also energetic and proud, and fond of good clothing. Your birthsign is Pisces, the Fishes ruled by Neptune. May and June are your most fortunate months and Saturday is your best day. Your number is 5.

Isabella Harvie,
572 Rogers St., Peterborough.

Your handwriting reveals rather interesting characteristics. It shows that you can become very sharp and temperamental if things do not go as you want them to, but on the other hand you are careful not to let your temper get the better of you too often. Your inherent reserve acts as a stumbling block. If you have set yourself a goal, it will be necessary for you to overcome this characteristic and you can if you exercise a little perseverance. You have imagination but, as yet, not much talent to put it into practice. This imagination could lead you to a field of designing something artistic. You should be very refined with decided likes and dislikes as regards personal attire.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, April 7

A lively day, with possibly some unusual or spectacular developments, is the augury based on the ruling planetary directions. While there may be some gain from property, by diligent effort, or through benefices of elders, yet there is great menace through duplicity, underhandedness as well as open hostility.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a lively if not a sensational or surprising trend of events during the year. There is hint of fraud, trickery, as well as an undermining of the best interests by speculation, personal indulgences, extravagance or erratic or restless conduct, these having sensational reactions on the domestic, social or affectional circle. Industry and possessions may prosper.

A child born on this day may be versatile and clever, but restless, extravagant, fond of change and taking long chances, thereby inviting a checkered career.

The wisdom of the hog grading regulations which are administered by the Dominion Department of Agriculture has never been questioned and the general improvement in quality of Canadian hogs is now recognized and admitted by all who are familiar with the industry.

A.Y.P.A. OF BETHANY MEET AT RECTORY

Interesting Program by Young People of St. Mary's.

BETHANY, April 6 (Examiner Correspondence) — Miss Iolene Holden, student at St. Hilda's College, Toronto, returned to the city on Wednesday to resume her studies after the holidays.

Mr. R. Hudnut of Toronto was a recent guest of Rev. and Mrs. Holden at the rectory.

The A.Y.P.A. of St. Mary's held their fortnightly meeting on Wednesday, April 4, at the rectory.

There were twenty members present with the president in the chair. The roll call was answered by a line from a favorite hymn by each member. Business under discussion was plans including a play to be put on in the near future by the Dramatic Club of St. Mary's Church people.

A committee was appointed in charge of the preliminaries, date to be announced later. The program for the meeting which was of a social character, was in charge of Vera Strachan and Marjory Page, and proved most entertaining. Robert Sisson acted as chairman. A recitation entitled "Knocking," by Lena Mulligan was splendidly rendered in humorous strain. Dialogue by Marjor Page and Vera Strachan in costume "The Minister's Mistake"; Miss Vera personifying the young curate; reading by Ada Atwell; a pantomime by four girls was very enjoyable, Muriel Hannah, Marjory Page, Isobel Sisson and Vera Strachan.

The closing number was an Easter contest with a lucky number included. The setting was numerous intertwined cobwebs, attached to Easter eggs, each recipient having to comply with verdict attached on paper, causing much merriment. The young people assisted by the hostesses served lovely refreshments, brought the pleasant evening to a close.

The young gentleman will furnish the program and refreshments for the next meeting on April 18 to be held at the rectory.

MRS. T. MASSIE TRIES SUICIDE

Victim of Honolulu Assault in 1932 Leaps 20 Feet Off Liner Deck on Way to Italy.

REGRETS HER DIVORCE.

GENOA, Italy, April 6 (A.P.).—Ship's officers of the S.S. Roma said to-day that Mrs. Thalia Fortescue Massie, principal figure in the sensational Honolulu assault case of 1932, attempted suicide by slashing both her wrists, and throwing herself from the liner's top deck on the voyage from New York.

Prof. Darrio Borelli, director of the nervous ailments clinic in Genoa, where Mrs. Massie has been taken since the ship's arrival yesterday, confirmed the officers' report.

The director said that Mrs. Massie told him she attempted suicide when the steamer was three days out from Genoa because:

"I wanted to die. I regretted having got a divorce from my husband."

Mrs. Massie and Lieut. Thomas Hedges Massie, U.S.N., were divorced at Reno February 23.

Dr. Borelli told the Associated Press she would have to remain in the clinic from 30 to 40 days before she could recover completely.

Ship's officers said Mrs. Massie threw herself from the top deck, but that they did not know whether she intended throwing herself into the sea or only on a lower deck.

Despite her fall of nearly 20 feet, Dr. Borelli said that Mrs. Massie's physical injuries were not serious. He said her health physically was, in fact, good, but that she was extremely nervous and greatly depressed.

Find Second Boy 'Turning To Stone'

GOLDSBORO, N.C., April 6 (AP)—The name of two-year-old Levi Thompson of Wayne County was added to-day to the rolls of those medical science is attempting to save from unnatural death—for Levi is slowly "turning to stone."

His case, physicians said, parallels that of Benny Hendricks of Wilkesbarre, Pa., who is gradually becoming ossified, the victim of the disease that causes the muscles of the body to assimilate calcium which should go only into strengthening the body's bones.

The Thompson child lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brutus Thompson, in Mount Olive, near here. Already some of his muscles have almost ceased to function, and he can turn his head only slightly.

Checker Semi-Final Match Ends In Draw

TORONTO, April 6 (CP).—Andy Fulton and Rev. W. S. Edgar, of Toronto, were still deadlocked today in the battle to decide which will enter the final for the Ontario checker championship with Angus Crawford, defending titleholder.

Fulton and Edgar each won one game in last night's semi-final match, with the other two games ending in a draw. It is expected a winner will be declared early tonight, when the survivor will meet the Alton expert in the final match.

The Rev. Edgar is well-known in this district, being a former pastor of the Gilmour Memorial Baptist Church on the Chemong Road.

PEACE CRUSADE TO OUTLAW WAR

Cradled in British Columbia Movement Has Spread to World-Wide Proportions.

DUNCAN, B.C., April 6 (CP). — More thon 100,000 Canadians have become members of the World Peace Crusade to seek enfranchisement of the peoples of the world. They plan to decide whether or not there shall be wars and to demand state control of armament manufacture.

O. de C. Johnston, of Duncan, world-war veteran and international organizer for the Crusade, reports 300 new members are signing pledges of membership each day. They are spread throughout Canada in 150 cities, towns and districts.

The Crusaders hope their work will induce every country to pass a law requiring a referendum before a declaration of war. They plan as safeguards for such referenda:

Each nation to be fought must be publicly proclaimed; reasons for war must be clearly stated; voting must be compulsory; a two-thirds' majority must be necessary as sanction for war, and recruiting drives, martial music, pamphlets, orations, crude drawings and other forms of war propaganda must be prohibited during the period of the referendum. Membership is free and open to all.

The movement is not confined to Canada. Originating in this Vancouver Island town last January, it has already spread to Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, United States, France, Germany, Belgium, Norway, Sweden and Denmark.

The executive would be composed of 10 members from each nation to be known as the international executive. Under the constitution, political exploitation would be impossible because of a clause providing that no member of the executive could accept nomination to public office.

The Crusade is strongly supported by other organizations seeking world peace. Many members of the clergy have become members and women's organizations and veterans' organizations have approved the plan.

WOMAN'S SKULL STILL MYSTERY

Kitchener Police Believe Body Was Dismembered Before Burial.

MANY BONES MISSING.

KITCHENER, Ont., April 6. — (CP) — A missing letter which would shed more light on the mysterious discovery of a woman's skeleton in a sand pit near Woodside avenue is still being sought by police to-day without success. The letter was received "about six years ago" from Montreal from an anonymous sender who said he was sailing for Europe and that police would find a woman's body buried in the Woodside Park area.

The fact that not only the feet and hand bones but the greater part of the vetebral column as well are missing, frankly puzzled police to-day. While the possibility that boys who made the discovery may have carried these relics away with them is entertained, the theory that the body was dismembered before burial is growing stronger. The missing bones would not have crumbled into dust, since other bone were in a good state of preservation.

Check Ship Sailings

If the approximate date of the receipt of the Montreal letter is learned, it is likely that an investigation involving the scrutiny of steamships passenger lists out of Montreal may be carried out in the hope of discovering the identity of the man who seemed to know so much about the case.

The skeleton was discovered by four boys, Anthony and Martin Riehm, and Norman and Cecil Kurt, ranging in ages from 8 to 13 years. They were playing in the sand pit when the skull rolled down the bank. Fleeing in horror they reported their find to older boys, who summoning police, dug the remaining bones out of the sand.

An inquest has not been arranged, Coroner Dr. Lang awaiting the further development of the police investigation.

The earth about the shallow grave has been sifted through sieves, but no tatters of cloth or buttons have been unearthed. It is thought the body was nude at burial.

BOSTON BRUINS AFTER TORONTO HOCKEY STAR

TORONTO, April 6 (C.P.).—Don Hodges, star wingman of Toronto Seniors of the Ontario Hockey Association and Cities Service of the Mercantile League, has been approached by Art, Ross, Boston Bruin mentor, with regard to signing a professional contract, it was learned here to-day.

The two had a talk yesterday, and to-day will discuss terms. Hodges intimated if the terms are satisfactory he will make the jump to monied ranks.

Hodges is just now finishing a brilliant season, and to-night plays for Cities Service against British Consols in a Mercantile final game.

PRIZE WINNERS AT CARD PARTY

Euchre Evening Sponsored by Members of Women's Institute.

G. GRAHAM FUNERAL

NORWOOD, April 6 (Examiner Correspondence) — Five of the members of the Women's Institute sponsored a successful card party in the town hall on Wednesday night. Eighteen tables of euchre were played, the prizes were taken by: ladies' first, Mrs. C. Murphy; ladies' second, Mrs. J. Rogers; men's first, Mrs. L. Nelson; men's second, Mr. Ronald Rathwell; ladies' consolation, Mrs. Roy Hadley; men's consolation, Miss Bessie McNaughton, who played as a man. Lucky cup prize, Mrs. H. Garnet. After the distribution of the prizes lunch was served.

Mrs. J. Dewart and Miss Lena Dewart of Peterborough are visiting friends in town.

The many friends of Mr. H Webster will regret to learn that he is ill.

Mrs Mary Fennell spent a few days in Havelock this week.

Mr. S. Scott of Peterborough is visiting at the home of Mrs. J. Scott.

Mrs. A. Godin who has been visiting in Rochester has returned.

Mr. R. B. Stewart who has been visiting his daughter, Mrs. J. Scott for the past few months has returned to his home in Stewart Valley, Sask.

The funeral of the late George Graham was held from his late home on No. 7 Highway Wednesday afternoon.

The unusually large attendance of friends and acquaintances bore testimony of the respect in which he was held. He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graham of Asphodel Township. Striken with a maligant disease he endured many months of suffering which he bore with patient resignation.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. A. C. Reeves of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church of which the deceased was a member. The Orange Order and the Royal Black Perceptory also conducted their service. The deceased being a member of the lodge.

There are left to mourn his loss his wife, two sisters and two brothers, Mrs. F. Robertson of Norwood, Mrs. Haigh, John and Joseph of Asphodel. One brother Thomas predeceased him.

The bearers were Messrs. H. Godin, R. Gordon, W. Graton, F. Bedore and E. Haigh.

MADRIGAL SINGERS WILL GIVE CONCERT

Annual Program Will be Given in Collegiate Auditorium on Tuesday.

The program to be given by "The Madrigal Singers" next Tuesday evening, in the Collegiate Auditorium, is the most colorful and dramatic ever sung by this famous choir. Contrary to the usual custom, there are no madrigals this year, and the chorus, under the direction of Dorothy Allan Park, will sing a program comprising Latin Motets by Palestrina and Vittoria, a series of charming waltzes by Schubert, some Hungarian, Belgian and English folk-songs and a group of part-songs by that master musician who died this year, Sir Edward Elgar, also a setting of "In the Highlands," by George Butterworth, a young Englishman who was killed at Vimy, to the great loss of music. This program will appeal to everyone, being full of varying emotions, ranging from grave to gay, from serenity to joyous abandon, and from religious fervour to passionate joy and grief.

The technique of the "Singers" has now reached a point where it is possible for them to paint their canvas with the broad, sure strokes of the authoritative artist. Peterborough music lovers will hear a choir that has a bigger and better grasp of tonal coloring than ever before. Agnes Logan Green will be at the piano for the choir. This concert will be the only local appearance of the choir this season, and will be repeated in Toronto at the Eaton Auditorium on Saturday, April the fourteenth.

Madam Norah Drewett de Kresz is making her first appearance here, and will, without doubt, add many admirers to her already large European and Canadian following. She is one of the most sensitive and imaginative artists in Canada, and is playing a program that will display her distinguished gifts to the full.

The audience is particularly requested to be seated before eight-fifteen, as the first group of Latin motets by the chorus is of surpassing beauty, and nobody will be admitted during any number.

FRIENDS HONOR NORWOOD COUPLE

Mr. and Mrs. A. Waddell Are Presented Sugar Set and Cake Plate on Eve of Departure.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

NORWOOD, April . — Mr. and Mrs. William Robb were host and hostess on Tuesday evening to a number of young people of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church. The gathering was in honor of Mr. and Mrs. A. Waddell, who are leaving this week for Toronto.

Mr. Waddell has been accountant in the Royal Bank for the past seven years and by his kindly, helpful manner has won a host of friends in this district. Mrs. Waddell, too, will be greatly missed, having given much of her time to church and Sunday school work.

A suitable address was read by Mrs. J. Rogers, expressing the appreciation of the different church societies in which Mr. and Mrs. Waddell have taken an active part. Miss Margaret Burgess then presented them with a nicely decorated box which contained a cream and sugar set, and a cake plate, in the Crown Derby pattern. Mr. and Mrs. Waddell expressed thir gratitude, and hoped that the connections made here would not be completely severed by their moving.

A social hour was spent in games and contests after which a dainty lunch was served.

"Ogler the Dane" was one of the most popular of Charlemagne's paladins.

RANGERS HOLD TITLE HONORS SCOTTISH LOOP

2-1 Victory Over Aberdeen Clinches League Championship for Glasgow.

GAMES POSTPONED.

Arsenal Cinches English Loop Honors With 3-1 Win Over Huddersfield Town.

GLASGOW, April 7. — (C. P. Cable.)—Glasgow Rangers captured the championship of the Scottish Football League for the second season in succession when they defeated Aberdeen at Ibrox Park, 2-1.

The season has only three weeks to go with next Saturday as off-day, and the Rangers to-day gained a five-point advantage over Motherwell who were being held to a 2-2 tie by Third Lanark. The champions' lead therefore, cannot be overcome.

The weather was bad for most of the fixtures and that at Cowdenbeath, where St. Mirren, cup finalists, were to have been visitors was called off when a snowstorm came.

Third Lanark's fine victory over the Fir Parkers put them just about out of danger of relegation to the second division. Cowdenbeath is well at the bottom with Airdrieonians next in line, now four points below Third Lanark.

Dunfermline, leading the second division, was held to a scoreless draw at King's Park but nevertheless holds a single point lead over Arbroath, who beat Edinburgh City 3-0. Arbroath dislodged Stenhousemuir for second position.

CINCHES ENGLISH LEAGUE.

LONDON, April 7.—(C.P. Cable.)—Arsenal pretty well cinched the championship of the English Football League to-day when they trounced the runenrs-up, Huddersfield Town, by 3-1 in a great match at Highbury.

The result left the Gunners with a four-point advantage over Huddersfield, with only four weeks to go.

Tottenham Hotspurs, in third place, also fell back, taking a 4-3 defeat at Derby County.

Sheffield United were beaten 3-1 at Blackburn to go deeper in the cellar, but Chelsea, who have been

FIND TOURIST DEAD IN AUTO

Man Believed From Detroit Takes Life by Fumes From Exhaust Near St. Thomas.

LEAVES NOTE TO MOTHER.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., April 7.—(CP). The body of a man tentatively identified as R. L. Taylor, Detroit, and believed to have relatives in Brantford, was found dead in his motor car on a sideroad east of Aylmer to-day.

The body was slumped over the steering wheel, a rubber hose reaching from the motor exhaust to the man's mouth. Two short notes found on his person were the only clues found by police. one note said:

"Dearest mother: I am sorry I must leave you but I cannot stand it any longer. My nerves are driving me crazy and life holds nothing for me. Have tried to stick it out for your sake. Lord knows I've tried and I hope He will forgive me. Please do not spend too much on my funeral. You, Bruce and Lorna, all have been good to me here on earth and I appreciate that more than a lot of flowers. Goodbye mother, I love you dearly. Harvey."

Note to Brother, Sister

The other note, addressed apparently to his brother and sister said: "Dearest Bruce and Lorna: Please be good to mother and try to give her all the things I would have liked to have given her. Goodbye dears, I love you both. Harvey."

A postcript on the note said: "I was on my way to Brantford to have a last look at the old town and pass out on home soil but it is too hard. I cannot go there."

Taylor, circulation agent for The Detroit News, apparently was on his way to visit relatives at (23) Abigail Street, Brantford. He crossed the border at Windsor, yesterday.

Police are holding the body pending investigation.

HOBBY SHOW IS THROWN OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

Whole Show is Entirely Work of Boys Nineteen and Under.

MAYOR OPENS SHOW.

Every Department is Well Filled With High Class Work.

Indicating clearly that the modern youngster is as handy with his hands and quite as industrious as his pioneer grandfather is said to have been, another outstanding Peterborough Boys' Hobby Show was officially opened to the public by His Worship Mayor Denne at the Y.M.C.A. last night. Hundreds of parents and other interesetd grown-ups inspected the large and diversified presentation representing the handicraft of young Peterborough in many different fields.

Located principally in the spacious dining room of the building, the exhibits are all well displayed, much care having been taken in the mounting and grouping of the various departments. Almost everything in which the normal, healthy boy is interested and has the skill to make or collect is included in the show. The general high standard of the workmanship demonstrated in the many departments is the keynote impression to be gained. And even in cases where the indication of skill is lacking, a redeeming conscientiousness and industry is apparent.

It is to be remembered by visitors to the show that it is entirely the work of boys nineteen years of age and under. Many of the outstanding pieces of craftsmanship are, in fact, by boys closer to ten than nineteen years. The show has been planned by the boys and is being conducted by the boys under the guidance of James McClenaghan, boys' secretary of the "Y," William Herd, as president, heads the youthful executive in charge.

Mayor Denne.

In declaring the show open, Mayor Denne tendered sincere congratulations to the boys on their excellent products and their industry. "It should be an inspiration to the other boys in this city," he said, stressing the importance of making profitable use of leisure time. Boys can make no better use of their spare time than by

A Good Deed

FORT ERIE, Ont., April 7.—The heart of a widow, who on a small pittance has been struggling all winter to keep her horses in food, and at times going without herself so they would be brought through the hard winter and earn for herself and a son who has been working out, a meagre living hauling garbage when nearby beachs open, was made bright today.

Reading of the plight of the animals an unidentified Niagara Falls Ontario woman today sent a substantial check to purchase fodder for them until spring.

BARROW FREES ABDUCTED CHIEF

Phantom Desperado of Southwest Again Disappears After Murdering Officer.

STATE LINES GUARDED.

FORT SCOTT, Kas., April 7 (AP) —Clyde Barrow, phantom desperado of the south-west, fled before a growing army of police to-day after releasing a kidnapped police chief whose companion he had murdered.

Scores of officers went into action along the Kansas-Missouri border after the desperado and his two companions released Percy Boyd, Commerce, Okla., chief of police, early to-day. They had held him prisoner for more than 14 hours.

They abducted him near Commerce yesterday after Barrow had shot and killed Cal Campbell, 63, Miami, Okla., constable. Boyd and Campbell had sought to investigate actions of two men and a woman whose motor car was mired in a mudhole. Barrow shot the constable with a machine gun. The trio then forced Boyd into their car and sped away.

Boyd, who suffered a scalp wound, said he was positive as to the identification of Barrow and Bonnie Parker, the desperado's cigar smoking companion. He expressed the belief the other member of the trio, a tall, sandy-haired man, was Raymond Hamilton, alleged associate of Barrow.

5 DIE IN VILLAGE FIRE.

WARSAW, April 7 (CP). — A wind-driven fire destroyed the East Galician village of Denysow with a loss of five lives, it was reported here to-day.

Many persons were seriously injured and 168 farm homes were burned.

Damage is estimated at approximately $600,000.

PRAIRIE WINTER TAKES 16 LIVES WORST IN YEARS

Besides Cold Victims, 2 Score Others Perished in Street Accidents, Fires.

STORMS HIT FLEETS.

Tricky 'In-between" Season of North Causes Fliers, Prospectors Many Hardships.

(By Sam G. Ross—C.P. Staff Writer).

WINNIPEG, April 7 (C.P.). — Springtime came to Western Canada to-day as the region from the wind-swept Great Lakes to the snow-capped Rocky Mountains placed its death toll in winter blizzards and cold at 16, the most disastrous for many a year.

Two-score others died in accidents on ice-coated streets and in fires. Storms played havoc with fishing fleets on the Pacific coast and the tricky "inbetween" season of the northland caused prospectors and aviators many a hardship.

The "in-between" season — the period between autumn and winter and winter and spring, when neither wheels nor skiis can be used on planes and land travel is treacherous—was advancing on the northland, but on the prairies farmers were beginning to seed.

North-Western Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia contributed to winter's life-snatching, while heroism was written into the records.

Rescues of injured persons were effected and ill prospectors and

MACHINE GUNS GUARD CITY HALL AT MINNEAPOLIS

Fear Bomb Plot After Friday's Attack by Mob of 6,000 Unemployed.

20 HURT, 30 ARRESTED.

Council Votes to Recommend Crowds Demands for Increased Relief.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 7 (AP) — Police machine gunners, fearing a bomb plot, stood guard to-day at City Hall, which was stormed yesterday by a raging mob of 6,000 unemployed and sympathizers.

Riot guards had watched all night, warned by Chief Michael Johannes that he had received a tip that "25 men armed with revolvers are coming up here," and that the City Hall might be bombed.

The City Council voted to recommend the demands of the rioting mob, including continuance of the civil works administration and increased relief allowance.

Policemen, supported by masked machine guns, which they did not call into use, beat back the rioters with clubs and gas bombs, but not before a dozen of the officers were injured. The mob, hurling paving blocks, coal, bottles and scrap iron, even picked up unexploded gas bombs and tossed them back at the police.

About 20 persons were injured in all. Thirty were arrested, including 23 members of a committee

Captain Convicted Stealing Own Ship

HALIFAX, April 7 (C.P.).—Convicted of stealing his own vessel after seizure, Captain Ross Mason lay in the county jail to-day, but he objected to being an enforced landlubber, and his counsel was continuing efforts to free him.

The 33-year-old master of the Lunenburg rum-runner Kromhout was found guilty last night by a Supreme Court jury on three charges: Theft of the vessel, theft of the cargo, and obstructing police officers.

The verdict, climaxing the four-day trial before Mr. Justice John Doull, was followed by a motion in arrest of judgment from W. Vitt Potter, Mason's counsel, on the ground that the indictment indicated no offence. Disposition of the motion was still uncertain to-day. Ordinarily sentence won't be passed at conclusion of the criminal sittings early this week.

Times Pick Up For Dan Cupid

OTTAWA, April 7.—(C.P.)—Whether its a sign the depression is over or due to a growing conviction two can live as cheaply as one, Canadians are going in for marriage in increasing numbers. During the past six months Dan Cupid has been making many more sales than he did in the same period a year ago.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports 15,306 marriages for the six months ending February 28 in cities and towns of more than 10,000 population, an increase of 777 over the corresponding period in the preceding year. Marriages had been increasing in the years preceding 1929 and in that year reached the peak of 77,288, but fell to 71,657 in 1930; 66,591 in 1931 and 62,331 in 1932. Figures for 1933 are not complete but an increase is indicated.

2 BOYS DROWN, ONE IN ATTEMPT TO SAVE CHUM

Lad Ten, Plunges Through Hole in Sturgeon River Ice.

FRIEND TO RESCUE.

Both Disappear — One Victim's Body Recovered Some Hours Later.

STURGEON FALLS Ont., April 7 (C.P.). — Two Sturgeon Falls boys lost their lives in the icy waters of the Sturgeon River, one of them in a courageous effort to save his chum. While playing on the ice, Randolph Cusson 13, and Claude Aubrey, 10, yesterday plunged to their deaths through a hole as they were homeward bound.

Randolph was the son of Aime Cusson, former Sturgeon Falls Police Chief, and Claude was the son of Stan Aubrey. They spent the afternoon playing on the farm of James Leaches. On their way home across the river with other companions, the boys continued their fun until young Cusson fell through a small hole in the ice.

Aubrey went to his chum's rescue in the icy waters, but both boys disappeared. Aubrey's body was recovered after hours of search by Sturgeon Falls residents, but young Cusson's body is still being sought.

Three members of the Cusson family have lost their lives through drowning. A few years ago a 12-year-old son of Stan Aubrey was drowned in the Ottawa River. Eight years ago Mr. Aubrey's brother was drowned in Lake Nipissing.

MAN LOSES ARM AT SAWING BEE

Amos Althouse of Belmont Township Meets With Painful Injury.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

HAVELOCK, April 7. (Examiner Correspondence).—Amos Althouse, Jr. 45, of Belmont Township, had his left arm completely severed half way between the elbow and wrist last evening while cutting pole wood on the farm of Fred Varty on Cordova Road nine miles east of Havelock.

The accident occurred at 5.45 p.m. as Althouse reached into the machine to remove a stick of wood. Although the motor of the machine had just been stopped the saw was still revolving at high speed when the unfortunate man's smock caught in the saw.

The injured man was admitted to Nicholls Hospital at Peterborough under the care of Dr. A. G. Howson at 9.45 p.m. This morning he was stated to be doing as well as could be expected.

FATAL BIRD'S NEST.

CHICAGO, April 7 (C.P.) —After Mrs. Fannie Grossman 52, had been found dead from gas, police concluded that a bird's nest being built in a flue had caused the fumes to back up into a bathroom with fatal results.

MAN'S REMAINS WASHED ASHORE NEAR HAMILTON

May Prove to be Jack Nicholls or Bert Ashley, Missing Since Last Fall.

FEARED CRASH VICTIMS.

Rope Around Neck and Head Wound Thought Accounted for in Struggle at Crack-up.

HAMILTON, Ont., April 7. —(CP)—Possibility the body of a man washed ashore at Cherry Beach, five miles east of Hamilton, today may prove to be that of either Jack Nicholls or Bert Ashley, Toronto airmen, was seen by police here.

Nicholls and Ashley took off from the Toronto Bay for Fort Erie last fall and have not been seen since.

The body of the man found today bore a rope around the neck while the scalp was cut deeply. The body was in an advanced stage of decomposition and apparently had been in the water for some months.

Working on the theory the man might be one of the missing Toronto aviators, police say the head wound could be accounted for when their plane crashed and the cord might have become wrapped around the neck in a struggle to gain freedom from the wreckage.

It was impossible to estimate the age of the man and a truss is the only clue police have to work on at this time.

POLICE WOUND FLEEING YOUTH

Shot Down in Alley After Wild Early Morning Chase on Montreal Streets.

STOLEN SAFE IN CAR.

MONTREAL, April 7 (CP) — A bullet from a police revolver lodged in his neck, 19-year-old Maurice Maislin was in a serious condition in hospital to-day after an early morning dash through city streets pursued by a police patrol car. Doctors said Maislin had only a slight chance of recovery.

A police cruiser challenged an automobile on the Upper Lachine Road near the railway yards shortly after dawn. The car turned and sped away at high speed. Sergeant-Detective A. Sylvestre fired three shots but failed to halt it.

In Westmount, the car suddenly pulled to the curb and Maislin, the driver, jumped out and ran down a lane. Sylvestre shouted to him to stop, and when he failed to obey, sent a revolver bullet down the lane after him. Maislin dropped to the ground with a bullet in the back of his neck.

Police took Maislin to hospital and then examined the car he had abandoned. They reported they found a stolen iron safe in the car. The safe is believed to have been stolen from a chain grocery store in the west end. If Maislin recovers from his wound, a charge of theft will be laid against him, detectives said.

Army May Reinstate Sweepstake Winner

LONDON, April 7 (C.P. Cable).—Suspended because he bought a sweepstakes ticket which netted him $3,400 on the Grand National, Albert Davis of Swinton may be reinstated by the Salvation Army. Headquarters said to-day they would reinstate him "if he shows true repentance."

It was explained the Army's position on sweepstakes was laid down very definitely by the late William Booth, the founder, who forbade any member of the Salvation Army having any association with betting, horse-racing and lotteries. "The Army still holds firmly to these rules," it was said, "but nobody is more ready to forgive and reinstate when regret for the lapse and true repentance is shown."

What the attitude of Davis is towards re-entering the Army is not revealed.

SPY AT VIMY COST CANADIANS SCORES OF LIVES

Joined as Texas Recruit, Proved Good Soldier, Became Sergeant.

Attack Great Victory Despite German Knowledge of Every Plan and Move.

MONTREAL, April 7 (C.P.). — Seventeen years after the battle, it was disclosed here to-day that the Canadian capture of Vimy Ridge, in April, 1917, an engagement that stands out in the Dominion's military annals, was made more difficult by the successful efforts of a German spy to secure and pass along to his superiors details of the plans of Canadian headquarters.

Col. Wilfrid Bovey, in those days attached to the staff of the late General Sir Arthur Currie, Commander-in-Chief of the Canadian Corps in France, and now director of the department of extra-mural relations, McGill University, revealed this bit of history in a public address last night.

The spy joined the Canadian forces with a tale that he was from Texas. His story sounded convincing and the man proved to be a good soldier. He won his Sergeant's stripes and was in a position to pick up considerable information. Subsequent events showed he had obtained information, however, to which no ordinary sergeant could have had access.

Sergeant Disappears.

Five days before the important engagement at Vimy Ridge the man disappeared. There had been no trace of him since that Col. Bovey knew about, but in captured German trenches was found a manuscript account of an interview he had given German officers. Its details was extraordinarily correct, Col. Bovey said, the Germans knowing when and where the Canadian attack would be made, the route the Canadian tanks would take, and many other features of the Corps' plans.

While the immediate result was not affected, Col. Bovey said, the task was harder than had been expected, the Germans being prepared to put up a good defence. The spy's work "cost us a great many casualties."

NORWAY SLIDE FLOODS VILLAGE KILLING FORTY

Three Tidal Waves Pour in on Hamlet as Mountainside Crashes.

30 HOMES RAZED.

One Wall of Water Sweeps Inland 700 Yards Crushing Everything.

AALEESUND, Norway, April 7. — (C. P. via Havas)—Forty persons were killed today and many injured when a rocky mountainside crashed into a fjord (bay) and caused three tidal waves which flooded part of this city and the nearby village of Tafjord.

The forty persons perished at Tafjord alone when the giant rock formation hurtled seaward together with their homes standing on the rocky bluff overlooking the picturesque fjord.

Thirty houses were completely razed. Canoes and automobiles were carried hundreds of feet inland by the force of the waves.

Debris of every kind from houses and ships was strewn about the shore of Tafjord.

An entire family of nine persons was wiped out.

As the waves crashed against the shore line the rockslide began, huge boulders hurtled seaward.

One wave swept over an area 700 yards wide and carried away everything in its path.

Authorities immediately launched relief activities. Still meagre advices from the affected places described the damage as catastrophic.

FALLS ASLEEP DRIVER KILLED

Stratford Victim Found Dead Under Car in Ditch, by Passing Friend.

INQUEST ORDERED.

STRATFORD, Ont., April 7 (CP) —Believed to have fallen asleep at the wheel when driving alone on No. 7 highway about a mile east of Prospect Hill, early this morning, Frederick C. Cheer, 25, young Stratford resident, met death when the car crashed into the ditch.

The young man had been attending a school of instruction in electricity in London for the past week and was returning to his home in the city when death overtook him.

J. W. Hart, a close friend of the victim, happened to be driving along the highway presumably shortly after the crash occurred. He noticed a light in the ditch and stopped to investigate and found his friend pinned under the car which had toppled over on its side.

It appeared as if the sudden impact had thrown the driver out the left door and the car had toppled over on top of him, pinning him to the soft ground. Death may have been caused by smothering in the soft ground with the weight of the car on top of him.

The body was removed to St. Mary's and has not yet been released for burial.

An inquest into the fatality was ordered by Coroner Dr. T. J. McInnis of St. Mary's, and it opened this morning.

A COSTLY HAM.

Suspected Killer Found in Hospital

THOUGHT WRITER OF 1930 LETTER IN SKULL CASE

Note to Police Claimed Man Now in Hamilton Slew Kitchener Girl.

USED DRUG OVERDOSE.

Epistle Was One of Several Threatening Numerous Officials—Missing Woman Unknown.

KITCHENER, Ont., April 7 (C.P.). — Police to-day planned to visit the Ontario Hospital for the Insane at Hamilton and question Jacob Ginrovich, a patient there, regarding a letter he wrote in 1930 saying he had killed a Kitchener girl and buried her body. Their visit was prompted by discovery on Thursday of a skeleton of what physicians said was a 25-year-old woman.

Ginrovich's letter was written from Montreal in September, 1930, and was thought at that time to be a ruse to avoid deportation to his native Austria, where he was believed to have served in the army during the Great War.

The skeleton was found by children playing in a sand-pit, who dislodged it from a shallow grave while playing and sent it rolling down an embankment. In his letter, Ginrovich, said to have been a narcotic addict, said he had killed the girl by giving her an overdose of a drug.

Ginrovich previously had been arrested for sending anonymous, threatening letters to numerous officials, including a member of the Dominion Government.

Discovery of the skeleton placed police momentarily in a quandary, as they had no record of any women being missing in this city.

2 SCHOLARSHIPS GIVEN AT QUEENS

Dr. Kenneth Roberts of Actinolite Graduate of '32 is Recipient of One.

YEARS WORK ABROAD.

KINGSTON, April 7.—Dr. Ronald C. Burr of Bloomfield, Prince Edward County, and Dr. Kenneth Roberts of Actinolite, in the Hastings-Peterborough electoral district, have been selected as recipients of the Hoffman Scholarships, according to an announcement made last night. Dr. Burr and Dr. Roberts graduated from the medical school at Kingston in 1932, and are now associated with the Kingston General Hospital and the Toronto General Hospital, respectively. Dr. Roberts has been also taking work at the Banting Institute. The scholarships, which are awarded each year under the auspices of the Faculty of Medicine at Queen's University, permit their holders one year of postgraduate work, usually taken in the United States or abroad.

$15,000 DEMANDED

CLEVELAN.—An extortion plot against Mayor Harry L. Davis, threatening him with death and demanding $15,000 was disclosed by police to-day. Although the mayor said he regarded the threatening letter he received the work of a crank, officers set a trap for the extortionist, but it failed when the writer did not appear.

SENATE BREWS FRESH TAXES

Bill Starts at 258 Million in U. S. House and is Likely to Hit $480,000,000 Mark.

BEFORE PASSING.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—(AP)—The senate brewed new headaches for United States taxpayers today.

The tax bill, which was a $258,000,000 measure as it came from the House of Representatives already is up to a proposed $330,000,000 in the senate, with a strong likelihood it will reach $480,000,000 before it is passed.

An amendment by Senator James Couzens Canadian-born Republican of Michigan that would add an estimated $55,000,000, and one by Senator Robert Laxollette (R.-Wis.) that would be good for perhaps $95,000,000 more, were given the approval today of Senator Pat Harrison (D.-Miss.) who is in charge of the legislation.

The bill as received from the house was boosted to $330,000,000 in the senate finance committee before reaching the Senate floor.

Senator Couzens' proposal is for a 10 percent super-levy, to be effective for one year only. The 10 per cent. would be figured on the tax itself, a person whose tax came to $100, for example, adding 10 per cent of that and paying $110.

Three Parties Next Federal Election

Parliament buildings at Ottawa.

Mackenzie King, Liberal leader.

J. S. Woodsworth, head of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

That a general election will be held in Canada before the end of the year is the belief of many close observers of the political scene at Ottawa. This year the election will see three major parties go the hustings with thir battle cries. The newly-formed socialistically-inclined Co-operative Commonwealth Federation is the third party added to the old parties of the Liberals and Conservatives. Few expect the C.C.F. to win the election, though their supporters claim they will be able to gain a balance of power in Canada's next parliament. Headed by J. S. Woodsworth, veteran parliamentarian, the C.C.F. is sure to wage an important struggle in the election. In Ottawa the belief is held that if business conditions improve before the election, the new party's hopes will be dashed. Otherwise, they are looked upon as a potential power.

CHILDREN'S AID INQUIRY HALTS

Doctor Tells of Being Sickened by Conditions in York County Shack.

SUSPECTS HELP USELESS.

TORONTO, April 7. (CP)—The investigation into affairs of the York County Children's Aid Society stood adjourned to-day, with the probe continuing Monday. he Society has been charged with neglect and inefficiency, and already two out of 17 families cited in evidence against the society have been mentioned.

Dr. John Courtice was on the witness stand yesterday and told of visiting the home of "Hobo Tom" Grogan. The wife and seven children lived in a shack, he said. There was no glass in the windows; old quilts covered the openings; the bedding consisted of filthy rags; and there was no water; sewage and garbage were left in a huge tub.

"They just fitted their surroundings" he said, "The place was so terribly dirty and smelly I was sick myself afterwards—and that takes a lot—Mrs. Grogan was very slow mentally; gave you the answer she thought you wanted, whether it was right or not. Her husband was bright enough to get what he wanted."

Miss Very Parsons, representing the Toronto Child Welfare Society which laid the charges, asked whether the family would have been all right if given a new home.

"They would be just the same within a week," replied Dr. Courtice. "Both parents had always been like that."

Meaford Citizen Sets Long Service Records

MEAFORD, Ont., April 7 (CP)—When it comes to long service records, John Clarke of Meaford holds undisputed championship of Grey County at least.

Now in his 88th year, Mr. Clarke served 51 years as secretary of Union School number two board; clerk of the session of Meaford Erskine United Church for 62 years and superintendent of the Sunday School for 35 years. Furthermore, he lives in the same home he was born in.

From 1898 to 1911 Mr. Clarke was government superintendent of local harbor work.

Mother Love

RALEIGH, N. C., April 7.—(CP)—Lack of understanding of the nature of mother love gave a gun squad extra work yesterday. A cat had taken possession of a chicken house and was reported to be defying all and sundry. Neighbors told police they thought it was a wildcat.

Two coppers arrived armed with shotguns, and took a look.

"They were very cute kittens," commented Patrolman H. B. Williamson.

A Shifty Cellar

POTTSVILLE, Pa., April 7. — (CP)—Elmer B. Shollenberger can't find his cellar. The bottom of it, that is. It dropped out from under him, taking a lot of stored furniture with it. Shollenberger had to prop the furnace to keep it from following. Officials believe an abandoned mine working must have caved in.

CATHOLIC YOUTH ATTACK PROBED

Hitler Suspends Three Nazi Youth Leaders After Palm Sunday Raid.

PROTESTS PILE IN.

BERLIN, April 7. (AP).—Chancellor Adolf Hitler, striding into the thick of the Nazi-Catholic affray, directed a swift investigation to-day of Nazi violence toward Catholic youths.

Intervening personally, he ordered the temporary suspension of three Berlin Nazi youth leaders who led a raid on a Palm Sunday Catholic youth meeting.

Indicating he planned to deal firmly with any others involved, he demanded complete details of the incident which brought protests from outraged Catholics.

Hitler's Voelkischerbeobachter attempted to quiet the controversy to-day, declaring that freedom of religion is assured the Catholics.

Reliable, although belated, reports of the Palm Sunday affair, said hundreds of Hitler youths beat those who offered resistance when they swooped down upon 1,500 Catholics at suburban Hennegsdorf.

The young Nazis were armed with camp knives—their regular equipment—the reports said. Police looked on as the religious meeting was broken up.

Trent River L.A Votes $50 To Church Board

TRENT RIVER, April 7. (Examiner Correspondence). The April meeting of the Ladies' Aid was held Wednesday afternoon at the church; owing to the holiday season there was a small attendance. Mrs. Gordon Shearer had charge of the meeting and Mrs. Thos. J. Brown acted as secretary in the place of Mrs. Harold B. Wood who was absent.

The members voted $50 to the managing board of the church to assist the finances for the first quarter. Discussion was taken up regarding plans for the afternoon tea and sale of useful and fancy articles to be held in the near future at the home of Mrs. T. J. Brown.

Marmora Advocates 8-Day Mining School

(Examiner Correspondence)

MARMORA, April 7.—An effort is being made to have an eight-day Mining School held in Marmora this spring under the direction of the Ontario Department of Mines.

The object of the school is to give those who wish to prospect for mineral some idea of the various kinds of ore to be found, how to tell the various rock formations in which ore may be found, and a general idea of the law governing the locating of mining claims on crown lands. With the renewed interest in mining in this district such a school should be very successful at this time.

FAVOR PUBLIC OWNERSHIP.

EDMONTON. — Leaders of all parties in the Alberta Legislature to-day had expressed themselves in favor of a resolution that Canada's new Central Bank should be publicly owned and operated.

W. R. Howson moved a resolution to this effect on Thursday. D. M. Duggan, Conservative Leader, said there should be some "teeth" in the resolution. Premier J. E. Brownlee and F. J. White Labor Leader from Calgary, expressed support.

HUNT 4 WOMEN AFTER FINDING INFANTS' BODIES

Bloodstains Are Discovered in Room of Deserted House at Dunbarton Dump.

BABIES THOUGHT TWINS.

Suspect Victims Buried in Snow Some Time — Tossed From Car to Rubbish Heap.

PICKERING, Ont., April 7.—(CP) — Search for four Toronto women believed to have occupied a now deserted house near Dunbarton dump held attention of Ontario Provincial Police today as they continued investigation of the finding of two infants' bodies.

Discovery of a small baby's blanket near the back door of the house last night led officers to search for the women in the belief they may know something that will clear up the case. Marks thought to have been bloodstains were noted by police in an upstairs room.

Wrapped in an old piece of oilcloth, the bodies were found yesterday by Joe Gormley, who reported he had seen a car, believed equipped with Toronto license-plates, in the vicinity of the dump.

Born Alive

An autopsy was performed on the bodies yesterday by Dr. V. E. Cartwright of Pickering, who declared the two children were born alive but did not live long. Dr. E. R. Frankish, medico-legal expert of the Ontario Attorney General's department, took the two bodies to Toronto last night for a pathological examination, but the result of his study was not known today.

"Further examination," he said "will show whether violence was used. It would appear there was no medical attention at birth."

Police believed the infants were dead for some time before they were placed in the dump and had been buried somewhere else until the snow melted. They incline to the theory the children were twins, and that they were thrown from the automobile onto the dump.

They declared they had found a baby's blanket near the back door of a nearby house, now vacant.

WARSAW UNITED

The Easter services of the Warsaw United Church were well attended, the church being beautifully decorated with Easter lilies and other flowers. Both Good Friday evening and Sunday evening splendid congregations were present. The choir rendered acceptably special music for the occasions.

At the morning service at Bethel the pastor, Rev. J. W. Wilkinson, held a reception service, when five young people were received in the church—one by certificate and four on profession of faith. A similar service was held at Zion, when the pastor received five more young people—one by certificate and four on profession of faith. Although the day was cloudy, the attendance at each service was good and the spirit manifested was splendid. At the close of each service the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered.

NELSON, B.C., April 7 (CP)—Peter Verigin, leader of the Doukhobors in Canada, yesterday was fined $24 when he pleaded guilty to a charge of being intoxicated in a public place, a Nelson beer parlor.

"Sah, Betty! — You're much too big to cry. Let's get Aunt Alice to tell us why a nice little girl feels so weepy and cross all of a sudden."

"This little girl says she doesn't want to play either, Mother. I'd give her Castoria tonight. Perhaps it's constipation that's making her so listless."

"Oh Aunt Alice! — I'm just fine today! — Yes, I had my Castoria last night — and Mother says to tell you that she thinks it's simply wonderful!"

"I'm so glad you're better, Betty dear! You tell your Mother that Castoria is made especially for children just like you. And it hasn't a thing in it that would hurt your little baby brother either. — He'll love the taste of it just as much as you do. — And don't forget that it's a splendid thing to take if you feel a little sniffly cold coming on."

Fear of Middle Age

Severe Strain on the Nerves

The dread of middle age
Has ruined the health of many a woman.
To some it is a worry that brings a nervous breakdown.
This period in life has its difficulties,
But they are greatly exaggerated by the imagination.
It is the fear and worry that depletes the nervous system,
Rather than the natural change at this time of life.
By keeping the blood rich and red
And thereby supplying nutrition to the nervous system,
You need have no fear of middle age.
By using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food regularly,
Throughout this period of change,
You can usually avoid any serious trouble.
With a good supply of nerve force
To ensure the health and vigor of mind and body,
You dismiss from your mind any worry
You may have had about middle life.

EGG-O CAKE-BAKING CONTEST

WIN A PRIZE!

ENTER the EGG-O Cake-Baking contest! Win one of these valuable prizes! Prove your ability as a cook . . . and at the same time be rewarded for your skill. It costs you nothing to enter the contest. The only condition is that EGG-O Double Acting Baking Powder must be used. Simply follow the recipe, below.

LOOK AT THESE PRIZES

HERE'S THE RECIPE

FEATHER CAKE (One Egg)

¼ cup butter or other shortening
1 cup fine white sugar
1 egg
2 cups sifted pastry flour
2 level teaspoons Egg-O Baking Powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½-¾ cup milk
1 teaspoon flavoring

Cream the butter, gradually adding sugar and egg. Continue creaming until light and fluffy. Sift flour, baking powder and salt three times and add alternately with the milk to the first mixture. Add flavoring. Put in pan lined with wax paper. (Use a 7 x 7 pan if you have one.) Bake in moderate oven (325-350° F.) 35-45 minutes. This cake to be un-iced. All measurements level.

Read These Simple Rules

1. You must use EGG-O Double Acting Baking Powder.
2. The coupon from a can of EGG-O Baking Powder or the name of the grocer from whom the can is purchased should accompany your cake.
3. Contestants may enter only one cake.
4. You must use the above recipe.
5. Judging will be on the points of texture, lightness, flavor, etc.
6. Contestants must abide by the decision of the judges.

1st. 15-Jewel Lady's Bracelet Watch in smart, modern design.

2nd. Six Community Plate Salad or Pastry Forks.

3rd. Five-Pound Tin Vi-Tone.

4th. Supreme Aluminum Bake Sheet.

5th. Two-Pound Tin Vi-Tone.

6th. One-Pound Tin Egg-O Baking Powder.

7th. Half-Pound Tin Vi-Tone.

8th. Half-Pound Tin Egg-O Baking Powder.

IMPORTANT: Get your tin of Egg-O, today. Watch for next Egg-O advertisement announcing closing date and place where judging will be held in this community. In the meantime, bake a "Feather" cake. You will not only give the family a thrill but you will be "all set" to bake the best cake ever as your entry in the contest.

Sabbath Message For The Shut-Ins

Written for The Examiner by the Ministers of the City.

THE TRIUMPHANT LIFE
John 16:33.
(Rev. C. V. McLean, M.A., Ph.D.)

WHEN nearing the end of His earthly ministry, Jesus asserted, "I have overcome." What an uncommon sound those words have! Too often life is saddened by a chorus, waiting, "I have lost" or "I am undone." Equally remarkable in connection with this self-assertion of Jesus is the fact that His foes were numerous and mighty. We find a catalogue of them in the twenty-first chapter of St. Luke's gospel, and most of us are familiar with them and know by experience their power to demoralize and defeat. Let us enumerate them briefly: There are conflicting views of religion, suffering caused by war, sufering due to earthquakes, suffering resulting from epidemics, economic distress, treachery of professing friends, ecclesiastical hypocrisy, misunderstandings of relatives, particularly those of His own household. All these harassing foes attacked Jesus openly or insidiously. And He declared, "I have overcome."

Instinct prompts us immediately to ask the questions: "How was such triumph possble?" "Why has such triumph possible?" "Why I infrequently in the course of history?" An answer to these questions would be commensurate with a history of the life of our Lord. But let us examine a few of them closely enough to discern the weapons used to promote victory.

We mentioned conflicting views of religion. When we brush away the dust, stirred up by this conflict, we perceive that the question as issue was this: "Is religion a couch, or is it a cross?" "Is it an excuse for self-complacency, or is it an incentive to self-realization, which, of necessity, implies strain and sacrifice?" Jesus' so-called friends sought to persuade Him that religion is a bed of ease, but "He steadfastly set His face to go to Jerusalem." The more loudly the siren-songs of the world echoed about Him, the more fervent were His prayers. Consequently, He stood at last in the face of the foe, which has defeated and enslaved multitudes of men, and rejoiced, "I have overcome!"

Or again, we have stated that the men of His generation were suffering from the aftermath of war. War always kindles hatred and suspicion. A statesman of our own time has declared that it is impossible to formulate a just and satisfactory peace treaty after a war. Our Lord lived when wars had accentuated nationality; Jews, Samaritans, Sidonians and Romans found supreme joy in magnifying each the other's shortcomings. What a temptation to float on the tide of popular prejudice!

But Jesus was different. He scanned every life to its farthest horizon to find signs of virtue in it. He found the seeds of evangelism in the heart of a despised Samaritan woman. He discovered the radium of faith in the pitchblende of a Roman Centurian's heart. In the broken life of Mary of Magdala, He beheld potential music, and mended the frayed heart-string.

Down in the human heart, crushed by the tempter,
Feelings lie buried that grace can restore;
Touched by a loving hand, wakened by kindness,
Chords that were broken will vibrate once more.

He who would overcome must ask God to quicken his sight, that he may see the virtues of those from whom he has been estranged by war.

Once again, unforeseen calamities occurred in Jesus' day, wounding men's bodies and at the same time perplexing their minds. For example, the Tower of Siloam, situated a few yards from the temple, fell without warning and eighteen lives were blotted out. To some people such an event made the divine providence appear problematical. "If God is merciful and gracious, why should such catastrophies be permitted?' men asked. But Jesus refused to entertain these mystifying thoughts. He chose to regard such events as appeals to men to assist one another and to repent of their sins. The underprivileged of the world afford us an opportunity to demonstrate the existence and the power of loving, tender service.

I recall a pioneer congregation in the West which sprang into full bloom because the settlers were imperilled by floods when the student missionary arrived, and he, realizing that the situation called for practical service rather than prating speculation, threw himself whole-heartedly into the task of helping those whose homes were in danger. After the waters had subsided, the fires of devotion to that servant of Christ burned warmly in the hearts of those pioneers. They had seen a practical demonstration of Christian sympathy. Verily "man's extremity is God's opportunity."

But life's calamities endanger the frail soul as the hurricane imperils the lightly-built airship. Behold the delicate soul paralyzed in the presence of the untamed storm:

'I want to sing lyrics, lyrics,
Mad as a brook in spring;
I want to shout the music
Of flushed adventuring.

But how can I sing lyrics,
I who have seen to-day
The stoop of factory women,
And children kept from play?

And, in an open hilltop,
Where the cloak of the sky is wide
Have seen the tree of terror
Where a black man died?

I want to sing lyrics, lyrics,
But these have hushed my song;
I am mute at the world's great sadness,
And stark at the world's great wrong.

However, muteness and starkness will not eliminate the ills of life. Life is not glorified, nor civilization adorned, by craven fear and surrender. Life's ills that are untamed are not, of necessity, untameable. The airship, tossed by the storm, is dashed at last to the earth. But the dauntless eagle, facing the fury of the storm and using its inherited and acquired powers, is born aloft on the wings of the wind. And so Jesus faced the perils, the calamities and the sorrows of life, using as defensive and offensive weapons the whole armor of God, and the sword of the Spirit. The battle was long and severe, but at last the mists of uncertainty rolled away and His faltering disciples took heart as they heard Him proclaim, "I have overcome." "And because I live, ye shall live also."

Cathedral Musings

THERE is a golden thread running through all the great religions of the world that binds them into one. Since man was man this great truth has existed. Often overlaid by outer forms, revealed in full only to the initiate, revealed to the exoteric by mystic smybolism that as time went on, often degenerated into idolatries and dogmas, often suppressed and denied by the ignorant, the great truth of the Fatherhood of God, the divine heritage and eternal brotherhood of man has yet persisted.

We do not need the fierce bigotry and intolerance of a Tertullian, we rather need the insight and wisdom of a St. Augustine when he said:

"That which we call the Christian religion existed among the ancients, and never did not exist from the beginning of the human race until Christ came in the flesh, at which time the true religion which already existed began to be called Christianity."

St. Augustine was wiser than many of us are to-day.

There are three avenues to the Truth, which is God, Philosophy, Science and Religion, and when we divest our minds of prejudice we may readily see that these three are one. It is when we try and divide them pursuing one path only to the exclusion of the other two that we debar ourselves from realizing the Truth in its co-related entirety. It is this failure to realize truth in its co-related aspects which makes us remain bound to our self-imposed limitations. The Truth shall make us free, but it must be the Truth and not a one-sided misleading view leading us into fresh and more serious errors.—Frater IX., Rosicrucion Order, San Jose, Calif.

YOUR PROBLEMS

Religious and Social Questions Answered By DR WYLIE CLARK

Is there any use trying to convert people after they are 40 or changing the conditions of a congregation whose workers and officials are over the same age?—F.L.A.

While there is life there is hope. I have known quite a number who have made the decision after they had passed the 40 mark. Two men I know were 80 before they yielded to the gospel call. While this is so the great percentage of decisions are in the early part of life. The older we get, the harder it is to reach conclusions which will change all our mode of living. There is also the danger element. Not man yreach 80 and quite a few drop out before 40. Besides there is the loss of the years in which they did not know Christ.

Dr. Wylie Clark

There is great difficulty in getting a congregation set in its way and governed by matured officials to make changes. "We always did it this way," is the rail-stone they tie about the neck of any new method of procedure and strangle it.

Yet a little persuasion, a little patience and a little determination will accomplish wonders.

Could not study groups be formed in all congregations so as to give the young people and others a chance to become acquainted with the social and religious problems of to-day?—G.T.

Yes, it can be done. It has been done in many places. A great deal depends on getting a competent leader.

A mistake is often made by thinking that the leader must be well up in the subjects to be studied. That is not at all necessary. At the start the leader may know no more than the other members of the group. Naturally some will learn quicker than others and thus become leaders in the discussions, but on the whole all move forward together.

A group of this sort often does better work than one where they have a well trained leader; because where the leader knows, the others are less willing to speak being afraid of showing their ignorance.

A willing group can perform wonders in a short time, and the joy of knowledge becomes a great satisfaction.

Are any of the pictures of Jesus really authentic—that is were they painted or sketched from Jesus Himself?—A.R.T.

All who have attempted to give us a portrait of Christ have done so out of their own imagination. That is why we have so many different ones. Each artist had his own conception of what he thought the Christ looked like.

It may be a good thing that we have no real portrait and it is left to our own hearts to draw His picture for ourselves.

I love the man that can smile in trouble, that can gather strength from distress, and grow brave by reflection.

Scripture—Matt. 18:1-14; 19:13-15.
By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

As Jesus was journeying toward Jerusalem with his disciples he overheard them disputing among themselves as to which of them should be the greatest in the kingdom they expected Jesus to establish. He had the cross as his goal but they had selfish ambitions as theirs.

To correct their selfishness and their wrong notions of greatness "he called to him a little child, and set him in the midst of them, and said, Verily I say unto you, Except ye turn, and become as little children, ye shall in no wise enter into the kingdom of heaven".

Jesus taught his disciples they must humble themselves and be willing to serve others, even little children. When certain mothers brought their children to him he laid his hands on them and blessed them saying, "Suffer the little children to come unto me."

Jesus told the parable of the ninety and nine sheep safe in the fold, and but one lost, and of the shepherd's search until the lost was found: "Even so it is not the will of your Father that one of these little ones perish".

THE DRAYTON CRUSADE.

Sir Henry Drayton's crusade, sponsored by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, is certainly calling the attention of the people of this country to the serious financial condition that exists and to the vital imporance of having governmental expenditures sharply reduced.

The former Federal Minister of Finance has the faculty of using statistics effectively and in a manner easily understood by the man on the street.

When he points out that Canada is adding sixty million dollars a year to its funded debt—in other words, that we are running behind at the rate of $1,250,000 a week—his audiences are able to see the debt burden in its true perspective.

Sir Henry is not placing the blame for the present situation upon present or past Governments, stressing the fact that in most cases expenditures have been undertaken in response to public demand, because the people insisted that money should be spent upon all kinds of services.

Now, however, the time has come for the taxpayers to stop demanding of their Governments the expenditure of vast sums of money, for it is only by a cessation of such demands that government costs, duplications and extravagance can be reduced or eliminated.

It is the duty of all Governments, federal, provincial and municipal, Sir Henry argues, to do what the housewife, the farmer and the business man have been forced to do—that is to cut costs.

And at the same time it is the duty of the people generally to support their Governments in the economies that may be effected, to accept reductions in expenditures as a process vitally necessary to Canada's salvation.

PRE-ELECTION GENEROSITY.

If there were no election in the offing and if the people of Ontario were satisfied that the finances of the province were sufficiently buoyant to justify the additional expenditure involved, it is likely that the announcement of higher pay for men employed in the Government highway camps would be approvingly received.

Under the circumstances, however, with the wage increases looking suspiciously like a mass bribe and with no prospect of tax relief in sight, the Government's action in authorizing large scale expenditure at this stage will undoubtedly be sharply criticized.

The highway workers, who have hitherto been fed and sheltered and given an allowance of $10 a month, are now to be paid at the rate of 25 cents per hour for an eight-hour day, with a deduction of 60 cents per day to cover the cost of their board.

The expenditure for each man in the camps will be nearly doubled as a result of this policy, while at the same time it is announced that the number of men employed on the highways is to be increased from 13,000 to 25,000, almost doubled, so that the total cost under the new scheme will run into a very tidy figure as compared with the already large expenditure on relief camps.

The Examiner would be delighted to feel that the condition of the province's finances had sufficiently improved to justify the assumption of this new and heavy expenditure at this time, but when it has not been found possible to give the burdened taxpayer any measure of relief it is difficult to satisfactorily explain this generosity, unless the fact that an election is to be an event of the near future will furnish a clue.

NOT ENOUGH INVENTIONS.

Instead of putting the brakes on science so that civilization can "catch up," Charles F. Kettering, General Motors research engineer, believes that what the world needs to-day is more, not fewer, inventions. Interviewed in the current Rotarian Magazine by Malcolm W. Bingay, editorial director of the "Detroit Free Press," he deplores the fact that "there has not been an invention of any importance in the past ten years."

"Inventors of the world," he goes on, "should be chided for not doing enough inventing instead of doing too much."

Scouting the suggestion for "a moratorium on mankind's inventive genius," he declares it "would have to come in the form of a law against thinking. And this would defeat the very object of those who seek a way out of our present difficulties by such a move.

"We are not at the end, but at the beginnings. We have but reached the shores of a great unexplored continent. We cannot, however, turn back, for there is no other direction to go but forward. It is man's destiny to ponder on the riddle of existence and as a by-product of that wonderment he is creating a new life on this earth.

"Now the engineers and scientists, instead of being stopped in their work, should be encouraged to continue at fever heat to balance matters—and they will—by the invention of labor-creating systems. That is the world's greatest need now, and necessity is the mother af invention.

"It is easy," Mr. Kettering continues, "for the economist and the politician to blame the inventor and the research engineer. How frequently the thoughtless members of the family blame the doctor when someone is sick! Shall we abolish the doctor because someone takes an over-dose of medicine? As a matter of plain, cold fact the scentist, the technologist, does nothing but reveal and make usable the natural laws.

"The research men created the new wealth of the world and its prosperity. It is not their fault that it was abused. Those who did abuse these new found riches have by now, it is hoped, learned their lessons. The joy ride is over. We are back to earth.

"And it is up to the researcher to bring us out of the wreckage. Therefore do not hamstring him. Assist him, do not blame him. Research is not Man's despair, but his greatest hope."

CANADA'S FUR FARMS.

The interesting story of the rapid growth of a remarkable Canadian industry is told in a report on the fur farms of Canada for 1931 and 1932, just released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The industry had its origin, we are told, in the practice followed in the early days of the fur trade of keeping foxes caught in warm weather alive until the fur was prime.

The earliest authentic record of the successful breeding of the fox in captivity is that of a litter of foxes raised on a farm near Tignish, Prince Edward Island, about the year 1878.

After 1890 there came a period of rising prices for furs, and the fur-farming industry grew rapidly in Prince Edward Island, so that an enumeration in 1913 showed 277 fox farms in that province with a total of 3,130 foxes.

Meanwhile attempts at rearing foxes in captivity were also being made in other provinces, the records showing that foxes were successfully bred in Quebec in 1898, in Ontario in 1905 and in Nova Scotia in 1906.

The industry has grown by leaps and bounds, with the result that fox farming is now carried on in all provinces of the Dominion and the number of farms has steadily increased.

The latest statistics, for 1932, show 5,221 fox farms in Canada with a total of 99,190 foxes, of which 92,703 are silver foxes.

Although the fox is of chief importance, other kinds of wild fur-bearing animals are being raised successfully—mink, raccoon, skunk, marten, fisher and coyote. The mink, in particular, is easily domesticated, and thrives in captivity if care is exercised in the selection of environment and proper attention given to its requirements in the matter of diet. There are how 645 mink farms distributed among the various provinces, and mink farming in Canada may well be regarded as permanently established. Muskrat farming also is a branch of the industry to which attention is being directed, and numerous areas of marsh land are being utilized for raising this fur-bearer. The farming of muskrat consists chiefly of making provision for an adequate food supply for the animals and in giving protection from their natural enemies, i.e. hawks, owls, etc. On many of the muskrat farms the areas have been enclosed with strong wire fencing.

In 1932 the total number of fur farms of the miscellaneous class, i.e., farms on which various kinds of fur-bearing animals, exclusive of foxes, are raised, was 1,075 compared with a total of 1,340 in 1931. A few of the fox farms, also, engaged in mixed fur farming, raising miscellaneous kinds of fur-bearing animals in addition to the foxes.

PARTNERS OF CRIMINALS.

(From the Toronto Mail and Empire)

Attorney-General Cummings, busy framing laws which will give the United States Federal Government more leeway to deal with crime, declares that lawyers have greatly contributed to the success of many criminal rackets. He has protested in public and in various law journals against the criminal element which has invaded the profession. He says: "The American bar is confronted with a vital problem growing out of the improper activities of certain of its members in their contacts with the criminal classes. There have been repeated instances of a studied abuse of the privileges of the profession. A startlingly large number of lawyers have not only misconceived their duties as advocates, but have in effect actually participated in criminal activities." It is notorious that several of the big shots in gangland have retained lawyers much as corporations retain attorneys, not particularly to point out the legal way of getting things done, but to protect them in advance of the Criminal Act from prosecution.

Such lawyers are in effect accomplices and cannot plead in defence any of the legal principles and precedents which govern the relation of a lawyer to his client. It has been argued again and again that even if a lawyer knows his client to be guilty it still remains his duty to do all he can to defend him, for if both prosecution and defence do their full duty the whole truth has a better chance of being disclosed. But there is a vast and fundamental difference between a lawyer who fights for his client knowing him to be guilty and the lawyer who plans with his client how a criminal act can be done with the least risk, who shares in the proceeds of crime and then assumes the duty of freeing his accomplice after he has been arrested.

When the offence is flagrant and legal evidence of conspiracy forthcoming it is easy enough for the courts to act. But if the lawyer is cunning enough such evidence is hard to come by. The American Attorney-General points out that the various law associations are not handicapped by the rules of evidence before they discipline a member. They can decide that, lacking absolute proof of guilt, a member is an undesirable and they can fine, suspend or actually disbar him. The bar associations, in fact, can do much to purify the profession that the criminal courts cannot do. That the need for action is urgent is proved by the repeated appeals of Mr. Cummings.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The new British loan of £150,000,000 with three per cent. interest was subscribed within two and one-half hours after the lists were opened. John Bull has lost no confidence in his own country.

Judging by early speeches, the forthcoming election is likely to be a very promising affair.

Recent appointments by the Henry Government do much to strengthen the suspicion that a provincial election cannot be far off.

Somebody has been criticizing Sir Henry Drayton because in his plea for economy he has not mentioned the large expenditures Canadians make for liquor. However, that is private spending, and what Sir Henry is dealing with is public expenditure—quite a different matter.

In referring the Separate School question to the courts, Premier Henry has succeeded in satisfying nobody except perhaps the politicians, who are hopeful that the issue will thus be kept out of the election campaign.

CHAPTER 32

Tiggie bent down over her. "Child, don't tell me any more! What's the good? I know the rest."

She shook her head without raising it; she found words again—dragging, difficult words. "You don't know—quite all. It was then—I'd just begun to know about—about—the baby. Of course, I ought to have eft him. But I was down—beaten. I had no money, nowhere to go, no one to care. So I gave up trying—and stayed. He still seemed to want me sometimes, and I thought perhaps . . ." Her voice failed again. "That's all," she ended faintly. "You know now just how wicked I am."

"Shall I tell you what I know?" said Tiggie. His tone was deep and very steady. He was stooping over her, supporting her. He spoke into her ear. "I know it's all over now—over and done with, and I am going to take care of you, so that you can never suffer again."

"Oh, Tiggie!" She lifted her head suddenly and looked up at him, her eyes enormous, almost black, in the whiteness of her face. "You don't understand"—she said hopelessly, "and I've tried so hard to make you—that I'm bad—I'm bad! I turned to you that day on board The Pioneer—because you were so kind—and so easily deceived." Her voice rose on a faint wailing sound. "And I've been trying so hard since—to make it right. Don't you see—it isn't my suffering that counts? I'm used to it. But you—your happiness—your honor——"

Tiggie broke in on her abruptly, very decidedly. "I know what you're trying to say, but you needn't. All that's settled, long ago. Nothing can change it now. So far as I'm concerned it simply doesn't count. Understand?"

"Oh!" She uttered a little gasp, still gazing at him; then suddenly her eyes fell before his. Her whole form seemed to crumple. She laid her face down upon his hand. "Oh, Tiggie—Tiggie!" she whispered brokenly. "Was there ever—anyone—like you?"

He removed his hand hastily. He wanted to find words to comfort her, but a lump rose in his throat, defeating him. Her helpless grief moved him as nothing had ever moved him before. Looking down upon her, he thought of a white flower flung wantonly into the mire of the highway. And he wanted to stoop and gather her up close in his arms; but something prevented him. It was as if a voice spoke within him, bidding him begone.

He touched her shoulder with a gentle awkwardness, swallowed the obstruction in his throat, and spoke. "Go to bed, child! You're worn out—finished. We'll talk again in the morning."

With the words he gave her a soft pat and turned away. Yet at the door he paused, looking back at the slight, bowed figure. She had not moved. She was not weeping. But her crushed posture in its very stillness made him see again the white flower bruised and broken and trampled underfoot. . . .

His heart gave a hard, deep throb that seemed to stop his breath, and a power that he did not know stirred in his inmost soul. For a moment he stood halting, uncertain—a stranger to himself, as a man who suddenly sees his own reflection at an unknown angle. Then with a flash of revelation understanding came, as it were linking him up again with the self he knew. And so, after that one lingering look he turned and went away.

In his own room he stood still with eyes fixed and hands hard clenched at his sides. "My God!" he said. "How I love her!"

He did not return to Harvey. He could not have endured any further talk even of an impersonal nature that night. He stayed in his own room—the room that was next to hers—and opening the window wide, sat down before it, his arms upon the sill.

There, with his face to the mysterious, unquenchable pallor of the summer night, he remained motionless for a long time. So it was true—so it was true! The thought ought to have revolted him, but somehow he felt as if he had always known it. In the words of her halting, piteous confession, she had been caught—trapped. That strange quality of hers which had first attracted him—that apartness—spirituality—came from adversity, was the very flower and essence of suffering. And he had in a vague fashion recognized it without knowing whence it came.

She was so young to have gone through so much, so young to have garnered already the sad wisdom that comes with age. With a vision made keen by the power within he saw her setting forth alone in her little barque on the treacherous waters of life, fearless and trusting, unaware of the evil, sucking undercurrent which was so soon to overwhelm her. How could she have known? There had been no one to warn her. Her early life had been spent in a backwater where no hint of evil had ever reached her. He could see her with that sharpened insight of his faring lightly forth upon that terrible voyage of hers, seeing only the rippling surface and the blue of the summer day. With a kind of grim intensity he followed her from light to dark, from calm to storm, from the safe harbor to the overwhelming chaos of deep waters whence there was no return. He saw her wrecked, terrified and sinking, the great waves engulfing her, desperately springing for the only refuge within reach—The only refuge!

Again an unutterable something rose in his throat. If only he had been near her even then—even then! O God, to have saved her from that further agony! The perspiration was standing on his forehead. The agony was within him also, twisting his very soul. Thus and thus had she suffered, and there had been none to help! And now at the end—as a last resource—she had turned to him. And wherefore? Not for any strength of protection he had to offer; but because he was kind—and easy to deceive! And her heart had smitten her for the deed, as though she had tricked a child. For no other reason—nought but this! She had grown wise in suffering, but not till now had she brought herself to make use of the wisdom within her. She had come to him, had wrenched the very heart out of him to serve her need. And then she had repented. But too late—too late! Still with that pitiless clarity of vision he saw that repentance would not serve. Nothing could undo that which had been done. Nothing could restore him to himself as he had been before that day. In her extremity she had acted, and it was not in him to blame her for what she had done. Yet he realized that it might well be that in the future he would reap no reward for that which he now so generously, so foolishly, offered.

The thought came to him, but he instantly threw it aside. Life was like that. "Il y a toujours l'un qui baise et l'un qui tourne la joue." Of what avail to consider that now? He would infinitely rather be the one that gave, even receiving nothing again, though that in itself was unthinkable. Such love as his—love which survived every storm, endured every test—must somehow, sometime, meet with its reward. What he sowed today, he would surely reap tomorrow, and in that reaping he would find his heart's desire. He could not grudge what he had given. Already he had begun to learn that it is in giving rather than receiving that the human soul finds its fulfillment.

Had Tiggie been asked, he would probably have said that he was not a religious man, being too humble-minded to describe the simple faith within him by so high a name. He would have said that he only prayed when he wanted anything, and his wants were few. But tonight the want in him moved him to an unwonted effort, and when at last he rose from that long, silent review of actualities and possibilities he stood for a moment in thought, then went solidly down on his knees at the open window.

"O God," he said, "help me to play the game, and keep me from making a mess of things!"

Then he went to bed and slept.

In the morning came Harvey, slightly aggrieved, though full of good intentions. "You went to earth very soon last night," he said. "I hope all's well?"

"I hope so too," said Tiggie placidly.

Harvey's satirical grin leaped across his thin features. "Begun to think better of it yet?"

"No," said Tiggie.

"Have you told her of the pleasure in store?" pursued Harvey.

"No," said Tiggie again with unruffled composure. "I didn't see the sense of rushing things."

"You're a rum fish," said Harvey. "Well, what's the program?"

"I may be in a position to tell you after breakfast," said Tiggie.

Harvey took the hint. His green eyes even smiled appreciation. "Well, send for me if you need support!"

Tiggie completed his toilet with thoughtful precision. There was no hint of excitement about him, only a species of grimly settled and rock-like determination which might or might not have been of a wholly peaceful origin.

When he was ready he went out into the passage and knocked at the door next to his. The communicating door he wholly ignored.

NEWS OF OUR OWN VILLAGE

The village crick was plugged up with ice Mon. p.m. but R. H. Parsons and his merry men administered a few shots of dynamite in time to keep any of the stores and such floating down the stream. Nice shooting, lads, say we, approvingly.

Sixty village maidens is practicing dancing and such for the show the Kinsmen is putting on shortly in aid of their eyesight fund. And every 1 of the gals, your scribe hastens to assert, is the kind to make you glad they aint nothing wrong with your eyesight.

Not many from here is going to Chicago, well west of this place, tomorrow, to see the Chicagos and the Detroits play hockey for the cup give by a fellow by the name of Stanley, years ago.

Owing to the chilly weather the Easter parade here last Sun. was nothing to get excited about, much to the relief of your scribe, whose spring garb, if any, aint as yet materialized.

Folks what move into this berg from outside the limits and expect to get into the bread line in time for breakfast the next morning is going to be out of luck from now on, it having been decided at town meeting Mon. nite that we can't afford to run no open house these hard times. It's all right to be neighborly folks, but enough is too much, say we.

Chief Webster of Lakefield, about a gallon of gas north of this place, sez they aint no truth in the rumor that a strange deer wandered into his bailiewick last Sun., took 1 look at him and then tried to drown itself in the lake. That story is Red propaganda or something, your scribe would imagine.

This great family journal will run a cooking school in the Grand Opery House, Main St., starting Tues., and all and sundry is invited to attend the same and brush up on their kitchen technique, so to speak.

The village fathers at town meeting this week discussed ordering folks to keep their sidewalks clear of snow. The boys in the council is certainly quick on the draw, not having more'n 5 or 6 months of winter to think that 1 up.

A Thought

AN ECHO

An echo is like the sound which calls it out. The echo from a deed is exactly like the deed in character and quality. It cannot vary from that which produced it any more than our reflection in a mirror can be different from the image we present. Our life is merely the echo of the sum of our thoughts, of our words, our motives, of our efforts, and the echo will be pleasant or disagreeable, joyous or sad, rich or poor just as is the life which inspired it.

RUSSIA

Bielomorsky Canal Transcends Any Similar Undertaking of Ancient or Modern Times.

(By H. W. L. MAHOOD)

RUSSIA cannot be longer ignored. A master feat has been completed. In daring to undertake, in scientific methods employed, in skill of planning, and in wisdom of management, the building of the Bielomorsky Canal connecting the White Sea and the Baltic, has never been surpassed. A two thousand, eight hundred mile route around the Scandanavian Peninsula from Leningrad to Archangel taking seventeen days can now be travelled in three days.

H. W. L. MaHood

Beginning at the north-west corner of the Gulf of Onega, the canal is cut directly south to Lake Onega, and then on south to Lake Ladoga. This part of the canal follows the Svir River. From the south-west corner of Lake Ladago the cut is made to Leningrad. This canal surpasses the Suez and the Panama Canals in engineering difficulties and in dispatch.

The thought of connecting St. Petersburg with Archangel had been in the minds of the Romanoffs for centuries. The difficulties were to them insuperable. They were not to the leaders of the new government. The decision was reached in 1931 to undertake. Bielomorsky is six times the magnitude of Dnieprostroy. This canal connects the Dneiper River with Leningrad. The Belomorsky was completed in eighteen months.

The amazing fact about this canal building is the class of workers employed. Thieves, murderers, embezzlers, drug addicts, prostitutes to the number of 140,000 men, did the work. They were organized into groups and carried on with great unanimity and enthusiasm.

This convict built canal is one of the engineering feats of the 20th century.

The canal is only the beginning of a greater undertaking. The economic mastery of the Arctic is the ultimate in the mind of the Soviet Government. Northern Russia is rich in resources of forest and mine. North Russia is a forest above the soil and a mine beneath the soil. Rarest and costliest lumber will find its way into all the markets of the world. It will come from the Carelia Peninsula, and from Kanin. Apatites from Khibinogorsk by the ton, aluminum in vast quantities from Kandalakshi, also cement from the same locality, fish the finest, and furs thick and fine from Murmansk and Archangel, await the buyer.

The north of Russia will be deluged with hydro-electricity power from the canal dams. Here is a market for Canadian and American electrical equipment and for electrical engineers equal to anything the world has ever known. Fifty years will not absorb the opportunities now open for hardy, adventurous, well equipped and experienced young men. Northern Russia is one of the greatest opportunities to be found, anywhere in the world.

The Soviet Government has decided that Carelia, apparently a most forsaken part of the Union, shall be transformed into a highly developed industrial state. It has the natural resources. If convict labor can be called forth, from a menace to the whole nation, to build a canal like Bielomorsky, by right appeal, it is possible to enlist latent constructive powers to accomplish other master feats. Building a canal is much better for a criminal than imprisonment. When the canal was finished the criminals were like transformed men. Work is good mental medicine.

On the completion of the canal Russia celebrated. In many cities the day was observed. Triumphant arches were built. The people were jubilant. A contest had been in progress for some months between the groups of workers. The quality of the work and the amount accomplished was stressed. Finally two of the groups forged into the lead. Neck and neck they worked. Then came the last day of work. The canal was completed, and Shock Brigade number four had won from Shock Brigade number seven. A banner was the prize. It was very large and costly. The commander of the one hundred and forty thousand workers was Bolshakov, an army officer.

Suddenly there was a great commotion. The crowd sighted the commander coming to the celebration carrying the banner. It grabbed him. Hoisted him to their shoulders. Made him stand up. There he stood on a human platform. The folded flag he held aloft. Slowly the cheering crowd moved to the covered stand. With laughing face, and twitching hands, and legs and body swaying in all directions, he was deposited on the evergreen covered platform. And the men who carried him on their shoulders were thieves, murderers, prostitutes when they began to labor on that canal. Work and freedom and teaching and counsel had made of them new men.

Before presenting the banner to the winning Shock Brigade, Bolshakov talked to the crowd. Every man felt that he had a part in the achievement and in the celebration. The praise spoken was for each man. When have you ever heard a criminal praised? The address was a model of compactness, and sweep, and restrained eloquence. Bolshakov was not talking down to the men. He was addressing comrades with whom he was engaged in a great enterprise. Tears were plentiful. So was applause. This does not end the story.

Building operations in Peterborough in 1904 will be the busiest in the town's history, several factories going up and enough houses to meet the existing demands. . . . A new town hall will be built this summer in Ennismore at a cost of about $2,000.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

HOW DO YOU LIKE THE NEW CARS?

Seen those new automobiles? Notice the new curves? The new lines? The so-different designs? If you have—

Which class are you in? Do you belong to the small group that dislikes them intensely? Or in the group that approves enthusiastically of the new streamlining? Or the third group that hasn't quite made up its mind—but will eventually accept and like them very much indeed?

You're not used to these streamline designs. You remember the old family phaeton with the lazy old horse in front. You remember the old wagons, the old automobiles. You eye tells you that an automobile should be sharp in front in order to cut into the wind, and you don't realize that you eye is mistaken and that the fastest automobile might be square across the front and shaped like a spear in the rear. Perhaps you don't know that Glenn Curtis took an ordinary automobile a few years ago and turned it squared around on its chassis and increased its speed about 15 miles an hour using the same amount of gasoline.

At any rate, here are the gleaming new automobiles and they're SWELL. (I could hunt around and find some other adjective, but this one seems to me to be just the right word for them.) They're swell because they are RIGHT. A design isn't worth anything unless it means something. And the only meaning an automobile can possibly have is to produce increased speed or power with lower consumption of gasoline. They will go faster, with less use of power—and that's the Modern Idea.

I think it's the right one. I think it's the right idea for everything, for every human creature in this age, too. The automobile men scrapped many an old idea that looked all right, but was really all wrong—and that is what nearly everbody is doing today. Not as definitely, not as clearly, as the automobile men are doing it, but in many ways.... We want to get more out of life in return for what we put into it. We're not interested in more speed, but we ARE interested in the true economy of living easily, naturally, happily, properly. And even if we must turn our entire point of view around on the old chassis, we must do it. Because we know in our hearts that from now on we must have a NEW Design for Living.

SEEK TO END WAR

LIMA, Peru, April 6.—(AP)—Negotiations to end the Gran Chaco warfare between Bolivia and Paraguay are going forward on the basis of a new peace plan sponsored by Peru, it was learned today.

It was disclosed that efforts are being made to prepare the plan for joint presentation to the belligerents by Argentina, Brazil, Chila and Perus.

WALL STREET.

(By Victor Eubank, A.P. Financial Writer)

NEW YORK, April 7 (A.P.). — Efforts to give the stock market an upward push in to-day's brief session were not notably successful and prices, on the whole, were again trendless. There were scattered firm spots throughout the list but several of the leaders were rather heavy.

Transfers approximated only 600,000 shares. The close was irregular.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

MINING EXCHANGE

TORONTO, April 7. (CP).—Both gold and base metal shares moved strongly forward on the mining section of the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day on buying volume that ran into a million shares in the first hour of trading.

Most of the big gold issues with exception of McIntyre and Pioneer traded in fair volume. Dome gained 50 cents, Hollinger was up 60 cents to $18.25, Lake Shore 50 cents to $64, McIntyre 75 cents to $48.75, Teck Hughes, 15 cents to $6.65 and Wright Hargreaves 20 cents to $9.90. Bralorne at $14.50 was unchanged.

Base metal stocks, particularly Noranda and Hudson Bay, were in good demand at higher prices, the former adding $1.50 to Friday's closing prices and Hudson Bay gained 35 cents to $13.75.

INDUSTRIAL EXCHANGE

TORONTO, April 7. —(CP)— The industrial section of the Toronto Stock exchange concluded the week with a firm price condition and with volume good in several groups. Ford 'A' was again a market leader for volume but the close at 24¼ was unchanged.

The Loblaw stocks came in for a large share of attention and the 'A' issues was taken up to 17 for a gain of ¾ and the 'B' issue to 18, up a half point.

Walkers common and Distillers Seagrams were unchanged.

MONTREAL EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, April 7 (CP)—Narrow movements were marked up in to-day's short session of the Montreal Stock Exchange with an irregular trend being established. Trading was fairly active, but changes were confined to minor fractional dimensions.

Hollinger was one of the strong leaders with a gain of 60 cents at 18.25. Consolidated Smelters firmed ⅝ at 168¾ and National Breweries ¼ at 27¾, while gains were also shown by Dominion Steel, Alcohol "B," Massey Harris, Steel of Canada and several more.

WEIR DEFENDS WHEAT POLICY

Federal Minister Opens South Oxford By-election Campaign.

ANSWERS GRIT CHARGE.

NORWICH, Ont., April 7 (CP) — Conservatives to-day were cementing their ranks for the forthcoming by-election in the Federal constituency of South Oxford with the hope of electing another Government supporter to fill the vacancy left by Thomas Cayleys' death. Hon. Robert Weir, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, opened the Conservative bid for victory last night with a defence of the Government's agricultural policy.

The Minister addressed a Conservative meeting here, and declared Prime Minister R. B. Bennett's Government had emphasized its first concern was agriculture. Mr. Weir answered the charge of Dr. Thomas Donnelley, Liberal member in the House of Commons for Willow Bunch, that the only persons to benefit from the help extended to the West's wheat farmers were the elevator and grain men.

Unable to Find Market

Mr. Weir said a Western grain pool president had said had the Government not taken the action it had, the wheat growers would have been unable to find a market at any price."

The Minister said during the war agriculturalists had been urged to increase production. When the war was over, he said ,the result was that all countries found themselves with large surpluses.

High tariffs followed as each nation tried to save itself. The United Kingdom was flooded with products to such an extent the British farmer found prices too low, and suffered great loss.

Mr. Weir declared the Government's action had nothing to do with the increased production of wheat in France. France had produced a large quantity of wheat between 1924 and 1929, more than Canada had produced since this government came into power, the Minister said.

Shipments of cattle and milk and cream into the United States were reduced during the Liberal regime, the Minister charged.

"The Government that was then in power, the King Government, made no effort to halt it lest, as Mr. King himself put it, we provoke our neighbors to the south," Mr. Weir said. "And this was the first problem that I had to face when I took office, and it was a difficult task."

PLANS DIVIDED ON WHEAT PRICE

Rigid Schemes Would Fix Rates With Differestials for Different Exporting Nations.

OTHER FAVORS QUOTAS.

(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

ROME, April 7 (CP Cable).—Two classes of plans of fixing a minimum world price for exported wheat were before the World Wheat Conference to-day.

One is rigid; the other, flexible. The rigid plans contemplate fixed rates with differentials for the different exporting countries. The flexible plans, less direct, aim at a minimum price through closed adjustment of export quotas. One method suggested under this head is splitting the present 12-month quotas into three-month quotas.

The delegates, it was officially stated this afternoon proved "sympathetic" in to-day's session to the minimum price principle. An authoritiative statement on the various viewpoints, however, will be reserved until all the delegates have had the opportunity to present their views.

The conference will resume its minimum price discussions on Monday, setting at rest any suggestion it was prepared to wind up this week-end. There remains considerable work to be done.

AGED MAN INJURED

TORONTO.—A frail man of 91, Edward Groomberg, of the House of Industry, suffered a fractured elbow when he was struck by a youth on a bicycle. While lying in a hospital cot someone commented on the carelessness of cyclists and motorist by way of sympathy. But the patient didn't agree. "Why" he said earnestly, "the lad who knocked me was terribly sorry. He was a perfect gentleman."

TAX EXEMPTION TO AID BUILDING IS RECOMMENDED

Proposed by Central Relief Board to City Council.

TRADES ARE IDLE.

Exemption of New Dwellings for Two Years Suggested.

Tax exemption of new buildings for a period of two years as a means of encouraging the building industry, was recommended in a resolution adopted by the Central Relief Board last night.

The motion was proposed by A B. Cunningham and seconded by James Ellis. It points out that more than 90 per cent. of the raw and finished materials used in the construction of dwellings is produced in the city or its immediate vicinity and that all the labor is local that the various trades employed many unskilled workmen, thereby distributing the benefits of the invested capital than is provided by any other industry

The resolution is as follows: "That in view of these facts, and considering that the building industry has been over 80 per cent. idle for three years, this Board requests the Council to consider the exemption from taxation for a period of two years of new buildings commenced or completed during the season of 1934, but retaining the tax on land, thus ensuring no loss of taxes to the city. This proposal would immediately benefit the city by providing employment and reducing relief cost and would greatly increase the taxable value of the property at the end of the exemption period.

It would also revive an industry that is entirely dependent upon surplus funds which, if put into circulation, would contribute in a special manner to the general benefit of the community at no cost whatever to the taxpayer.

This industry not only provides the labor of construction, but also most of the labor in manufacture of the raw materials."

which entered the combination City Hall-Courthouse to lay the demands before the council.

Crowd Grows Restless

The trouble started in the morning when a long line of unemployed and sympathizers paraded to the building. There the crowd surged outside when the committee went it.

Becoming restless when the committee did not return, men and women began hurling stones and coal at the windows. An old woman on crutches, screeching invectives, and hundreds of persons wearing flaming red arm bands moved on the city hall.

Fists flew, speakers shouted from atop parked automobiles, windows crashed, a policeman fell. The officers struck desperately at the skulls of the rioters. The throngs ransacked automobiles in a parking lot, seizing anything in sight for missles.

Fire Chief Earl Traeger declined to turn water on the rioters, fearing that his equipment would be wrecked. Municipal Judge Paul S. Carroll said: "They might wreck civilization if you let them continue."

A second disorder started when the unemployed learned that the delegation which appeared before the council had been jailed. They rushed a solid line of policemen, shouting: "The double crossers. The dirty double crossers."

The police clubs drove them back after a long fight.

Livestock-Produce Quotations

ONTARIO HOG PRICES

TORONTO, April 7 (CP) — Hog quotations in Ontario market points remained steady to-day at $7.25 to $7.40 f.o.b. shipping point, with a $1 premium for extras. All prices were unchanged from yesterday: Brantford, $7.40; Hull, Que., $7.75; Kitchener, $7.25; London, $7.25; Peterborough, $7.25; Barrie, $7.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, April 7 (C.P.) — Wholesale prices on produce delivered at Toronto as supplied by the United Farmers Co-operative Co. here to-day were:

Eggs.—Grade A-large, doz., 16c; grade A-medium, 14c; grade C. 13c.

Churning Cream—No. 1 lb 29c, No. 2, 27c. Butter—No. 1 solids 29c; No. 2, 28½c.

Ontario Cobbler potatoes, bag $1.15.

TORONTO CHEESE

TORONTO, April 7 (C.P.) — The Toronto wholesale cheese market was quiet to-day with dealers buying large colored paraffined and government grades at 11½c.

Wholesalers offered cheese to retailers at the following prices: New—Large, 13½c; twins, 13½c; triplets, 14c. Old—Large, 17½c; triplets, 13¾c. Old—Large, 17½c; twins, 17¾c triplets, 18c. Medium—Large, 15½c; twins, 15¾c, triplets, 16c.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

TORONTO, April 7 (C.P.) — Wholesale prices on fruit and vegetables as supplied by White & Co. were reported unchanged to-day.

WINNIPEG MARKET HOLDS FIRM TONE

Steady Export Demand for Canadian Commodity Continues in Past Week.

WINNIPEG, April 7 (C.P.).—The wheat market maintained a firm and steady position to-day at the end of a week's trading which saw a steady export demand for the Canadian commodity. Feature of the market was the orderly manner in which trading was carried on.

The bulk of the selling was fed through the pit by the government agency. A small decline in prices was noted on several days, but net loss for the week ending yesterday were only ⅝ to 1⅛ cents.

Strongest month on the list was the May future, which held at 67⅜. July traded at 68¼ and October at 70.

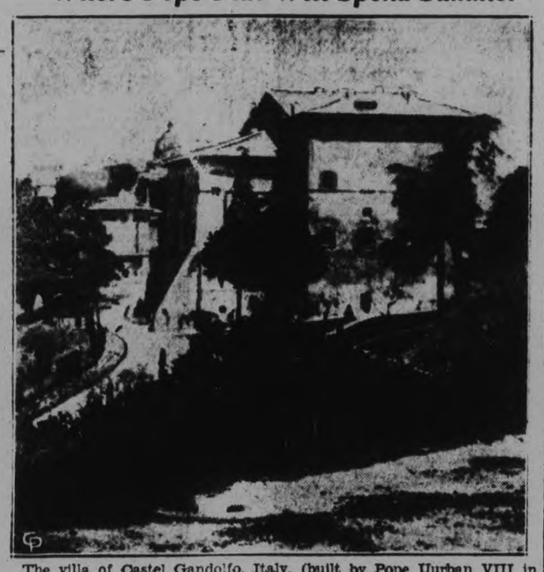
Fears that Argentine would experience difficulty in living up to her quota appeared unfounded with shipments from that country cut almost in half. Added to this was the continued indifference of Australian farmers, who refused to sell wheat at prevailing prices.

Canada, to date, has secured 36 per cent. of the world trade in wheat; Argentine, 24 per cent.; Australia, 17 per cent.; Russia, 7.2 per cent., and remaining countries, 9.2 per cent. Canadian wheat sold at premiums ranging from eight to 26 cents a bushel over Argentine, while Australian sold at six to 16 cents over Argentine wheat.

NO APPEAL FOR INSULL

ISTANBUL, April 7 (AP)—Kenan Beyn, Attorney-General of Turkey, announced to-day that no appeal was possible against his Government's decision to hand over Samuel Insull, Sr., to American authorities.

Where Pope Pius Will Spend Summer



The villa of Castel Gandolfo, Italy, (built by Pope Uurban VIII in 1629), dominates the mountain landscape as it is prepared to house a pontiff for the first time in 63 years. It is at an altitude of 1,400 feet, is beautifully landscaped and is equipped with a two-way transmission plant. Here Pope Pius is expected to make a hot-weather retreat, re-establishing a custom of his predecessors followed until they became "voluntary prisoners" in the Vatican in 1871. He is expected to hold court here on a few occasions and probably will grant regular audiences. If he arrives in May he will be there for his 77th birthday.

Norway Cliff Slide Claims Forty Lives

OSLO, Norway, April 7 (AP). — Advices reaching here to-day said nearly 40 lives were lost through a huge cliff-slide at Korsnaes Fjord on the west coast of Norway.

The slide caused a succession of heavy waves which swept both banks.

At Taj Fjord, six houses were undermined, washed inland and deposited as a heap of ruins. Twenty-two lives were estimated lost.

At Fajoraa, on the opposite bank of the fjord, 17 lives were lost and dwellings and other property damaged heavily.

HEADLINERS OF GRAPPLE GAME IN INITIAL MAT PROGRAM HERE

Peterborough Baseball Club Sponsoring Wrestling on April 13.

Newcomers To Local Fans.

Nothing but the very best in the line of performers have been secured for Peterborough's first show of light heavy wrestling at the Brock Street Rink next Friday night. The card of three matches, which is being sponsored by the Peterborough Baseball Club, will bring here some of the biggest stars in the field of light-heavy and middleweight wrestling ever to appear together on the same card, headed by the star of them all, Paul Orth, of Toledo, O., the "Tarzan of the Mat." Paul is the top-notcher of his class, and his combination of "bad-man" tactics and sob-artist antics has won wide followings for him in the centres on the continent, where light-heavy wrestling has been introduced and become a success in the entertainment field. Orth will be opposed in his first Peterborough showing to another outstanding exponent in his class in the person of Mustapha Pasha, the "Terrible Turk," of Istanboul, Turkey. Apart from providing more than formidable opposition to the wily Orth, who, incidentally, has been barred from several of the United States rings for his rough-house tactics, the "Terrible Turk" will likely act as a splendid foil for Orth because of his willingness to mix things and provide the fans with the mixture of speed, skill, science, action and thrills for which this form of light-heavy wrestling has come to have a name in the centres where it has been introduced. Moreover, Mustapha has an abundance of "weak spots," so to speak—all centred on the top of his head. The reference here is to his super-mop of hair, always a vulnerable spot in a wrestler's armor, and especially so when opposed to a bad-man of the reputation such as Orth's. It is safe to say that no other wrestler has been the object of so many attacks through the roots of his hair as has Mustapha, and all because he glories in hirsute adornments of extraordinary lengths. This bout is a two-falls-out-of-three affair, with a time-limit of one hour.

The evening's card will be rounded out with another main bout, with the same fall—and time-limit as the first, and a preliminary bout of one fall, with a thirty minutes' limit. The matches are being arranged by Matchmaker Tommy A. McClure, the well-known speed-boat driver, and it is an axiom that in his mat-arrangings Tommy never falls down on the job, so the local fans are promised an evening of superior entertainment when the stellar aggregation of performers meet here to swap holds late next week.

Between thirty-five and forty centres in the Province have their organized Rover Crews including the one now in process of organization in this city. The fifth annual Ontario Rover Moot is to be held under canvas at Ebor Park near Brantford, on August 5-7. There will be no restriction as to the numbers attending, while the Moot fee is tentatively announced at $4.00 per head.

The Peterborough Rover Crew is to meet on Wednesday next at 7.30 p.m. at the temporary headquarters at 239 Burnham Street.

Following a recent investiture ceremony of the 9th Ottawa (St. Barnabas) Rovers, under direction of District Commissioner C. E. Russell, the Crew was presented by E. Barlow with an historic Union Jack. It was the flag once flown on a ship which years ago transported King George (then Duke of York) to India.

PRAIRIE WINTER TAKES 16 LIVES

trappers were taken by plane and dog team to medical aid.

Triple Tragedy.

The heaviest blow from December 1 until spring's advent was struck when Joseph Chatrand, 73, his daughter, Mrs. Fred Marion, and her five-year-old son Johnny, were frozen to death in the Winnivegosis district of Manitoba. Two Winnipeg men—Allan Davies and John Staber—died from frost-bites.

In the Great Lakes region, Fred Harbon was frozen to death on Nipigon Bay, while three companions tramed 50 miles in a blizzard to safety. Kenny McLeod, 18, died from frost-bites suffered when he and a companion searched for a game warden whose mother had been injured in a fall.

Thomas Andrewski, Yorkton, Sask., farmer, and Nick Biblow, 14, son of a farmer in the same district, were frozen to death in the same storm. A man named Morton was found frozen to death in a shack at Maidstone, Sask., and Benjamin J. Harrison, Weyburn, was found dead in his stalled car as a blizzard raged.

A 15-year-old boy named Breadau succumbed to a storm in the Peace River district of Alberta. David Enright Massey, 72, fell a victim in the Kamloop district of British Columbia and Alex. Sherwood, Fernie B.C., disappeared when caught in a blizzard while hunting.

Two More Victims.

Fred Parker, a war veteran, died from exposure on the outskirts of Prince Albert, Sask., after walking 12 miles in a circle. Ted Lees, Big River, Sask., drowned when he was freighting across Waskesiu Lake in Prince Albert National Park when his tractor broke through the ice.

Out of the records came stories of heroism. Gunnar Aspass lay ill with an abscessed lung for six weeks at Reed's trading post, 114 miles north of Fort McMurray, Alberta's end of steel, before daring airmen beat the weather and brought him out for medical aid.

Fred Shagory, who fell through the ice at Fond Du Lac., Sask., 500 miles north-east of Edmonton, was brought out by airmen, nursed to health and then flew back to his cabin home. Carl Wicklund suffering an eye injury in the Great Bear Lake mining area, 1,500 miles north-west of Edmonton, was rescued by plane.

LOVED TEACHER DIES IN LINDSAY

Dr. T. A. Kirkconnell Succumbs to Effects of Stroke in 73rd Year.

PRINCIPAL 23 YEARS.

LINDSAY, April 7 (Examiner Correspondence).—The Town of Lindsay and the Province of Ontario lost a dearly beloved teacher and a highly efficient educationist yesterday afternoon in the passing of Dr. T. A. Kirkconnell. Two weeks ago, Dr. Kirkconnell, who had been living a retired life for a year past, journeyed to Milton, Ont., to relieve a fellow pedagogue, who was on the sick list. The day previous to taking charge he suffered a partial stroke from which he failed to recover. Death occurred about 3 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The late Thomas Allison Kirkconnell was born in Prescott County in 1862, of Scotch-Canadian parentage. In 1895 he secured his B.A. degree at Queen's University (Kingston) in Mathematics and Science. From 1879 to 1894 he taught at Port Elgin, Vankleek Hill, Madoc and Port Hope. From 1695 to 1908 he was Principal of the Lindsay Collegiate Institute, succeeding the late J. C. Harstone, and this position he resigned some three years ago, being succeeded by another Queen's graduate in Mr. William MacMillan. From 1906 to 1909 he was a member of the Advisory Council of Education for Ontario. In 1919 he was honored with the Degree of LL.D. by Toronto University. He was a faithful and active member of the Baptist Church. In 1889 he married Bertha Watson of Port Hope, who survives. Other members of the family left to mourn his loss are: Mrs. W. H. (Helen) Houser, 16 Hyde Park Avenue, Hamilton; Prof. Watson Kirkconnell, of Wesley College, Winnipeg; Herbert Kirkconnell, of Earlscout Avenue, Toronto; John R. Kirkconnel, of 73 Bellwood Avenue, Ottawa. One son, the late Lieut. Walter Kirkconnell, was killed overseas. One sister, Mrs. McLaren, resides at Kincardine.

The late Dr. Kirkconnel was respected because of the name he had made for himself in the teaching field. As a teacher of mathematics he was considered without a peer in the province. In the broader sense, it might well be said of him he "was every inch a man."

The Township of Brock suffered the loss of a highly respected and lifelong resident in the death of Richard Francis. Death came at his home on Concession 12 Brock after a long illness, where he had spent his entire life, being well-known as a successful farmer. In 1891 he was married to Alice Bentley, of Oakville, who with a son and two daughters is left to mourn his loss. The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon and was conducted by Rev. Mr. Latimer, pastor of Derryville United Church; interment taking place at Cannington. Surviving are the widow and one son, William. The two daughters are: Mrs. Pascoe Shier and Clara, all of Cannington; also a sister, Mrs. James McEwen of Kenilworth, and a brother, Simpson Francis of Cannington.

The two-year-old son of Mr. B. King, of Beaverton, suffered the loss of a finger Thursday. Recently the right hand was mangled in the gears of a washing machine. For a time it was thought the finger could be saved. The youngster pushed a clothespin into the mechanism and his finger was drawn in.

Mr. J. Hagerman, descendant of one of the early pioneers of York County, celebrated his 97th birthday at his home in Cannington, Thursday. He makes his home with his son, Mr. Arthur Hagerman. He was born at Hagerman's Corners, near Unionville, which took its name from the family. Most of his life was spent farming in the Township of Markham, with a few years in Western Ontario. His father, Nicholas Hagerman, was a despatch runner during the War of 1812.

COMMISSIONER LAMB HONORED

ABERDEEN.—Commissioner David Lamb of the Salvation Army, well-known overseas for his work in the interests of Empire Settlement, has been awarded an honorary degrees of Doctor of Laws by the University of Aberdeen. He became associated with the Salvation Army when he was living in Aberdeen half a century ago.

At the Theatres

AT THE CAPITOL.

"CATHERINE THE GREAT" AT THE CAPITOL MONDAY, TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY A BERGNER TRIUMPH.

By William Boehnel

(From New York World-Telegram, February 15th, 1934)

Without hesitation I recommend to you "Catherine the Great", the new British film which opened last night at the Astor Theatre and in which Elizabeth Bergner triumphs, as a picture worthy of many superlatives. Nothing finer has been seen hereabouts in months.

I suspect that the audience at the Astor last night was concerned less with the film than with its principal player, Miss Bergner. For until last night most of us knew of her only by repute.

To be sure, Miss Bergner has been seen here as recently as last week in a mediocre German film called "Der Traumende Mund," and as number of reviewers were privileged to see her some time ago in an as yet unreleased offering called "Ariane". But most American moviegoers knew of her high ability as an actress only through reports from abroad. Consequently interest was obviously centred on this small, fragile young lady whom critics in England and on the continent had hailed as "great."

Confirmation Furnished.

Certainly, it shouldn't have taken the audience long in making up their minds. For it must have been obvious to all a few minutes after she made her first appearance on the screen that Miss Bergner is an amazingly fine actress. They must have been convinced beyond any doubt by the sheer brilliance of her playing in the scene where, without saying a single word she listens to Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., as the mad Czar Peter, tells her that he is going to send her to a nunnery. She is magnificent.

Enough of the work of Miss Bergner and her fellow players for the moment. It is still a matter of importance to treat a good film to the honors it deserves. For in spite of its lapses this "Catherine the Great" is a good film.

An Intriguing Subject.

Suddenly Catherine II. has become a favorite subject for the movie producers. Although she has appeared in several so-called historical films, this is the first time she has been the subject of an entire picture. And in a few weeks we shall see another film about her with Marlene Dietrich playing the role of the German princess who became Empress of all Russias.

However, we cannot have everything, and here we have much. First, an expertly produced romantic tragedy. Secondly, some excellent acting by an expertly directed cast so that the narrative loses none of its theatrical effectiveness.

"Fike" Arrives at Court.

Without being any more faithful to known facts than a historical film has to be, "Catherine the Great" relates Fike's arrival at the court of Empress Elizabeth, how she becomes the bride of the Grand Duke Peter, how he deserts her on their wedding night, how she wins him back by pretending she has a regiment of lovers, how he abuses and insults her after he becomes Czar, how she is drawn into the bloodless revolution that makes her Empress and how her hour of triumph is saddened by the news of the murder of Peter.

It is a pretty tale, the very stuff of which effective films are made—color, intrigue, romance, royal ceremonies, death. It is more palatable than the scrawny facts of history even if its conventional pattern does weaken at times.

In all the principal roles "Catherine the Great" enjoys good acting. Miss Bergner makes the portrait of Catherine at once luminous clarified and yet infinitely subtle, and Flora Robson as Empress Elizabeth, and Sir Gerald du Maurier as Lecoocq are excellent. As Peter, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., gives one of the most direct performances of his career.

IN A TOUGH SPOT

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., April 5. (CP).—This town's police force, all nine of them, will carry their lunch or go without it if a regulation proposed by the council becomes law. The regulation provides that no policeman shall enter a restaurant where beer is served except in the line of duty. Which would be all right except that practically every restaurant in town sells beer.

ESSAY CONTEST FOR CHILDREN

Pupils of Third and Fourth Books Invited to Compete for Humane Society Prizes

Pupils of the third and fourth books of the city and rural schools are reminded of the essay competition on the subject, "What does it mean to be kind to animals?" which is being conducted this month by the Peterborough Humane Society.

Early this week the first essay was received by Dr. Thomas Johnston, 15 Monaghan Road, from a nine-year-old girl living in one of the townships. It showed a lack of thought and preparation, and should have been retained at least as a first draft.

One of the first steps a pupil should take is to think about the significance of the subject, write the topics that come to them, probably ponder these ideas for a few days, and then write the essay. Some preparation of this kind should be made before the composition is begun, and as the essays are not required to be turned in until the end of the month, there is no necessity of forwarding them to Dr. Johnston for several weeks yet.

The rules as reported to The Examiner last week by Mrs. A. M. Young are briefly as follows: Essays must be the unaided work of the pupils who are restricted to the third and fourth books. Neatness and legibility will be considered in the awards.

Write age, home and school addresses at the right hand top corner, and write only on one side of the paper.

Essays must not exceed five hundred words, and probably can confine their merit to considerably fewer words. Four prizes will be given for the best essays from the city schools and for other prizes to children of rural schools.

The competition closes on April 30th.

BY THEIR CLEVER NECKLINES SHALL YE KNOW NEW FROCKS

Costumes, Accessories and House Furnishings Shown in Display.

By Central Press

SPONSORED by the Fashion Group, a non-commercial organization of 450 outstanding women fashion creators and executives, an exhibition of fashion-worthy clothes, accessories and house furnishings will be exhibited in Rockefeller Plaza, New York, April 2-29.

Every garment and object shown will illustrate the new alliance of science and art in current life in "30 scenes from contemporary life."

Among the basic products to be shown will be jewelry of modern vintage made from scientific stones, "bakelite," and "formica" tables, chairs and ornaments, "revolite" water and heat-proof fabrics, rayon, acetate and cuprammonium fabrics to be shown in clothes for street, sports, evening, travel, lounging, beach and other occasions, hangings and dining table damasks. New sheet cellulose materials will be seen in as diversified uses as wall coverings and women's hats and glove cuffs.

The scenes from contemporary life which will mark the Fashion Group exhibition are being designed by Eleanor LeMaire, a distinguished interior architect, who has been a brilliant trail blazer for women in this profession. Miss LeMaire feels that clothes and home furnishings are of double interest if shown in the smart way they could be used, and in their appropriate atmosphere. Therefore, evening clothes will be shown at a correctly set dinner table, in a scene "At the Opera"; while country clothes will be shown on a country club veranda, in a beach club scene "At a Dude Ranch"; "At the Races." An "Al Fresco Dining" scene will illustrate the latest way to picnic smartly and with maximum comfort. The art of leisure—which is considered twice as difficult to achieve in an age of hectic activity—will be illustrated with a boudoir and a bedroom replete with negligees, the latest dressing table accessories and gadgets, and all the other newest requisites to glorified lounging.

Three of the costumes to be shown are pictured. Capelets are "in" this season, and so are checks. "At the Races," one scene from the Fashion Group's exhibition, shows this frock, left, in sheer, crown rayon. It is worn with a cellulose straw hat designed by the young American artist, Betty Victor.

From another scene, "The Country Club Veranda," is to be shown the charming sports frock, center, made of rayon crepe, and designed by Claire Potter. Notice the higher waistline marked by contrasting buttons, and the carelessly tied scarf.

A glamorous dinner gown is shown, right, which will be displayed in the "Dining in the Modern Manner" scene. The model is seated on a cellulose material chair, and at her knee is a bakelite table, a tiny part of which is seen at the extreme right of the picture.

BUSINESS has many barometers and some speedometers.

The volume of newspaper advertising, for instance, is one of these speedometers; it shows how fast trade is moving.

Watch the newspaper advertisements. Gradually they are increasing in number as business steps into second speed. Merchants and manufacturers feel a quickening public interest in buying; they are reaching out to catch that interest.

Their advertisements are worth following closely these days because they contain news of unusual importance to every shopper.

Following the news has become a habit in our lives; almost like breathing or eating. Our conversation, our opinions, our actions are based on what we read in newspapers.

Advertising in the newspapers is, for this reason, more than advertising. It is part of the force that is generated by the great dynamo of news—the force by which people act and think.

Newspaper advertising, like the news, is born fresh daily—timed to the minute—sparkling with the energy and action of each day's events.

It reaches virtually everyone who can be reached at all by any advertising, because whatever else people do, they read the newspapers today and will read them again tomorrow.

Newspaper advertising gets to everybody every day—and gets there FIRST.

OYSTER SUPPER AT SPRINGVILLE

Church Board Honors Four Citizens Who Financed Installation of Electric Lights.

PROGRAM FOLLOWS.

SPRINGVILLE, April 7. (Examiner Correspondence).—Springville congregation enjoyed a real treat on Wednesday evening in the form of an oyster supper given by the board of management in honor of four men who so generously financed the installation of the electric lights in the manse, namely Messrs T. Hunter, J. Staples, H. Clark and J. Madill.

Following the supper a short program was given in the church consisting of speeches by the guests of honor with the exception of Mr. Madill who was not present. Mr. M. Johnston also spoke a few words. Mr. Battin and Miss Hazel Hall contributed vocal numbers, while Miss Velma Staples supplied the readings. A splendid playlet concluded the program, the characters being taken by Miss Arleigh Murray, Irvin MacIntosh, Clifford Johnston and Charles Whittington.

Mr. S. S. Staples acted as chairman.

Springville's only regret during this pleasant evening was that their pastor, Rev. S. H. Moyer, through illness was unable to attend.

JOHN CURRIE GETS JUDGMENT

Case Arose Over Sale of Team of Horses in 1927 to Fred Haig.

AT CAMPBELLFORD.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 7 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — In the case of John Currie of Seymour against Fred Haig of Seymour and his mother, Mrs. Ellen M Haig of Campbellford, which came before His Honor Judge L. V. O'Connor of Cobourg in the Division Court at Campbellford this week, judgment was recovered against Fred Haig to the amount of $349.50 and costs, and against Mrs. Haig for $183.30. R. F. B. Douglas of Campbellford looked after the interests of the plaintiff, the defendants being represented by D. J. Lynch.

The case arose over the sale of a team of horses by the plaintiff to the defendant, Fred Haig, in April, 1927, in the giving by the defendant of two promissary notes in payment thereof, one of which notes was partly paid for by the defendant. Fred Haig. His mother, Mrs. Haig, was released in regard to this note, it being outlawed as far as she was concerned.

In the matter of the second note, Mrs. Haig was found by His Honor equally liable with the son, judgment being awarded accordingly.

Another case that came before the court was that of Charles Hubble vs. James Milne, both of Seymour Township, in which the plaintiff recovered judgment to the amount of $15.00 and costs. Plaintiff's claim was for the cutting of wood at the rate of $1.50 a cord, providing the wood was not moved until it was measured. The plaintiff claimed the sum of $25.00, being wages at $1.75 a day for cutting wood in lieu of an agreement, whereby the defendant was to pay the sum of $1.50 a cord for cutting the wood, which wood was moved before it was measured, however. Mr. Douglas handled the case for the plaintiff, the defence being in person.

THANKOFFERINGS AMOUNT TO $14.65

W. M. S. of St. Andrew's Church, Campbellford, Holds Easter Meeting.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 7 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — The thank ofering at the Easter meeting of the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford, amounted to $14.65, which amount was handed to Mrs. J. Allan, key woman, who received the money for the One Step Forward fund. The meeting, which was held on Tuesday in the church parlor, was presided over by Mrs. A. G. Thompson, who opened the meeting with a short verse on the theme, which was followed by devotions and hymns.

During the business discussion it was decided to hold a cooking sale with afternoon tea and a plain sewing table on May 12. The president, Mrs. Thompson, was chosen to be the delegate to the Provincial meeting of the W.M.S., which will be held in Hamilton on April 17, 18, 19.

A short memorial service was held for the late Mrs. Charles Gillespie, who was a life member of the Auxiliary, the president speaking of the high esteem in which she was held in the society, for in her days of strength she had been president for many years, endearing all to her.

The theme of the meeting was "The Risen Christ," which was given in three parts, "Comfort, Power, Service." The program included: Scripture reading, Mrs. Henry Hay; vocal solo, "The Stranger of Galilee," Miss Helen MacDonald; theme, Mrs. H. Turner. Mrs. Ida Walkinshaw and Mrs. Henry Hay were responsible for the Easter meeting.

Marmora Legion To See War Reels

MARMORA, April 7 (Examiner Correspondence).—Marmora Post No. 237 Canadian Legion will celebrate Vimy Day with the showing of twelve reels of official pictures of the Great War, including three reels taken of the Somme offensive and three of scenes about Ypres. These are being shown in the Town Hall, and the public is invited.

"My Old Kentucky Home" was sung by all. Reading, "The Village Blacksmith," by Vera Finch. Reading, "Going to the Clinic," by Jean Stewart; topic, "Light Agriculture for Women." by Mrs. Fred Barnum; reading, "Apologizing," by Mrs. Charles Stewart; "My Darling Nellie Grey" was sung; reading, "Pleasure and Profit," by Mrs. Sanford Meiklejohn; "Spring flower contest," by Miss Winnie Spencer. Candy was served by he hostess.

The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Fred Rutherford. There will be election of officers and an exchange of flower seeds, bulbs and slips, etc.

Misses Leatha and Lulu Hoover are the guests of Miss Leah Stewart this week.

Mrs. Gladys Mumby and Jimmy are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mumby for a few days this week.

Miss Eileen Finch visited Miss Ruth Finch on Tuesday.

Miss Winnifred Spencer was the guest of Miss Jean Stewart on Wednesday.

Mr. John Stewart and Mr. Ernest Irwin are attending the Trustee Convention in Toronto this week.

Trent River

Miss Peggy Longmuir is holidaying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Gardiner, Norwood.

Miss Mary Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas W. Brown, Seymour West, entertained a number of friends to a dance Easter Monday night.

Mr. George Van Volkenburg, president of the Northumberland County Cheese Factory Patrons' Association, is addressing cheese factory meetings in Peterborough County for a few days to organize all patrons.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Carnrite have been called to Chicago owing to the critical illness of their son Dorwin.

Mrs. Margaret Venters and son Albert of Hastings are visitors with Mr. and Mrs. George Brooks.

Mr. James Ketchison, township assessor, made his annual call here Thursday, later this year owing to illness.

Mr. George Brooks was a visitor Tuesday with relatives in Hastings.

Miss Fleda Thompson is spending the week with Miss Reta Longmuir, Seymour West.

Mr. George W. Armstrong has been engaged to teach school at Bancroft, and began his duties on Thursday.

Mr. Harold B. Wood spent a few days this week in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. James Maloney, Mary and Jim, who came here from Pittsburg, Pa., to take up residence with Mr. James Mann, moved their household effects Thursday to Havelock, where they will reside.

Rush Point

The regular weekly League meeting was held at the church on Thursday.

The members enjoyed a splendid Easter talk by Rev. Mr. Kemp. Touching clearly and simply on the trial, the death and the resurrection of Christ. Mr. Kemp acted as chairman. Miss Mae Seeney gave a comic reading, entitled "Apple Sauce." Lloyd Petherick gave a reading, "The Son's Wish," also in comic vein, and a very appropriate spring contest, requiring the names of birds as answers to the questions, was arranged by Mr. Gordon Newton. The next meeting will be in charge of Miss Irene McQuigge.

Mr. Fred Marshall, the game and fish inspector, was in this vicinity on Wednesday.

Spring is here at last, after one of the longest and hardest winters on record in these parts. Cattle are, in general, looking rather poor. An unusually large amount of feed has been consumed, and feed is very scarce now.

Dr. Russell had a large truckload of baled hay brought in from Peterborough this week for his farm at Round Lake.

The Havelock relief gang, which cut wood in this vicinity during part of the winter, report 93 cords cut on the property of Mr. Robert Seney, and 761 cord cut on the property of Mr. Frank Breckenridge.

Mr. Harold Seeney is now busily engaged tapping in his sugar-bush, and also trapping along nearby waters.

A BELOVED
favorite of Canadian theatregoers for two generations is Cecilia (Cissie) Loftus, who returns to Canada as a member of the cast of the Colbourne-Jones stage production of "Reunion in Vienna." Forty years ago, when the stage stars were noted for their booming voices and exaggerated gestures, a shy little girl with wistful eyes and a soft, sweet voice, became an overnight sensation with her imitations of famous music hall stars of the English theatre. Today, Miss Loftus still possesses that simplicity and sweetness, although her talent for mimicry has carried her to success as one of the finest dramatic actresses of the English and American stage.

was born in Scotland. From infancy, she breathed the atmosphere of grease-paint. her mother was the famous Marie Loftus who enjoyed high reputation as an actress throughout Europe; her father was associated with the business end of the theatre. When she was 15, the shy little girl was permitted to travel with her mother, now that school was over for the term. It was the child's habit to stand in the wings and watch the performances of the stars of the day. Unconsciously, she found herself absorbing all their mannerisms. After witnessing a number of impersonations which she thought were bad, Cecilia overcame shyness and showed her mother and the manager that she could do much better. She started to climb the theatrical ladder.

later married Justin Huntley McCarthy. Later, she wrote the famous play, "If I Were King," in which Miss Loftus played opposite E. H. Sothern. With Denis King of the London stage playing the lead, this became "The Vagabond King" in the operatic version. Miss Loftus has appeared in two Hollywood pictures and returns to the picture capital after the Canadian tour of "Reunion in Vienna." Her last stage appearance was in Ivor Novello's "The Party," with Mrs. Patrick Campbell and Tallulah Bankhead.

the Columbia production starring Spencer Tracy and Loretta Young will open a three day run at the Regent Theatre on Wednesday next. Glenda Farrell, Walter Connolly, Marjorie Rambeau and Arthur Hohl play the supporting roles in this photoplay of a New York depression camp. Frank Borzage, whose "Seventh Heaven," "Bad Girl" and "A Farewell to Arms" have made screen history, directed "Man's Castle," which is based on Lawrence Hazard's play.

critics are hailing Sophie Stewart as a new theatrical discovery, following her work in "Marriage Is No Joke" at the Globe Theatre, London. Canadian theatregoers, however, will remember her for the splendid performance she gave in the Scottish play, "Marigold" which opened on Broadway after its Canadian tour. Miss Stewart was also seen two seasons ago in Sir Barry Jackson's company when that excellent band of troupers made their trans-Canada tour with "Quality street", "Dear Brutus," "Yellow Sands" and "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." Last season, she had the leading role at the Malvern Festival in "Fair Maid of the West."

"CATHERINE THE GREAT"
the latest effort of Alexander Korda, whose genius gave us "Henry VIII, brings to the Capitol Theatre on Monday in the title role, Elizabeth Bergner, the young Viennesse star who is being hail throughout the land as as the greatest actress of our day. Miss Bergner brings to the delineation of "little Catherine" a fire that has been described, and not extravagently as genius. She cannot fail to win at once the heart of every American and Canadian filmgoer. And the portrayal of Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. as the neurotic Peter is unquestionably the finest work of his career and a worthy compliment to Miss Mergner's characterization. Flora Robson, one of England's leading actresses, is superb in the role of the notorious Empress Elizabeth, whom history credits with no less than three hundred lovers, and Sir Gerald du Maurier, who bears a distinguished name in the English theatre, is excellent as Le Cocq, the confidential valet. The direction of the eminent Paul Czinner, husband of Miss Bergner, is utterly brilliant.

WITH THE RECORD
completion of six important films in six weeks, the Elstree studios are being cleaned up in preparation for an even more impressive schedule which gets under way during the middle of April.

THE INTERNATIONAL
flavor of British International Pictures is indicated in the roster of stars who have just completed films. "Contraband" starred David Manners of Halifax, Greta Nissen of Norway, and Camilla Horn of Germany. "Love at Second Sight" marked the British film debut of Marian Marsh of Hollywood. "Over the Garden Wall" has Bobby Howes of the English music halls and Margaret Bannerman of Winnipeg and Toronto. "Freedom of the Seas" stars Zelma O'Neal of Broadway last seen in Canada doing the "Varsity Drag" in the stag production of "Good News" the famous collegiate musical comedy.

new B.I.P. films planned for immediate commencement include "Blossom Time" which brings Richard Tauber, the famous Viennese singer, to the English screen for the first time in the role of Schubert; "The Great Defender," a drama of criminal law, starring Matheson Lang of St. John N.B.; and "Give Me a Ring" a musical film with Wendy Barrie and Zelma O'Neal.

26 ANIMALS SOLD AT HOLSTEIN SALE

G. Fry of Campbellford Paid $47.50 for Bull Calf.

The highest price at the Holstein sale at Belleville Wednesday was $100. Twenty-six animals were sold by the Belleville district association of breeders.

G. Fry of Campbellford paid $47.50 for a bull calf consigned by E. Burnside of Madoc.

W. J. Murphy of Lindsay bought "Princess Dekol Colantha Echo" from R. Merritt and Son of Napanee for $65.

H. G. Ward of Dartford sold "Wardville Daisy Walker" for $72.50, and a bull calf for $57.50.

"Madoc Count Inka" consigned by James Caskey of Madoc was brought by W. G. Noble of Port Hope for $62.50.

The lowest price of the sale was $20 for a bull calf bred by F. S. Harnden of Vernonville whose herd was represented by six animals, one of them bringing $92.50.

Bible Sunday

Announcement is made by the executive committee of the Peterborough Branch of the Bible Society that arrangements have been made through the kindness of the ministers of the city for the work of the Bible Society to be commended to the congregations on Sunday next. Four churches will be visited by outside speakers: Rev. F. B. Allnut, Secretary of the Bible Society from Toronto, speaking at Mark Street United Church in the morning and at Park Street Baptist Church in the evening. Rev. S. G. Pinnock, Field Secretary, will speak at George Street United Church in the morning at at Knox United Church in the evening.

The branch of the Bible Society in Peterborough has always occupied a prominent place in the religious and spiritual life of the community. It has had a long and most successful history, and has exercised a large influence over the corporate Christian life of Peterborough. The work of the Bible Society is too well known to require description, but it is interesting to recall the high spiritual romance which attends its labors in all parts of the world. Not only has it come to be an essential part of all Christian Missionary enterprise, rendering an essential service to all denominations on such terms that no part of the cost rests on missions or missionaries, but in addition it has come to be one of the greatest instruments of evangelization, in that through the labors of a thousand colporteurs it carries the Scriptures to the lonely and often neglected peoples of the world. Probably no organization not actually part of Christian denomination themselves has exercised a more benign influence, nor accomplished a more effective service in the name of Christ.

The Bible Society points out the strange anomaly that in difficult times the demands upon it are always greater. Through its wisdom the policy has always been followed which seeks to distribute its support as widely as possible over all Christendom. The great bulk of its income is made up of small gifts which it is possible for most persons to keep up even in hard times.

The Society's work should receive in Peterborough a whole-hearted and generous support. Those making arrangements commend the collectors who begin their rounds immediately following the Bible Sunday.

HOBBY SHOW IS THROWN OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

following the physically and mentally healthy program of the Y. M.C.A., he declared.

To choose the most interesting and attractive department in the show would be difficult. The art, wood-working, mechanical models, leather craft, soap sculpture and several other departments come forward together in the observer's mind as contenders for the honour. Each includes exhibits equally meritorious in their own fields.

The feature of the mechanical models display is undoubtedly a working model of a loom constructed by Lester Boorman. Small enough to be contained in a fair-sized shoe box, the tiny machine was being demonstrated in the actual operation of weaving cloth. A model of America's first train, the De Witt Clinton, complete even to the passengers' baggage on the tops of the coaches, is another feature. It was constructed by Hugh Kenner. A model sloop by Bob Huffman, an electric crane made by Gaston Goulet and a magnetic crane built by James Neck are other entries which catch the eye.

Wicker Work.

Some fine wicker work by Ernest Hockey, a crippled lad who has been unable to take part in the physical activities of his comrades in the city, is to be seen in the wood-working department. Harold May has on exhibit an unusual model of a grandfather clock in this section and some fret work by Bill Davidson rewards an inspection.

Ingenuity to a high degree and considerable technical knowledge is suggested by the radio exhibit which has several really remarkable sets. Bill McPherson is responsible for four exhibits in this section—a short wave set, a long wave set, a crystal set and a telegrapher's practice key. The high standard of workmanship in several other of the exhibits at this table excite commendation.

Carl MacKay's tracing of a gasoline engine stand out in the mechanical drawing department. The work in this section was done by students in the Vocational school. Worthy of note are tracings of a bevel gear and pinion by Clarence Porter and some fine work by Oswald Phillips.

Flying Models.

The model airplane exhibit includes a number of little craft differing from real machines only in scale which will actually take to the air. Tom Hooper has six fine entries in this corner and some models built by Bill Scott are sure to win the attention of the air-minded visitor. In the leather-craft display some remarkable articles including cigarette cases, a shopping bag and purses tooled from raw leather by Ernest Hockey. Robert Dyer and Fred Constable are notable. Elmer Trethewey, director of the department, has on display a particularly fine book cover. Some ingenious home-made leather working tools are exhibited by Bill Piercey.

The artistic talent of Peterborough's youth is likely to take the visitor to the art exhibit by surprise. Thirteen oil paintings of no little merit by Kaj Dinesen comprise the largest and possibly the outstanding individual exhibit although the work of Sam McKinlay, Jack Skitch, Lloyd Ash, Ormie Henry is of high order. McKinlay's pencil sketch of Max Baer, Skitch's sketch of Ruby Keeler and a series of sketches of motion picture stars by Ash stand out. Very good water colour studies of animals and landscape by Ormie Henry are on view.

Big Bad Wolf.

Considerable attention is being won to the soap sculpture exhibition by a presentation of the big Bad Wolf and the Three Little Pigs sculptured from white soap by George Hall. Among six exhibits placed by James Stillwell are two totem poles of merit and work on display by Eldon Todd and Bill Piercey is drawing praise. On inspecting what this department has to show, visitors are invariably surprised to realize what really can be done in this branch of the fine arts by local talent.

Grant Smedmore, Howard Cunningham and John Londerville are the headline exhibitors in the photography corner. In the department of miscellaneous collections, the outstanding entries are perhaps those of Harry Vass, James Sill, Bob Ferguson, Tom Stanley and James Neck. Neck's collection of milk bottle caps and match boxes is strikingly comprehensive, while the collection of silks and ribbons by Tom Stanley is of interest. Reg. Yelland and Bob Simmons are the exhibitors in the coin department, a department which attracted little competition this year. Members of several scout groups in the city have contributed to a scoutcraft display.

Reg. Yelland.

Fou rprize ribbons were taken by Reg. Yelland with his stamp collection entries in the show. However the best collection of air mail stamps in the history of the show is the exhibit of Tom Stanley. Several ribbons were taken by Eric Edmondson, director of the department. In the lobby of the Y. M.C.A. the manual training exhibit is on view. Made up of the work of Public school students throughout the city, the exhibi was made possible by the courtesy of Albert Hope, manual training instructor, Inspector A. Mowat and the Board of Education.

The show wil lremain open to the public to-night.

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner Office by 5 p.m on the day before insertion. All letters must be signed by the writer, although a pen-name may be used when inserting non-controversial subject matter. Letters over 400 words will be cut down at discretion of the editor.

OUR WAGE LAWS

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—In the passing days much has been revealed by the Stevens Investigation Committee, where evidence of many forms of labor and conditions of employment have been exposed. Which has been a disgrace to the good name of Canada and the committee is still pressed by complaints and appeals for further investigation. Stern facts have already been brought to light with the result that even politicians have been startled and shocked and very few of our Canadian people could have believed it possible that such conditions did exist in Christian Canada. Have we not wage laws? But what use are laws: if on one hand they are ignored and on the other not administered. Certainly the people of Canada have had a revelation of sweated labor and starvation wages where men and girls have been forced to work in this enslaved condition rather than endure the torment of compulsory idleness, and be a liability to the country receiving the dole of public relief rations. But why stop at what has already been brought to light. Can we hope that Mr. Stevens will keep his courage up and give further information regarding high-financing huge salaries, bonuses and excessive dividends that one may be seen in the light of the other, and insist for the good name of Canada that evils must be exposed, wrongs righted and the defenceless protected. There is already in the air thought of reconstruction. Can we hope to build a New Canada with existing conditions.

If through domination and avarice and greed the fear of God has departed from men's eyes, the time has come for the citizens of this Dominion to take some intelligent definite and concerted action to improve the situation and demand statesmanship and legislaton that man's inhumanity to man will cease to make thousands mourn.

MODERN WOMEN

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—Will you give me space in your valuable paper for some opinions on a subject that I feel strongly about. I have been reading an article in a Toronto paper (just another one of many such) wherein the former generation of women is held up to ridicule as weaklings, simpering and fainting on any, or no, excuse at all. Now as I was born in the early 80's this is my generation and I was growing into a young woman in the gay 90's and all this makes me very indignant. To read many articles in papers, it would seem to be a matter of reproach to belong to the "Victorian age" but I want to say that I never saw any of those objectional features so much talked about. We were a wholesome, happy, vigorous lot of women as you will find now.

I came of a large family, four boys and four girls, all grew to adult age, and none of us ever fainted. We would have considered it a sign of weakness and foolishness of which we would have been ashamed. I never fainted in my life, and I never knew anyone of my own age who habitually did. No doubt there were cases of such folly and it is always the extreme that gets attention and is remembered. Unfortunate, too, our novelties and writers of that time chose to emphasize this phase in their writings. But there is always a good middle between two ends, only as this middle is not spectacular, it is not forgotten in the contemplation of the extreme. But I am tired of having all the women of my time classed as they are with the weaklings and I make my protest here.

Times are changing even now, and shortly a new order will be here. How will the women of this generation feel when in 25 to 30 years from now they are described as "The swearing, smoking, drunken, immoral hussies of the wild 20's who aped men in every way, hair, clothes, work. Who went about as nearly naked as they could, who had no reserves but put everything on the public bill-board for all to see and know." I think I see a good many squirm and rightly so, but that description would be just as true of this generation as much that is written and believed of the last. Certainly it is not true of all, but it is all too true of many, and in the years to come, it will be the spectacular that will be remembered as classifying this time.

There is one thing I could never understand and that was, how the women of the "Victorian Age" could faint gracefully while at the same time wielding the rolling pin on their men folk. Personally, I never saw the rolling-pin used for anything but its proper purpose, but it was used in that way to good purpose and results. To-day women don't know much about rolling-pins and kindred things, but they use the can-opener with deadly effect on their men folks. And it gets them both ways, in their stomachs and still more in their pockets.

Lives there a man who has not found
On coming home to tea,
A note, a can, an empty house,
Under the mat the key?
"I've gone to get a permanent,"
"The bridge club meets to-day—
The Fashion Show is on up-town
So I am on my way."

Thanking you, Mr. Editor for your kindness, I hope to see this in print in vindication of the women of my time.

Bittersweet.

CRITICISM OF PLACING ACCIDENT INSURANCE.

Peterborough, April 6, 1934.

The Editor, The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—The City Council met on the 2nd of April, 1934, and the majority of the Peterborough City Council were in favor of placing accident insurance upon which a premium will require to be paid to the extent of $1,226.00 per year. The members of the Council responsible for this item are the ones who have been advocating "Buy in Peterborough" plan, and the insurance company now will take charge of all cases of accidents happening after this date so that the city will not be responsible, and any person who has suffered by accident will be assured that the damages will be paid by the insurance company and not by the ratepayers of the city.

The effect of paying $1,226.00 means the money will be paid out of Peterborough to out-of-town adjusters, out-of-town insurance agents, out-of-town shareholders of the insurance company and outof-town lawyers will be employed to defend these actions instead of the city solicitor. This was not reported in the report given in The Examiner. This secret arrangement was entered into, of spending the people's money without their knowledge, because the Council had got into a panic by reason of the icy condition that has developed on the streets of Peterborough during the last winter. If a part of this sum was spent in examining the sidewalks and reporting to the city engineer by a couple of sensible inspectors during the winter months, less accidents would take place and the money would be paid to possibly two unemployed men, to considerable advantage. However, a majority of the Council have decided to spend this money out of town and not to let the public know about it. The Hitlerite system adopted by a majority of the Council, until new blood is elected next January, is to do its business secretly, unless it is something that will receive favorable comment.

Another matter which came before the Council which might be more fully explained is that the by-law passed sometime ago tying the hands and the consciences of the Court of Revision by preventing the Court of Revision from allowing owners of vacant houses and stores to claim a reduction of assessment and taxation, was repealed on Monday night.

This by-law provided that the Court of Revision should not allow any reduced assessment or taxation if a property was vacant. The firm of Gordon and Elliott threatened to move to quash the by-law unless it was immediately repealed. The Council immediately repealed it, and now the Court of Revision is free to deal with cases of vacant premises, where there has been a loss of rentals, and appeals may be entered to the Court of Revision under the Assessment Act. This should relieve from hardship a great many persons who suffer loss of revenue by being owners of vacant premises and opens the way to appeals to the Court of Revision to any person who suffers loss of revenue in this way.

Yours truly,

G. N. GORDON.

PARLIAMENT HILL HEARS

By Wilfrid Eggleston

Senator Daniel Riley, who was riding the Alberta range after dogies while the great Sir John A. was still the leading figure of Canadian politics, is descended from a Scottish family on his mother's side, which must explain the peculiar relish with which he tells the following story:

A Scotsman had a tumor on his brain, and went to a famous clinic to be operated on. The tumor was very large and the surgeons decided it would be necessary to take the whole brain out, remove the tumor, and put the brain back again.

Unfortunately, while they were working on the brain in another room, the Scotsman came out of the operation, and unnoticed, made his way out of the hospital and away.

The authorities, of course, fearing that he might come to some harm, without this essential portion of his anatomy, made every effort to locate him. But for some months they were unsuccessful.

Finally however (says the senator) they heard from him. He was teaching school down in England!

Dr. Coffin of the Calgary Normal school, used to relate with an amused twinkle in his eye what I suspect is a variant of the above story, but with a different twist which should make it highly popular in a place like Ottawa.

Some eminent surgeon, in this version, had perfected a method of vacuum-cleaning brains, some cerebral patients being of such a character as to make the word "vacuum" singularly "a propos." One chap had his brains duly processed, but left them around the doctor's office for several weeks afterwards, until the surgeon decided to write the slow poke and tell him to drop in and get his brains —they were cluttering up the office!

"I don't need them any longer!" the patient wrote back (according to Dr. Coffin.) "I have a government job now!"

If the radium strike at Beaverlodge Lake, near Hottah Lake, and about a hundred miles from Great Bear Lake in the Northwest Territories, ever becomes internationally famous, a monument ought to be erected somewhere in Canada to D'Arcy Arden's nose.

For the discoverer of the four-foot seam of pitchblende was actually led to the rich strike by an olfactory approach, if one can believe the story which came out of Cameron Bay.

Arden was fooling around the crushers at work on some of the Great Bear ore this winter when it struck him that the odor was faintly reminiscent. Somewhere, before, exactly the smell of ground pitchblende ore had greeted his nostrils.

But, where? He racked his brains. Finally so good was his nose or so tenacious his memory) he got the answer. Years before, at an isolated camp on Beaverlodge Lake, exactly that scent had been wafted in the air as the prospector's heavy boots lacerated the soft rock.

Arden got a dog team pronto, and mushed over the wintry landscape looking for the old camp site. He found it and in spite of the deep snow located the ore. His nose had triumphed. And in a few days just about the whole population of Cameron Bay was busy staking along the four-foot seam of pitchblende which was uncovered.

Tie that one, you vendors of fish stories!

They say (the psychologists, I mean) that you can tell quite a bit about a man's character from the games he plays.

Well, here are the games which the several parties at Ottawa seem to favor. Perhaps an astute reader can make something out of them:

Conservatives: Euchre and curling.

Liberals: Auction bridge and golf

C.O.C.: Chess and bagatelle.

Percival Price, Dominion Carilloneur, who spent several hours in a Viennese jail recently because he rushed unceremoniously in and out of the very barber shop where Chancellor Dollfuss gets his tonsorial work done, and was suspected of being an anarchist looking for the Austrian leader, likes Vienna for a very special reason.

Vienna is probably the best city for symphony concerts in the world, and "Ted" Price has an insatiable appetite for them. Not only as a student and lover of music but particularly as an aspiring composer.

When he left Ottawa a couple of months ago he took with him the manscript of a Canadian symphony to be called "The St. Lawrence,' much of which he had written in previous visits to the Austrian capital. It is in four movements, which reflect the four sections of the great waterway in its passage from Lake Ontario, through the Thousand Islands and down the Rapids to the vast gulf and finally the sea.

When Gordon Sinclair, footloose reporter, was in the capital on his way to Devils Island, he met Percival Price.

"Hullo," said Gordon, in his offhand way, "you're the bell-ringer who plays with his bare feet, are you not?"

"Ted," however demurred. Practically everything else, he said, was a la Gandhi, but not his feet.

Playing the carillon is, in fact, as strenuous a physical exercise as tennis with a lively opponent. If an artist wore anything heavy he would emerge from an hour at the bells as though he had been through a Turkish bath.

I hear that one of the private members of parliament displays a document signed by one of the present Cabinet ministers in which he offers to vacate his post at the end of a given period in favor of the private member.....the due date has long since passed.....perhaps the Cabinet Minister was ready to retire, but a by-election could not be risked!

Direct Relief Snag Worrying Kingston

KINGSTON, Ont., April 7.—(CP)—The mixup which continued all week regarding granting to unemployed on direct relief the privilege of purchasing their food from grocers of the town choosing, came to a head at a meeting of the local Welfare Board, which did not conclude until after midnight and finally resulted in the matter being sent to the city council.

The Welfare Board had previously passed a resolution, recommending granting the right to purchase to unemployed and referred the matter to the advisory committee of the board to work out the details. The advisory committee, however, failed to carry out the details, but laid the matter over for further consideration.

At the meeting last night, following a telegram sent by Mayor W. P. Peters, a reply was received from J. A. Ellis, secretary of the Unemployed Relief Department, Toronto, to the effect that city council has full authority in the matter.

IN MEMORIAM.

BRAY. — In loving memory of our dear brother, Herbert C. Bray, who departed this life April 7, 1932.

When all is still and silent,
And sleep forsakes our eyes,
Our thoughts are in the silent grave
Where our dear brother lies.

Quickly and quietly came the call,
His sudden death surprised us all;
We have lost, but God has gained
One of the best the world contained.

In Park Lawn, softly sleeping,
Where the flowers gently wave,
Lies the one we loved so dearly—
The one we could not save.

—Lovingly remembered by Sister and Brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. S Sandy.

RUINS OF ANCIENT CIVILIZATIONS SHOWN IN ILLUSTRATED LECTURE

George Street Church is Well Filled to Hear Mission Speaker.

STRIKING SCENES.

George Street Church was filled almost to capacity last evening to hear Rev. Dr. Rolls lecture on the subject: "Prophecy confirmed by the Camera." With quiet confident assurance, at times touched with witty allusions and humorous sallies, Dr. Rolls conducted his audience on a tour of the ruins of ancient civilizations whose desolation had been predicted in holy writ. Beginning at Egypt, he focussed attention on Luxor, and the Valley of the Kings, showing pictures of King Tutankhamen in his sarcophagus, and details of the tomb. Then he journeyed by the "highway" built recently, fulfilling Isaiah 19:23, "There shall be a highway out of Egypt to Assyria," to the desolation of that ancient civilization, now known as Ethiopia. The capital city, Rabbah, was shown in ruins. Edom came next, with its ancient city of Petra, and the home of the cliff-dwellers. Wonderful photographs in color showed the rock formations finer than those of the Grand Canyon of Colorado. Then on to Tyre and Zidon, where the archaeologists have done some wonderful work. At Biblos, capital of ancient Phoenicia, pictures of the excavations of ancient tombs were shown. A touch of more recent time was shown at Baalbeck, where a Communion service was being conducted amid the ruins of this ancient city, for the Anzacs by the chaplain attached to the New Zealand troops fighting in the Gallipoli campaign in the Great War. The predictions concerning Haifa were being confirmed, pictures showing the construction of the new harbor there at a cost of $50,000,000. Striking scenes were shown of the Dead Sea and its vicinity. Here prophecy is being marvellously confirmed, and the wealth of this hitherto desolate region being brought to the use of mankind. The British Chemical Company works, a new modern industry, are now operating, extracting from the waters the 30 per cent solid matter from which many rare chemicals are being separated. A series of pictures showed sunset and sunrise with rare beauty. Then the lecturer passed on to Jerusalem, reading the portions of scripture predicting its fall, and showing the pictures confirming Biblical truth. The destruction of the cities of Capernaum, Chorazin and Bethsaida, were read, and the lecturer proceeded to show the verification of these predictions in a series of original colored photographs. In concluding, Dr. Rolls showed how human activity and invention passed away—even the knowledge of electricity and the telephone were known in ancient Ekypt—but the "Word of our God abideth for ever." He exhorted those present to believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, "the same yesterday, to-day, and forever."

The opening devotions were conducted by Dr. Barr, while the announcements were given out by Rev. Sutcliffe. The next illustrated lecture was announced for Monday evening at Murray Street Church as "Israel from slavery to freedom and issues arising therefrom."

RANGERS PARADE ON TUESDAY NIGHT

Invitation Received From Midland to Hold Annual Camp There.

Announcement was made this morning by Lieut.-Colonel G. G. Winterbottom, M.C., D.C.M., Officer Commanding Peterborough Rangers, that the first parade of the unit for the present season is to be held at the Armories on Tuesday evening

In requesting a full turn-out of all ranks, the O. C. intimated that there are a limited number of vacancies for recruits, who will be required to make early application for enlistment.

Following upon the success attending the regimental outing to Perth last summer, there is a strong possibility that the unit will accept an invitation extended by the Town of Midland for their outing in July this year.

Another important event in the activity of the unit, which is closer at hand than the summer camp, is the annual diner to be held in the Armouries on the evening of April 20.

Major General, the Hon. William Griesbach, C.B., G.M.G., D.S.O., K. C., is announced as guest speaker for the occasion of the annual dinner

A son of the late Lieut.-Colonel Arthur Henry Griesbach of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, Major-General Griesbach is a Westerner. He possesses a distinguished military record, both for services in the South African and the Great War. In 1917 he was promoted to command the 1st Canadian Infantry Brigade (C.E.F.) in France, and has since been promoted to the rank of Major-General in the Canadian Militia.

The 2nd Battalion, famed Canadian unit, the memory of which is perpetuated by the Peterborough Rangers and the Governor-General's Foot Guards, was a part of the 1st Infantry Brigade, and Major-General Griesbach is a familiar figure to several ex-servicemen throughout the Central Ontario district.

In order to give all the ex-service men of the 1st Brigade the opportunity of meeting their old commander, it is stated, that a parade of all ex-members of the 1st Brigade residing in Peterborough and district is to be held at the Armouries at seven o'clock on the evening of the dinner.

SPIRITUAL MISSION SERVICES

On Sunday evening the three congregations of the city, where is at present being conducted a Spiritual Mission by the Rev. Dr. C. J. Rolls, will meet in George Street Church. Arrangements have been made to broadcast the service to an overflow meeting in the Sunday School auditorium. Dr. Rolls has been in the George Street Church all this week and next week he will be in Murray Street Church. Come early Sunday night if you want to get a seat.

GARDENING PLAN UNDER WAY AGAIN

Application for Lots Should Be Made Early.

This year's garden plot campaign carried on by the Central Relief Board promises to be as popular as last year, A. B. Cunningham reported at last night's meeting of the Board. Citizens who secured gardens last season are applying for them again, and the committee of which A. B. Cunningham is chairman is planning the same helpful assistance that contributed so much to the success of the former effort.

Applications for lots should be made before April 20 at the relief depot north of The Examiner office. Members of the committee express the hope that seed potatoes may be purchased at one dollar a bag before they are needed for planting. A drop to $1.40 a bag has been reported, and it is thought that there will be a further decline in the price.

Citizens can help in facilitating the work of the Committee by applying at once for garden lots in order that the extent of the campaign may be estimated as soon as possible and the final details completed.

WELL BALANCED PROGRAM GIVEN AT PARK STREET

Park Street Baptist Choir is Heard in Splendid Concert.

MISS SAGAR ASSISTS.

Choir, Although Not Large, is Well Knit, Compact and Capable.

Assisted by Miss Dorothy Sager, soprano soloist of George Street United Church, the choir of Park Street Baptist Church presented a nicely balanced program to a large audience last night.

This choir, directed by Harry I. Northrop, who is also the organist, numbers only thirty-one voices, but it is well knit, compact and capable, with a notably fine tone, a good command of harmony, and a surprising resource of power. The smoothness of its vocal texture and phrasing, especially in its forte, full voiced singing, is of exceptional merit, but in the softer, piano passages this quality of blending has not been quite so well developed. The choir was heard in eight numbers, concluding with the Hallelujah Chorus, which was splendidly sung, and was one of the most pleasing features of the attractive program. A confident and spirited attack, sharp precision in phrasing, beauty of tone and expressive fluency were all combined in the choir's tribute to this classic of Easter choral music. The opening number, "Worthy is the Lamb," also by Handel, followed by "O Calvary," by Meredith, were likewise appropriate to the sentiment of the present season of Easter, and with "Watchman! What of the Night?" disclosed the Park Street choir's vocal resources. Mr. Northrop's preparation for this concert was well done, and the choir deserves the congratulations which were indirectly conveyed by the appreciation of the audience.

A mixed quartette, composed of Miss Marion Pilling, Mrs. C. Corbett, Clarence Corbett, and Maurice Dunkley, "Thy Will Be Done," to a Nevin setting, and a male quartette, Messrs. Corbett, M. Dunkley, Jr., Geo. Tranter and Geo. Batley, "When We Stand Before the King." Both numbers were encored.

Miss Sager's selections were "O Lord Be Merciful" and "Morning," and her encores, "My Task" and "Birth of Morn," sung with a delicate artistry that enhanced the purity and beauty of her voice. The other soloist of the evening was Stanley Northrop, violinist, who played "Allegro Brillant," by Ten Have, with a rich singing tone in its charming melody. The allegro offered no difficulty to Mr. Northrop's facility of technic. His encore was "Mighty Like a Rose." Mr. Northrop was also the third member of the instrumental trio, with J. Thackeray, 'cellist, and Harry Northrop, pianist, whose "Liebestraum," by Liszt, and "Dark Eyes," by Peery, showed competent musicianship and a deep sense of melody. Their numbers were warmly encored.

Rev. J. K. Tyler, pastor of Park Street Church, was chairman.

Parliament Faces Its Heaviest Session

OTTAWA, April 7 (C.P.).—With the heaviest part of its work yet before it, Parliament will reassemble next week after a 10-day Easter recess. The House of Commons resumes its sittings Monday and the Senate will meet Wednesday.

Continued consideration of the Unemployment Relief Bill, which encountered a snag in determined Liberal opposition just before the recess is the first order of business in the House of Commons. The Natural Products Marketing Bill, one of the major pieces of legislation of the session, stands for second reading and will be taken up at an early date.

It is understood Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, has his budget practically completed. He spent the whole week working on it while many of the other Ministers were out of town. It will likely be presented in a couple of weeks, and Mr. Rhodes has also an announcement to make in connection with the continuation or restoration of the 10 per cent. cut in Civil Service salaries.

IN MEMORIAM.

SHIELD.— In loving memory of William R. Shield, who died April 8th.

The golden gates were opened
A gentle voice said "come."
And with farewells unspoken
He calmly entered home.

Maple Syrup Brings 60 Cents Per Quart

Maple syrup, eggs, potatoes, apples and pork were plentiful on the farmers' market this morning.

Business in maple syrup was particularly brisk and apparently weather during the past week has been suitable for the flow of the sap because there were a score of farmers selling the delicious liquid. The prevailing price for syrup was 60 cents a quart.

There appeared to be an over supply of eggs and prices skidded off toward noon. Prices asked were 16 to 19 cents. Butter was 28 to 31 cents a pound.

Poultry was scarce, chickens bringing 20 to 22 cents a pound, pullets 22 cents and hens 17 cents with some being offered at 15 cents. There were no turkeys or geese in evidence.

Prices of potatoes eased off owing to the large supply, prices being $1.35 to $1.50, about 15 cents less than last week. Apples were 30 to 45 cents a peck, with choice Spys at 55 cents. Pork was quoted at 11 to 15 cents a pound.

COOKING SCHOOL SOLVES DESIRE TO KNOW THINGS

Comfortable Homemaking is Business Requiring Detailed Organization.

INTIMATE THING

Miss Thompson and Assistants Spent Weeks Preparing for Schools.

Make your housekeeping more easy by seeing Miss Frances Thompson lecture and demonstrate at the Canadian School of Home Science on April 10, 11 and 12th.

In keeping with the age, business has crept into the home. The leisurely old days when one had time to cook, time to sweep, time to dust and re-arrange the rooms, are beyond realization now without the aid of manifold contrivances that modern business has developed to assist the housewife in the thousand and one things that go to make up modern housekeeping.

Comfortable homemaking is a business, requiring detailed organization, if there is to be time in the evening to put aside the distractions of the day. The domestic servant problem has become so complex that a host of mechanical labor-saving devices are necessary to replace human labor. It is the business of the Canadian School of Home Science to show you now to meet this modern housekeeping problem in the easiest, the most efficient, the most economical way.

Remodel Kitchen

In her lectures and demonstrations, Miss Thompson will not only show you how you can save money and drudgery. She will tell you how you can remoded your kitchen nearer to your heart's desire. She will give you suggestions that will make for the home beautiful as well as the home practical. As well as demonstrating tempting menus and recipes, she will have authoritative things to say on home laundry work, on table appointments, and on other matters of absorbing interest in the housewife.

Miss Thompson is an international authority on her subject. A former Home Economist of the London (England) County Council, Miss Thompson has the happy faculty of imparting her information to others, which is such a vital factor in such an undertaking. She not only talks to her audiences. She invites them to talk to her. Questions are the order of the day at all sessions — and it does not matter whether they are asked before, after, or during the lectures and demonstrations. Indeed, Miss Thompson prefers them in the middle of things when some statement she has made or some demonstration she is engaged in suggests some pointed query that goes right to the heart of the matter or recalls some difficulty that can be solved right there.

Miss Thompson and her assistants, themselves domestic science experts, have spent weeks preparing for these demonstrations. In their own test kitchen, furnished with the latest and best of equipment and appliances, they have labored long hours familiarizing themselves with the things they propose to use in their Peterborough lectures, testing new recipes, evolving new dishes. Here they have been examining the advertising claims of particular merits that are made for specific wares and determining the practical value of their conclusions by actual test. They have visited manufacturers to determine the latest and best in kitchen and household equipment. They have talked to dealers and to wholesalers and to retailers, and kept their fingers on the pulse of the trade. And they have gone into homes and talked to housewives and got first-hand knowledge of those consumer preferences that play such a great part in determining the mode of to-morrow.

There is no remoteness about the Canadian School of Home Science. It is an intimate thing. Here's how Miss Thompson looks at it herself. "The average woman," she says, "has a hard enough job to get through her daily routine. She has no extra time or energy for experimental work. Someone must experiment for her. Someone must provide her with new recipes and better methods. It is our job to do this and it is our job to do it in the most direct manner by personal demonstration."

"We have proved over and over again in these schools that there is a keen desire for further information about anything to do with the home. The woman of to-day is thirsting for knowledge that will make her life easier and more comfortable, and we have lots of suggestions to make regarding economies and short cuts in the home—things that may never have occurred to her and that would never have occurred to us unless we were constantly making our trade and consumer inquiries and investigations with the special object of finding them out. And when we find them out, it is with the one object of telling others that they may enjoy every bit of relief from household work and expense that modern improvements can give them."

That is Miss Thompson's view, and when she says "information by personal demonstration she means it. At the Grand Opera House you will see the latest in kitchen equipment and appliances, and in other home accessories and conveniences as well as hear about them. As far as possible, Miss Thompson on the stage is reproducing her own test kitchen where she and her assistants have the latest in ranges and refrigerators; in vacuum cleaners, washing machines and ironers; where cabinets are designed properly for all manner of pots and pans and dishes; where the sink is at exactly the right height; and stove and cabinet and general kitchen illumination is as it should be. There she has the latest gadgets in mixers and beaters and extractors; the last word in kitchenware and cooking utensils.

Women who want to save time, money and temper, will come to the Canadian School of Home Science. A good suggestion is to get there early. There are daily prizes as well as grand prizes for the holders of the lucky numbers. Each afternoon's lecture opens at 2.30.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright,
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet,
Or dims the radiant light.
No unkind word our lips shall pass,
No envy sour the mind;
But each shall seek the common weal—
The good of all mankind.

MILLBROOK

An Institute branch is always in a quandary when the member responsible for the paper at the monthly meeting fails to appear, and such a situation faced a branch meeting on the evening of Easter Monday. The president, however, rose to the occasion, "like the man who stepped on a carpet tack in his bare feet," and answering the joking remark of one of the members, "where do we go from here?" declared she would start off the program with one or two thoughts in keeping with the Easter season, "then you must all continue and we will label the whole as 'Helps here and there.'"

"Without Easter Day we are surrounded in a night with which we cannot cope; but with its dawn we look down long and splendid vistas, which end only with home in the heart of God."

"Lift up your heads, ye sorrowing ones,
And be ye glad of heart;
For Calvary, and Easter Day,
Earth's saddest day, and earth's gladdest day,
Were just one day apart."

Continuing in the form of a roll call, each member contributed her 'help,' the first one named telling of her discovery that "borax is the best thing for giving curtains, laces, or fine blouses (not silk) just the body they have when new. It will not make them as stiff as starch does, nor rot the fabric, and its use makes them easier to iron."

A trained nurse, visiting at her home over Easter, came next in the row and said that a first aid hint might be useful, for buttermilk made a splendid application for an infected wound, if other antiseptic was not available. Also she said in the case of an inflamed or infected area about an injury, a compress made of a solution of Epsom Salts was excellent.

The next response followed the line of what had just been said for an elderly lady remarked that "speaking of Epsom Salts, I have found a solution fine for removing ink stains from linen, clothing or even a carpet." "Next," said the secretary adding the name, and this member came along with the information that shoe blacking stains had been successfully taken out of the clothing in her household by the use of a solution of baking soda.

"Here is a hint I have found very good," was the next help offered "for when patent leather shoes, not at all worn but having lost their nice shine, were treated with a cloth dipped in a little sweet milk, wiped all over, and before they dried given a shine with another soft cloth, they had a surprisingly new look again." "In my kitchen," said the next member called, "I always keep a large and well-sharpened pair of scissors hanging near the kitchen table, and find they simply cannot be beaten for cutting the rind of bacon, shredding cabbage, cutting up marshmallows (previously diped in cold water), clipping the fins off fish, taking the tops from vegetables, and many other uses."

It was quite evident that the hour would be up long before all present could contribute to the 'helps here and there,' a few of those heard, however, including the suggestion that if one is icing a cake and finds oneself short of icing sugar to complete the task, despair need not grip the heart of the cook, for "one may use nearly as much cocoa as sugar, a tablespoon of cold coffee, and one of melted butter, and you have a delightful chocolate icing, not a bit bitter, and really even icer than the one you set out to make with confectioner's sugar alone."

"Invert your angel cake, when taken from the oven to cool, over a funnel, or small-necked bottle, (that is, the centre hollow spout of the pan), and it will come out better than if put on the table with something under each edge to keep it to hold the pan up."

A number of others were given half a minute to add a brief 'help', and in closing the president remarked, "Never tell me that Institute women cannot rise to an emergency; I consider our program this evening one of the best, and we are all carrying home constructive material for our business of homemaking."

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

VERY WELL PLAYED

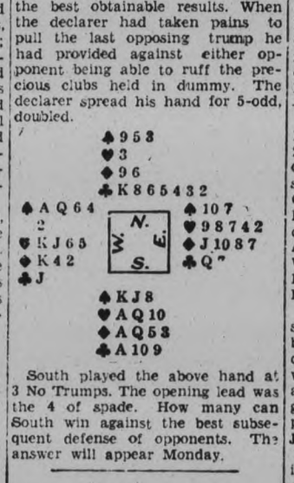
Only East and West were vulnerable when the following hand was dealt. West encouraged his partner to bid for game, by showing strength in one of East's weak suits. The hand was very well played. South's unwarranted assist was partly responsible for a bad double by his partner. Instinctively we all feel that a voluntary bid by partner indicates some defensive strength.

Bidding went: East, as fourth-hand, 1-Heart; West, 2-Clubs; North, 2-Diamonds; East, 2-Hearts; South, 3-Diamonds; West, 4-Clubs; North, 4-Diamonds; East, 4-Hearts; North doubled, expecting partner to win a trick of some sort. This ended the auction.

South led his fourth-best diamond, Dummy played low and North's Ace won. He led back his Q of trumps, to kill dummy's 10. East won with his K and led back his Ace, followed by a small trump giving North his second defensive trick.

North led a low spade, which the declarer took with his Ace. He had to retain the K of spades in dummy, to insure establishment of the long club suit.

A club was led. Dummy's Ace won the trick. The declarer knew that in all probability North had counted upon winning a club trick with the missing K. Dummy's good Q of diamonds was led. On it the declarer discarded his last club. When dummy's Q of clubs was led the K had to go up second hand. East ruffed, leaving the suit established and his forethought had left the K of spades in dummy for just this emergency. Careful players have to think ahead to accomplish the best obtainable results. When the declarer had taken pains to pull the last opposing trump he had provided against either opponent being able to ruff the precious clubs held in dummy. The declarer spread his hand for 5-odd, doubled.



South played the above hand at 3 No Trumps. The opening lead was the 4 of spade. How many can South win against the best subsequent defense of opponents. The answer will appear Monday.

SAILS FOR FRANCE.

NEW YORK, April 6.—(A.P.)—Jean Nash Dubonnet sailed homeward on the liner Berengaria today, making a mystery of the whereabouts of her recently acquitted son, Andrew Donaldson Kirwan.

Mme. Dubonnet, often called the "best dressed woman in Europe," smilingly refused to say whether Kirwin was aboard the ship or whether he had been left behind to live with his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Emma Donaldson.

This week we illustrate new issues of several countries.

Limited space does not allow of a detailed description of the entire series of each, we can only say that all are very attractive.

The countries represented above, are Russia, State of Hyderabad, India, Manchoukuo, Belgian Congo, air mails, and Dutch Indies.

We are glad to be able to announce the winners of our recent contest, but will omit publishing the stories at this time.

Group of 14 years of age and over: 1—Jack Maher, Chatsworth, Ont.; 2—Ross Hudson, Hespeler, Ont.; 3—T. Veitch, Saskatoon, Sask.; 4—H. F. Byrd, Toronto, Ont.; 5—Miss Violet Veitch, Saskatoon, Sask.; 6—Miss E. R. Leeper, Norwood, Ont.; 7—Fred Burrows, Windsor, Ont; 8—W. R. Dowden, Brantford, Ont.; 9—Sidney Kleiman, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.; 10—John Brown, Consort, Alta.

Group of under 14 years of age: 1—Bobby Butler, Toronto, Ont.; 2—Miss Joyce McIlveen, Toronto, Ont.; 3—Miss E. Bonham, Riverside, Ont.; 4—Ian Steven, Toronto, Ont.; 5—George Proctor, Thornhill, Ont.; 6—Tom Hodgins, London, Ont.; 7—Miss Audrey MacArthur, Winnipeg, Man.; 8—J. B. Waite, Schumacher, Ont.; 9—Miss Betty Bell, Barrie, Ont.; 10—Miss Emily Bell, Barrie, Ont.

Congratulations winners, your stories were very fine; they had to be to come out on top. Many who did not come among the first ten were really deserving of a prize, and we would have liked to have given about three times as many prizes as were available.

J. P. Dupre, St. Elizabeth, Man.

The 1917 Confederation stamps, if perforated between, are worth only face value. It is only those not perforated which are so scarce. The other Canada stamps you mention are also worth only face value, unused, and much less when in used condition.

Marion Schuppert, Gretna, Man.

No. 1—Usually when you have two stamps identical, except for color, they belong to different issues.

No. 2—An error is usually worth more than a regular printing of a stamp, but there are some cases where this does not apply.

No. 3—Except through the use of a catalogue or a fully illustrated album, there is no way in which to tell how many stamps are in a set, or how much space to leave for them in your album.

8 To 18 Downright Lies Told Each Lecture By Professors, Member Of Staff Charges

LONDON, Ont., April 7 (CP)—Declaring to a class of students that every professor tells from about eight to 18 downright lies during the course of each lecture, Professor N. C. Hart, head of the botany department at the University of Western Ontario caused considerable furore among students in general at the college.

"The trouble," said Prof. Hart, "with most students is that they take in everything told them, not excluding lectures. For instance, every professor tells from about 8 to 18 downright lies per lecture—and you take them all in, like suckers.

"Furthermore, most text books contain on an average of a hundred and twenty mistakes or false statements."

After further developing this theme, the lecturer said that when and if the class graduates, the members would know as much as the average text writer.

He concluded by saying that the diploma was given as a reward for four years work and was dangled in front of the students eyes much in the same manner as honey is used to entice insects into flowers.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

From time immemorial man has believed in the curative effects of water, and pilgrimages to healing springs at this time of year were regular occurences. The oceans, the lakes, the rivers, begin to be warm enough for immersion, and the beneficial effects of internal and external treatments by water have long been recognized. It increases general bodily strength, it benefits the circulation and the respiration, is a tonic to the skin, and in consequences increases our efficiency and good looks. It relieves pain, and is one of the great stimulants of the world.

SHOWER BATH

With our modern knowledge of physics and physiology, we are able to understand the effects of water in health and disease—effects which were so mysterious and awe-inspiring to primitive man that they were ascribed to the actions of supernatural beings.

If water of a different temperature than that of the skin is applied to the body, it will either conduct heat to the body or absorb heat to the body or absorb heat

HOT AND COLD DOUCHE FROM A CONTROL TABLE

This acts as a stimulant to the network of blood vessels and nerves in the skin and causes a sort of massage of the circulation.

A tonic bath should be one which is accompanied by having the water thrown on the surface of the body with some force. Usually with a tonic bath the water should be cold, and the best example, of course, is a cold shower. The impact of the water causes a contraction of the surface blood vessels, shortly followed by reaction, so that the skin turns pink and glowing. There is a definite rousing of the vital energy of the body. Naturally the best time to take a bath of this kind is at a time just before action and vigor of body or mind are required, as in the morning or early in the evening, after the day's work is over, when it may be necessary to resume such activities as society imposes upon us.

The relaxing bath, on the contrary, is one in which the water is tepid or warm, and in which no impact of the water on the body is arranged for. Such baths are frequently used for insomnia and, in fact, there is no better sporific than being wrapped in a sheet wrung out of tepid water and enveloped in one or two blankets—the wet pack.

For pain there is nothing better than water. Contrast baths, in which the painful member is lipped alternately in hot and cold water, are among the best. Fortunately at the present day, with modern plumbing, nearly any method of treatment with water can be carried out in the average home, and the pilgrimages of our ancestors to healing springs and wells are no longer necessary.

BROCKVILLE—Even the cats are joining the hobo class. A motor coach reached here today from Smith's Falls, 32 miles distant and a cat dropped from underneath the body of the vehicle, looked about in a statled mannner of beat a hasty retreat in the direction of the nearest alley. The drive of the coach knew nothing of his extra passenger or where it boarded the bus.

NEGLECT OF COMMON CONSTIPATION IS A SERIOUS MATTER

Prevent This Condition with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

The first question your doctor asks is whether you are constipated or not. He knows that this condition may cause headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness. It is often the starting point of serious illness.

You can prevent and relieve common constipation so easily. Just eat a delicious cereal once a day. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regular habits. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that found in leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

Isn't this "cereal way" safer and far more pleasant than taking patent medicines — so often harmful? Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in chronic cases. If seriously ill, see your doctor.— ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all."

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ont.

Home and School Association News

KING EDWARD SCHOOL

The regular meeting of the King Edward Home and School Association was held in the Kindergarten room, with the president, Mrs. Gillespie in the chair.

It was moved by Mrs. H. Turner seconded by Mrs. Cooke that a letter of thanks be sent to secretary of the Teacher Guild for donation from same.

The story of King Cotton was presented by Miss Aileen Rose and pupils. Betty Piercy read the story and different parts were accompanied by piano solos by Margaret Smart, Eira Toaze and Dorothy Frost; and piano duets by Aileen Sims, Eira Toaze and Miss Rose, Margaret Smart and Betty Ferguson.

A dance by Evelyn Hill and Eileen Jefferies, Elsie Chambers gave a recitation and Winnifred Cunningham sang a solo.

A pleasing feature of the evening was an address read by Mrs. J. O. Fife and the presentation of a silver flower basket to the past president, Mrs. H. Turner by Mrs. Mackness.

Miss Jamieson, teacher of Household Science gave a very interesting talk on her work in the public schools.

A vote of thanks to all those taking part in the program was moved by Mrs. Grose, seconded by Mrs. E. Elliott.

The meeting closed by singing the National Anthem.

Ease Pain, Headache in Few Minutes

For Quick Relief Say* ASPIRIN—*When You Buy

Now comes amazingly quick relief from headaches, rheumatism, neuritis, neuralgia . . . the fastest safe relief, it is said, yet discovered.

Those results are due to a scientific discovery by which an Aspirin Tablet begins to dissolve, or disintegrate, in the amazing space of two seconds after touching moisture. And hence to start "taking hold" of pain a few minutes after taking.

The illustration of the glass, here, tells the story. An Aspirin Tablet starts to disintegrate almost instantly you swallow it. And thus is ready to go to work almost instantly.

When you buy, though, be on guard against substitutes. To be sure you get ASPIRIN'S quick relief, be sure the name Bayer in the form of a cross is on every tablet of Aspirin.

Nearly six hundred people were in attendance at the very successful At Home held last night in the hall of the Canadian Legion. The guests came from the city, the district and outside points and enjoyed an extremely pleasant evening dancing in the large hall and playing bridge and euchre games upstairs. The affair, which represents the first annual At Home of the Young Canada Conservative Club of Peterborough, with the co-operation of the two senior Conservative clubs of the city, was entirely complimentary and everything possible was done to make it enjoyable in every way. The guests were received by Mr. E. A. Peck, K.C., M.P.; Mr. J. F. Strickland, K.C., M.L.A., and Mrs. Strickland; Mr. and Mrs. Alex Darling, Mrs. G. S. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bradburn. Patrons and patronesses were as follows: Mayor and Mrs. Denne, Mr. E. A. Peck, K.C. M.P.; Mr. J. F. Strickland K.C. M.L.A. and Mrs. Strickland;, Mr. T. P. Lancaster, M.L.A., of Havelock; Col. and Mrs. R. E. Birdsall; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Matthews, Dr. and Mrs. G. S. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Fallis, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bradburn, and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Darling. The committee in charge, each with a quota of energetic helpers, included dancing and decorations, Mr. W. G. Ovens, convenor; cards, Mrs. G. S. Cameron and Miss Mayme Montgomery, joint convenors; refreshments, Mrs. T. H. Skinner, convenor; advertising, Mr. Emmet Sheehy, convenor. Prizes for cards were drawn for by Mrs. Strickland, and went to the following: Mesdames Pearson, J. R. Corkery, Boyer, Robinson, Mr. G. Benton and Earl Glover. Splendid music for dancing was played by Mose Yokom and his ten-piece orchestra and decorations were effective. A large flag was placed on the wall back of the orchestra, and long paper curtains at the windows were in two shades of soft green. Immediately inside the lower entrance blazed an elaborate sign bordered with bright artificial flowers and advertising "Conservative Ball" in electric lights. In the card room a large table from which buffet refreshments were served was covered with white and fringed deeply with pale blue paper. A large basket of lovely spring flowers provided a colorful touch. A list of those attending the dance and card party will appear in Monday's issue.

A delightful tea was held yesterday afternoon in the Ladies' Parlour of St. John's parish house under the auspices of the Teen Age group of St. John's. Decorations were very effective in mauve and yellow. The table was done with a lace cloth centered by a silver basket filled with mauve iris lilies and yellow daffodils, while silver bud vases held single daffodils. The guests were received by the two Group leaders, Mrs. F. D. Craig and Mrs. J. Cridland, assisted by Miss Betty Castle, president of the group. Tea was poured by Mrs. F. M. Dela Fosse, who was the originator of the Teen Age group at St. John's. Assistants were Mrs. G. Groombridge, Mrs. Moore, Miss Gertrude Lemmings, Miss Betty Shane, Miss Lillian Stewart and Miss Mary Carr. Miss Doris Davies acted as treasurer, and the sale of homemade cooking was looked after by Miss Grace Marshall and Miss Phyllis Pitchford.

Pola Negri To Wed McCormick?

Intimate friends assert that the old romance of Pola Negri, movie actress and former wife of Prince Serge Mdivani, and Harold F. McCormick, Chicago millionaire, is blossoming again. The actress, shown above with McCormick, is said to have declared that on her next appearance in Hollywood, which she intends to make shortly, she will be the wife of the millionaire, former husband of the late Edith Rockfeller McCormick and Ganna Walska.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

"There's no dearth of kindness
In this world of ours;
Only in our blindness,
We gather thorns for flowers.
—Gerald Massey.

* * * * * *

May I ask you the question, "Do you always repay good for evil and do a little kindness, no matter how small, when you are given the opportunity?" O, so many times I have come across persons who could or would never forget the evil someone had done them and so they always sought revenge. But I think if they tried hard enough they might at least forgive and not seek revenge. Of course people differ regarding this. Some forgive and forget right away while others have no thought other than revenge.

* * * * * *

There are many different ways of repaying kindnesses, some of which perhaps have extended over a large period of time. You might repay a certain debt by passing a kindness on, not always to the one from whom it was received, but to someone else, in the same spirit as that of the first giver. Perhaps you never thought of repaying a kindness, in this way, but it is often done and the one who first bestowed the kindness, considers his reward sufficient.

* * * * * *

I have heard of people who met the gratitude of those who hesitated to accept help by saying that they would do the same themselves and that they knew they would gladly help out someone else, if ever the chance arose. So there are numerous ways we can repay a debt of kindness and many ways in which we can repay good for evil; so many, in fact, that we cannot find an excuse to get out of it.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

"Dear Miss Glad: I recently read in some magazine that cold cream baths are excellent for softening the skin. My skin is very dry and rough, and I would like to take these baths. Can you tell me just what the procedure is MARY."

The cold cream baths are identifical with the oil baths that I have previously described in this article, except that cold cream is substituted for the pure olive oil or sweet almond oil. The cold cream baths should be taken before retiring at night. After you have emerged from your usual warm, cleansing bath, smooth a generous amount of cold cream over your entire body, and massage it well into the skin. Then wipe off any excess, don your nightie and hop into bed. The next morning, take a lukewarm shower or plunge, and follow it with a cool rinse. And as the final step, give your body a brisk rubdown with a rough Turkish towel.

"Dear Miss Glad: I've been following the instructions for treating thin, dandruffy, falling hair contained in your 'Beauty Culture' booklet, and I am happy to report that my hair now is much healthier and more beautiful. However, I have rather oily locks, and find it necessary to shampoo my hair every ten days. Is it ahrmful to shampoo the hair this often?
"KATHIE."

It is not harmful to shampoo an oily head of hair every ten days. Cleanliness is absolutely necessary to the health and beauty of the hair. You can't have beautiful hair if your scalp is clogged with impurities! The best procedure is to shampoo your hair whenever it becomes dirty. Oily hair grows dirty more quickly than dry hair, and can endure shampooing more frequently. If you choose a pure, bland soap for your shampoo, and rinse your hair thoroughly afterward, the shampoo will prove beneficial rather than detrimental, to your hair health.

"Dear Miss Glad: I have a very fair complexion, bright, greenish eyes and hair a decided reddish hue. My friends think my coloring very lovely, but claim that I do not wear the proper shades to enhance its loveliness. Can you advise me as to what hues would prove most flattering to me? MARCELLA."

There are quite a large variety of hues that may be successfully worn by an individual of your coloring. They are, however, almost wholly among the more subdued, the pastel and medium shades. You must be sure to avoid vivid, blatant hues, as they will clash with your own bright coloring. All reds and all purples that have reddish tones particularly will prove most inharmonious. Black and smoke gray are especially flattering to an individual of your coloring. Also, rust that matches the color of your hair, capucine, cool greens, dull blues, tannish browns, pinkish beige and mat white should prove most flattering to you.

EDITOR'S NOTE: To obtain Miss Glad's pamphlets on 'The New Figure' and 'Beauty Culture' write, care of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, and ten cents in coin for each, to cover cost of printing and handling.

Stuffed Roast Pork
Mashed Roast Potato
Fresh Spinach Vegetable Salad
Cherry Tarts Coffee

The old reliable stuffed roast pork heads today's menu. It is an economical dish, and especially nice for the cold day in early spring.

Today's Recipes

Stuffed Roast Pork.—Three-pound roast, one cup prunes, two medium size (sour) apples, one tablespoon sugar (brown preferred), hot water, one tablespoon flour, salt and pepper, one small onion, one-half cup carrots (sliced). Have the butcher cut a deep pocket in the roast. Soak the prunes over night. Next morning remove seeds and slice the prunes. Mix with the apples, which have been peeled, cored and cut in small pieces. Add sugar and stuff the pocket with this mixture. Fasten pocket together with toothpicks. Dredge meat with salt, pepper and flour. Place in roaster and sear well in oven. Add enough hot water to make gravy, mixed with the tablespoon of flour, the carrots and the onion, cut in small pieces. Cover and cook for two or two and one-half hours in moderate oven. Hot water may be added as needed. Frequent basting makes the meat deliciously juicy. Leave uncovered the last half hour of cooking.

Art Ross, New Business Manager For Boston Bruins

INSIDE THE PADDOCK

BY ART MURRAY

ONE WEEK ago today saw the windup of flat horse racing on the southern tracks for this season and Bowie opened the Maryland season on Monday of this week with a bang. There were fifteen thousand fans on hand to greet the bangtails on their return to northern climes while a large number of stables shipped direct from Florida to Canada to await the opening of our season, which incidentally gets under way at Kenilworth Park, Windsor on May 5th. We believe this is the earliest opening on record of organized Canadian racing.

DURING THE PAST week the New York State legislature passed a law legalizing mutuel wagering in that state and they are contemplating building several race tracks in the larger centres. One will be at Buffalo and this will probably mean the end of Fore Erie as this plant has catered to Buffalo horse followers for years and now with racing assured in Buffalo they will hardly cross the river for their favorite sport . . . They broke all records this winter in Florida both in wagering and in attendance. The Sunshine State alone collected over one million dollars as their percentage which gives you an idea of the vast business done.

ELMER Trueman, the capable Maryland trainer started off on the right foot when he won a purse on opening day with Ilchester at Bowie. Up until this year he never took his horses out of Maryland but Mrs. Livingstone of Cobourg has engaged him to handle her horses and we will see him doing his stuff on our tracks in the coming season. And while we are on Canadian tracks let us tell you that the horses quartered at Woodbine are beginning to show some speed in their trials. The frost is nearly out of the ground and from now on real serious training will supplant the slow gallops.

SPEAKING AGAIN of Trueman, here are a few that he has under his wing which are ready to do business. Corrymeela, a real shifty sprinter; Star Porter who always earns his keep and Acautaw who does not take dust from the top notch handicap performers. Ilchester, his recent winner, will also account for a few money money bags when the track is on the slow side . . . Earl Porter led all the jockeys by a wide margin last winter and bids fair to become the riding sensation of the year.

ARLINGTON DOWNS, Texas is enjoying a meeting at the present time and from out that way comes word that our old friend Black Diamond is cavorting around like a two-year-old. The old fellow has plenty of run yet in his aged legs. Word, also comes from Woodbine that Wrigley Field, has wintered exceptionally well, and is all ready for the bugle call. They rested him up all winter and expect him to take on a real summer campaign.

DOWN KENTUCKY way the grass is getting bluer and 'tis sure a sign that the famous old Kentucky Derby can't be far away. They're saying now that Colonel Edward R. Bradley, veteran horseman of the turf, has another little surprise up his sleeve—namely, a nag called Baker's Dozen, son of Black Servant-Bess Cake. History may repeat itself, for it was Col. Bradley's horse Broker's Tip, virtually an unknown that took the Blue Grass classic in 1933. Baker's Dozen has been to the post but once and since has been on the shelf at Bradley's private stables.

BRADLEY has other 3-year-olds entered in the derby, but he is said to be basing his hopes on this "dark maiden," rated a rank outsider months ago. Future book proprietors have now cut the odds on Baker's Dozen to 20 to 1, which previously were as high as 100 to 1. This being the case, it looks as though rumors do sometimes have a ring of truth.

FRANK PATRICK MAY COACH TEAM

Charles F. Adams Outlines Plans for Re-organization of Boston Club.

WILL REBUILD TEAM.

BOSTON, April 7 (AP)—The organization changes that the Boston Bruins Hockey Club, whose playing personnel is due for a drastic housecleaning, will make for the 1934-35 National League season, were outlined last night by President Charles F. Adams.

Adams said the first part of the rebuilding plan called for a division of responsibility and a rearrangement of general operations, which, in the future, would be under the control of a new board of directors.

"It has become impossible," Adams said, "for a single individual to carry most of the burden and the entire responsibility which has heretofore borne heavily upon Art Ross.

"Hereafter the club's business affairs will be in charge of a business manager, and players and policies connected with competition will be in charge of a personnel director. Both of these men will be elected directors, and will represent the club upon the Board of Governors of the National Hockey League.'

Ross, now attending the Stanley Cup finals between Chicago Black Hawks and Detroit Red Wings, will continue with the club as business manager. An announcement from him that either Frank Patrick, who served as managing director of the National League during the current season, or Cecil Hart, who coached Montreal Canadiens when they were at their peak, had joined the Bruins as bench manager is expected shortly.

"Funds in substantial amounts," Adams said, "have been set aside for the purchase of proved professional material, for we have concluded that our present machine must be repaired and rebuilt, and must appear, on paper at least, the equal of any in the National Hockey League."

PREDICTS RADICAL CHANGES IN AMATEUR REGULATIONS

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., April 7 (CP)—A prediction of radical changes in amateur hockey and amateur regulations next year was made last night by J. H. McDonald, President of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association, in addressing the annual banquet extended to City Hockey League players here.

"During the next year amateur governing bodies will make drastic changes still more drastic," he said. "I think that is due to professional hockey. We have no quarrel with the professional hockey authorities, but we don't seem to get proper cooperation from them. And, as a result, by the end of this year you may find the definition of an amateur, as we know it, greatly changed.

The Lyons Cup was presented to Technical School, Junior champions; the C.C.M. Trophy to St. Al's, Juvenile winners; Hinsperger Cup to Sacred Heart, Midget titlists; and the O'Brien Cup, for sportsmanship, to William "Blink" Bellinger of the Tech team.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well, Mac, the serious for the old Stanley mug is now in full swing, but this is being writ too early to say a great deal about the doings. All I know the Black Hawks from Chicago win the 1st game in Detroit the other evening, and if they spent the rest of the nite wandering around talking to themselves no 1 could blame, seeing it was the 1st time they had copped the big end of the score in Henry Ford's home town in 3 years. After taking it on the chin 9 times in a row, Mister Gardiner and his pals finally win themselves a hockey game in Detroit, and it musta been a strange experience. Incidentally that there win may be the brake that will give the Hawks the world's title and whatever goes with it.

All the other big serious is over, with the Moncton Hawks grabbing the Allan Cup, the St. Mike's Selects the Canadian junior championship, and our own C.G.E. team the East Peterboro honors, making it a notable winter all round.

The big league ball clubs is getting ready to open the season, Mac, and right now the big news is the Boston Red Sox seems to have bought themselves about a hundred grand of sore arm. Mister Lefty Grove, up to now the ace pitcher of the Philadelphia A's and figgered to grab off some 25 wins for the Red Sox this season, has found a sore spot in his pitching flipper, and it has got him and the Boston owners mighty well scared. You see, Mister Grove is one of them rare birds that has gone on pitching great ball year after year without ever having a kink in his arm, and now for the 1st time in his life he finds himself with a lame wing, and he's plenty worried. So is the Boston management, which dug deep down into the old sock to buy Mister Grove's service, and now it looks like they might be holding the bag for plenty. I for 1 hope the eminent southpaw will get the old gun unlimbered in time for the campaign's opening, for he has always been to me 1 of the marvels of baseball, and I'd hate to see him crack up all at once.

Somebody dared me the other day to name the winners in the 2 big leagues, but I'm going to take a little time out to study the dope before committing myself. At present I'm satisfied to say that it don't look like the A's in the American or the Boston Braves in the National doings.

It looks like our Mister Bond's scheme for pumping new blood into hockey by authorizing commercial teams to participate has been tossed right outa the picture by the C.A.H.A. The Canadian body sez: "Take in the commercials in your own loop if you want to, but when it comes to playing off for the Canadian title it will be outside for the factory boys." And putting it in that way means that commercial teams will not even be interested. Well, you gotta give Mister Bond credit for trying; he brought out something new, even if it failed to get over the blue line.

Well, old-timer, that's enough idle chatter for the nonce, so I'll chuck it here and toddle off the stage.

Ta-ta, old thing.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

N. AMERICAN AMATEUR HOCKEY HONORS AT STAKE TO-NIGHT

Detroit White Stars, U. S. Champions, May Prove Formidable for Hawks.

PLAY AT TORONTO.

(By Elmer Dulmage, C.P. Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, April 7 (CP)—Moncton Hawks and Detroit White Stars open an amateur title series here to-night that is international in character only because the champions of the United States have their dressing room papered with naturalization certificates. The teams will play for the North American hockey championship.

The White Stars, one of the better teams along the Michigan-Ontario border, won the United States championship with four American-born players and ten who learned all their hockey in Canada. They swept through the tournament sponsored by the United States Amateur Hockey Federation without a defeat.

Poor Advance Sale

Toronto fandom has refused to become excited about the series, the first of its kind ever staged. The advance ticket sale has been so slow that Maple Leaf Gardens official expect the big arena to be less than half filled for the first game to-night. A second game will be played Monday night and, if each team has won a game, the stitute, Ted, also is from the Eastern Ontario town.

Wright, Bart Kerwan of Port Colborne and Robert Meyers of Kitchener are defence mates. The fourth defenceman is Robbie Robson, an American who managed Windsor Mic Macs this season. Aubrey Bingham of St. Thomas and Pete Grossman of Sackville, N.B., share the centre duties.

The left wingers are Earl Bingham, also from St. Thomas; Sullivan and Emmerson Reid of Salt Lake City, Utah. On the right flank are Gordon Hunt, former Toronto Junior and two United States-bred players, Al Landy and Al David.

third will be played Wednesday night.

The Hawks, Canadian champions in 1933 and 1934, will be overwhelming favorites to win the series two straight. The Maritime team mowed down McGill., Hamilton Tigers and Fort William on their way to a second straight Allan Cup victory. Some critics have observed that Hamilton eliminated Windsor Mic Macs, Ontario Hockey Association Senior "B" champions and that the Mic Macs rate higher in their own league than the White Stars.

Two of the outstanding Detroit players are Elgin (Shorty) Wright, who was a substitute on the Owen Sound Junior team that won the Memorial Cup in 1924, and Jimmy Sullivan, former Markdale, Ont., and St. Michael's College Junior. Goalie Pete McMahon is from Brockville, and his brother and sub-

O.B.A.A. UPHOLDS SENIOR DECISION

London, Stratford and Brantford Must Play in Senior Series.

TORONTO, April 7.—The executive of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association here last night upheld its previous decision ordering London, Stratford and Brantford baseball teams to step up into senior competition. The teams played intermediate "A" ball last year.

The three teams may form their own group and play an interlocking schedule with the Intercounty senior circuit.

It was the final meeting of the executive for the current year before the coming annual convention. The executive granted the following change of residences:

Harold Hollingsworth, from Peterborough to Oshawa; Harold Wendorf, Walkerton to Hanover; Chas. MacArthur, Ingersoll to Galt; W. R. Shoveller, Niagara Falls to Frood Mines.

The executive laid over the following applications for residence changes: W. Phillips, Picton to Meaford; J. R. Miles, Brantford to St. Thomas; J. R. Wills, Renfrew to Oshawa; C. Hurdman, Dundas to London.

The applications of L. D. Anderson for a change of residence from Walkerton to Toronto, and A. Boulay, from Teeswater to Copper Cliff, were refused.

How They Test Horses For Doping

Assistant Chemist Virgil Ashby, holding tray, of the Florida racing commission, and Dr. J. G. Catlett, are shown swabbing a racing thoroughbred's mouth after they had taken saliva which was to be tested to detect the presence of dope. Every horse that goes to the post in Florida is thus tested, to insure a "square deal."

winners in the 'Y' Industrial Loop were finally named this week when the Nashua Paper team tangled with the Auburn No. 2 team, and staged a shut-out victory. Tom Montgomery was the only bowler on the losing team to have a good count. He rolled 253, 211, 189—652. Every one of the Nashua bowlers was sifting along and their team total amounted to 3342. The scores:

EXAMINER SHOP LEAGUE

ran off the second last set of scheduled games last night at Duffus and the results eliminated six of the eight teams from any chance of a play-off berth in the last half. The other two crews—captained by Wyllie and Lacheur—are first and second respectively, and it happens that these two clash in the final games of the schedule. Wyllie has a three point lead, so Lacheur's battlers must turn in a shutout win to take the section honors. The winner will meet Barringer's trundlers for the prize.

marked last night's duels with two of the four man teams rolling over 2,500 pins. Barringer's quartet slumped before the heavy gunning of Wyllie's crew who came through with a shut-out victory, spilling 2,500 pins. Wyllie's team:

McCurrach	206	176	154—536
Johnson	212	277	249—738
Swanson	173	207	165—545
Wyllie	190	261	230—681

show Howard Shackleton heading the high single scorers with 344; Bob Wyllie stands undefeated in the triple column with a dandy three--game score of 805, while the highest team total to date was piled up by Logan's crew, who rolled 2,546. Last night, Dormer bowling for Lacheur, scored 226, 191, 319—736.

TOMMY GORMAN HAS HAD GREAT SUCCESS AS MAJOR LOOP COACH

During the winter months when golfers are kept indoors I often say to myself: "What a wonderful time for a player to fix up his swing." In fact, it's the only time to learn the correct swing. With this thought in mind I try to write things about improving your swing. And I usually every letter that comes to me, looking for some evidence of my reader's leaning toward the proper practice. Believe it or not I haven't received one letter asking about the proper way to exercise or practice. Most of the questions are about shot making and other things which should be considered only after the player has learned the fundamentals of the correct swing. If he knew the fundamentals he'd have no trouble making the shots.

PROSPECTS ROSY.

CHICAGO, April 7.—(CP)—Tommy Gordon, once an Ottawa sports writer but never a hockey player, was poised today to hand Chicago its first Stanley Cup triumph. The man who knows hockey from watching at them, is on the point of ing at them, is on the pont of reaching his life's ambition.

If his Black Hawks defeat Detroit Red Wings here Sunday night, professional hockey's greatest prize will be brought to Chicago. The Hawks won the first two games in the best-of-five series on Detroit ice and need only another triumph to clinch the series.

Gorman never played hockey, but he has had singular success as a coach. He took over the Hawks late last season when they were in last place in the United States section of the National League. It was too late to do anything about it then, but Tommy had a good chance to plan for this season.

He traded Teddy Graham to Montreal Maroons for Lionel Conacher and built his team around Conacher and Goalie Charlie Gardiner. His forward lines are almost unchanged from last season but Gorman has taught them to play systematic defensive hockey. Young Roger Jenkins was placed beside Conacher on the starting defence.

This is the Gorman system that brought quick results, Jenkins is a first-class defence player and the Hawks have the toughest rearguard in hockey to break down. Montreal Canadiens, Maroons and the Red Wings have hammered against it in vain during th playdowns.

The Chicago motto is "three straight." A crowd of 17,000 will watch the Hawks and Wings Sunday night. If Detroit wins, they will play again Tuesday night and if the Wings tie up the series the teams will return to Detroit to finish up with a deciding game.

Wings Doubtful

Even the Wings are doubtful if they can stop the onrushing Hawks in the third game. Coach Jack Adams is confident his machine cannot drop three straight to the Hawks and he is likely to bank everything on an opening rush in the hopes of getting the first goal.

With a goal to the good, the Wings can put up a stout defensive barrier, too. They showed that in the fifth game of the N.H.L. finals when they defeated Toronto Maple Leafs 1-0.

NASHVILLE Tenn.—(Lefty) O'Doul appears to be trying hard to make a regular job for himself in the New York Giants' line-up although he is sure of being kept around as a pinch hitter. After coming through with a pinch blow Thursday, Lefty got into yesterday's clash with Cleveland late and hit twice in three times up, driving in the tying run in the ninth.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Hockey — Bowling — Boxing Basketball — Curling, Etc.

By C. J. P.

We were talking to our friend, Madame Mollee LaMurphy, the teacup reader, yesterday and we asked her for some predictions on local sports this summer. She said, "Eet will be ze pleasure, mon ami." But Madame never lets business and pleasure mix too freely, so she put the slug on us for two bits first. Well, that was okay. We got a pot of tea and ten minutes of the Madame's very valuable time—and a little dope to fill this column. We had to think of various sports and questions with our mind set on them in connection with the coming season. Then, she took a lengthy squint at the tea-leaves and slipped us the works.

• • • • • • •

"Ze summaire," quoth the Madame, "weel be ze ver' hot one, hotter than . . ." But we interrupted her to suggest: "Chili con carne over a fire in the Sahara Desert!" She said, "Ah, but that ees as the cool breezes of ze Arctic to what zis summaire weel be!" In other words, she thinks it will not be a cool summer, we gather. "As for ze sports, ah but there weel be ze trouble in commencing them. I perceive a preponderance of ze players on ze one or two team, and ze great scarcity of ze garcons on ze others. Zat of course cause much jealousy and trouble, n'est ce pas?" And we had to agree with the old girl there.

• • • • • • •

But the tale wasn't ended, nossir; the Madame always gives you two bits worth. "You weel have plenty of ze baseball, ze softball and ze lacrosse this summaire, but only after much trouble for all. Ze softball of the men make but leetle headway for much time as one team he have ze best players. Ze softball of ze women weel not be too bad, but there too weel be much argument at first. Ze beeg baseball team he weel have bettaire year than in long time but ze leetle ones weel have ze bad time to start. But they weel start and they weel succeed. Ze lacrosse weel have much fighting as usual, but weel go nice after about June 1st. That ees all I see, mon ami, and that must have been all you think on when you dreenk."

• • • • • • •

We thanked her, but after all she didn't tell us much we didn't know from past springtime experiences, or suspect for this year. When we save up some more dough we'll have to go back and think up hard and separately on each sport—a different one each day—and then get her views. She seemed to have something on the men's softball outlook and that should be worth going into. And we want to know what troubles the gals' loop will run into ere they get going. And what exactly faces the lacrossers, as well as the minor baseball boys. Yeah, wel'll have to put the clutch on some coin one of these days and go down and cross the Madame's palm with some shekels and get the lowdown on the higher-ups.

• • • • • • •

In Toronto today, the O.B.A.A. is holding its 16th annual meeting with over three hundred delegates from all over the Province on hand. There are about 340 clubs under the jurisdiction of this association, taking in more than 10,000 ball players. And since the stronger intermediate teams have been shunted up to an "A" class, many new intermediate "B" teams from the smaller towns and villages are expected in this summer. The O.B.A.A. in fifteen years has spent over twelve G's—okay, then, $12,000—in fostering minor baseball, a fine record. This is appreciated and has resulted in an increase in affiliations from ten to fifteen new clubs a year.

• • • • • • •

The local contingent to the O.B.A.A. convention was to include Bill Kay of the Executive; Max Swanston of the C.O.B.L.; Vic Hamilton, who may represent the City League at this time; perhaps Alex Kay, convenor here; and, we hope, this writer. Main matters of interest to Peterborough baseball fans, which will be taken up this weekend in Toronto, are an interlocking schedule for the C.O.B.L. with the Ulster League, giving Oshawa a year's leave of absence on this condition; a change in the residence rule from Jan. 1st to Mar. 15th; a commercial clause to allow four players in to work and play ball up to May 1st; and several nominations. However, other surprise motions may be brought up, and the session promises to be very interesting all through.

• • • • • • •

A dispatch from Owen Sound states: "Warpy Phillips, the pint-sized southpaw pitcher whose hurling shot Picton into the O.B.A.A. intermediate finals with Southampton last autumn and almost nudged the Fishermen from their title, will do his pitching with the Meaford Black Sox of the Grey Baseball League this summer." Seems that Meaford is getting sick of copping their loop title and then having Lefty Goldsmith of Southampton knock 'em off, so they're strengthening up. Wouldn't it be a laugh now if the O.B.A.A. decided they're too strong for a "B" rating and hoisted them to the "A" class?

• • • • • • •

Already we've seen a few boys, mostly real young ones, tossing a spalding around on sunny afternoons, getting the first feel of baseball again. That's okay, but a very little pitching this weather goes a long way. Experienced ball players and coaches will tell you that it's the easiest thing in the world to ruin your throwing arm for the entire summer just by pitching a little too much in the damp spring weather. A young arm doesn't feel it as much right away, but the harm can be done to kids' soup-bones just the same as the oldtimer's wings—and the player wonders in July what's wrong with his "peg." There shouldn't be any hurry for at least two more weeks. Gym training is okay, but not outdoors.

• • • • • • •

Grab-bag: Once again, we'll remind men's softball teams which intend entering the City Softball League this summer to get in touch with Dave Leether at once....And how about the Girls' Softball League calling an organization meeting?....There is much speculation as to whether or not C.G.E. will play baseball in the E.P.L. or the Lakeshore League this year—though according to the O.B.A.A. the team must play in the local loop if there is one.... City Lacrosse League is making a strong effort to obtain a good spot to play their games this summer . . . Basketball here finishes for the year when the 'Y' intermediate and senior finals are run off next week.

CHICAGO HAWKS CLUB ROSTER REPRESENTS WESTERN CANADA

Twelve Members of Windy City Squad Come from Prairie Provinces.

Goldsworthy Plays Ball.

By ELMAR DULMAGE
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

TORONTO, April 7.—It would be a nice thing to take the Stanley Cup on a sightseeing tour of the Canadian prairies should the Chicago Black Hawks win the ancient emblem of professional hockey supremacy in their series with the Detroit Red Wings. Because a Chicago triumph would be in almost every sense, a triumph for Western Canada.

Not even in the days when the prairies ran their own major league, hooking it up with the Pacific Coast circuit, was the west so close to winning the greatest prize in the hockey world. The Hawks need only a third victory to down Detroit. They can do it tomorrow night, Tuesday night or next Thursday night. They are reasonably certain to click once.

Twelve young men who learned to play hockey on the prairies grace Tommy Gorman's Hawk line-up. The leading scorer on the team was taught how to shoot on the frozen ponds of the Calgary district. He is Paul Thompson. The greatest goaltender in hockey, Charlie Gardner, lives at Winnipeg and first caught flying pucks there.

The Stanley Cup has twice been taken west, first in 1917 by Seattle Metropolitans and again in 1925 by Victoria Cougars. Both of these teams were fortified with westerners but neither carried 12 players on the entire roster, let alone a dozen prairie boys. The Hawks come closer to being an all-west team.

Goldsworthy Plays Pro Ball

In addition to Gardner and Thompson, there are Art Coulter of Winnipeg, Mush March of Regina, and Leroy Goldsworthy of Edmonton. Goldsworthy plays professional baseball in the west, too. He pitches for Winnipeg Maroons in the Northwestern League, a Class D circuit. Johnny Gottselig is also from Regina and Jack Leswick played as an amateur there, though his last amateur club was Drumheller Miners.

Don MacFayden is from Calgary and Louis Trudel learned to play hockey at Edmonton. The veteran Lola Couture, was born in St. Boniface, Man., and established his reputation playing with Winnipeg teams. Little Tommy Cook is from Fort William.

For several years outstanding western players have trained their eyes on the Chicago big league camp. The Hawks, in return, have chosen more ivory from the prairies than anywhere else. Hockey fandom in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta have long regarded the Black Hawks as their own entry.

Now that the Hawks are kicking in, finally on the verge of a Stanley Cup triumph, the west is ready to celebrate and forget 1934's losses in the amamteur divisions.

Rides Five Winners In Same Afternoon

NEW YORK, April 7 (AP).—Joe Jacobs, 18-year-old apprentice from New Orleans, booted home five winners at Bowie yesterday for one of the finest riding performances of recent years.

Closely pressing Earl Porter in the race for 1934 riding honors in the United States, Jacobs chalked up victories in the first two races, and then wound up his field day with successive winners in the last three races. He had no mount in the third race, and was aboard an also ran, Patrice Runyon, in the fourth.

The net result was to give Jacobs the lead for the Bowie meeting, with eight winners, and to leave him only two behind Porter for the year. Porter has won 81 races to date, against 79 for the New Orleans apprentice.

By practicing at a zoo the Rev. J. R. James, vicar of Staines, England, prepares for the task of riding an elephant in the pageant at Runnymede.

TORONTO HOLDS NINE-POINT LEAD

Humberside Collegiate Scores 38-29 Victory Over Glebe School of Ottawa.

TORONTO, April 7 (C.P.). — Toronto Humberside Collegiate held a nine-point lead to-day in the two-game series against Glebe Collegiate of Ottawa for the Canadian Interscholastic senior basketball title. Humberside scored a 38-29 victory last night over the stubborn team from the capital. The second game will be played here this afternoon.

Alec Pomer brilliant centre for Humberside, stood out in the victory with a score-total of 20 points. He accounted for eight field goals and sank four foul throws. The Humberside offensive revolved around the deadly-shooting power one of the best close-range marksmen developed in high school ranks here in several years.

Mal Cunningham, Glebe centre star, was the second highest scorer in the game. He collected 13 points with six field goals and one foul.

Liverpool-London Train Time Lowered

LONDON, Eng., April 7. (C. P. Cable).—A train hauled by the Princess Royal, Britain's biggest and most powerful locomotive, has beaten the record for scheduled trains on the 193½-mile run from Liverpool to London, railway officials announced to-day.

The run, made yesterday, took three hours, 12 minutes, an average for the distance of a little more than 60 miles an hour. At one point the train reached a speed of 85 miles an hour.

440,990 PERSONS SEE N.Y. HOCKEY

Ice Game Attracts 19,272 More Spectators to Garden Than in 1933.

NEW YORK, April 7 C.P.). — Hockey, which led the list of attractions in popularity at Madison Square Garden for the year 1932-1933, enjoyed even greater success this season according to figures revealed to-day.

The speedy winter pastime again took rank as the best drawing card of any sport conducted in the Arena Tex Rickard built, attracting 19 272 more spectators than it did last year. A total of 440 990 persons witnessed the 48 games played in the National Hockey League as against 421,716 for the season before.

Amateur hockey also made a decided jump, with a total attendance of 143,959 for 24 Sunday afternoon programs. The double-headers staged in 1932-33 drew 96 313 paid admissions

Although the fiscal year at the Garden ends on May 31 and there is at least one more boxing match scheduled before that time, the ring spot, once the Garden's most flourishing promotion showed a considerable falling off. Twelve shows have been held thus far, with an aggregate attendance of 84 944. The previous year's 18 programs attracted 206,628 admissions.

Gay Leave-Taking Irish Leave West

WINNIPEG, April 7 (C.P.). — Toronto St. Michael's College and Edmonton Athletic Club were on route home to-day after St. Mike's capture of the Memorial Trophy in the Dominion junior hockey championship series here.

Just before the train pulled out, Dan Carrigan, coach of the defeated Edmonton team, presented Dr. Jerry Laflamme and his St. Mike's crew with a pennant of the Edmonton Athletic Club. And then the Toronto coach presented a St. Mike's pennant to Carrigan.

It was a gay leave-taking. The Toronto Irish had words of praise for the stout-hearted Albertans who were not a bit down-hearted by their defeat. While the St. Mike's took home the Memorial Trophy, the Edmontonians carried the Abbott Cup, emblem of Western junior supremacy.

EDGAR MEETS CRAWFORD.

TORONTO, April 7. — Rev. Mr. Edgar of this city (formerly of Peterborough), will meet Angus Crawford of Alton, the defending champion, in the final of the Ontario checker championship at the Dovercourt Cricket Club rooms this afternoon at two o'clock. In the semi-final last evening Mr. Edgar defeated A. Fulton two games to one, with the other three games drawn. The final will be of four games.

EASTERN INVASION CONTINUES IN GRANITE BADMINTON SERIES

Halifax and Ottawa Players Bidding for Tournament Titles.

GRANT IN RUNNING.

TORONTO, April 7 (C.P.) —The Halifax-Ottawa invasion of the Granite Club's annual invitation badminton tournament was still in the running for titles to-day. Doug. Grant of Halifax, Canadian singles champion, George Goodwin of Ottaway, and Beverley Mitchell of Ottawa, were bidding for crowns in the singles, doubles and mixed doubles.

The semi-finals and finals will be held to-day. Grant and Goodwin will renew their battles for the singles crown, both of them expected Mitchell are the boys picked to carry the men's doubles title to Ottawa. In the mixed doubles the finalists are expected to be Goodwin and Miss H. Grant of St. Catharines, and Mitchell and Mrs. D. C. Cullen of Niagara Falls.

In the men's doubles, Grant and Walter Kramer of Detroit are still in the running. In the quarter-finals yesterday they eliminated Rod Phelan and Peter Percival of Toronto, 13-15, 15-1, 15-12. Goodwin and Mitchell defeated S. F. Gundy

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyst for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Patricia M. Scriver, Hastings, Ont.

The handwriting as delineated on your sample for analysis reveals a tender nature, but sometimes changeable and moody. You have rather more than your share of imagination, and I am afraid that you are inclined to let it get the better of you. You are unsettled as to the definite purpose in life, which you feel competent that you could undertake, if you had the right opportunity. You can make this opportunity by constant concentration. Use worthwhile effort and will power, and I see no reason why you should not meet with success. Your birthsign is Libra, the Balance ruled by Venus. August and December are your best months and Friday is your most fortunate day. Your number is 8.

Blanche L. Hawthorne, Dewdley, Ont.

Your handwriting shows that you are persevering and quite determined to get along in the world. The decided crossing of your 't' bar suggests excellent will power and a desire to have your own way about things in general. You resent being told 'you must' do this or that. It makes you rebel and say 'I won't.' Your capitals show that you can succeed if you make up your mind to do so, and that you are careful and intelligent enough to make up your mind always with that thought in view. Business as a career is not meant for you, but I might suggest a position where trustworthiness was essential as an outlet for your keen penetrating mind. You appear to be a hard worker, and usually finish a task which you feel is worth the energy to undertake. You make good friends, but do not seem to have very many. This is because you like to have plenty of time in which to 'just think.'

Mrs. Grace McMeekin, 375 Brock St., Peterborough.

Your handwriting tells of a generous open hearted nature. Your will power is well expressed in the crossing of your letter 't' but you have a tendency to resort to argument at times in order to prove a statement. You are painstaking and fairly accurate. Your imagination is average and you are an individual who can do your best work after having been out of doors, out when the air is keen and invigorating. There are times, however, when you feel particularly enlivened over the undertaking of a long desired project but you seem to soon lose this spirit and become disappointed and dissatisfied with yourself. Do not give 'way to this feeling; it can cause you a great deal of discomfort. You are born under the sign of Gemini, the Twins ruled by Mercury. Your most fortunate months are April and August, and your best day is Friday. Your number is 10.

Elsie Sullivan, Norwood, Ont.

The handwriting as delineated on your sample for analysis interprets you as most artistic. You are rather inclined to be secretive and perhaps a little sarcastic when pressed, or when misunderstood. Your capital letters reflect keen imagination and this should be a very valuable asset in an artistic field. The firm downstrokes suggest health, but the other letters are so fine that I am afraid that you do not possess a very strong constitution. You are graceful, well poised and discreet. You do not seem to understand quite a lot about human nature, and you often have spells of nervousness which leave you in a state of mental unrest. You appear to have a tendency to hide your feelings too often, and this stifled emotion causes you to become rather restless. Change is essential to one of your type, for it relieves pent up emotions and creates mental relaxation.

Emmeline McMasters, Lakehurst, P.O., Ont.

Your handwriting portrays ambition. Having achieved a measure of success you are not satisfied but continue to strive for still more. You are decidedly outspoken and oftimes strike the sensitiveness of another by this characteristic, but it is better to have people know what you think than to creep behind a wall of deceit. You have an understanding nature which gives you an insight into the thoughts, talents and failings of others. You are adaptable to logical reason, but will brook no interference into your private affairs. You are ingenious and manage your own, excellent abilities without the aid from interested or curious parties. You are economical and conservative, but not strictly pertinacious in your code of thrift. You delight in pleasant surroundings and neatness. You are polite, courteous and trustworthy, but not condescending. Your brain is agile and penetrating.

For Sunday, April 8

Sunday's horoscope is a particularly fortuitous one for all affairs of church, state and philanthropy. There is sign of recognition, promotion or honors from those in power or from superiors. Energy and constructive ability will be supported and rewarded. Also there may be felicitious conditions in all purely personal contacts.

Those whose birthday it is are on the threshold of a very lively, interesting and progressive year, with expanded fortunes, increased popularity, with honors, promotion and tokens of esteem from those in high places. New contracts flourish, also all pertaining to writings and to big business. Likewise the purely private associations bring pleasure and gratification.

A child born on this day should be versatile, ambitious, energetic, bold and resourceful, winning place, power and happiness by its talents as well as its personally popular endowments.

For Monday, April 9

Monday's astrological forecast holds indications of a very lively and ambitious state of affairs, with much stimulating the efforts to reach high goals of achievement and personal prestige. And while there may be some surprising elements to sustain this ambition, yet a stubborn obstacle, delays or postponement, must be reckoned with. Sagacity, determination and heightened energies may dispose of these impediments, making way for a gratifying measure of success.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year in which their own resolution, determination, resourcefulness and courage may defeat stubborn obstacles and turn affairs into excellent prospects of success, popularity and high goals of achievement. Industry and resolution win the day against frustration.

A child born on this day should be energetic, original, adventurous and ambitious, surmounting obstacles and depressions by its high resolve.

MILLBROOK Y.P.S. HOLDS SOCIAL EVE

Sixteen Tables of Progressive Euchre Played—Short Program Follows.

MILLBROOK, Apr. 7 (Examiner Correspondence)—The Young People's Society of Grace Presbyterian Church sponsored a pleasant social evening in the Sunday School hall on Thursday evening, when St. Andrew's Y.P.S. was well represented as the invited guests for the occasion, sixteen tables being in use for progressive crokinole, with Dick Williams marking the score cards.

Ten games were played, time being called at 11 p.m., when F. J. Deyell presented the prizes, three ladies, Misses Gertrude Spence, Dorothy and Marjorie McDowell, having to draw for the prize, having each won nine games. Marjorie won the draw, and received a copy of the famous painting "Hope." Ed Williams had the gentlemen's high score, Ethel Belch had the ladies' consolation, and Earl Pallister won the draw with Harry Freelove for the men.

Mr. Deyell, president of Grace Y.P.S., took the chair for the short program which opened with a quartet, "There's something about a soldier," by J. Thorndyke, S. Theobald, D. Williams and Reg McKnight. A reading, "You Can't Please Girls," by George McKnight was warmly encored as was also the solo, "Mighty lake a rose," by Miss Vanita Ingram, her recall being likewise enjoyed.

A one-act comedy, "Entertaining Sister's Beau," created plenty of fun, Joe Thorndyke, as Mr. Endicott, acting the part of the 'beau,' the younger sisters who 'entertained' him while big sister was dressing, with a recital of all the latter's faults and foibles, including Ada Peers, Gloria Dawson and Joan Deyell.

Home-made candy was passed during the social hour, and the gathering, which added approximately ten dollars to the Y.P.S. was closed with the National Anthem.

MILBURN'S HEALTH AND NERVE PILLS

Shortness of Breath Weak, Sinking Feelings

If going up stairs, climbing hills, walking too far; or the least exertion causes you to stop to get your breath, or if you have weak, sinking feelings, it is time for you to stop and think as to the cause of your trouble.

What you should do is take a course of Milburn's H. & N. Pills. They tone up and strengthen the vital organs so as to prevent any harmful attacks of disease.

Ask your druggist for Milburn's H. & N. Pills.

Millbrook

Much sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hall, whose infant son born on Thursday morning, April 5, passed away the same evening between six and seven o'clock. Interment was in the Fourth Line cemetery, Cavan. Rev. H. R. Williams, B.A., paster of the Centreville and Millbrook Presbyterian Churches, taking the service.

Miss H. Wallace, of Oshawa is visiting her cousin, Mr. W. G. and Miss Estella Hetherington, during Easter week.

Mr. G. Needler of Toronto spent the Easter week-end with his uncle and aunt, Mr. A. A. and Miss Etta Needler.

Those from Millbrook who motored to Newcastle on Monday night and attended the Liberal rally included Mr. H. A. and Miss Ella Elson, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Kennedy, Miss Alberta Russell, Mr. Ken Fallis. A bridge and dance completed the pleasant occasion.

New tenants of Mr. Cameron Vance's house on Centre street are Mr. and Mrs. Wainman, of Peterborough, who moved in this week.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Kerr and their two sons, Billy and Donald spent the Easter week-end with relatives in Collingwood and Allanvale.

Mrs. William Sanderson, of St. Catharines visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bingham, over the recent holiday.

Messrs. Arthur and Howard Jeffrey, of the Millbrook Creamery Co. were with relatives in Port Perry ove the recent holiday week-end.

Gerald Raper, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Catgyle, has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Raper.

German piano manufacturers have asked the government to help revive the industry by purchasing 20,000 pianos to be distributed in the schools.

WOMAN DIES AT 95

DUNDALK, Ont. April 6— Dundalk district's oldest resident, Mrs. Anna McQuarrie, died here on Thursday in her 96th year. She was one of Proton township's early pioneers, and was born in Scotland, coming here as a girl of 17. At Quebec she got lost from her parents and not until she wrote back to Scotland did she find out they were at Cheltenham, Ont. She rejoined them after several months.

DRY INTERESTS OPEN CAMPAIGN

Urge Support of Candidates Opposing Freer Beer Sale Till Non-partisan Vote Taken.

ISSUE MANIFESTO.

TORONTO, April 7 (CP)—Ontario's electorate was urged to-day to support only candidates in the next general election who are willing to submit all major changes in the Province's liquor policy to the people in a "non partisan vote." R. S. Robb and Dr. A. J. Irwin, president and secretary of the Ontario Temperance Federation, issued a manifesto last night declaring the province was threatened with "more subtle temptation to youth than in barroom days; return of public drinking and the seductive and vicious treating system; re-establishment of private profit in retail sale of intoxicants; greatly increased danger to life on our highways and with strangling by liquor interests of freedom of representative government."

The manifesto followed announcement of the Ontario Government of a change in liquor policy, whereby beer would be sold by the glass in standard hotel refreshment rooms and other places.

Electors should support, the manifesto said, candidates who "agree to oppose the coming into operation of the freer sale of beer and wine until the act permitting such sale has been submitted to such a non-partisan vote of the people," and "where no candidate will pledge himself to support the above policy electors consider nomination and support of a candidate who will so pledge himself."

Under the present Beer Bill, which becomes effective on royal proclamation after the election, municipalities desiring to retain present local option status may do so.

REV. F. M. WOOTTON IS SPEAKER AT ST. JAMES' CHURCH BANQUET

Brotherhood Are Hostile at Annual Father and Son Gathering.

MUSICAL PROGRAM.

The Brotherhood of St. James' United Church were hosts at the annual father and son banquet held last night when over one hundred men and boys enjoyed the sumptuous supper.

The table decorations were especially lovely in a pink and green color scheme carried out in miniature green trees and tall pink candles.

Acting as chairman for the occasion, Henry Turner on behalf of the Brotherhood welcomed the fathers and sons and announced the numbers on a varied and most enjoyable program.

The toast to the King was proposed by Lloyd May, and all united in response with the National Anthem. A. E. Prest in a few effective words outlined the responsibilities of the father, in his fine toast to "Our Sons." Robert Kitchen replied for the Sons present, saying that they could measure up to the hopes of their fathers in four essential ways —in the home, in the spiritual life, in education, business, and in the physical world.

In his toast to the Fathers, Stan Church paid high tribute to both their precept and example and challenged all sons to be true to their 'dads'. Replying for the fathers, Mr. Pavey held up the Christian life as the highest ideal for all sons and urged that they never become satisfied with life until they had accepted Christ.

Mr. Spence in a few words of eulogy toasted the church as being the one institution which stood for the good of all mankind, both as individuals and as a community.

Rev. Mr. Moorhouse, the pastor, and the teacher of the Brotherhood endorsed this toast adding that the church is the one organization of which both fathers and sons need never be afraid. It is a place in which they may each have a vital part. He spoke of the church not as a building, but as the church of the living God. Mr. Sloane proposed the toast to the Ladies and expressed the appreciation of the Brotherhood and guests for the exceptionally fine banquet provided to which "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" was the enthusiastic response.

Musical Program

Community singing led by Mr. Turner proved a happy change in the program and was the prelude to many unique features as well as sacred and instrumental numbers. The selection by the agony quartette was one of the most humorous on the program and was given by a group of Brotherhood members.

The bronze medal given by the Boys' Work Board for the largest number of bonuds sold was won by Jack Estlick of St. James' Sunday school and presented by their leader, Sid Turner. Three other interesting medals were presented by the Brotherhood, one to the oldest father present went to Mr. Pavey, one to the youngest father, won by Jack Flynn and the father with the most sons present, going to Mr. Heal.

Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe of Murray St. Baptist Church contributed a group of sacred solos "I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say" and "The Stranger of Galilee" which were greatly enjoyed. As a variation was Harold Wilson's brilliantly played cornet solo 'Der Freischutz' and Sid Turner's delightful vocal solo 'There's a Little Green Cabin'.

The audience was highly entertained by the clever ventriloquist numbers contributed by Mr. Lewis.

During the evening Miss Aileen Rose presided at the piano as accompanist for all selections.

Speaker of Evening

The guest speaker, Rev. F. M. Wootten of Trinity United church, brought a most inspiring message, speaking chiefly to the boys and urging them to embrace the opportunities which were theirs. He emphasized that the great essential of life was the building up of a Christian character. Several instances of prominent men whose lives in boyhood were influenced by older men, were cited and the father's present were urged to endeavor to guide some boy into the way of virtue and truth. In closing Rev. Mr. Wootten especially advised the boys and young men to link up their lives with Jesus Christ and thus carry on the work that their fathers have begun.

On behalf of the Brotherhood, Rev. Mr. Moorhouse voiced their appreciation to all who contributed to the success of this banquet and an invitation was extended to all men by the chairman to attend the Brotherhood classes on Sunday afternoon.

BRITISH BUDGET EXAMPLE TO U.S.

Journal of Commerce States Americans May Have to Raise Taxes to Repair Confidence.

BALANCE POSSIBLE.

NEW YORK, Apr. 7 (CP)—Commenting editorially yesterday regarding the budget surplus of $150,000,000 announced by Neville Chamberlain, British Chancellor of the Exchequer, the Journal of Commerce hints that United States might well adopt British policies.

"It has been widely remarked, particularly in the United States, that economic recovery in Great Britain has been due, at least in part, to the fact that the British have steadfastly adhered to sound principles of public finance, and have avoided fiscal innovations which might impair business confidence," the Journal of Commerce says. "It has also been suggested were adopted here business confidence would be revived and economic recovery would proceed much faster.

"Great Britain's accomplishments show that budgets can be balanced even in the midst of great depressions, but the cost to taxpayers is heavy. This country must soon follow the British example and balance the public accounts, even at the cost of increased taxation. Any other policy must in the long run prove disastrous."

FAREWELL PARTY AT MOUNT JULIAN

Friends Honor Mr. and Mrs. W. Mathews on Eve of Departure for Toronto.

MOUNT JULIAN, April 7 (Examiner Correspondence)—On Tuesday evening, April 3rd, Mr. and Mrs. William Matthews' home was the scene of a very jolly social evening, when the neighboring friends gathered for a farewell surprise party, ere the family leave for Toronto, where they intend taking up residence this week.

Round and square dancing was the chief entertainment of the evening and was keenly enjoyed by both young and old.

Following the serving of lunch, an address was read and a gift presented to Mr. and Mrs. Matthews and family as a remembrance from their friends in this community and in appreciation of the Matthews' ready and willing help in all lines of community work, especially in the church and school and in any social activities, their doors ever being open for a friendly call or meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthews responding in an appropriate manner, thanking the people for their gift and expressing the hope that their friends of this district would visit them at their home in Toronto, stressing the point that their leaving the community need not mean the end of friendship here.

"For They are Jolly Good Fellows" was sung cheartily and dancing resumed until the wee small hours of the morning.

Successful Play In Ennismore Hall

ENNISMORE, April 7 (Examiner Correspondence).—The Downeyville Dramatic Club presented their play, "You're Telling Me," in the hall here on Wednesday evening. It was fast moving, brim-full of clean, wholesome humor, charmingly original and a mirthful mix-up in three acts. A large crowd was in attendance.

The cast was as follows: Kit Castairs, a victim of financial depression, Mrs. Eugene Downey; Mrs. Venita Castairs, her mother, Miss Gertrude Shine; Pamela Snowden, Kit's dearest girl friend Miss Clara O'Neill; George Castairs, Mrs. Castairs' sleepy brother, Bert Morrissey; Edouard LaRue, a young aviator, James Carroll; Lloyd Hamilton, a wealthy young man Francis Costello; Ward Wanger, his pal, Gerald O'Neill; Mrs. Antoinette Regan, Mrs. Martin Carroll; Marleen Regan, her youngest daughter Miss Norine Gosselin; Theeda Regan, 'who is movie mad,' Miss

CAVAN SOCIETIES HOLD UNION MEET

Two New Members Join W.M.S.—Church Vestry to be Carpeted by W.A.

CAVAN, April 7 (Examiner Correspondence) — Cavan Women's Missionary Society and Women's Auxiliary held their monthly meeting in the church on Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Perrin, president of the W.M.S. presided for the devotional period. During the W.M.S. business session there was discussion concerning and planning for special Missionary service which will be held on Sunday evening, April 15, if road conditions permit.

The special speaker will be Mrs. Scott of Peterborough, who speaks in Millbrook United Church on Sunday morning, April 15.

The devotional leaflet, "Jesus in Jerusalem" was read by Mrs. Ray Syer; the roll call was answered by a verse of scripture; the Rev. Mr. Ferguson read St. John 19: 1-18; the Rev. Dr. Lang read St. John 20: 1-11; a quartet "There is a green hill far away," was beautifully sung by the Rev. Mr. Ferguson, Miss Lois Lang, Dr. and Mrs. Lang, with Mrs. Ferguson as accompanist; St. John 24, the first thirty-one verses were read in unison; Mrs. Perrin reading comments on the lesson. Two new members were added. Dr. Lang closed the meeting with prayer.

W.A. Session

Mrs. James Douglas presided for the W.A. meeting. The financial serretary, Miss Annie Tinney reported $24 raised by the society in March.

Mrs. Matchett, the treasurer reported $25 in the bank.

The Easter lily, which had been in the church on Easter Sunday had been sent to Mr. Edward Keegan, one of the senior members of the church, who has for some time been confined to bed.

There was discussion concerning the forming of groups in the society for church work.

It was asked that the members would answer the May roll call with a verse or line of a favorite hymn.

A committee was named to carpet the vestry and look after a few other repairs and improvements. The Lord's prayer, repeated in unison, closed the meeting.

ON THIS DATE
A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY
By Fred Williams

WHEN MOWAT TRIUMPHED

On this date, in 1884 the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council ruled that Oliver Mowat was right and John A. Macdonald (and his ministers of Justice and the Supreme Court of Canada) were wrong because control of navigable streams in Ontario belonged to the province and not to the Dominion. The Liberal rejoicing was extravagant The Globe's poet broke out into exultant verse:

"The traitor's hand is off thy throat

or something to that effect; the Liberal press predicted that the decision would be the political deathblow of John A. (in which they were wrong for he stayed in office until his death in 1891), and described the three disallowances of Ontario's rivers and streams bill in May, 1891, Sept. 1882, and March 1883, as practical attacks upon the province's sovereign rights, restored by the judicial hand of England. Politics were strenuous indeed in those days Grits and Tories seldom fraternized; we of today cannot realize the effect politics had upon family and even church relations.

This was the third victory of Mowat over Macdonald. He had won the boundary dispute with Manitoba (which had developed into bloodshed at one time); he had won th decision that Indians lands in "new' Ontario" belonged to the province and not the Dominion; and now he had won the greatest victory of all on the streams issue.

On its face the outlook was not promising for the Tories at Ottawa, but when the next election came along in 1887, Ontario voted for Macdonald as in provincial elections they voted for Mowat. And the irony of the situation was that this continued as long as either were in office. Provincial issues cut no ice in federal elections.

WINDSOR, Ont., April 6.—(C.P.)—Charters for two Border Cities unions have been granted by the All-Canada Trades and Labor Congress it is announced by National Union Leader George Fryer.

The local branch of the Canadian Bakery Workers' Union will receive their charter next Saturday afternoon and next Wednesday night the charter will be presented to the Salespeoples' Protective Association.

SHOW BOAT DAYS HAS SIX SCENES

Gorgeous Production Will Be Presented in Grand Opera House.

APRIL 19 AND 20

Colour, beauty, pep, laughs, action, rhythm, music, surprise — a ripple of laughter running through a show produced in a Broadway manner—that will be the Kinsmen "Show-Boat Days" to be presented at the Opera House, Thursday and Friday, April 19th and 20th.

"Show-Boat Days" will be the outstanding event of the Peterborough theatrical season, the only opportunity offered in this city of seeing a show presented in a really elaborate and extravagant way.

Of special interest will be the dancing choruses — fifty beautiful girls trained to perfection by Mr. Zarfas in a series of intricate and very effective dance routines. They will amaze you with their precision. They will delight you with their pep, lavish costumes, the like of which have never been seen here; new, clean, fresh out of the cellophane; magnificent stage settings and up-to-the-minute lighting effects will assist these girls to present scenes rivalling the elaborate movie scenes with the added attraction that colour would give them.

"Show-Boat Days" will be in two acts and six scenes presented by 80 players, including some of Peterborough's foremost soloists, dancers and comedians.

Plan to see it. Don't miss it. Treat yourself to a good time. Enjoy yourself and help the Kinsmen in their Eye Clinic work for the underprivileged children. Tickets are now being sold by the members of the Club and cast.

GLEANERS CLASS SERVES AN APRIL FOOL SUPPER

BRIDGENORTH, Apr. 7 (Examiner Correspondence)—On Tuesday evening, April 3rd the Gleaners' Class of Gilmour Church held a very successful hot sausage supper in the basement of the church and despite the wet weather and bad roads a goodly number were present.

After the supper was over the following program was given with the Rev. R. D. Wright as chairman: instrumental selection by Rev. and Mrs. Tyler, Misses Prophet and Elizabeth Webber; a short play entitled, "How the Story Grew," by the Gleaners' Class; reading by Olive Sidey and Hazel Telford; solos by Miss Trucie Pearson and Maxine Kidd; Rev. Miller gave a short talk.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAINS

F.o.b. shipping point:—Wheat, 82c to 84c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Wholesale butter prices were lower again on the Montreal Dairy and Produce Market yesterday, easing fractionally from the 31c peak touched during the week, the highest level in three years. No. 1 grade butter in carlots or less was generally 30c a pound, half a cent less than Thursday. Receipts totalled 710 boxes.

The egg market held about steady at the weeks declines, graded shipments in carlots or less being quoted at 19c a dozen for A-large, 18c for A-medium, 17c for B, and 16c for C. Offerings amounted to 1,899 cases.

Cheese was again quoted at 11¼c a pound for current make Ontario with summer white and colored cheese at 11½c to 12½c. A total of 76 boxes was offered for sale.

Quebec potatoes brought $1.05 to $1.10 per 80-pound bag, and New Brunswick Mountains, $1.10 to $1.15 for similar quantities. Prince Edward Island Mountains in 90-pound bags brought $1.35 to $1.40.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Broadening of demand for future deliveries of rye ran that cereal up 1½c a bushel yesterday, whereas all other grains nearly stood still.

Apparent likelihood that the United States import duty on rye would soon be given a hoist was chiefly responsible for the liveliness shown in the rye market. An interesting feature of corn trade was announcement of a vessel charter for shipment of 350,000 bushels of corn to Buffalo at the opening of lake navigation, the first lake business reported this season.

Rye closed strong at virtually the day's top figures, 1⅛c to 1½c above Thursday's finish. Wheat, ⅛c off to ⅛c up; corn, unchanged to ¼c higher; oats, unchanged to ⅛c advance, and provisions unchanged to a gain of 20c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 7. — Wheat prices dipped fractionally on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday as offerings outweighed support from export interests. The close was steady, however at levels ¼c lower.

May wheat wound up at 67¾c, July at 68¼c, and October at 70c. Seaboard and Continental houses made moderate purchases in the opening minutes, but when these orders had been filled trading came almost to a halt, and there was nothing to enthuse over during the rest of the session.

Offerings came from the source that has supplied most of the wheat during the past two weeks. It was sufficient to fill demand with the result the market stood at only fractionally lower levels despite the falling off in trading.

It was estimated after the close that something approaching 300 000 bushels of wheat changed hands for foreign account.

Liverpool wheat was firm, closing ¾d higher. Chicago had a similar trend to Winnipeg.

Feed Shortage Acute In Cavan Community

CAVAN, April 7. (Examiner Correspondence)—The feed situation is quite serious and farmers are hoping for warm weather. Many are almost out of straw, while others are quite out, with nothing for bedding and hay scare. Because the shortage is general it is difficult to locate any for sale.

The run of sap has so far been poor. Very little maple syrup is offered for sale locally.

Barley and oats for seed is also very scare. The elevators do not seem to have any supply on hand. Western oats is about all that is offered for sale.

KINGSTON AUTO LICENSE OFFICE ROBBED

Sudden Death Claims Six in Ontario

WEEK-END TOLL SEES BOY OF 5 DIE FROM BURNS

Toronto Lad Found Under Bed After Fire Starts in Parents' Absence.

TWO MEN DROWN.

Two Men Victims of Gas Fumes and Car Crash—Train Kills Woman.

Drowning, train and auto accidents and illuminating gas and fire claimed six lives in Ontario during the week-end. Two persons were drowned; a boy was victim of burns; a woman was killed by a train; a man died from illuminating gas, man died fro milluminating gas, another life.

Mrs. J. Sheldon of Waterford was killed instantly when she was struck by a Michigan Central Railway train. The two men drowned were Regi Procob and Charles Adams. Procob's body was found floating in a dyke in Morsea Township. Friends said he had been drinking and it was believed he stumbled into the dyke. Adams' body was found in Lake Ontario at Toronto on Saturday. Adams, who came here from Calgary is believed to have stumbled and fallen into the water.

Harry Gregory, 60, was found dead in his room at Toronto, victim of illuminating gas. Gas jets of a stove in the room had been turned on.

Lad Fatally Burned.

When fire damaged the home of Frank J. Aikens at Toronto, his five-year-old adopted son Joseph was burned to death. The body was found beneath a bed upstairs where he had fled when the flames broke out in his parents' absence. Firemen said they believed the boy had been paying with matches.

Fred Cheer, 25-year-old Stratford lineman, was the victim of the auto mishap. He was found dead, his head buried in mud of a ditch near St. Mary's. It is believed his car got out of control and was thrown into the ditch.

DYNAMITE CAP INJURES 2 LADS

Victims Discover Explosive While Playing in Barn Near Brantford.

SQUEEZE IT IN VICE.

BRANTFORD, Ont., April 9 (CP).—The discovery of a dynamite cap stored in a barn near Princeton, Ont., and curiosity as to the nature of their find, led to serious injury to Ralph Lawrence, aged 17, of Brantford, and Erwin Daniels, aged 11, of Princeton. Both boys are now in the Brantford General Hospital, suffering from injuries they received when the cap exploded, and it is reported that the Daniels boy will lose one eye.

Ralph Lawrence, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Lawrence of this city was visiting on the farm of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lawrence. Erwin Daniels, the son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Daniels had come from a nearby farm to play with him. Searching through the barn, the boys made the discovery of the dynamite cap—of the type used for blowing out stumps—not knowing what it was.

The Lawrence boy placed the cap in a vice and began to file it, and it exploded, bursting the file into three pieces. The younger lad was sitting close by, cracking nuts, and both boys received the full force of the concussion.

Dr. H. C. McCall of Princeton was called immediately and ordered the boys removed to hospital. They were rushed to this city and are now under the care of Dr. N. W. Bragg.

The full extent of Ralph Lawrence's injuries could not be learned to-day.

ASSAULTED RELIEF OFFICER

KITCHENER. — Mrs. Martin, charged with assaulting Relief Officer Hagedorn by throwing ink in his face, and with creating a disturbance was remanded for one week when she appeared in Police Court here to-day. She is out on bail.

London Man's Eloquence On Summer Job Saves Him 30 Days Of 60-Day Sentence

LONDON, Ont., April 9.—(CP)—John Leigh, of this city, talked himself out of 30 days of a 60-day sentence in county police court today.

Leigh appeared before Magistrate Zapfe and pleaded guilty to stealing drugs from the office of Dr. O. L. Berdan at Strathroy.

'I was under the inluence of liquor" Leigh told the court. "Liquor has always been my trouble."

"The sentence will be 60 days in jail", announced the magistrate.

"Would you mind dating that from the day of my arrest?" asked Leigh. "I have been in jail a week and you know every little bit helps. I have a job awaiting for me as soon as I get out and summer is coming on. If I'm in too long the summer will be partly over and it will be pretty hard getting started on the job. I would like to make enough money so I would have something saved for next winter when I may be out of the job."

Magistrate Zapfe looked out the courtroom window at the sun playing on the Thames River.

"I guess summer is pretty near here", remarked his worship. "I think I'll make that sentence 30 days."

TROUBLE BREWS ON ELECTION DAY FOR MONTREAL

Atmosphere Tense as Electors Choose Mayor from Four Candidates.

NEW CITY COUNCIL.

All Polling Booths Guarded—Riot Cars Patrol—1,000 Veterans Held Ready.

MONTREAL, April 9 (CP).—Atmosphere in many wards was charged with tension to-day as Montreal electors went to the polls to choose a Mayor from four candidates and elect a new city council. Fears were held in some quarters that a more hot-headed portion of the people might stir up trouble. Police took extraordinary precautions to be in readiness for disturbance.

Principal battle for the Mayoralty was conceded to be between Camillien Houde, once leader of the Conservative Party of the Province of Quebec, but now "of no party"—his own words—and Dr. Anatole Plante, member of the Legislature for Montreal Mercier, who has the official backing of the Provincial Liberal party.

But both candidates had an eye cocked on a "dark-horse." Saluste Lavery, K.C., lawyer and soldier, who, entering the campaign late, has been attracting more and more people to his meetings. Supported by steel-helmeted former soldiers who wear swastikas on their arms, Mr. Lavery has met considerable criticism from the presence on his platforms nightly of two speakers noted for their attacks on the Jewish race.

Fourth of the candidates, one who has received no attention from prognosticators of the race, is Pierre Desrosiers, travelling salesman, standing on a Labor platform. His meetings have been few, and surprise would be great if he were to prove a serious contender for the Mayor's chair.

Houde-Plante Battle.

Mr. Houde and Dr. Plante have been waging a stirring platform

Small Boy Is Rescued From Pond By Father

KITCHENER, Ont., April 9 (CP).—Clifford, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Simpson, Bridgeport, three miles from this city, had a narrow escape from drowning about seven o'clock last night.

The boy was playing with his brother and sister, six and five respectively at the mill pond, when he slipped from the edge and into several feet of water and disappeared.

The children notified the father, who was 100 yards from the pond in his house and he immediately ran to the scene and jumped into the water, rescuing the boy who was still conscious, despite the fact that he had been in the water about five minutes.

It is thought that the lad choken as he fell into the pond as a result of which the later did not affect him seriously.

British iron and steel firms are struggling to meet growing foreign competition.

Not Bogeymen

DENVER, April 9 (CP)—Denver policemen wont' play the bogeyman role.

An unidentified mother called Sgt. William Fine and asked him to send an officer to "give my boy the scare of his life."

Sergeant Fine refused.

"The boy should be taught to be freindly with officers of the law and I can't see that that end would be gained by frightening him," he told her.

10 CITIES CLOCKS ADVANCE APR. 28

Guelph, Hamilton, Regina Follow May 5—Moncton, St. John May 20 and 26.

BELLEVILLE UNDECIDED.

(By the Canadian Press).

Ten Canadian cities will push the clock ahead one hour at midnight on April 28, with nearly as many joining the daylight saving brigade during May and June, a survey by the Canadian Press revealed to-day. Only one Western city plans to adopt "fast" time.

These cities will move the hour hand ahead 60 minutes at midnight on April 28—Kingston, Niagara Falls, Welland, St. Catharines, Toronto and Ottawa, in Ontario, and Montreal, Quebec, Three Rivers and Sherbrooks, in Quebec. All except Welland will return to normal time on September 30. Welland changes September 3.

At midnight on May 5, Guelph and Hamilton, Ont., and Regina go on daylight saving time. Guelph changes back on September 3, Hamilton on September 15 and Regina on October 7. Moncton will have summer time from May 20 to September 30, Saint John from May 26 to September 30.

Sudbury joins the movement on June 3 and Belleville probably on June 15, though the question has not been definitely decided.

Aged Brantfordite Saves Sinking Boys

GALT, Ont., April 9 (C.P.). — Fred H. Meyer, 69, saved Jackie Sykes, 6, and his brother, Sammy, aged 9, from drowning in the swollen waters of a creek behind the Grand River railway car barns at Preston Saturday afternoon.

While playing along the banks, Jackie Sykes fell into the stream, which comes down from Riverside Park. His brother, Sammy, jumped into the water after him, and both lads were in difficulties, owing to the cold water and swift current, when their plight was noticed by Meyer, who was fishing nearby.

The stream at this point is five feet deep at the present time. Meyer waded into the stream and grasped the elder boy, but had some difficulty in locating Jackie, who had been pulled under the water by the force of the current. The aged rescuer finally got them to shore, and wrapping the younger lad in his overcoat, took the boys to his home nearby. All three were in a state of near collapse when they reached shelter, but to-day are none the worse for their experience.

Efforts will be made by W. Weigand, Humane Society inspector, to obtain recognition for the rescue through his organization.

CLYDE BARROW'S TRAIL PUZZLER FOR LAW FORCE

Killer's Auto Found Abandoned in Kansas 100 Miles From Latest Murder.

GUARD MEXICAN BORDER.

Net Tightened in Salt Lake City Area For Desperado Dillinger.

KANSAS CITY, April 9 (AP). — South-western peace officers went to work to-day with the knowledge that there would be no rest for them until Clyde Barrow is captured.

Accused of a dozen slayings, the Phantom desperado and his woman companion, Bonnie Parker, still are at large, following their latest adventure in crime—the slaying of Cal Campbell, Miami, Okla., constable.

At the same time officers were under orders to watch for another elusive desperado, John "Wooden Gun" Dillinger, now reported to be in the south-west.

Week-end developments in the search for the two:

Discovery of Barrow's abandoned motor car with two bullet holes in the windshield, near Ottawa, Kas., approximately 100 miles from where the killer and his two companions released Percy Boyd, Commerce, Okla., chief of police, who was kidnapped following the slaying of Campbell.

A letter from Raymond Hamilton, escaped Texas convict, to a Dallas lawyer, disclaiming any connection with Barrow's activities since the $4,000 robbery of a Lancaster, Tex., bank, February 27.

Belief expressed by Texas officers that Henry Methvin, who escaped from prison with Hamilton, had joined up with Barrow.

Watching Border

Sheriff's deputies and police of Yuma, Ariz, only a few miles from the Mexican border, ordered to maintain a vigil for Dillinger, the killer who escaped from the Crown Point, Ind., jail with a wooden pistol.

Salt Lake city police also instructed to be on the lookout for Dillinger. Officers were informed by Department of Justice agents that he was believed to be travelling in a small motor car with Minnesota license plates.

The green automobile in which Dillinger fled from St. Paul, March 31, with another man and woman, was found in a garbage at Mankato, Minn.

The car, it was learned, was brought to the garage by a man said by authorities to have been Tommy Carroll, pal of Dillinger. It had been left with instructions for repainting the wheels, changing the hub caps, the name of the car filed of and refinishing the body.

Insull May Sail For U.S. Wednesday

ISTANBULL, April 9 (AP)—United States Ambassador O. Skinner, announced to-day that Samuel Insull might be placed aboard a vessel sailing for United States Wednesday.

He said American agents expected to reach a final decision within a matter of mere hours.

If the Chicago fugitive is started on his homeward voyage Wednesday, it will be aboard the export boat, Executive.

Announcement that the departure of this steamer had been postpostponed from Tuesday, when she originally was scheduled to leave Istanbul, centered all attention on the probability this would be the route chosen.

Four Girls Injured When Car Jumps Curb

GUELPH, Ont., April 9 (CP) — One girl is in hospital seriously injured to-day and three others are recovering from hurts as the result of a motor accident on Alice street. Margaret Skerrit, aged 12, is in hospital with a broken thigh while Emma Sarter, 12; Annie Grey, 3, and June Grey, 15, are at home with less serious injuries. They were struck by a car driven by George Ferraro of Guelph, who went over the curb when he swerved to avoid the youngest of the children who was trying to cross the road.

Company

NASHVILLE, Tenn., April 9 (C.P.). — It has long been Police Lieutenant W. A. Gibbons' theory that a man should have company at dinner. When Gibbons' dinner was ready yesterday, he found that his brother officers had already eaten.

The lieutenant walked to the cell block, picked out a prisoner who had been sobering up since Friday, gave him a razor and told him to dress for dinner.

Soon the prisoner presented himself, spick and span.

"Sit down," said Gibbons, "and help yourself. A man should have somebody to eat with him, you see."

THOMAS OLDHAM IS IN 97TH YEAR; HALE AND HEARTY

Now Resident of Anson House He Came to Canada 60 Years Ago.

48 YEARS IN CITY

Saw Five Years' Service in Royal Navy When Sails Mostly Used.

In his ninety-seventh year, but presenting a remarkably fine physical appearance that belies his venerable age, Thomas Oldham, one of the oldest residents in the entire district, recently gave an Examiner reporter an interesting interview.

Now resident at Anson House, Mr. Oldham rose from his chair and strode with a firm agile step to meet his interviewer, then resuming his seat by the window, he recalled how sixty years ago he had left his native England, leaving the decision as to where he should go to the toss of a coin.

"It was heads for America and tails for Australia," the old gentleman stated. "And the coin came down heads."

"And have you never been back home?"

"No. I wish I had my days to live over again. I would go back to England," he replied with a wistful note of yearning in his voice expressive of the exiles longing for a sight of the homeland.

48 Years With Local Firm.

Then striking off on another line of thought which suggested anything but regret at the decision that brought him to Canada, Mr. Oldham recounted his forty-eight years of service as a machinist with the William Hamilton Company here, remarking with pride "during the whole of that time I never had a wrong word with anybody."

While with the Hamilton Foundry, he said, about thirty apprentices learned their trades under him, including his only son, John Oldham, remembered locally as a sports enthusiast and lacrosse player, who is now working in Detroit; and R. Roland Wilson, president of Peterborough Machine and Lubricator Company. Without exception, all

Fruit Trees Damaged By Severe Winter

OTTAWA, April 9—(CP)—A sharp reduction in the production of fruit this year is in prospect for Ontario and Quebec owing to the damage done to fruit trees by the severe winter, according to M. B. Davis, dominion horticulturalist. In consequence higher prices for fruit may prevail but not to an extent sufficient to compensate growers for their reduced crops. Mr. Davis estimated the drop in production might range from 30 to 40 percent.

In some localities, Mr. Davis said, the frosts had caused permanent damage to the trees and in most it would take two or three years of natural growth to overcome. Fruit growers had a surplus for export last year but none is anticipated this year. Apples, peaches, plums, pears and cherries are all affected.

STRUCK BY FALLING SIGN

WINNIPEG. — Constable Alex McDonald was in hospital to-day with a severe scalp wound, suffered when a 100-pound sign fell from a second storey of a downtown building and struck him. Physicians said the helmet the constable was wearing deflected the blow or he would have been killed.

$1,100 IS TAKEN WHILE ISSUER OUT TO LUNCH

Official, Making Check-up, Admits Sum May Mount to $2,000.

ONLY AWAY 25 MINUTES.

Thieves Smash Glass of Door, Third Story Office, Get Cash in Desk.

KINGSTON, Ont., April 9—(CP) — Breaking the small glass in a door and reaching in to turn the spring latch, robbers at noon today made off with at least $1,100 from the local office of the issuer of automobile licenses, Ross Graham. The amount stolen may run up toward $2,000 said Mr. Graham, this afternoon, though he thought that it would not be over $1,200. A checkup was being made this afternoon.

According to the story of Graham and the Provincial Police, the office was left with no one in charge from 12.25 noon till 12.50. During that space of 25 minutes, the robber or robbers made good the theft. The money was merely in a drawer in Mr. Graham's desk and the dawer was not locked. There is a safe in the office, but the money was not put in it, Mr. Graham stating he was only away from the office a short time and did not think it necessary. His staff includes himself and two girl assistants and all three were at lunch at the time.

Police Silent

Provincial Police this afternoon were working on the case and declined to make any statement, except the bare statement that the money had been taken.

The office is on the third floor of an office building on Wellington street. On the same floor is the office of an insurance company, but members ot he staff were also out to lunch during the time the robbery took place. During the past ten days a great amount of money has been daily taken in by the issuer of licenses, some days running as high as $5,000.

GERMAN ARMS IN SPOTLIGHT

British Ambassador Instructed to Query Officials Upon Increases.

BUDGET UP MILLIONS.

LONDON, Eng., April 9. (AP).—Sir John Simon, foreign secretary, told the House of Commons to-day that the government is giving "very serious" consideration to Germany's contemplated increased expenditures on her army, navy, and air forces.

Sir John was cheered by the House as he made the announcement.

He declared:

"I have instructed our ambassadore at Berlin to make inquiries of the German government on the subject."

Parliament was reconvening after its Easter recess for the session which will end in July.

The German budget for 1934, made public March 27, shows large increases in military appropriations for the Reich.

Among the items which attracted attention was a $100,000,000 grant to the Nazi storm troopers—the first time in the history of the German Republic that appropriations have been made for the political army.

The German budget shows that in the coming fiscal year the army and navy is to receive $357,600 000 as compared with last year' appropriation of $268,000.000 while aviation is to get $83,600,000 as compared to the $28,000.000 which it received last year.

The total German budget was balanced at $2.583 312.000.

Aged Couple Wed In St. Paul's Manse

Both in their early seventies, a couple who are to-day honeymooning in Toronto "and points west," were the contracting parties at a marriage solemnized by the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Manse on Saturday afternoon.

The combined ages of the couple totals 141 years, the bridegroom, Charles A. Farnham, being 70 years of age, and his bride, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth McCaw, being one year his senior.

BRITAIN PLANS EMERGENCY STEP FOR DRY SEASON

Serious Water Shortage This Summer Seen as Certainty.

THAMES SETS LOW MARK.

Rumor Premier Contemplates Special Fund for More Water Reserves.

LONDON, Eng., April 9. (C. P. Cable).—The British government has decided emergency measures must be taken to meet the threat of a more serious water shortage this summer, Prime Minister Ramsay Macdonald announced in the House of Commons to-day.

A bill would be presented tomorrow, the text of which would be available later to-night, the Prime Minister said, and second reading would be given Thursday. He gave no explanation of the measures contemplated.

As the House re-opened after the Easter holidays the Prime Minister referred to the serious shortage of water, recalling the reserves of many water undertakings had fallen to a low level for this time of the year. The government had been carefully watching the situation and owing to the continued absence of abundant rains had decided emercency steps must be taken, he added.

At the same time Lord Desborough, chairman of the Thames Conservancy Board—a post to which he was re-elected to-day for the 30th successive year—declared that if the coming summer should be as dry as the last the water problem would be most serious.

The state of water in the Thames at present was not very encouraging, Lord Desborough said. Taking the year as a whole, the past 12 months had been the dryest recorded by the Thames board.

The discharge of water at Teddington was 600 000,000 gallons a day compared to a normal 1,400,000,000, a rainfall of one-third of an inch every third night was needed, he said.

It was generally expected the government measure would take the form of financial assistance for construction of additional reserves, but this was not confirmed.

Your Evening Smile

NOT ON THE MENU

He examined the menu carefully, and then tossed it irritably on the table.

"Waiter," he called, "is this all you have today?"

"Yes, sir," said the waiter, whose term of service expired at the end of the week.

"Why,' there's nothing on the menu fit to eat—absolutely nothing," said the diner. "Bring me the manager!"

The waiter smiled.

"Very good, sir," he said. "How would you like him—grilled or fried?"

OFFICIALS THINK FIND MAY SOLVE 7 YEAR MYSTERY

Eugenia Cedarholm 27, Been Hunted Since Sudden Disappearance in November, 1927.

Police Point Out Ginrovitch's Confession Was Dated in 1925—May be Inaccurate.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., April 9, —(AP)—A seven-year search for a Brooklyn woman extended today to Kitchener, Ont., where a woman's skeleton was found last Wednesday in a sand pit.

Brooklyn attorneys were in touch with authorities in Kitchener, believing the find might solve the mystery of Eugenia Cedarholm's disappearance in 1927.

The woman, who was 27, suddenly vanished, leaving a $60,000 house on Schermerhorn street. The seventh year of the search will end November. At that time the woman may legally be declared dead.

Proceedings to settle the estate are pending in surrogate's court.

A Brooklyn newspaper at one time offered a $500 reward for information about the woman.

Man Sent to Jail

One chapter in the celebrated case was the conviction of Edward Lawrence Hall, who had lived in the woman's house, on a forgery charge.

It was charged that Hall signed Miss Cedarholm's name to a lease on the house. He claimed to be her

ARMENIANS RIOT CHICAGO STREET

Communist Section of National Group Interrupts Rally and Fight Starts.

SEVEN HURT, ONE BADLY.

CHICAGO, April 9 (AP)—Seven men were injured, one critically, when two Armenian factions clashed in a Sunday street riot. A score of others, both men and women, suffered minor hurts.

With swinging clubs, police quelled the fracas last night. The rioters, several hundred in number, used fists, stones, bricks and clubs. Four men and three women were arrested.

Some 1,000 members of the Armenian National Club, advocates of a movement to free their native land from the control of Soviet Russia, were atetnding a meeting.

A group of 200 Aremenian Communists, bitter opponents of the National group, paraded to the hall in which the meeting was held. The meeting quickly adjourned. Its members were in the street when their opponents arrived.

Stones and bricks were liberally used by both factions. Women, as well as men, were felled.

Outbursts between the factions have been frequent for more than a year. The fatal stabbing in New York last December of Archbishop Leon Tourain, head of the Armenian Church in this country, was attributed to factional bitterness.

SESSIONS BEGIN AT PARLIAMENT AFTER HOLIDAY

Unemployment Relief Bill Likely to be First Business Before Commons.

FARM RELIEF ON LIST.

Stevens Price Spread Probe Resumes Tuesday Delving Into Livestock.

OTTAWA, April 9. (CP).—With two or three months of solid work ahead of it parliament resumes its sittings to-day. Most observers regard the 10-day Easter recess as scarcely the halfway mark of the session and the bulk of an unusually heavy budget of legislation remains to be attended to.

The House of Commons meets this afternoon but the Senate will not resume until Wednesday. Before the end of the week several of th numerous committees already at work will have resumed their sessions. The first of these will be the Stevens Committee on price spreads and mass buying which meets Tuesday to continue its probe into the livestock business.

Hon. D. G. McKenzie, Minister of Agriculture for Manitoba, will head a delegation from the livestock committee of the Manitoba legislature which will lay its views before the committee. Like the agriculture committee of the Ontario legislature that body has been inquiring into the ills that beset the livestock business and the reason the farmers receive such low prices for his animals. Before Easter members of the Ontario committee visited Ottawa and laid the result of their inquiry before the mass buying probe.

At a later stage of the inquiry representatives of department and chain stores which were under fire from small retailer representatives earlier will be given a hearing. No date has yet been fixed for their testimony.

Jobless Relief Bill

The unemployment relief bill is likely to be the first business befor the House of Commons. The Government was balked in its effort to get the measure through before Easter by a stubborn oppocition, which may continue for some days. Until it is passed the Dominion Government has no authority to pay out money for relief.

In a few days Prime Minister R. B. Bennett will give the House a statement of the legislation yet to come. Two important measures forecast are the bill to provide for the public works program the government intends to launch as part of its drive to hasten economic recovery and a bill to permit farmers to secure relief from their debt burdens. Linked with or complementary to the latter measure will be a scheme of intermediate credits for agriculture.

Added to the Natural Products Marketing Act now before the House and two bank bills now before the Banking and Commerce Committee and the insurance and shipping bills now before committees of the senate these measures make up perhaps the most ambitious program of legislation attempted by parliament at a single session in many years.

BOMBS INJURE STUDENTS.

HAVANA, April 7 (A.P.). — Two students were wounded gravely today when two bombs exploded almost simultaneously at their home, causing extensive damage.

The students are nephews of Mario Ruiz Mesa, Secretary of the Treasury, under the deposed President, Gerardo Machado.

Another bomb wrecked a downtown drug store during the night.

Saskatchewan Farmers Go Back to Land

Spring! And back to the land goes the Saskatchewan farmer, still optimistic, hoping for a crop that will make him free of government relief, hand-outs, borrowed clothes and cold homes. For miles the gray-brown soil that was once just prairie land stretches in every direction, treeless and windblown. Maybe too windblown. Dust storms take out that crop that is being seeded by the big drill drawn by six horses there, up ahead. Behind comes a disc harrow, whipping the soil more securely over the seed. The farmer-owner walks behind, his eyes on the ground, not in the sky where, if big rain clouds do not come, then another year is lost. But surelyy kind Providence would not let it be five dry years!

REDS STIR RIOT BRUSSELS CITY

One is Slain, Over Score Injured in Violent Political Clashes.

FEAR MORE OUTBREAKS.

BRUSSELS, April 9.—(AP)— One person was slain and more than a score injured in a week-end of violent political clashes which threatened to break out anew in and near Brussels today.

A Communist was killed in rioting which broke out in connection with the inauguration of Brussels headquarters of the Nationalist Blue Shirts.

Clashes spread throughout scattered sections of the capital between the uniformed Nationalists and bands of Communists.

In Brussels, 10 Communists and 15 Nationalists were wounded and injured in hand-to-hand fighting. The rioting then was carried into other localities.

Fears that the fighting would be renewed at any moment, led police officials to order extraordinary precautions throughout the capital today.

Official apprehensions were heightened by a Communist communique which warned the Nationalists that plans were being made to avenge the death of their comrade.

Nationalist headquarters were raided and sacked at Eckeren during a clash between Blue Shirts and Socialists in which one Socialist was wounded seriously.

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 9.—(C.P.)—Absent-minded professor story No. 1,342,786:

Prof. R. D. McIntyre of the University of Kentucky College of Commerce announced in public print that he would give a prize of $20 in gold to the winners of of a certain contest.

A few hours later his telephone rang. It was a Department of Justice agent, who demanded to know where, how and why he got $20 in gold. The professor explained he absent-mindedly made the offer, but had learned he couldn't obtain the gold.

battle for the past week on two principal subjects—the record of the last Houde administration, from 1930 to 1932, when he had a majority of the city council supporting him; and the quetsion of Montreal's autonomy.

The 1930-32 period found Montreal with a business administration, looking forward to the future and providing necessary public works to relieve unemployment; or a wasteful regime which piled up the city's public debt and laid the basis for the present series of deficits, according to which meeting hall was attended. Mr. Houde defended himself forcefully on this point, while Dr. Plante was equally vehement on the extravagance charge.

Autonomy was interjected as an active campaign issue following action of the Board of Trade and other groups of businessmen in asking the Provincial Government to substitute a financial commission to govern the city's monetary situation until the budget is balanced—a deficit of more than $6,000,000 being estimated for next year.

Polling Booths Guarded.

Twenty-two police cars, equipped with short-wave wireless sets, began patrolling the streets early to-day, ready for emergency calls. In addition, uniform and plain clothes men were on guard at all polling places, watching for "vote switchers," generally known locally for some obscure reason as "telegraphers" and regarded by the operating fraternity as an insult to an ancient and honorable profession.

R. L. Calder, K.C., chief lieutenant to Mr. Houde, declared in a wire to Premier Taschereau, who is also Attorney-General, that he has a preventive force of 1,000 returned soldiers ready to act if the "Provincial police constitutes itself escort and protector of 'telegraphers'." The message ends with the somewhat grim statement: "If there is bloodshed you (the Premier) will be held responsible."

Mrs. Elie Brunelle is Lady President of Campbellford Lawn Bowling Club.

ANNUAL MEETING.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 9 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—A splendid year was reported by the Campbellford Lawn Bowling Club when the annual meeting of that organization was held last Friday evening in the Public Library; election of the current year's officers held, and the activities of the past season reviewed. The officers for 1934 are:

Men.—President, E. H. Greig; vice-president, W. S. Wiggins; secretary,treasurer, N. H. Morrison; executive, C. W. Palliser, A. J. Meyers, L. B. Glover, Elie Brunelle, J. P. Archer, C. P. Shepherd, with the officers.

Ladies. — President, Mrs. Elie Brunelle; vice-president, Mrs. N. H. Morrison; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. W. S. Wiggins; executive, Mrs. Wm. Smith, Mrs. C. W. Palliser, Mrs. Glen Thompson, Mrs. L. B. Glover, Mrs. John Linton, Mrs. J. P. Aecher ,with the officers.

Last season was an exceptionally successful one for the club, with an increase in membership and a fine series of tournaments, four in all, staged. The latter events were features long to be remembered in club series of otrnaments, four in all, est and active support given to the grand game of lawn bowling.

Financially also the club had a very successful year with an increase in receipts, with which many back debts were met. Although some small accounts are still outstanding, it is expected that these will be met as soon as the season opens. Some of the success along this line was due to A. J. Meyers, who kindly gave the use of his car showrooms to the club, where social functions were staked for the purpose of raising money. Mr. Meyers not only gave the rooms to the club but looked after the heating and expenses, and for this kindness a vote of thanks was officially tendered him, sponsored by Neil Morrison and C. W. Palliser.

Many suggested improvements are on the board for this season. It is expected that the clubhouse will be repainted; that flower beds and a shrubery laid out, and new ends laid to the greens. A new lighting system is also suggested.

The Campbellford club will again be seen inaction in the Trent Valley Lawn Bowling League, of which it is a member, for 1934.

MOTHER, FATHER AWAIT SENTENCE

Doctor Tells Court 2 Neglected Children Never Be Normal Again.

VICTIMS OF RICKETS.

PONOKA, Alta., April 9.—(CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sparks today were on remand for 14 days for sentence after they pleaded guilty before Magistrate Jones to charges under the Alberta Child Welfare Act. It was alleged that they practiced wanton neglect against Viola Sparks, two years old, and Helen Sparks, one year old, two of their five children.

The children were laid on a table in the courtroom here Saturday while Magistrate Jones observed red sores, and Dr. Melvin Graham, medical health officer of the town, testified the children would never be normal again throughout life as a resultof rickets, and would require constant attention of nurses for a year.

The older children in the family are healthy and normal, the court was told.

Sparks, 23, is employed at a local garage at $65 per month.

J. T. Parker of the Child Welfare Department said that Mrs. Sparks, at 22, is the mother of five children

Horeshoes

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 9 (C. P.). — Rev. Robert A. George suggests theological seminaries establish departments in horseshoe pitching.

"I think," he said to-day, "it would teach our young theologists to land their sermons near the pin."

Dr. George, pastor of the First Congregational Church, is an ardent horseshoe pitcher.

He prefers the game to golf, although he once made a "hole-in-one."

Its advantage over golf, he said, is that "it takes neither the time nor the money and the exercise is better."

"Besides," he added, "there is not so much profanity in it."

IRISH ELECTION DAY IS DECIDED FOR JUNE 26TH

Expected to Show Accurately Strength of O'Duffy and De Valera Groups.

VIOLENCE CONTINUES.

Arms Warehouse at Ballymena Raided—Galway Mansion is Fired.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, April 9 (CP Cab'e)—A new crisis in Irish Free State politics was anticipated to-day with announcement by the Government that local administration elections would be held June 26. The elections will be contested by the two major political groups.

Observers said the platforms of the two main parties, the Republicans of President Eamon De Valera and the United Ireland Party of General Eon O'Duffy, were likely to provide an accurate index of strength of the groups.

Meanwhile O'Duffy is working hard to perfect organization of his party throughout the country.

The President extended his authority by banning from the Abbey Theatre Company's North American repertory Synge's "Playboy of the Western World," and Casey's "Plough and Stars." If the theatre group should disobey him, he threatened, he would discontinue its government subsidy.

Irish Toreador

O'Duffy, speaking yesterday at Tullamore, accused the President of heading a dictatorship and setting himself up as the "Toreador of Irish politics," seeking to bait John Bull into snarling so that he might appeal to the country with a cry, "Don't fling me to the British."

President De Valera, speaking at Cavan, assured an audience the British market had gone as far as the Free State was concerned and that it would never retufn.

Violent incidents during the week-end included an attempt to burn down Clifden Hall at Galway during a United Ireland Party dance; removal of parts of the railway tracks near Tullamore, to prevent O'Duffy supporters from attending a meeting; a raid by armed, masked men on a special constabularly arms warehouse at Ballymena in Ulster. The raiders escaped with service rifles, revolvers and thousands of rounds of ammunition.

Cats' Hearing Much Superior To Humans

ATLANTIC CITY, April 7 (AP).—If your house cat pricks up his ears in what seems to you a dead silence, don't blame it on his imagination. He may be listening to the footfalls of a mouse a block away.

Proof that the lowliest alley cats can hear and associate sounds far beyond the range of human hearing was presented to the American Otological Society convention here last night by Professor S. F. Dworkin of McGill University.

Cats trained to associate certain sounds with food were exhibited to the group of scientists and the volume of the sounds was progressively decreased far out of the range of the human ear, but the cats continued to respond. The sounds were made by an electrical contrivance. Slight variations in pitch which the cats understood from previous experience did not mean food, they ignored.

SPECIAL SPEAKER TRENT RIVER Y.P.L.

Rev. Mr. Colquhoun Speaks on "Remember Sababth Day, Keep It Holy."

TRENT RIVER, April 9 (Examiner Correspondence).—The League meeting was resumed Friday night. In the absence of the president, the meeting was in charge of the convenor, Mrs. John H. Scott. Rev. Mr. Colquhoun and Mr. James Wiggins of Havelock were in attendance. Rev. Mr. Colquhoun led in prayer and also read the scripture from Psalm 81.

A vocal duet, "Just The Whispered Name of Jesus," by Mr. and Mrs. Bert Robson; the topic, "The Sabbath Day," was taken by Rev. Mr. Colquhoun, who impressed the idea to "Remember the Sabbath Day and keep it holy."

In opening the address, the speaker said that the voice of the Almighty on the question of the Sabbath Day—the Sabbath Day is a question as time goes on, the delusion of the devil is "the Sabbath Day is a bore." Apart from the gospel call, there is no greater call comes to us than "Remember the Sabbath Day." The appeal of the Sabbath excells all other calls today. It takes first place outside of the call of the gospel.

Continuing the program, a violin instrumental was given by Mr. George Brooks, "Minuet in G." with piano accompaniment by Wesley Wildman. Vocal solo, "He Died for Me," by Rev. Mr. Colquhoun, accompanied on piano by Mr. James Wiggins. Mrs. John Scott was in charge of a cent contest; the sides grouped for the contest, and the "Roses" won the highest points.

Weddings

BARTON—DAFOE

MADOC, April 9. (Examiner Correspondence). — Deer Park United Church, Toronto, was the setting for an attractive spring wedding on Thursday, March 29th when Eleanor Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dafoe of Madoc, became the bride of Mr. David Barton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Farnum Barton, Rev. G. Stanley Russell officiating and Dr. Willan presiding at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a graceful gown of white satin, the skirt forming a train. The sleeves were long and tight and the neckline a high cowl. Her veil of tulle was caught with a wreath of orange blossoms that had been worn by the bride's mother on her wedding day. She carried white orchids and lily-of-the-valley.

Miss Clarice Dafoe, sister of the bride as maid of honor in yellow and Miss Jean Treleaven bridesmaid, in green wore organdy gowns, fashioned alike on straight lines, the fronts perfectly plain, the ruffed panels in the back forming short trains. They were finished with ruffed capes. They wore large matching organdie hats, organdie gloves and matching shoes and carried talisman roses and freslas.

Mr. Allan Bruce, London, was best man and the ushers were Mr. John Hooper, Mr. Colin Dafoe, brother of the bride and Mr. Bunnie Wellan.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Hales, aunt of the bride. Mrs. Dafoe, mother of the bride, gowned in hyacinth blue, rough crepe, matching hat, grey accessories and wearing a corsage of orchids and Mrs. Barton in beige crepe with large black hat and wearing pale pink roses, received with the bridal couple. Mrs. Hales wore green georgette and lace, matching hat and accessories.

Later the couple left for the United States and on their return will live in Torono.

For traveling, Mrs. Barton wore a smart green and brown tweed coat and skirt, brown taffeta blouse, brown straw hat, brown accessories and a mink cape.

Road Worker Crushed By Beam Near Madoc

MADOC, April 9 (Examiner Correspondence).—A most unfortunate and what might have proved a disastrous accident took place on highway No. 7 on Friday.

While workmen were putting up the stone crusher on the construction work near Lewis' farm, west of Madoc village, a large heavy timber fell, crusing Jack Anderson, of Toronto, beneath it. At first it was supposed his back was broken, but when medical aid was rendered, it was found that one of the vertebrae was crushed. He was removed to Belleville General Hospital, where he was placed in a plaster cast. He is still in a dangerous condition, but resting easily, and hopes are expressed for his recovery, though the convalescence will be a prolonged one, and he will be many weeks before being allowed to leave his bed.

The Women's Institute meeting will be held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. P. Logan, at Havelock.

BETTER BULL AREA DURHAM COUNTY

County's Livestock Improvement Association Meets in Port Hope.

Designation of Durham county as a better bull area in 1935 is the objective before the county's Livestock Improvement Association in a campaign planned Thursday afternoon at Port Hope.

A census of Durham last year showed that 77 per cent. of the bulls are purebred, leaving only three per cent. to be made up this year to reach the Government's requirement of 80 per cent. as conditional to declaration of the county as a better bull area.

The Association decided to put forth an extra effort this year in order that the necessary by-law may be submitted to the counties council at the close of the year.

Another project looking forward to January 1935 is a combined attack on bot and lip flies that have been causing trouble to horses. The lip fly has made its way to Ontario from the west. Treatment for both these pests is limited to the month of January, and the Association purposes arranging for engaging veterinary services at various points throughout the centre of the county where special arrangement can be made for the prescribed treatment. Dr. L. Stevenson of Guelph addressed Thursday's meeting in regard to the methods of combatting these insects.

In view of the determined efforts being put forth from some quarters that Section 98 of the Criminal Code should be repealed and the general dim knowledge that the average citizen has concerning what this section really applies to, The Examiner has decided to print the section in full. Particular attention is drawn to the fact that anyone who knowingly permits a room, or building or place to be used by an "unlawful association" is guilty of a serious offence under this Act.

1.—Any association, organization, society or corporation, whose professed purpose or one of whose purposes is to bring about any governmental, industrial or economic change within Canada by use of force, violence or physical injury to person or property, or by threats or such injury, or which teaches, advocates, advises or defends the use of force, violence, terrorism, or physical injury to person or property, or threats of such injury, in order to accomplish such change, or for any other purpose, or which shall by any means prosecute or pursue such purpose or professed purpose, or shall so teach, advocate, advise or defend, shall be an unlawful association.

2.—Any property, real or personal, belonging or suspected to belong to any unlawful association, or held or suspected to be held by any person for or on behalf thereof may, without warrant, be seized or taken possession of by any person thereunto authorized by the Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, and may thereupon be forfeited to His Majesty.

3.—Any person who acts or professes to act as an officer of any such unlawful association, and who shall sell, speak, write or publish anything as the representative or professed representative of any such unlawful association, or become and continue to be a member thereof, or wear, carry or cause to be displayed upon or about his person or elsewhere, any badge, insignia, emblem, banner, motto, pennant, card, button or other device whatsoever, indicating or intended to show or suggest that he is a member of or in anywise associated with any such unlawful association, or who shall contribute anything as dues or otherwise, to it or to any one for it, or who shall solicit subscriptions or contributions for it, shall be guilty of an offence and liable to imprisonment for not more than twenty years.

4.—In any prosecution under this section, if it be proved that the person has

(a) attended meetings of an unlawful association; or

(b) spoken publicly in advocacy of an unlawful association; or

(c) distributed literature of an unlawful association by circulation through the Post Office mails of Canada, or otherwise; it shall be presumed, in the absence of proof to the contrary, that he is a member of such unlawful association.

5.—Any owner, lessee, agent or superintendent of any building, room, premises or place, who knowingly permits therein any meeting of any unlawful association or any subsidiary association or branch or committee thereof, or any assemblage of persons who teach, advocate, advise, or defend the use, without authority of the law, of force, violence or physical injury to person or property, or threats of such injury, shall be guilty of an offence under this section and shall be liable to a fine of not more than five thousand dollars or to imprisonment for not more than five years, or to both fine and imprisonment.

6.—If any judge of any superior or county court, police or stipendiary magistrate, or any justice of the peace, is satisfied by information on oath that there is reasonable ground for suspecting that any contravention of this section has been or is about to be committed, he may issue a search warrant under his hand, authoring any peace officer, police officer, or constable, with such assistance as he may require, to enter at any time any premises or place mentioned in the warrant, and to search such premises or place, and everyone found therein, and to seize and carry away any books, periodicals, pamphlets, pictures, papers, circulars, cards, letters, writings, prints, handbills, posters, publications or documents which are found on or in such premises or place, or in the possession of any person therein at the time of such search, and the same, when so seized may be carried away and may be forfeited to His Majesty.

7.—Where, by this section, it is provided that any property may be forfeited to His Majesty, the forfeiture may be adjudged or declared by any judge of any superior or county court, or by any police or stipendiary magistrate, or by any justice of the peace, in a summary manner, and by the procedure provided by PartXV of this Act, in so far as applicable, or subject to such adaptations as may be necessary to meet the circumstances of the case.

8.—Any person who prints, publishes, edits, issues, circulates, sells, or offers for sale or distribution any book, newspaper, periodical, pamphlet, picture, paper, circular, card, letter, writing, print, publication or document of any kind, in which is taught, advocated, advised or defended, or who shall in any manner teach, advocate, or advise or defend the use, without authority of law, of force, violence, terrorism, or physical injury to person or property, or threats of such injury, as a means of accomplishing any governmental, industrial or economic change, or otherwise, shall be guilty of an offence and liable to imprisonment for not more than twenty years.

9.—Any person who circulates or attempts to circulate or distribute any book, newspaper, periodical, pamphlet, picture, paper, circular, card, letter, writing, print, publication, or document of any kind, as described in this section by mailing the same or causing the same to be mailed, or posted in any post office, letter box, or other mail receptable in Canada, shall be guilty of an offence, and shall be liable to imprisonment for not more than twenty years.

10.—Any person who imports into Canada from any other country, or attempts to import by or through any means whatsoever, any book, newspaper, periodical, pamphlet, picture, paper, circular, card, letter, writing, print, publication or document of any kind as described in this section, shall be guilty of an offence and shall be liable to imprisonment for not more than twenty years.

11.—It shall be the duty of every person in the employment of His Majesty in respect of His Government of Canada, either in the Post Office Department, or in any other Department to seize and take possession of any book, newspaper, periodical, pamphlet, picture, paper, circular, card, letter, writing, print, publication or document, as mentioned in this section, upon discovery of the same in the Post Office mails of Canada or in or upon any station, wharf, yard, car, truck, motor or other vehicle, steamboat or other vessel upon which the same may be found and when so seized and taken, without delay to transmit the same, together with the envelopes, coverings and wrappings attached thereto, to the Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

A CHANCE TO HELP.

The attention of the citizens generally is directed to the notice issued by Mayor Denne and the City Council to house-owners, farmers and all others deserving help which stresses the fact that the city's unemployed men are now registered at the relief office according to their occupations, and that a telephone call to City Relief Officer Metheral is all that is required to secure the required workers.

The season has arrived for repair and paint jobs, for cleaning up yards and lawns, taking off storm windows, and a host of similar jobs, while farmers will be in need of help; it is hoped that there will be a seasonal demand for labor that will give many of the local unemployed a chance to earn some much-needed money.

By registering these men and women the relief authorities are now in a position to supply all the help that is required, and it is to be hoped that citizens will co-operate with the authorities by providing a measure of employment.

The necessity of getting as many persons off the relief list as possible, and of keeping alive the desire to work for their living that has been deadened to some extent by months of direct relief, should be readily apparent, and much can be accomplished along that line if the public will assist the authorities at this time.

ACCIDENT INSURANCE.

To correct an impression that might be set up by a letter in Saturday's issue that The Examiner and the City Council have been conspiring to cover up a "secret arrangement" as to accident insurance, The Examiner would like to point out that in this matter as always it has endeavored to co-operate with the Council in what it believes to be in the best interest of the community.

For a perfectly obvious reason the City Council did not desire to advertise the fact that henceforth the city is to be protected by insurance against accident claims, precisely the same reason why in actions for damages arising out of motor accidents juries must not be told that insurance companies are a party in the suit.

As to the desirability of accident insurance the situation simply is that, in spite of energetic efforts to make the streets safe, the city has found itself called upon to defend numerous actions for damages, and if the municipality is to be held liable every time some citizen falls and injures himself, then it would appear to be good business to take advantage of insurance protection, especially in view of the fact that the rate is only about a third of the premium paid some years ago when similar protection was carried.

There are seventy-seven miles of sidewalks to be taken care of, and when, as on half a dozen occasions during the past winter, walking conditions change in a few minutes it is an obvious impossibility to instantaneously, as it were, make the sidewalks safe.

When the city can protect itself against claims for damages arising out of falls on icy streets as well as all other claims in regard to accidents on city streets, bridges, etc., for $1,226 a year it will strike most people as a businesslike move to take advantage of such protection.

"BEER" OUTLETS.

The manager of a well-known Ontario brewery is quoted as saying that while the possible number of beer licenses that would be issued in Ontario was a matter for the Liquor Control Board to decide, that possibly there were 8,000 hotels, restaurants, golf clubs and other clubs that would be able to meet the requirements of the Board.

"This compares with 200 outlets at the present time," says the brewery executive, with obvious gratification.

It is possible that there will be a great many people who will not share the satisfaction of this interested party in the possibility that instead of 200 "outlets" for beer in Ontario there will soon be 8,000.

Even those who feel that some opportunity should be given to persons who want to buy beer by the glass to do so would hesitate to endorse a policy that would increase the facilities for drinking by forty-fold.

The Examiner is of the opinion that this gentleman's enthusiasm over prospects of increased business has led him far astray.

We would be loth to think that the Government has any intention of authorizing anything like 8,000 drinking places in Ontario; in fact, we are inclined to believe that those who are counting on beer being put on sale all over the shop, as our British friends say, are doomed to disappointment.

Our views as to restaurant sale have been clearly stated; we are flatly opposed to beer and wine being retailed in such places, and the explanation made by the Attorney-General that restaurant licenses are to be very sparingly issued and that in the main they will be authorized only in places where there are no standard hotels, is therefore a source of satisfaction.

TOURIST TRAFFIC.

It was realized last summer that Canada's tourist traffic in 1933 was considerably below the total of recent years, and official figures issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that the falling off was even greater than was thought.

The Bureau estimates that visitors into Canada last year spent $117,214,000, which was almost $100,000,000 less than in 1932, a reduction that was undoubtedly reflected in the cash registers of Canadian stores and in the order sheets of Canadian industries.

Most of the tourists entered this country by motor car, and by far the largest number of motorists came into Ontario.

Foreign cars entering this province on 24-hour permits last year totalled 1,844,643, as against 2,497,384 in 1932, while Quebec had a total of 199,313 cars in this class, a falling off of only 23,000 from the preceding year.

Of motorists who came into Canada for a sixty-day period, which class comprists the real summer visitors, Ontario had over half the total, 494,304 of 863,136, for the whole country. The decrease from the previous year was substantial, the total in 1932 being 1,632,967.

There were various factors entering into the situation last year to explain the lessened number of American visitors into Canada, and the World's Fair at Chicago was undoubtedly one of the most important in this regard, thousands of United States citizens who usually spent their vacation in Canada deciding to visit Chicago instead.

Good reasons exist for hoping for a pick-up in tourist traffic this summer, but intelligent publicity work will have to be used and the districts which consistently advertise are likely to get the cream of the business.

JOHN BULL OUT OF THE RED.

(From the Ottawa Journal)

Chancellor of the Exchequer Chamberlain's Easter egg to the British public was an announcement of a Government surplus for the year of $155,000,000. This as against a deficit of $126,000,000 last year.

It is an extraordinary achievement. Mr. Ramsay MacDonald and Mr. Stanley Baldwin may be, as some of their critics suggest, just "tired old men," but their staleness, if it exists, can't be much of a handicap. Certainly no other Government anywhere, whether Communist or Fascist, has achieved as much toward recovery as has been shown by the British, working quietly under their old and supposedly out-moded form of a Cabinet and Parliament. Even the great Signor Mussolini, idol of all would-be dictators, produced a thumping deficit, a contrast scarcely helpful to Sir Oswald Mosley's Fascists.

One feature of Britain's recovery holds particular interest. Its tariff feature. Twenty years ago, when British duties were restricted to such things as coffee, sugar, cocoa, chocolate, and so forth, customs receipts were about $350,000,000. Even after the war, when there came the McKenna duties, applied to certain key industries, customs revenue remained around $600,000,000. But that wasn't all.

Because of her long adherence to Free Trade Britain had come to the position where she had to buy abroad and to import 60 per cent. of her food as well as great quantities of raw material. In order to pay for these imports she had to export coal and manufactured goods, had to draw an income from the rest of the world in shipping, freights, banking, insurance and other commissions; had to rely on dividends and interest on her past savings invested in foreign countries.

In the old days, this was possible. Britain, then, had a monopoly of manufactures, ruled mercantile shipping, sold vast quantities to her colonies. But when industrial development came to other lands, when the colonies became competitive dominions, and the world industrial scene changed, the case was different. Britain, her exports falling off, and her foreign income from other sources declining, found desperate difficulty in paying for her exports.

The thing could not go on. A point had to come where Britain had to buy less abroad or to sell more. She certainly could not keep on buying more and selling less. With the world-wide depression, this point was reached. With Britain continuing to buy more and to sell less, and with her foreign investments declining steadily, the worlds money markets began to ask themselves how she was going to pay for her imports.

When, finally, it became clear that world trade was not due for a quick revival, and when, in addition, it was seen that British investments in Germany, in South America, in Australia and in the Orient were badly frozen, the belief spread that since Britain could not pay for her purchases abroad in goods, and could not pay for them out of her foreign investments, she would have to pay for them in gold.

Britain could not pay in gold; there was not enough gold to do it. So there began what was really a run on the bank; the money markets withdrew their own gold deposits from London. The result was that Britain, unable to meet her foreign commitments for the first time in a hundred years, was forced off the gold standard.

It was the beginning of the end of Free Trade. There came the National Government under Ramsay MacDonald, and with it tariffs that turned Britain to Protection. Last year those tariffs, customs revenue, brought in $1,430,000,000 of revenue.

• • • •

But they did more than that. Last year, with British industry recovering rapidly, some 700,000 Britons returned to work. While the treasury was taking in more of revenue, helping to balance the budget, increasing British exports and diminishing imports helped to right British balances abroad. The nation was saved from what looked like certain bankruptcy.

It is easy to argue against the theory of Protection. It is certainly easy to make out a case against crazy tariffs, against quotas and all sorts of restrictions. It is less easy to draw an indictment against the reality of Britain's case, with facts showing a country coping with a tariff-made world through defensive tariff measures. Little wonder, therefore, that erstwhile eminent Free Traders like Sir John Simon and Mr. J. M. Keynes proclaim their conversion to Protection.

• • • •

But there is another side to what is happening in Britain—one that Canada should take note of. It is the policy of making Britain, as far as may be possible, a self-sustaining economic unit. Only a few weeks ago Britain declined New Zealand's offer of absolute free trade. What is meant—and the meaning has a special significance for us—was that Britain has determined to diminish her imports of foodstuffs. The Minister of Agriculture in Britain to-day is Mr. Walter Elliott, a man of unusual ability. By a series of marketing acts, by the adoption of quotas, and by a policy of back-to-the-land, he is working toward making Britain less and less dependent upon other countries for her food supplies. And he is succeeding.

What such a policy, carried to its logical conclusion, may mean for Canada, he who runs may read. It is something that might well engage the serious study of our politicians, some of whom appear to think that so long as we can regiment Canadian producers into selling groups, all will be well. Obviously, and in the light of what is going on in Britain, something more is required, and without too much of delay.

CHAPTER 33

There was a brief pause before an answering movement came from inside the door, and the door opened to him. Viola stood in the entrance, dressed to go out, her suitcase in her hand.

"Oh, you're up!" said Tiggie in a tone of relief. "Hope you've slept."

Her eyes gave him the answer, and again in the morning light he was shocked by her look—her transparent pallor, and the shadows that seemed to be ever deepening, imparting to her features an almost unbelievable purity of outline.

"I was just coming to see if I could find you," she said. "Is there anywhere where we can talk?"

"Have you had any breakfast?" said Tiggie.

She shook her head, with a faint nervous smile. "No, but I'm all right. I——"

"Let's go down and have some!" said Tiggie practically. "And by the way, my brother-in-law—Harvey Gilmore—will be there—the man you saw last night. You don't mind meeting him?"

Her eyelids flickered a little; he saw that she was nerving herself. "Of course not!" she said.

"You certainly needn't," said Tiggie. "He's a good sort. We're pals. Come along down!" He took the suitcase from her, and set it on one side. "We'll leave that here till later."

"Couldn't I just—speak to you first?" she said, with an effort. "I've been thinking a good deal during the night, and——"

Again he interrupted her with decision. "No, Viola. I'm doing all the talking—and the thinking—today." He held out his hand to her with the words, and as she laid her own within it, "That's all you've got to do," he said gently. "Understand?"

She shrank a little. "You're not—going to make me do anything—irrevocable?" she said.

"Yes, I am," said Tiggie.

He hesitated for an instant. He had not meant to be sudden; but it seemed he had no choice. Quietly he told her. "Presently, when we've had some breakfast, I'm going to take you along to a quiet church in the city where we can be married."

She made a sharp, involuntary movement. Her hand went up to her face as though to ward off a blow. "Oh, hadn't we better—wait a little?" she said breathlessly. "Wouldn't it be wiser—safer?"

"No," said Tiggie, and he spoke with a resolution that would not be gainsaid. "I don't see any point in it. In fact in my opinion there's every reason for not waiting. I got a special license yesterday, and Harvey has fixed up the rest."

She broke in almost feverishly, but she kept her face hidden. "But—yesterday—you didn't know—everything. It was only last night that—that——"

"It didn't make any difference," said Tiggie simply. "In fact, if I'd needed anything further to make me decide what to do, it would have been that."

She turned from him; he saw that she was trembling. "I ought not to let you," she said in a choked voice.

"It isn't a question of letting," said Tiggie. "It's just plain necessity. You needn't be afraid that I'll ever do anything to make you regret it."

"But you!" she said. "You!"

There was a kind of suppressed anguish in her utterance that made him realize the need for firmness. He knew that he had already established a certain ascendency over her, and he must not suffer it to slacken.

"My dear," he said very quietly, "we're not going back over that old ground now. You are in my care, and I'm going to do all I can to protect you. But first I want the legal right to do so. You can't refuse to give me that—at this stage."

She made an odd, blind movement towards him. "I couldn't refuse—to give you anything," she said. "Only—only—are you sure it's fair? Isn't there—some other way?"

"None," said Tiggie firmly. "And it's perfectly fair. You need never ask yourself that. Now look here! Wouldn't you like to stay and have your breakfast up here? It'll give you time to get used to the idea. Then, when I've had mine, I'll come up and fetch you, and we'll just go off and get the thing done. Come! How does that strike you? You'll be ready for me, will you?"

She had turned back into the room. She made a small gesture with her hands. "I don't know—what to say to you," she said.

"That's all right," said Tiggie cheerily, looking at his watch. Practical determination was his plan of action at this stage. He had used it before with success. "In half an hour's time then! I'll tell them to send you up some breakfast. You'll be ready?"

He paused, wishing she would turn and face him; then, as she did not, he went straight to her, halting close behind her.

"Viola!" he said.

She turned very slowly in response, not willingly, but as though she had no choice. Her face was set, immobile. "Yes," she said passively.

"I'm counting on you," said Tiggie with emphasis. "You'll be ready?"

She bent her head; her eyes were downcast. "Yes," she said again.

"Very well, then," said Tiggie. "That's settled."

And with the words, he turned and quietly left her.

He had gained his point. He knew that she would make no further attempt to resist. Yet as he went away he was conscious of no feeling of elation. Rather was the weight he carried at his heart almost a presage of tragedy.

Harvey, openly skeptical of the ecclesiastical element, and a gray-haired verger of almost unbelievable sanctity, were the sole witnesses of that strangely unreal yet strangely impressive wedding.

"Why on earth did he choose a church ceremony?" was the wonder of the mind in Harvey to whom the whole affair seemed unnecessarily prolonged and theatrical.

The elderly clergyman who conducted the service had a weary look, as though he were wondering the same thing, but he conscientiously did his best to muster a little enthusiasm and prevent his thoughts from straying in the direction of a parish matter which to him was of infinitely greater importance.

Certainly the attitude of the two parties chiefly concerned was not such as to excite any very knee interest. The man, sturdily built, unromantic in every detail, held a Prayer Book with one finger inserted in the leaves of the Marriage Service for reference, until the loudly-whispered instructions of the attendant verger convinced him that this was unnecessary, when he turned with a business-like air and handed it to Harvey, who studied it with an air of impersonal criticism for the rest of the service. The girl, wrapped in her cloak, her hat brim drawn down over her small pale face, seemed intent only upon fulfilling her part with as little delay and ostentation as possible. She betrayed no sign of agitation though the husky quality of her voice made her words somewhat indistinct. The hand upon which Tiggie eventually placed his ring was very cold but quite steady. She behaved like a perfectly regulated automaton throughout.

No, the officiating clergyman was perhaps not greatly to blame, though he blamed himself, for the failure to fix his full attention upon the matter in hand. They were so obviously desirous to get the thing over and be gone.

In the vestry, after he had blessed them, he essayed the old time-worn jokes suitable to the occasion; but only Tiggie laughed, and that perfunctorily, and so evidently from a mere sense of decency that he speedily refrained, suffering his tired and rather gloomy thoughts to travel back to the parochial problem which was harassing his mind. He was too hard-worked to have time or energy to spare for these strangers, though he did throw a glance of disapproval at Harvey for remarking that the good deed thus duly completed and ratified ought to earn them some abatement on the credit side of virtue in the celestial passbook. Again it was only Tiggie who laughed, and that somewhat grudgingly, but Harvey had not spoken with the idea of provoking merriment. He only expressed the sardonic thoughts with which his satyr-like brain supplied him. And the dim church, with its long aisles and narrow stained glass windows through which the sunlight could only point long thin fingers here and there, was not in his opinion a very inspiring place. The general atmosphere depressed him, and the fusty smell of cassocks and surplices in the vestry did not improve things. He voiced the decision later that the whole edifice wanted fumigating. The catacombs of ancient Rome could hardly have been less stuffy. But perhaps religion throve best in such surroundings.

To which Tiggie, newly married responded prosaically, "Oh, let's talk of things we know something about!"

It was then that Viola, who stood between them veiled in silence, uttered a faint laugh which made them both turn and look at her with concern.

They had reached the dark porch of the church; both clergyman and verger had faded away behind them and the roar of lorries and tradesmen's vans filled the street in front.

Tiggie spoke over her head to his faithful supporter. "Go and get a taxi like a good chap!"

THE SCRAMBLE

To The Editor of he Examiner:

Sir,—It must have struck all people capable of being struck that Canada is sorely in need of people with ideas and with the courage and enterprise necessary to carry them out. The fact that we have failed to condemn our present methods.. Are we so poor in brain power as to continue on down and down in a country which our ancestors hewed out of the wilderness for us but which we haven't got brains enough to go on with. Everything has failed—education, experience, natural resources and so forth—to keep our heads above water. Why cry out that we are dependent upon other countries and try to make that an excuse just after "hollerin'" with all our strenth "Canada first." No country with our resources has made such a mess of things as we have. We ought to be ashamed of ourselves and instead of talking of seaway pacts and the like we ought to float a huge loan and put our unemployed on the land.

J. H. Burnham.

UNEMPLOYMENT NOT AN OFFENCE.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I have been reading Mr. Burnham's letters in The Examiner as regards the unemployed going on farms. Whether he means all the people who are unemployed or not is not stated. Assuming he means the former, his contention will not hold water, because only a small percentage of the unemployed understand farming. In addition to the proper cultivation of the soil, the care and feeding of livestock is of the utmost importance. Neglect or ignorance of these would soon bring financial ruin.

The putting of such people on farms would be a punishment for unemployment by rustication, showing human nature has not much changed from the less enlightened times when men were transported to Van Dieman's Land and other such places for trifling offences. But unemployment is not an offence—it is a cycle of events hastened through greed and inhuman methods, and until the latter is changed through parliamentary action we can expect no redress.

As to the unemployed going on farms to earn a living, they would not be assured of getting prices for their produce as sold to-day or, in fact, any prices for that matter. The result on the farms would be the same as in the factory—overproduction—or in products of the farm, would be so plentiful there would be less sale for them. Money would become scarce amongst other farmers and their plight would be as bad as the unemployed man who was sent to the farm from the city. So Mr. Burnham's back-to-the-land plan can be readily seen is superficial.

The farmer must have money to live like everybody else. He must buy clothing and books, tea, sugar, flour, salt, etc., for himself and his family. He must buy harness for his horses, implements to cultivate the soil and have the necessities of life even in so small quantities as the unemployed man to-day on relief.

A genuine solution of unemployment in Canada would be a masterpiece of any politician, and is eagerly awaited by everyone, but that solution is not found in the back-to-the-land movement in question or any other movement which wears a velvet glove over an iron hand.

In order to test Mr. Burnham's sincerity in this matter, might I suggest that he procure ten acres outside a ten-mile radius of Peterborough. Put a suitable farmer on it to make his living, build a house and barn for him, also supply a horse and cow for his own use, and tell him he must shift for himself. The ten acres would, of course, be suitable for cultivation.

Now, Mr. Burnham, would you kindly explain in simple words without high-pressure salesmanship how from now on that farmer is going to buy fuel and other necessaries of life outlined in this letter. Surely you do not think all the people unemployed are so insensate as to believe that if a slogan is repeated often enough people will eventually believe it is true.

The gap dividing realism from idealism is too great to be bridged by the simple material you have provided in your letters. So the best thing to do is to put your theory into practice somewhat along the lines I have suggested as you know actions speak louder than words. So give us the model to see how it works.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for this space, I remain, W. S.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

WHO WANTS THE PINK PILLS?

I had a cold and I didn't want it.

I was told that if I went to a certain drug store and asked to have a certain prescription filled, the man behind the counter would sell me a dozen pretty bright-pink pills and that would be the last of the cold....Absolutely. Those pink pills had never failed yet. They were "miraculous" in their effect. I'd see.

I scoffed, but I went. I bought the pills, paid 50 cents for them. Also I asked the prescription man what was in them, but he evaded and murmured that they were a "compound" and wouldn't tell me... I hadn't really thought he would.... I took the pills. But they didn't do me a bit of good. I might as well have taken bread pills....And the family laughed at me, just as it laughed at me that time I let my barber sell me a bottle of something that eventually went down the drain....Those pills did me no harm, but my cold laughed at them, too.

So today I brought them over and gave them to a friend who thinks he has been helped by them.... He can have them. The next time he has a cold he can take the pretty little fellows and be benefited by them....He believes in them at least a little more than I do. And perhaps that's why they help him and do NOT help me.

I had a little booklet on astrology and I thought it was nonsense. I tried to make something out of it, but I failed. I gave it my serious attention, but still I couldn't believe in any connection between the conjunction of heavenly bodies and my own fortune....So I gave that book away to a man who said he thought their might be something in astrology. He believed in the stars. No passionately, but at least he thought they did "incline" even they might not "compel a human being....So he has the book that was meaningless to me....Once I would not have done that. I was more fiery then, more convinced that what was good for me must be good for everybody else, and what was bad for me should be kept from all other people...In those days I'd have thrown the pink pills and the astrology book into the fire. Proudly.

VOICE FROM THE CROWD: "Mr. Maslin, I suppose you think you're improving with the years. But perhaps you're just weakening."

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THIS IS VIMY DAY

On this day, in 1915 men of Canada accomplished a feat of arms that made the name of Canada ring with glory the wide world over. They captured Vimy Ridge! It was an all day job, but it was done and when night came our gunners slept in dugouts in which grey-clad Germans had slept on Easter night. Our artillery prepared the way in the morning. By noon they had galloped to the top of the ridge, established themselves and covered the advancing Canadian Corps as they pressed on down the other side of the slope through the little town of Vimy.

It was the first time that the four Canadian divisions had gone over together. It was their feat here which widened their niche in the history of arms and placed them firmly in the minds of soldiers as shock troops of the highest order.

The 1st and 4th. C.M.R.'s the 75th Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, the 42nd Battalion, the 38th Battalion, the 38th talion, the 38th Battalion, the 46th Battalion, the 78th and 50th Battlaions all served with honor that Easter Monday. But we must not forget that "there were others." On the left were the men of the 51st Highland Division and the Third Brigade, three battalions of Highlanders, including the 15th, 48th Highlanders of Toronto, so that there were miles of kilted figures creeping up the bloody ridge.

But Canada paid a heavy price. Row upon row of white crosses now dot the green slopes of Vimy Ridge, which, transferred to the Dominion by a grateful France, is now a little bit of Canada over there. To thousands of Canadians Vimy Ridge is something eternally dear, a shrine that holds their beloved. To all of us Vimy Ridge is a lasting memorial to Canadian sacrifice and courage of that April 9 of 19 years ago.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

ANGRY HUSBAND SLAYS FAMILY

Man 58, Murders Wife 19, Two Children in Fit of Jealousy After Dance.

SUICIDES LATER.

EUREKA SPRINGS, Ark., April 9 (A.P.).—Accepting as a motive the jealous rage of a husband over attentions of a younger man to his wife, officials sought to-day to reconstruct details of a tragedy which took the lives of Warren Davis, 58, business man, his 19-year-old wife and two small children.

The four were found Sunday in their home here by Mrs. Katherine Brown, sister of the dead woman, the heads of the mother and children crushed by blows from a hammer, their throats slashed. Davis apparently had killed the three and then slashed his own throat as he lay beside the body of one of the children. Police Chief C. E. Blackburn said.

Coroner Earl Walker said his investigation showed that Mrs. Davis and her children were murdered and Davis had taken his own life.

Chief Blackburn said an investigation revealed the couple had quarrelled at a dance they attended Saturday night when a young man became attentive to Mrs. Davis. The tragedy was a climax of domestic difficulties over a period of several months, he said, adding that Mr. and Mrs. Davis had been estranged until recently.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, April 9. (CP). Cattle trade, under heavy receipts of nearly 4,000 head, continued sluggish on the Toronto Livestock Market this afternoon and only 1,000 were sold. Prices were steady on sales up to mid-afternoon but indications were prices would drop lower on the balance of the supply.

Calves and sheep held their steady tone and prices were unchanged at last week's close. Hogs failed to hold and settled 25 cents lower with off-cars dipping below $8 for the first time in months. Lambs got back a little of last week's drop and sold 25 cents higher.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion Livestock branch were: Cattle, 3,860; calves 580; hogs, 2,410; sheep and lambs, 1,130.

Choice weighty steers made $5.75 to $6.25 with a few at $6.50. Plain steers sold down to $4.75. A few choice butchers brought $5.25 to $7.75 but otherwise butcher cattle trade was very dull. Cows held steady at $3.75 to $4.25 while good bulls sold at $3.25 to $3.50 and up to $3.75 for choice. A few fed calves ranged from $5.50 to $7. cwt.

The calf division was steady at $5 to $7 for the bulk of the supply. Choice went up to $8. Hogs dropped 25 cents to sell at $7.15 f.o.b. for bacons $7.40 off truck and $7.90 off car.

REFINERY BLAST KILLS WORKMAN HURTS 9 OTHERS

Sudden Explosion of Tar Still One of Most Spectacular in Sarnia.

SMOKE COVERS CITY.

Oil Tank Takes Fire and Roofs of Nearby Buildings Blaze Up.

SARNIA, Ont., April 9 (CP) — One man was killed and nine injured when a tar still at the Imperial Oil Refinery here exploded at noon to-day.

The dead.—Jack Harvey, Capel street, Sarnia.

The injured:

John C. Munro, Nelston street, burns and back injuries.

William H. Ward, Samuel street, burns.

Paul Joleum, Palmerston street, burns.

Joseph Osika, South Christina, burns.

Philip Legault, East street, shock.

John H. Neely, Wellington street, burns and sprained ankle.

William Moorehouse, Elgin street, cuts and bruises.

William Moore, Ann street, burns and cuts.

William Drinkwater, shock and cut hand.

Ball of Fire Shoots Up

The blast was the most spectacular at the local refinery for some time. The explosion sent a ball of fire high into the air and pall of black smoke followed in its wake and cast a dark pall over the plant and part of the city.

Roofs of small buildings nearby were ignited at once, and the plant fire fighters were rushed into action. A nearby tank of oil also took fire and steam lines, one of the most effective methods of quenching flames at the refinery were turned on.

The roof fires were soon extinguished, but the blaze in the oil tank furnished a more difficult problem. Workmen were gaining control over the flames early this afternoon.

Employees who survived the blast said the blast came unexpectedly. One man was eating his lunch when the explosion occurred. He was bowled over and sustained bruises.

REVERSES SEEN IN MINING LIST

Cheaper Issues Particularly Under Attack in Toronto Trading.

TORONTO, April 9 (C.P.). — The price trend was downward on the mining section of the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day with some of the cheap issues particularly under attack. Losses in the senior gold group were limited to about 75 cents and to about 15 cents in the medium-priced list. Silver shares exhibited a firming tendency in the afternoon.

Three recent favorites were trimmed extensively. Brownlee sagging more than 3 cents to around 5¼. Bagamac 7 to 2, and Maple Leaf 18 to 78. The latter dropped to 70 soon after noon in heavy selling.

Lake Shore Dmoe, Hollinger, and McIntyre closed 50 to 75 cents lower and drops of 10 to 15 cents appeared for Wright-Hargreaves and Teck-Hughes and Pioneer. San Antonio lost 15 Roxville 11, Siscoe 5 Macassa 7, and Reno 2. Noranda, Sherritt, and Sudbury Basin weakened narrowly.

EXCHANGE INSTABILITY IS BLAMED ON GERMANY

BASLE, Switzerland, April 9 (AP) —Germany herself was blamed for the instability of her money by creditors in a conference of holders of long term German credits to-day.

As a result of the conference, Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, President of the Reichsbank, will be told that instability of exchange is Germany's own fault when he requests further credit to enable her to pay her debts by developing foreign trade.

Germany contends she is unable to increase her transfers payments without increased production and exportation, for which she needs raw materials.

Previously, it was said Germany made proposals in connection with future payments but that these lacked clarity." The creditors' agents decided to meet with Reachsbank officials soon to seek a further adjustment of the payments to long and medium term creditors.

$18,000 BLAZE AT DRYDEN.

DRYDEN, Ont., April 9 (C.P.).—Four families were made homeless to-day when fire, believed to have originated from defective wiring, swept through three buildings and caused damage estimated at $18,000. The pulp mill hall, Phil Moore's pool-room and a barber shop were destroyed, and the four families, living in upstairs rooms, were forced to flee.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, April 9 (AP)—Conflicting trends gave stocks a ragged appearance to-day. Metal issues staged a mild rally, but easiness in the motor shares was a deterrent. Kennecott, U. S. Steel and United Aircraft were a bit improved. International Silver, U.S. Smelting and Cerro De Pasco rose 1 to 2 points. American Telephone, Nash, Hudson and General Motors were off fractions to about a point. Transfers approximated 800,000 shares.

husband, but refused to tell where she was.

Hall is serving a 20-year sentence in Sing Sing prison.

It was learned that Miss Cedarholm visited frequently in Northern New York and Canada.

Difference in Date

KITCHENER, Ont., April 9. (CP) If the dates mentioned in a "confession" letter supposedly written by Jack Ginrovich to Kitchener police in 1930 are correct, there is little chance that the skeleton discovered near the outskirts of this city is that of missing Eugenia Cedarholm of Brooklyn.

In the "confession" letter, Ginrovich allegedly declared he had killed an unidentified woman with an overdose of cocaine on the night of Sept. 10, 1925. Miss Cedarholm disappeared from Brooklyn in 1927.

The disjointed skeleton, found by children playing in a sandpit here last week, was believed to be that of a woman of about 27 years of age, the same age as the missing Brooklyn woman. There were no fragments of clothes or even buttons by which the identity of the skeleton could be ascertained, however.

As the letter of confession was written when Ginrovich was declared mentally unsound, it was thought possible that the date of his "crime" might have been inaccurate.

FOOD ISSUES SHOW STRENGTH

Oils, Distillery and Utilities Are Irregular in To-day's Session.

BANK FAIRLY STEADY.

TORONTO, April 9 (CP)—Only a light volume of buying was required to-day to give prices an upward tilt on the industrial section of the Toronto Stock Exchange. Brewery, food, steel and utility shares were up; oils, distillery issues and utilities were irregular and the banks were generally steady. Ford "A" dropped back ⅝ on profit-taking and Nickel closed off only a few cents.

Five stocks, the Loblaw issues, Hunts "A", Cosmos Preferred and International Petroleum, touched a new high price for the year. International Pete was up to 24¼ and closed at 24¼ for a gain of ⅛. British American had a similar advance and McColl and Imperial were down small fractions.

Distillery stocks were less active than usual, with Walkers common down a point; Industrial Alcohol up ⅛, and Distillers Seagram off a half point.

Shop-lifter Given Term In Reformatory

On five charges of shop lifting from local stores, Mrs. Laura Elms was sentenced to-day by Police Magistrate Langley to a term of not more than two years in the Mercer Reformatory.

"This is not an isolated case and cannot be treated as such, although there is no information given of any previous conviction; it appears that you were making a business of stealing from these stores," stated His Worship, in passing sentence. "This sentence must serve as a lesson to others that such things cannot go on in this community."

Rummage Sale Is Planned By Chapter

At the regular meeting of the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E., held at the home of Mrs. F. Hooper, Dublin street, with the regent, Mrs. C. S. Browne, in the chair, it was decided to hold a rummage sale this month, with Miss Florence Adams in charge, in order to augment Chapter funds.

A hearty vote of thanks was presented to Miss Meta Meredith, who lent her home for an Easter tea.

Mrs. C. S. Browne was appointed as delegate to the Provincial I.O.D.E. meeting to be held this month in Hamilton.

At the close of the business session, dainty refreshments were served, in charge of Miss Florence Adams' group.

WIRT'S CHARGES CLIMAX OF JOKE DURING PARTY

Princeton Journal Says Red Plot Only Myth by "Some of the Boys."

BERLE EXPLAINS.

Party Feeling Good, Started Kidding the Doctor and Had to Keep it Up.

PRINCETON, N.J., April 9 (AP) —Adolf A. Berle, Jr., New York City Chamberlain, in an interview published in to-day's issue of The Daily Princtonian, said that charges of a red plot to overthrown the government were the result of a joke played on Dr. William A. Wirt "by some of the boys."

"The boys," were not identified in the Princton undergraduate publication. "Let's explode that myth right now. There is no such thing," he said.

"Between the 1932 National election and President Roosevelts inauguration, Hugh Johnson, Raymond Moley, Charley Taussig, Reg. Tugwell and myself, who frequently consulted with the President in our official capacity as the Research Committee of the Democratic Party, were dubbed the 'brain trust.'

"But since there is no place in our Government for a kitchen cabinet, we five broke up the night before inauguration. We have not been in the same room together since. Now, any one who is seen talking with the President is immediately called 'another one of the brain trust'."

The Explanation

When questioned about the alleged plot of the "brain trust," recently unearthed by Dr. Wirt, Mr. Berle broke into a broad grin; the Princtonian said, "I've just heard the inside story on that terrible scandal. The good doctor was at a party with some of the boys was at are connected with things down in Washington. Wirt started asking a few questions about the Roosevelt revolution he was hearing so much about.

"They were all in pretty good spirits, and relished kidding the credulous old duffer. Confiding that Roosevelt was a Kerensky, they said that he was just waiting for the right time to start his revolution. After two years, there would be a Stalin, who would take over the government. "Yes,' they continued, 'the country is going to the dogs'.

"'But who is to be the Stalin?' the doctor pressed. So having led him thus far,' Mr. Berle smiled, 'they decided to take him for a good long ride, and said solemnly, 'Rexford G. Tugwell is the man. Thus intrigued, the doctor wanted to know why Tugwell was slated for the job. 'Oh, that's because we all call him Rex, they gaily replied.

"Now that story is absolutely on the level.

"I believe that President Roosevelt will seek to have his licensing power, which is his main whip over industry, renewed when it expires in June, since there is every reason to think that the President does not hold the NRA a temporary measure, but believes it should become a permanent part of our national scheme, why should he wish to give up his main weapon of defence?"

Science Progressing On Rust-Proof Wheat

WINNIPEG, April 9 (C.P.).—The search of science for a rust and drought resisting wheat with high baking and milling qualities was advancing to-day.

Ending a series of discussions of the cereal, experts who met under the auspices of the National Research Council of Canada last night issued a statement saying progress was being made in battling rust and its $20,000,000 loss annually to Canadian farmers.

They found praise for reward, a strain of what developed at the Ottawa Experimental Farm and, grown by scores of farmers, now earning dozen of prizes in local and international grain shows. Marquis, Ceres and Five Hybrids came in for commendation of the experts as a result of tests.

Democrats Ready Probe Wirt Charges

WASHINGTON, April 9 (C.P.)—Democrats said to-day that if Dr. William A Wirt produces the goods when he takes the stand to-morrow, the United States House of Representatives will spend 'plenty of money" to sift his charges of a Red plot.

Representative Joe Byrns of Tennessee, Democratic Leader, answered Representative Harold McGugin (R., Kansas), who charged that Democrats were "starving" the inquiry to death by appropriating only $500 for it. Byrns said that if the Gary, Ind., educationist discloses anything "worth investigating" more money will be spent.

"We presumed that if Dr Wirt named any "brain trusters" he would name "brain trusters" who are in Washington," Byrns said. "Any other couldn't have had much influence in bringing on this Kerensky-Stalin revolution he talks about."

Tax Exemption Plan Will Meet Opposition

Although tax exemption of new buildings for a period of two years as means of encouraging the building industry has been recommended to the City Council in a resolution by the Central Relief Board, it is very improbable that the Council will adopt any such action.

When a letter urging this same program was read from the Windsor City Council, the Legal Committee of the Council decided that any such action was opening up too big a field. Not only would special legislation be required, but it was considered unworkable by members of the committee.

BISHOP CANNON HALED TO COURT

Methodist Leader and Girl Aide Must Explain Handling of Funds.

$48,000 SHORT.

WASHINGTON, April 9 (AP) — Bishop James Cannon, Jr., militant Methodist leader, and a feminine aide in his anti-Al Smith movement in 1928, were called to a United States Criminal Court today to answer for their handling of funds in the Hoover-Smith campaign.

Charged with conspiracy to violate the corrupt practices Act, Cannon and Miss Ada L. Burroughs of Richmand, Va., if convicted, would face a possible two years' imprisonment or $10,000 fine, or both.

The specific charge is that only $17,300 of the $65,300 contribution made by Edwin C. Jamieson of New York to the anti-Smith movement was reported by the anti-Smith Democrats headquarters committee, as required by law. Cannon was chairman of this group and Miss Burroughs, treasurer.

The trial turned the pages of history back six years to the birth at Asheville, N.C., of the bitter drive in the South against Alfred E. Smith, Democratic Presidential nominee.

The Government proposed to tell something of this campaign to the jury.

The defence was expected to contend that Miss Burroughs did not have to report the $48,000 in question, arguing that it was spent within Virginia by the State anti-Smith Committee.

VALERA CATERS TO DOMINIONS

Wants No Break With Them Because of Trouble With Great Britain.

FREEDOM AT ALL COSTS.

SYDNEY, Australia, April 9 (AP) —President Eamon de Valera of the Irish Free State said in an interview featured in The Sydney Sun to-day, that Ireland is prepared to sever the last ties binding her to the British Commonwealth of Nations, if necessary, to obtain independence from Great Britain.

De Valera emphasized that Ireland does not wish to break away completely from other British Dominions.

He explained that the Irish Free State genuinely wishes friendly relations with the Dominions, but said this is completely subsidiary to the paramount demand for complete severance—economically and politically—from England.

To Australians and Canadians, England might be regarded as the Mother Country, De Valera said, but to him she is an "invader who destroyed Irish sovereignty."

He pictured Ireland as as much a Motherland to some sections of the Dominions as England, making cooperation in trade and mutual defence practicable, but he warned that if Irish independenece can be obtained only through a complete break with the other Dominions, the Irish Free State is ready to take even that step.

Lindsay Proprietor Is Badly Beaten Up

LINDSAY, April 9 (Examiner Correspondence).—A serious disturbance took place on Sunday at the Capitol Restaurant here, in which the proprietor, Frank Lee, a Chinaman, and John Walton and F. Brimmell participated. Lee was so badly beaten up that he had to be removed to the Ross Hospital. His assailants were arrested by the police and were remanded this morning on the charge of assault until April 13th.

Saturday night in a tussle at the Royal Hotel between Frank O'Relly and P. J. O'Connell, the latter had his leg broken, and was removed to the hospital.

$34.73 GOLD AT LONDON.

MONTREAL, April 9 (C.P.). — Bar gold in London down 3 cents to $34.73 an ounce in Canadian funds; 134s 4d in British funds. The fixed $35.00 Washington price amounted to $34.94 in Canadian.

SUNDAY LABOR IS DISCUSSED BY MINISTERS

Lord's Day Alliance Investigated Conditions at Local Plant.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Rev. Dr. Rolls Addresses the Ministerial Association.

The report of S. A. Lawson, representative of the Lord's Day Alliance on the results of an investigation he made at the request of Peterborough Ministerial Association as to Sunday work being carried on in certain local manufacturing plants, contrary to the Lord's Day Alliance Act, was this morning the subject of discussion by membersof the Association.

The meeting held in the Y.M.C.A. clubroom under chairmanship of the Rev. William McDonald retiring president of the Association, considered also a communication from the superintendent of the plant, to which Mr. Lawson's report had particular reference.

While the letter from the superintendent pointed out that it was necessary to employ watchmen and others on Sundays, it also stated, "we do not regularly employ anyone for Sunday work for the manufacture of commercial devices, although at times we are required to do special work on Sunday which cannot be done in regular schedule".

Following the visit of the representative of the Lord's Day Alliance, the writer of the letter believed, "you will realize we have many things to consider, but that we shall do all we can to eliminate Sunday labor."

Report Received

With the assurance that the plant concerned would take steps to discontinue unnecessary Sunday labor, the report was "received" on motion of the Rev. C. D. Daniel, seconded by the Rev. J. L. Hughes. The motion also instructed the secretary of the Association to send a letter of appreciation to the representative of the Lord's Day Alliance.

During the course of discussion prior to the adoption of the motion, the Rev. J. L. Hughes, who originally brought the matter before the Association, commented on Mr. Lawson's report to state that it just referred to conditions as they had existed at the time of the investigation. Had Mr. Lawson gone back a few months, the speaker believed he would have found that in the fall, the plant referred to in the report had been employing girls to do Sunday labor. "If the report had gone back a few months," Mr. Hughes reiterated, "the story might have been different." He alleged that besides having employed persons on Sunday, the plant had required employees to work on Sunday without receiving "extra time" which was contrary to the laws of the country.

A Suggestion.

The Rev. C. D. Daniel, noting the presence of a reporter, suggested that the Association should prepare a statement for the press. The suggestion died a natural death, after the Rev. A. H. Going, retiring secretary, advised: "Let the press look after their own affairs."

Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe presented the report of the nominating committee, and upon adoption of the report, the following officers were installed for the ensuing year:

President—Rev. R. D. Wright.
Immediate Past President — Rev. William McDonald.
Vice-President — Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr.
Treasurer—Rev. E. R. James.
Secretary—Rev. C. D. Daniel.

Before relinquishing the chair, the Rev. Mr. McDonald was tendered a hearty vote of appreciation for his services, ably voiced by Venerable Archdeacon Dr. R. C. Blagrave and Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe.

Retires As Secretary.

Archdeacon Blagrave also made special reference to the retirement after four years continuous service as secretary of the Rev. A. H. Going, whom he described as always having been "willing, agreeable and courteous."

Rev. Dr. J. E. Moore, who claims 62 years' service in the ministry, and who said he was in his 84th year, also made kindly reference to Rev. Mr. Going, whom he said he had known for fifty years.

One of the features of the meeting was an address on the theme, "The Minister and His Ministry," delivered by the Rev. Dr. C. J. Rolls of New Zealand. He was introduced to the meeting by Rev. Dr. Barr.

Motorists Are Asked To Watch Highways

Highway Patrol Officer A. E. Hornick issued the warning to-day that motorists should drive particularly carefully at the present time over all highways in the district. Many of the culverts along Highways 7 and 28 have dropped down two and three inches below the level of the rest of the road, he stated, and although highway workmen have placed sand on these low spots it is still dangerous for motorists to go over them at anything like high speed. When the frost has come out of the highway, the road will drop back to the level of the culverts, he explained.

SAM McKINLAY HOLDS HONORS IN HOBBY SHOW

Total of Awards in All Departments Gives Him Grand Champion Title.

INDIVIDUAL WINNERS.

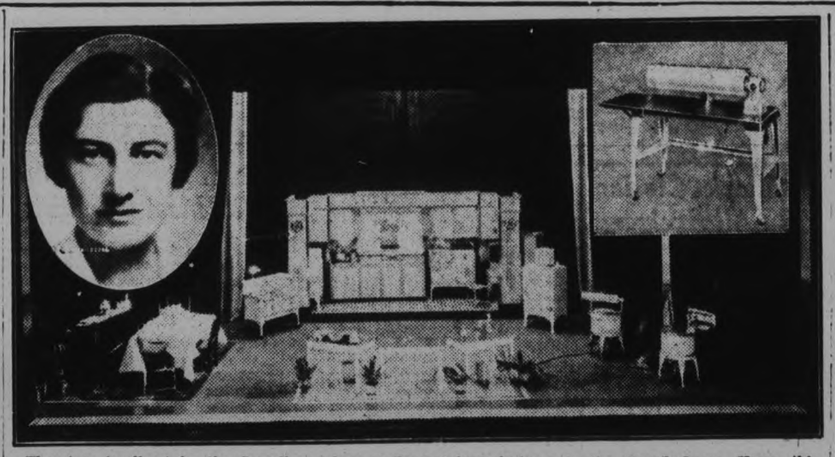
Ormie Henry is Runner-up—Y.M.C.A. Boys' Hobby Show Brought to Conclusion.

Sam McKinlay, a winner during the past two years was again declared grand champion of the Peterborough Boys' Hobby Show as points were totalled at the Y.M.C.A. Saturday evening. Although McKinlay actually led only one department of the show, the totals of his first, second and third ribbon awards in the exhibition as a whole proved sufficient to bring him the honours.

Departmental champions announced by Secretary William Wheeler were as follows: Edward Downing, manual training; Reg. Yelland, postage stamps; Sam McKinlay, art; Harry Vass, miscellaneous collections; Tom Hooper, model airplanes; Lester Boorman, mechanical models; Eric Edmondson, leathercraft; Bill Piercy, soap sculpture; Grant Smedmore, photography; Don Perks, scoutcraft; Jack Skitch, mechanical drawings; Oscar James, pigeons; and Bill Piercy rabbits.

As the result of an award of ten first place ribbons and two second ribbons for a special exhibit of his works in the art department, Ormie Henry qualified as runner-up to the grand champion of the show. McKinlay will retain the Hobby Show shield for the coming year as the symbol of his achievement.

Edmund Downings leadership in the woodworking department represents his third victory in succession in this division of the show. Also, Reg. Yelland enters this third year as champion of the stamp department.



The stage is all set for the Canadian School of Home Science lectures in the Grand Opera House this week. Inset, Miss Frances Thompson, director; and one of the handsome grand prizes.

Following is the list of ribbon awards in the various departments of the show. In each department the judges made their awards not so much on a basis of competition as on a basis of the individual merit of the exhibit judged. Thus in many sections there is more than one recipient of the first, second or third ribbon award and, in some cases, where the first prize was not merited only second and third ribbons were granted.

"GOODBYE WASHBOARDS—FOREVER" — by C.A. Voight

Read what famous expert says:

"THE women who attend our Schools of Home Science like to be up-to-the-minute in everything they do. For example, very few of them scrub or boil clothes any more. They know, from our demonstrations and from their own experiences that Rinso is the safe and modern way to get clothes snowy and bright without the use of washboard or boiler. That is why we advise them all to use Rinso in tub, washer, and dishpan. Its thick, creamy suds save time and work—and make all household cleaning much easier." SCHOOLS OF HOME SCIENCE

Don't miss the amazing demonstration today. And be sure to get Rinso in time for next washday. Cup for cup, it gives twice as much suds as lightweight, puffed-up soaps—even in hardest water. No softener needed.

OMEMEE CLUB RE-ORGANIZED

Action Laid Over Regarding Entry Into Peterborough Softball League.

BOWLERS MEET.

OMEMEE, April 9 (Examiner Correspondence). — The Omemee boys' softball clubs held their annual meeting Friday evening at 8 o'clock, with a large and enthusiastic number of ball fans on hand. The election of officers took place as follows:

President—L. Morcombe.
Vice-President—Dr. G. N. Earl.
Secretary-Treasurer—Wm. Stephenson, Jr.
Manager—Dr. W. H. McPhee.

Considerable discussion took place regarding whether or not the Omemee team would make application to join the Peterborough Senior League, and the question was finally put to one side until it could be ascertained whether or not the club could field a team as strong as last year, and one which would make a creditable showing in such fast company. A. Adams, W. Stephenson and Dr. McPhee were appointed a finance committee to try to raise money to pay off the club's deficit of last year. It is planned to hold a euchre party in the near future.

Bowlers Re-organize.

The members of the Omemee bowling team met on Friday evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of re-organizing their club for 1934. The finances of the club were shown to be in good shape, and a successful year is looked forward to under the direction of the following officers:

President—S. J. Mackey.
Secretary—L. Curtis.
Treasurer—H. Hill.

William Brockley was appointed groundkeeper.

No Paving This Year Blue Water Highway

WALLACEBURG, Ont., April 9.—(C.P.).—No paving is to be done on the Blue Water Highway this year, Hon. Leopold MacCauley, Ontario Minister of Highways, told Mayor Dr. S. A. Richardson of Wallaceburg, in an interview. Grading, gravelling and draining of the road from Wallaceburg to Sarnia will be started soon, and the new provincial highway put in first-class condition this year, preparatory to laying pavement next year. The contracts for the grading are to be awarded within the next two weeks. The contracts will provide that at least 85 per cent. of those employed must be local men.

TRIALS

MONTREAL, April 8 (CP)—At the annual meeting of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association at Winnipeg, May 10-11, the Quebec Branch will propose that the aquatic trials for the Olympic Games in the summer of 1936 be held in Montreal, it was decided at the branch's annual meeting here Saturday. Pat Earl was re-elected president by acclamation.

HOME SCIENCE SCHOOL COURSE IN COOKING DELIGHTS FAIR SEX

Miss Thompson Enthusiastic Over Demonstrations at the Grand.

WOMEN MORE EARNEST

To all those women in Peterborough to whom the preparation of three meals a day is a major part of their jobs as wives, and to those women also who take a keen interest in home making as well as home cooking, the Canadian School of Home Science that opens tomorrow in the Grand Opera House will provide a real course in Domestic Science.

Today, in an exclusive interview with The Examiner, Miss Thompson was willing to talk on a thousand and one phases of her present work as director of the Canadian School of Home Science.

She spoke of the encouragement she had received from the women all over Canada in her trips to the principal cities from the Atlantic to the Pacific, where the warmth of their reception had been an inspiration to her, both in point of attendances and in the interest taken by the women in her lectures and demonstrations.

In her travels, Miss Thompson has encountered women who are pathetically interested in "putting over" their jobs as home-makers. She has an increasing sense that women are applying to their jobs as housewives as intelligent an interest as their husbands are using in the promotion of their businesses.

"To be a good home-maker today", Miss Thompson said, "you have to have a knowledge of the rudiments of cooking, of food values, and how to accomplish satisfactory results, with the minimum of labor." Methods of doing this will be demonstrated in her three afternoon lectures, that open tomorrow in the Grand Opera House under the auspices of The Examiner.

Simpler Menus Favored

Elaborate course dinners are being superseded now by simpler menus, well-cooked and daintily served. Economy is the keynote of the times, even in regard to meals, and to this end Miss Thompson has arranged a series of simple, appetizing menus, upon whose preparation, either the wife or the domestic help will not have to slave for hours.

"Everywhere I go," she said, "I am asked for menus, not for fancy and expensive meals, but with directions for the cooking of simple, well-balanced foods, that will be nutritious and body-building."

One of the features of this Cooking School is the model kitchen in which Miss Thompson and her assistants will work on the stage of the Grand Opera House.

This kitchen, modern in every detail, will serve to demonstrate both the newest in kitchen equipment and "gadgets", and also the correct arrangement of furniture to save steps for the busy housewife. "So many thousands of steps" she said, "are wasted each day. They could so often be cut to the mimimum, by just a little different arrangement of the kitchen' furniture. This can be accomplished in almost any kitchen, be it small or large.

Another feature of the demonstration is the creation of a brighter atmosphere in the kitchen, through the judicious use of color, both in the furniture and the general equipment. Miss Thompson shows from the stage just how this may be effected.

While the cooking school is of interest to all women of Peterborough and district, the director believes it should be of paramount concern to brides or brides-to-be, or even to those who hope to be brides. Many a man, she said, is attracted by smartly prepared meals, and many a man's affection is retained by them. New utensils and new ideas would keep a woman's interest up-to-the-minute, and the results would often keep a husband's interest in the home.

Weeks of effort were spent by Miss Thompson and her Domestic Science assistants in preparing for their school in Peterborough. All their recipes are tried out in their test kitchen in Toronto, and many of their most appetizing dishes have had their origin in that laboratory. Here they have been spending busy hours examining the advertising claims of particular merit that are made for specific wares and determining the practical balue of their conclusions by actual test.

Information by personal demonstration is the order of all her lectures. Miss Thompson uses no scientific terms to describe her actions, but speaks in the simplest language in description of the demonstrations she engages in.

Miss Thompson likes all those who attend her schools to understand she uses only British Empire products. Ninety percent of the materials and equipment used are of Canadian manufacture, and the remainder comes from some other part of the Empire. At her demonstrations are seen the latest gadgets and mixers, beaters and extractors; in fact, the last word in kitchenware and cooking utensils.

The Schools of Home Science, that are conducted by Miss Thompson, are the outgrowth of a demonstration activity which she has directed in Canada for more than three years. They are not merely confined to lectures in cooking, but are extended to include all matters common to domestic science, and all kinds of home equipment and appliances. Each afternoon of her lectures, the day's recipes are given in program form to each woman who attends, with concise directions for their preparation.

Prizes are given each day, and a grand prize awarded on the concluding day of the Schools.

PRESENT MIKADO ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Opera is Being Presented by St. Paul's Choir-Men's Association.

BEAUTIFUL COSTUMES.

The story of "The Mikado, or the Town of Titipu," which will be presented on Friday evening at the Grand Opera House by the Men's Association and choir of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, under direction of M. B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O., is outlined as follows:

In Act One, as the curtain rises, various noblemen and citizens of Titipu are discovered in a courtyard of Ko-Ko's palace. Nanki-Poo, the handsome son of the Mikado, having fled the court rather than wed an elderly ugly spinster, Katisha, breaks in upon their meditations disguised as a wandering minstrel, and tells them of his lover for Yum-Yum, Ko-Ko's attractive ward. Pooh-Bah, "a particularly haughty and exclusive person of pre-Adamite ancestral descent," who holds almost every possible State office, informs Nanki-Poo that Yum-Yum is to marry Ko-Ko that very evening, whereupon the disappointed lover determines to commit suicide.

But no executions have taken place in Titipu for a year, and the Mikado, annoyed at this state of affairs, sends word that unless someone is executed at once, he will visit his wrath on the city. Nanki-Po is therefore persuaded to allow himself to be beheaded, instead of committing suicide, and stipulates that he shall enjoy the month in wedded bliss with Yum-Yum. Katisha complicates affairs by appearing in search of Nanki-Poo, and, being repulsed, departs, threatening the Mikado's displeasure.

Second Act.

In the second act, while Yum-Yum is being adorned for her wedding, it is discovered that an ancient law insists that the wife of a beheaded criminal must be buried alive! To save his bride from such a "stuffy death," Nanki-Poo gives up all thought of marriage and decides to despatch himself with his dagger. But his plans are interrupted when news comes of the Mikado's impending arrival, accompanied by the jealous Katisha, and a fictitious account of the execution of the wandering minstrel, Nanki-Poo, is drawn up and listened to with great relish by the monarch, whose pleasure changes to wrath when he discovers that the central figure was his son, in disguise. Immediately, boiling in oil is ordered for Ko-Ko and his accomplices.

But fortune intervenes, and all finally ends happily for the lovers and all but Ko-Ko, who is forced to suffer in an ingenious fashion.

The opera is scheduled to start at 8.15 sharp, and the beautiful costumes are being supplied by Mallabar, while the production is being presented with the permission of Rupert D'Oyly Carte, Esq.

GENERAL VON EINEM DEAD.

MUELHEIM, Germany.—General Karl Von Einem, one of Germany's most distinguished commanders in the Great War, died to-day at the age of 81.

He was also a veteran of the Franco-German war and was credited with preventing the Allies from breaking through the retreating German lines in 1918 at Champagne where he directed German operations throughout the Great War.

54 Cases on Docket In Cobourg in 1864

COBOURG, April 9.—As if in confirmation that the world is growing better, and not worse, as pessimists declare, the Cobourg World Saturday, in its history of seventy years ago, at the time of its inauguration, published the statement that the Spring Assizes in 1864 there were 54 cases on the docket, 32 civil and 22 criminal charges. The latter included 'misdemeanors, shooting with intent, arson, forgery, embezzlement, uttering forged notes, perjury and larceny." The Hon. Chief Justice Richardson presided.

COUGHLIN TURNS ON WALL STREET

Uholds U. S. Govt's Proposed Bill to "Let the Seller Beware."

URGES HIGHER MARGINS.

DETROIT, April 9 (AP).—Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, in an address yesterday, described the Fletcher-Rayburn Stock Market Control Bill, now before Congress, as an attempt to clean out "the Augean stables of Wall Street," and to limit the activities of "dressed-up gangsters."

Urging enactment of the bill, he said that while "most of the brokers are honest" and "Wall Street performs a necessary function," it is "sick and wants to cure itself." For that reason, he said, "its shoulders must be slashed with the whip of public castigation."

"They claim the bill is iniquitous," he said, "because it removes the lead from the dice. For 100 years Wall Street has thrived on false reports. 'Let the buyer beware' has been its motto. The Government proposes to make the motto, 'Let the seller beware.'"

Asserting that the ordinary man "has no more business playing the market than he has shooting craps with loaded dice," he said that Wall Street has reversed the baseball rule of "three strikes and four balls" to make it "four strikes and three balls, and plays with a cock-eyed umpire."

He defended the marginal requirements of the pending bill and said the Government would be "reasonable," fixing the margins "not low enough to attract the suckers," and not high enough to interfere with normal business of the stock exchange.

He said that in 1930 he advocated the "National Recovery Act, although not by that name." Of the present NRA, he said it is "still young, but it is a notorious fact that industry is not living up to its terms." The cost of living, he said, "is eating up the wages of the workingman," and that "if confidence is to be maintained, General Johnson must practice what he preaches and 'crack down' on industry."

Blue Shirts, Canada 25,000 Strong In East

HALIFAX, April 9 (CP)—Membership of 25,000 in the Maritime Provinces was claimed to-day for the "Blue Shirts of Canada," described as a Canadian Fascist organization.

The claim was made by N. M. Rolfe, Maritime Commander of the group, who announced at the same time that the Blue Shirts would hold their inaugural parade in Halifax some time this week.

Steel helmets and blue shirts will make up the uniform of the marchers, he said. He added a large proportion of the organization's 5,000 members in Halifax and vicinity were expected to turn out for the parade.

Right after the parade, Rolfe said, a headquarters would be opened in Halifax.

Work of organizing the Blue Shirts has been underway in the Maritimes since last July, Rolfe declared. "We are quite strong in Saint John," he added, "but little work has been done as yet in Prince Edward Island."

REV. MOORHOUSE GUEST PREACHER AT ST. JAMES'

Brotherhood Observes Its Sixth Anniversary With Special Services.

SPECIAL MUSIC.

The sixth anniversary of the Brotherhood of St. James United Church was commemorated yesterday by special services at which the Rev. C. J. Moorhouse, of Brussels, Ontario, was guest speaker.

The day was marked by a splendid attendance at all three services and an excellent musical program under the direction of the organist, Frank Stevens, added materially to the success of the day.

At the morning service the visiting minister spoke chiefly to the men of the church, basing his sermon on Caleb's confident assertion "But I wholly followed the Lord my God" from Joshua 14.8. This is not a personal boast of Caleb's, not a boast of the human but of the Divine; not of the intellect but of the soul. There is a place for such religious boasting to-day and it is much easier to be a Christian now than in Caleb's day, because we have so much to help us. At this time the Israelites had just come to the promised land and had sent men to spy out the country. The majority advised against entering Canaan, only two said they could take it. So does faith go where intellect cannot. More than faith, Caleb had courage and though defeated at the time, he patiently persevered and placed his hope in the next generation.

After forty-five years the Israelites entered the land of promise and Caleb claims his inheritance. This was the basis of his claim, "I wholly followed the Lord God". It takes faith and courage to do this. Many wholly follow politics or society, or the god of greed, but what does it bring after forty-five years. The only thing that will make a man really great is to wholly follow the Lord and the heart that is doing this must find time for the family altar and for daily prayer and communion with God.

Sought Hard Task

When Caleb claimed his reward as asked for the hardest task, the taking of Hebron. Do not ask for the easy job to-day. Measure your manhood by your task it means conquest and victory. This is the spirit we need. Men who are unafraid to put God in politics, commerce and home. This is the purpose of the God we serve in 1934. There may be the sneers of the world, and even the criticism of the church, but if we stand fast as did Caleb we too will win the reward for "every day we are building in word and deed a temple for eternity."

About forty members of the Brotherhood gathered in the afternoon, when Rev. Mr. Moorhouse addressed them in a heart to heart talk, stressing the fact that the great need of the church was "friendly people." In introducing the importance of the church, he declared it stood unique among all organizations and urged a supreme loyalty to it. This means that Christianity must become a reality to each one of us and if the church is to make progress a deep prayer life must become a necessity to the individual. This would lead men to love the Sabbath and to make it a day of spiritual delight.

Evening Message

The heart of the evening message was contained in the words "He delighteth in mercy," when the Rev. C. J. Moorhouse again brought a highly inspirational challenge to St. James' congregation.

There is a tendency to-day to lay stress upon the severity of God's judgments, rather than upon the greatness of His love. Many too, are rejecting the Old Testament, but we would be wise not to forsake its beauty and inspiration, for it reveals God's true nature and goodness.

How will we view God, how approach Him? We must first find out what our sinful natures do when they transgress the law of God and become needy creations of His mercy.

The senior and junior choirs did splendid work throughout the day. "How Long Will Thou Forget Me" was sung as the morning anthem. Miss Marion Wood and Mr. Toaze taking the solo parts. During the offertory the junior choir sang "Leaving All to Follow Jesus" by Gabriel.

A choir of about forty voices, members of the Brotherhood, assisted in the evening musical "program, the opening number being "Softly and Tenderly Jesus is Calling" (Thompson), while the male quartette, Messrs. Wood, Benson, Turner and Church, sang "Though Your Sins be as Scarlet". An organ and piano duet was played by Mr. Stevens and Miss Aileen Rose, including (1) Minuet by wilson and (2) coronation March; a sacred selection, "I've Anchored in Jesus" was sung by the junior choir.

The twin brothers, Revs. A. E. and C. J. Moorhouse, concluded the service in vocal duet, "O Wondrous Cross." Miss Aileen Rose accompanied at the piano.

Rev. A. E. Moorhouse, pastor of the church and teacher of the Brotherhood, was present and assisted at all services, as was also Mr. A. Brumwell, the class president, who presided in the afternoon.

Knox Church Choir To Present Opera

Very Delightful Comic Operetta Will Be Presented This Week.

Following their successes of producing amateur musical comedy in the past few years, Knox Choir, under the direction of William R. Potter, is presenting "Princess Bulbul," a very delightful comic operetta in two acts.

The selection of the principals for the play augers well for the success of the production. Supported by a well-balanced chorus, the entire music is such as will appeal to all music-lovers.

Special mention may be made of the costumes and scenery, all of which will help to make the production a success.

Knox choir and their leader are to be commended for their efforts to produce something a "little different" and will no doubt be greeted by capacity audiences when the play is presented on Wednesday and Thursday of this week.

Every Month a Cheque

Every month a holiday!

Every progressive man or woman ought to ask his question: 'Since I cannot work all my life, what should I do about an income for my later years?"

Here is the answer. An Imperial Pension Bond will guarantee to pay you a certain definite income every month after you reach the age you want it to commence.

For instance, a $50 a month Pension Bond to commence at age 60 would give you $50 plus profits every month as long as you live. This income would be paid for at least 10 years, even should you not live that long.

Should you not live to age 60 the Bond would pay your beneficiaries all the money you had paid in plus profits.

Any time after three years you could withdraw the full surrender value plus profits or a monthly income payable as long as you live. No medical examination is required to secure an Imperial Pension Bond.

INDIANS UNFOLD TALE OF FINDING PLANE SURVIVOR

Were Frightened by Signs Exhausted American Made After 17 Days in Bush.

NOW HUNTING WRECK.

Pilot, Mechanic Disappear Seeking Help After Crash is Andes—One Body Found.

(By Carlos Garcia, Mayor of Bolivag Valle)

(Copyright, 1934, by The Associated Press.)

BOLIVAR VALLE, Colombia, April 9 (AP)—The Guarqueros Indians who found the mining engineer, Newton C. Marshall, in the jungle after his airplane crashed March 10, told me their story today.

The survivor, who is from Milwaukee, had suffered the agonies of hunger and despair 15 days in the matted forests, when they found him. They helped bring him here yesterday.

Mr. Marshall also told me of his fight for life after leaving the wreck of the air-liner Von Krohn, despairing of being rescued.

Here is the story of Moel Jaramillo, the Indian who first saw Mr. Marshall.

"We were fishing to find something to eat. Alejandro Arango, Jose Jesus Ocampo and Reinaldo Echeverri were with me. At the bank of the Ugibe River we noticed the white man. He was making signs to us.

"We were frightened by the signs and grimaces that he was making. Finally we gathered courage and went to him.

Lived on Water

"He made us understand something about an airplane; we asked him what he had eaten and he said only water. (That was March 27, 17 days after the airplane had crashed).

"We led him to the river bank, where we took from our provisions some 'panela' (a corse brown sugar made from cane). When we gave him panela he seemed to gain back a little strength. I removed his overcoat, which was very wet."

Jaramillo said they had first discovered a piece of a man's shirt, and then a necktie. Further on they found a place where someone had been sleeping.

Then they came upo nthe body of a white person, already in the process of decomposition.

(In all probability this was the plane's mechanic, a German named Hancke, who departed with the pilot, Capt. Gec. in search of assistance).

Gave Injured Man Chocolate.

"We went on with Mr Marshall, helping him over the worst parts of the trail . Alejandro went ahead to make some chocolate in our hut He came back with some of it before we reached there.

"This happened the afternoon of March 27.

"We asked Mr Marshall what airplane he was talking about. He replied that on March 10 he had taken passage at Andagoya, en route to Bogota.

"He said the plane was up very high and that the aviator thought he was over the Dauca Valley, and began to come down.

"After that he remembered nothing until he recovreed his senses at 1 o'clock in the afternoon Then he saw there had been a wreck.

The Indian told me that his comrades had gone back to look for the wreckage.

Only One Killed Outright

Mr. Marshall told me that he was 12 days in the jungle before he left the wrecked plane and went in search of help. Three days and three nights after that he saw the Indians.

"I regained my senses two hours after the plane crashed," he told me "One of the passengers, Julio Zuniga, was killed at once. A German passenger, Alexander Notz, had his arms and legs broken. I remained with him, mostly in the cabin of the plane, until he died, four days later.

"The pilot and mechanic were injured. After remaining with us two days, they went into the woods in search of help. Mr. Marshall described his meeting with the Indians.

"I was unable to shout," he said. "My mouth had been hurt. I had to make signs with my hands. That probably frightened them all the more. I finally made them understand that I was calling for help.

the apprentices who had passed through his hands had "turned out all right," Mr. Oldham claimed with justifiable pride.

Born March 15, 1838.

The third son of a family of five boys and two girls, of whom he is the only surviving member, Mr. Oldham said he was born in the Hornsea Division of Hull, Yorkshire, on March 15, 1838. His father, the late John Oldham, he stated, was superintendent in a shipbuilding yard at Hull, which was at that time regarded as the biggest shipbuilding concern in Britain.

Recalling the days of his youth, the old gentleman, who has a wonderfully active mind considering his advanced age, remarked that after completing his apprenticeship, which he served under his father, he joined the Royal Navy, and saw five years' home and foreign service afloat aboard H.M.S. Invincible. He told of his ship being ordered to St. Thomas, British West Indies, where a big tidal wave had wrought destruction in the harbor and had caused great loss of life.

Sails vs. Steam.

Steam engineering in those early days was in the experimental stage, and ships of war as well as merchantmen had not yet abandoned their sails. Indeed the wind was still the chief motive power for ships of all kinds, steam engines being used as mere auxiliary power.

Since he first landed in Canada, sixty years ago, Mr. Oldham has followed his trade at Montreal, Toronto, Collingwood, Walkerton, Tiverton and Picton, with finally his forty-eight years' service in Peterborough.

Mr. Oldham has been twice married. His first wife was Jean Morrison, of Kincardine, who died about forty-five years ago; and his second wife was Jane Nancarrow, of Keene, who passed away some fifteen years ago. He has three children of the first marriage, including twin daughters; they are: Mrs. Arthur Thompson (Margaret) of Aylmer street and Mrs. Mary Brinton of Toronto, and John Oldham of Detroit.

Burnley Club Play Enjoyed In Fenella

The five-act play, "The Deacon," presented by the Dramatic Club of Burnley in the Community Hall, Fenella, on Thursday, met with a cordial reception.

Much credit is due to Mrs. Charles Fanning for the training of the amateur cast.

Those taking part included: Mr. Wheeler, Eddy Smith; Daisy, the maid, Mrs. Burton Down; Pete, the negro, Norman Davis; the Deacon, Edward Noonan; Deacon's Boy, Arnold Beatty; Mrs. Thornton, Mrs. J. Noonan; Helen Thornton, Miss Anna Roddy, Mss Amelia, Mrs. Charles Fanning; Mrs. George Wheeler, the Deacon's daugfhter, Miss Mildred Beatty; Nellie Wheeler, Miss Bernice Beatty; Mr. Geo. Grey, Joe Wilson; Parson Brown, Cyril Roddy; Policeman, Hilton Down.

A recitation, "Memories," by Miss Clara Perry, between first and second act, was greatly enjoyed.

The songs, with guitar accompaniment by Mr. Elvin Doxtater, between the acts were warmly encored.

Life Insurance Companies have paid in Canada

$500,000 A DAY

To Policyholders and Beneficiaries

HALF A MILLION DOLLARS every working day!

That's what policyholders and beneficiaries have received from Life Insurance companies in Canada—day after day through the "hardest" times Canada has ever known.

When money was scarce—when incomes were sharply reduced—Life Insurance continued to make its large cash payments daily.

From 1930 to 1933 inclusive, Life Insurance in Canada paid $500,000,000 to policyholders—and $180,000,000 to beneficiaries.

These amounts were distributed to citizens of all classes resident in the townships, towns, villages and cities of Canada.

Life Insurance meets every claim promptly and pays one hundred cents on the dollar.

Stand by your Life Insurance. It will always stand by you.

Y.W.C.A. WEEK'S ACTIVITIES

Gym Pageant May 4th. — All gym members are on their toes these days preparing for the many attractive numbers, both gym and dancing, for the coming gym pageant to be held at the Grand Opera House May 4th. The beloved Peter Pan with Wendy and Michael have glorious adventures in the Enchanted Garden. The little baby flowers, the birds, elves, witches, goblins and fairies will thrill both the young and grown ups of Peterborough. Costumes of wonderful colors are being made by busy fingers of friends of the Association.

Pageant Tickets.—Pupils are busy selling tickets, striving for the numerous prizes. Pageant ticket prices are 75c centre down stairs, first three rows in balcony; 50c tickets first three and last four down stairs and back of the third row to the aisle in balcony. 35c tickets second section of balcony. 25c tickets upper gallery.

Pupils are reminded to bring costume money tas early as possible.

Basketball Banquet.—Wednesday, 6.15 p.m. All teams entered in the league will enjoy the annual basketball banquet when presentation of trophies will be made.

Classes and Clubs.—Classes and clubs for the week are singing lesson, Junior cooking, Junior Story Tour, St. John's Ambulance and Red Cross Home Nursing, Story Telling Course, Old Country Club, Jolly Rovers Club, Wohelo Club, Sunshine and Everbright Club.

Camp.—Spring days make one's thoughts turn to camp. Plan now to spend your holidays at the Y.W.C.A. Camp Inglestane. What better program for a week or two holiday than boating, swimming, hikes, camp fires, or quiet rest in the beautiful out-of-doors, and all at a reasonable price.

Foreign Work.—A large jig saw puzzle poster is recording the contributions to the Y.W.C.A. Foreign Work. The Wohelo Club and Old Country Club each have a large section of the puzzle completed with their $15 donations and other sundry donations have completed another section of the picture which begins to look like a Japanese scene. During the next two weeks 'Y' members will be collecting for this work. Each 10c means a piece in the puzzle and opportunities for Y.W.C.A. advantages to girls of other lands.

LIBERAL CONVENTION.
Northumberland Liberals are planning a convention at Warkworth for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the Provincial elections. A tentative date has been set for Wednesday, April 25, but this has not been finally decided It is expected that Mitchell F. Hepburn will address the convention.

TO ENRICH SOIL.
Residents on Prince and Princess Streets, George Street South and Aylmer Street South are requested not to remove the top dressing on the boulevards. This dressing was placed there last fall by the city's Parks Department for the enrichment of the light soil, and will be raked over by the city employees in the near future.

NO DEFINITE WORD.
Regarding Thomas E. Hall, painter, 109 Park Hill Road, supposed to have won the Carleton Place Ford car, Mrs. Hall stated her husband has received no word whatsoever about the results of the draw. She stated someone started the gossip about her husband winning. If she gets any definite word she promised to let The Examiner know.

PLOWING IN OTONABEE.
W. T. Arnott of Otonabee plowed this morning and reports that the ground is working well. He also reports a temperature of 85 degrees in the sun at half-past twelve o'clock to-day.

Splendid Progress Is Seen In Reports

At the regular business meeting of the Women's Friendly Bible Class of St. John's Church, held in the parish hall with a good attendance, and presided over by Mrs. H. Howell, vice-president, all reports showed satisfactory progress and a nice sum was realized from the Lenten Self-Denial envelopes.

Mrs. J. Vollans of Bolivar Street kindly offered to lend her home for an Easter tea to be held on Friday, the 13th, when the quilt will be drawn for. It was also planned to have an afternoon tea and card party in the parish hall on April 19th.

This week, some of the members are canvassing St. John's Church section of the city for the Bible Society.

At the close of the meeting, dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Vollans and her assistants.

GIVEN EXTRA 10 YEARS AND 12 LASHES

LONDON.—John Louis Janssen, sentenced along with a companion last week to 10 years and 12 lashes on two armed holdup charges, pleaded guilty to-day to two charges of robbery in Windsor. He was sentenced to 10 years and 12 lashes to run concurrently with the earlier sentence. The charges were transferred to London from Windsor for trial to save expense.

NEW MEMBERS ARE RECEIVED AS ROTARIANS

Privileges and Responsibilities of Membership Eloquently Voiced by H. R. H. Kenner.

NOT A PAYMASTER.

Rotary's Primary Mission Service and Not Philanthropy Speaker Points Out.

Roy Cutting of the Quaker Oats Company, George Sanderson of Dominion Woollens and Worsteds, and T. J. Carley, barrister, were formally received into Rotary membership, the latter two in absentia, at to-day's luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary Club, the charge to the new members being eloquently voiced by Rotarian H. R. H. Kenner, who stressed the privileges and responsibilities of Rotary membership.

President Dr. A. Moir, who presided, expressed the sorrow of Peterborough Rotarians at the death of Dr. Kirkconnell of Lindsay, who had on several occasions addressed the local club, and a letter of sympathy will be sent to the bereaved family.

Tickets for the Chevrolet car, which is to be drawn for in connection with the annual Rotary Carnival, to be held on June 13 and 14, were distributed to the members to-day and will go on sale at once.

In welcoming the new members, Rotarian Kenner pointed out that it was an honor and a privilege to belong to Rotary and proceeded to outlines the duty of Rotarians. In the first place, he stressed the importance of regular attendance. Only absence from the city or illness were legitimate excuses for non-attendance at Rotary luncheons, and the claims of ones' own business could not be advanced as reason for absence. "Only busy men should be Rotarians," the speaker remarked.

Explaining the Rotary emblem, the cog wheel, Rotarian Kenner pointed out that the cogs in that wheel were designed to work in co-operation with other cogs, and he urged Rotarians to be good cogs.

As to the mission of Rotary generally, the speaker said, it would be a mistake if the cash box were allowed to take the place of the cog wheel. Rotary was a service, rather than a philanthrophy, and it would be unfortunate if the organization were to be looked upon as a community paymaster. It was much better that Rotarians should give their service to worthwhile efforts than to go down in their pockets to finance those efforts, and it should be their aim to co-operate with other community organizations.

Rotarian Kenner called attention to the two Rotary slogans: "He Profits Most Who Serves Best," and "Service Above Self," remarking that the second was the better of the two; although profits of happiness and contentment would undoubtedly follow Rotary service.

The Rotary movement, the speaker said, had been variously defined and he quoted Resolution 34 to the effect that fundamentally Rotary was a philosophy of life that sought to reconcile the always-present conflict between the desire to gain and the impulse to service.

The applause that followed Rotarian Kenner's address testified to the appreciation of the members.

It was decided that periodically there will be short talks on some aspect of Rotary work.

BARRETT—SIMMONDS

The wedding was quietly solemnized on Thursday, March 29th, at half past six o'clock in St. John's Church, when Alberta H. Parrish, second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Simmons of Park Hill Road, was united in marriage to Mr. William J. Bernard Barrett, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Barrett of Foote's Bay, Muskoka. Ven. Archdeacon Blagrave performed the ceremony.

The bride looked charming in a brown flecked ensemble with matching accessories and corsage of butterfly roses, sweet peas and maidenhair fern.

Attendants were Miss Isabel Thomson, in a black and white ensemble, and Mr. Melvin J. Barrett of Toronto, brother of the bridegroom.

After the ceremony, dinner was served to the immediate relatives at the home of the bride's parents. The young people left later for a motor honeymoon trip to Toronto and Muskoka.

MOUNTAIN SLIDE NEW YORK ROAD TAKES 3 LIVES

Sudden Avalanche of Rocks Roars Down Upon Three Cars.

SEVERAL CLOSE CALLS.

Highway Skirting Hudson River Crowded With Motorists at Time.

WEST POINT, N.Y., April 9.—(AP)—A crashing rock slide down precipitous storm king mountain on to a scenic highway left three motorists dead today and three others injured.

The avalanche of loosed rocks ripped down the mountain side without warning late yesterday, killing Mrs. Otto Seilheimer, 28, and her 8-year-old son, Otto, Jr., of East Paterson, N.J. in their automobile and fatally injuring Lambert Shacknis, 27 of Brooklyn.

Seitheimer and his daughter, Geraldine, 18 months, were injured.

Schaknis and his wife were struck by a boulder which tore through the top of their car. Mrs. Shacknis was not seriously hurt.

Another boulder hurtled into a third car just after its occupants, Dr. Francis E. Lehman, a dentist, and Miss Mary Wolde, both of Long Island, had leaped from it.

The Seilheimer car was demolished by rock weighing more than a ton.

The highway, which skirts the side of the mountain above the Hudson river, was crowded with motorists at the time.

"There wasn't the least warning of what was to come," said Dr. Lehman. "The sky suddenly seemed to hail rocks."

Recent rains were blamed for the slide.

EXPLOITATION SEEN IN OFFING AS PACTS END

Britain Rumored About to Seek Revision of Imports From Dominions.

PROTECT FARMERS.

Powerful Commercial Interests Claimed Behind Looming Situation.

LONDON, April 9 (C.P. Cable).—Powerful commercial interests are already preparing to exploit the situation when the Imperial trade agreements signed at Ottawa expire, it was charged by the Liberal News-Chronicle to-day.

The declaration came on the heels of unofficial reports that Britain will seek revision of imports from the Dominions to protect the interests of her own farmers, first step expected being in connection with meat. The agreements on meat run out in June.

"A propagandist tug-of-war is already in progress in connection with future trade relations between Great Britain and New Zealand," the News-Chronicle said. "Walter Runciman (President of the Board of Trade) and Walter Elliot (Minister of Agriculture) have respectively become so involved in foreign trade agreements and so entangled in marketing schemes that it is highly probable the British Government will at the expiration of the Ottawa agreement restrict imports of New Zealand butter and cheese.

Seeks An Explanation.

"It is because he feared this that Premier G. W. Forbes recently asked Britain whether drastic reduction or removal of the New Zealand protective tariffs on English goods would ensure continuance of unrestricted supplies of butter and cheese to this country.

"Mr. Thomas (Secretary for Dominions) replied the proffered advantages would not outweigh the severity of the competition now experienced by British farmers."

So far as the pacts in general are concerned, it was pointed out today, however, that they do not run out until 1937 and there was no statement of any kind from an official quarter concerning any suggestion of revision.

It seemed most unlikely, however, that any question of "shelving" the pacts, as suggested in some quarters, would arise. After the expiry of the agreement six months' notice is needed if either side to a pact desires to terminate it, and any question of revision must under the agreements be a matter for mutual consideration. No word that any such consultation is being contemplated was obtainable to-day.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

Explanations of sleep have been furnished by many people, but no one has been universally accepted. Some think it is due to a chemical change in the body; others think it is a change in the tonus of the muscles, and other have a psychological explanation. Although we do not know the cause of sleep, we know a good deal about what happens during sleep.

Recently observations on sleeping children have shown that they have certain sleep patterns. All people, of course, move somewhat during during their sleep, and no two people have the same patterns in regard to this, so that there are "restless sleepers", and usually when the pattern has been established it lasts through life.

Children who are restless sleepers, for instance, will move approximately two and one-half times more in the first hour than quiet sleepers. The period during which the body is most active is the first 30 minutes after sleep has begun, and the period which is the most quiet is the succeeding 30 to 45 minutes. The next most active period is the hour before waking up.

Studying the effects of beverages on sleep confirms the old idea that drinking a glass of warm milk on retiring induces quiet sleep.

These experiments were checked by giving children cold water and then warm water on retiring. In general, neither of these had any effect in the sleep pattern. Orangeade and coffee-like beverages were also given, and these resulted in more restlessness, although the change was not marked.

Eating a large meal before going to sleep constantly resulted in marked restlessness. In many cases the restlessness continued throughout the night.

A study was also made of the question of giving baths with both hot and cold water, and it cannot be said that this treatment influenced the sleep pattern in any way whatever.

Children sleep better in cold weather than in hot weather, however, and this observation is quite definite.

There is no reason to suppose that these findings, which are very interesting and important, are different for adults than they would be for children. There is no question that what we do in the last hour or two before going to bed very largely determines whether or not we will have a restful night.

PLENTY OF CONVERSATION

KENESAW, Neb., April 9 (CP)—When the talk switches to operations, this town of 600 can hold its own easily.

Thirty-one residents of the town have gone under the knife for appendectomies in the last 45 days, or one in every 20. Only one operation resulted in death.

CATS FOR PASSES

SEATTLE, April 9 (CP)—After Friday, the 13th, there won't be any black cats left in the university district—if University of Washington co-eds have their way. They can be turned over for free passes to the All-University Bad Luck Dance on that date.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

The beautiful Gloria Stuart, whose lovely blonde locks are envied by a great many of the Hollywood would-be-pretties, claims that the reason her hair always looks so beautifully waved is because she is most particular about where she has her permanent waves administered. Gloria believes that any gal who steps into a beauty shop for a permanent with a "my fate is in your hands" attitude, is crazy. And she's certainly right about that.

Spring is the time that the average gal thinks about getting herself a new permanent wave. And if she goes into a really good shop, and her hair isn't in proper shape for the reception of a good wave, the operator will tell her so, and will also advise her as to the correct treatment that her hair requires. But if she happens, mistakenly, to patronize a shop of questionable reputation, there's a chance that the operator will administer the permanen without first assuring herself that the hair is in good enough condition to take the curling satisfactorily. In which case, of course, the patron would be the sufferer.

Hair that has been dyed or bleached especially requires cautious treatment. For such hair usually is deficient in natural oil, and may become dry, harsh and brittle after a permanent. The lass with dyed or bleached hair should always submit her tresses to a series of reconditioning treatments, such as the ones described in my "Beauty Culture" booklet, before going for a permanent. And she should also always insist that the operator make a test curl previous to the waving. For if the test curl is not successful, the waving should be postponed until the hair is in proper condition.

If a girl desires to change the natural color of her hair, and also desires to have a permanent wave, she should be sure to have the waving done before any bleaching or dyeing is done first, the waving process may affect the color the hair detrimentally. And in addition, unless expertly administered, the wave might not turn out half so successfull as it would in a head of hair that had never been given a permanent.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Cosmetics

Clara: I think that a soft ochre shade of powder, soft orange rouge, light lipstick and dark brown eyeshadow cream would blend best with your coloring.

Legs

Sandra: You can indeed fatten your legs, and make them more attractively shaped. The full instructions are contained in my article on "Care of the Feet and Legs." They are too long to print here.

Breathing

Lillie: Breathing through the mouth usually denotes adenoidal trouble. Consult a competent physician, and permit him to examine your nasal passages thoroughly.

Blood Test Led Run Down Girl To A Sure Remedy

Saying that she lacked pep and didn' feel ke working, a pale young office-worker recently had her blood tested by a reputable physician. This test indicated an anaemic condition, as the haemoglobin content of the girl's blood was only 60%, instead of 90% to 95%, which is normal for a woman, and her red blood corpuscles count was only 3,700,000, instead of a normal count of 4,800,000.

The physician explained that the red corpuscles carry throughout the blood stream the haemoglobin, which conveys the life-giving oxygen from the lungs and nutriment from the digestive organs to every cell in the body, thereby building tissues and clearing the system of poisons. Hence the health can be normal only if the haemoglobin and red corpuscles are.

To increase the haemoglobin and red corpuscles, the physician prescribed Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After a month's treatment the young woman returned for a second blood test. This test showed a remarkable improvement in her blood stream—she felt full of energy and vigor.

Ten other run-down people, blood-tested at the same time, had similar experiences. The physician's records of these cases furnish absolute proof that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are remarkably efficient in revitalizing impoverished blood streams. They will do that for you. Try them. 50 cents at drug stores.

PHEASANT HUNTING

HAYWARD, Calif., April 9.—(CP)—Let Constantine Kokoris tell about hunting pheasants.

"He fished a nice covey" of them while motoring and picked a fat one off with his windshield.

The flying glass, however, cut both Kokoris and his wife and just for that he left the dead pheasant at the county hospital where the family wounded were bandaged.

Under the auspices of the Women's Association of Murray Street Baptist Church, a very successful tea was held on Saturday afternoon at Comstock's Furniture Store, when the ladies were received by the president, Mrs. R. G. Gavine, and Mrs. J. H. Sutcliffe. Tea was served from small tables centered by spring flowers, in charge of Mesdames H. H. Graham, Roy White, H. Webber, H. Sisson, S. A. Rome, G. W. Fitzgerald, W. B. Miller, P. Blade, S. J. Graham, W. Kidd. The large tea table, arranged by Mrs. L. J. Pettit, was very attractively arranged with a cloth of ecru lace centered by a silver basket filled with pink snapdragon, white narcissus, yellow daffodils and sprays of pussy willow. Pale green candles in silver holders and pink and white mints completed the spring-like color effect. Tea was poured by Mrs. J. Moulton and Mrs. W. R. Breyfogle, and Mrs. D. Vincent and Mrs. W. G. Shiner looked after the refreshments. Mrs. A. Campbell and Mrs. D. A. Loomis were treasurers. A sale of cooking was in charge of Mrs. A. W. Wray and Mrs. H. Tewsley.

A very pretty Easter tea and bridge party was held on Saturday afternoon in Columbus Hall, under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Sodality of St. Peter's Cathedral. The guests were received by the president, Miss Gladys Costello, and the first vice-president, Miss Geraldine Collins. Tea was poured by Mrs. J. E. Sullivan, Mrs. J. R. Corkery, Mrs. F. J. Overend, and Mrs. J. R. McDonald. Young ladies in charge of the bridge tables, who also assisted with the service of tea, included the Misses Hilda Sullivan (convenor), Mary McCarthy, Marcelle McNulty, Myra Hickey, Veronica Scollard, and Madeline Henry, while additional tea assistants were the Misses Loretta Carroll, Mary Clancy, Florence Murray, Helen Archambault, Isabel Glover, Phyllis Cowie, Geraldine Kelly, Jane Murray, and Anne McCarthy. The tea table was lovely with two long lace cloths, ivory candles in silver holders and a central mirror plateau holding a silver basket filled with narcissus, daffodils, tulips, and snapdragon. Seventeen tables of bridge were played, the concealed score prize going to Miss Mary Ryan and the lucky draw prize to Miss Ruth Thorndyke of Toronot, who is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Cecil Wolff. A list of those playing bridge will appear in to-morrow's issue.

JUST AMONG US GIRLS

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Among the many divisions of cookery there are two outstanding ones, long time cookery and short-time cookery. Each has a definite place in the kitchen of the person who sometimes wants to get up a meal in a hurry, while at other times she wishes to prepare the food and let it cook slowly and be ready without further ado later on. There are few homemakers who do not use both methods.

• • • • • • •

The former is in demand when women who do their own homemaking go to work in the morning when everything is a rush with no time to make preparations for a meal ten or twelve hours later. These women have little opportunity for choice. They want quickly prepared dinners. On the other hand the woman who needs to have a dinner ready for her husband and family who return from business offices at dinner time, will often choose the long time cookery.

• • • • • • •

This is especially true on those days when business or pleasure makes it difficult to return in time to have the meal on the table without any bothersome waits. By using long time cookery and by laying the table before she goes out, she can have the meal ready in a jiffy after she herself, gets into the house.

• • • • • • •

The chief method is of short-time cookery are broiling and frying meats, and by creaming or browning in butter meats previously cooked—usually left-overs. There are numerous other ways of serving left-overs such as hash browned in the pan, escalloped meat or fish, plankee steak, etc., but each of these takes more time than the broiling or frying, although they do not take long enough to come under the category of long-time cookery. They are short-time cookery recipes with previous preparation required.

• • • • • • •

Most vegetables can be cooked in a short time. The Spring and Summer vegetables and green vegetables take particularly short cookery. Beets are chief in the long-time vegetable cookery. Beans require longer time than some others. To cook string beans they should be sliced lengthwise, and at least one across. If they are large beans they should be sliced twice lengthwise.

• • • • • • •

Two aids to long-time cookery are the fireless cooker and the casserole. In the former a dinner can be prepared many hours before time, and be ready to be dished up steaming hot at the appointed hour with record speed. Casserole cooked food is quicker, but by having the oven at low temperature, and the steaming sowed down, the time of cooking can be prolonged. Sometimes this is desirable. When pot roasts and even corned beef cannot be left very well to simmer on top of the stove, they can be transferred to casseroles and be finished without any danger of kettles getting dry should be left long without attention. This is an emergency measure, but it is successful.

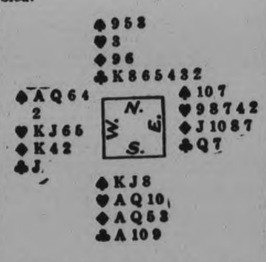
CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

IT REQUIRED NERVE

Neither side was vulnerable when this deal was made. The bidding showed a great deal of confidence and nerve for North to allow his partner to play 3-No Trumps doubled.



Bidding went: South, 1-No Trump; on a hand which many would consider should be bid 2-No Trumps; West, 2-Spades, intending to double if South bid game; North, 3-Clubs; South, 3-No Trumps, as it was particularly desirable to have all leads come up to his teanoes; West doubled; North had confidence enough to pass. This ended bidding.

The opening lead was the four of spades. Dummy played low. East played the ten, and the declarer was in with his jack.

A glance at clubs shows that the suit will be blocked unless a trick is given the defenders, or unless the declarer can discard one of his clubs. South saw the point. He led his ace of clubs. West's jack dropped and East played the seven. One opponent held the lone queen. As the "rule of 11" showed that East held two spades higher than the four which was led, the declarer decided to try for game by giving West his four spade tricks at once. The eight of spades was led. West's queen won and he took his four spade tricks. Both declarer and dummy let go a diamond and a club.

West had to lead up to an ace-queen suit, whether he led a heart or a diamond. Lead either suit you wish and the result will be the same. It happened that West led a heart. South's ten won the trick, and he ran off five club tricks, giving him seven tricks total. He wound up by winning the last two tricks of his contract with his two red aces, just fulfilling his game contract doubled.

Suppose that West had refused to at once take his four spade tricks, as that cannot fail to give game to the declaring side. Let West hold the spade trick with his queen, then let him lead his five of hearts, in an attempt to defeat the contract. The first heart trick will be won by South's ten.

The declarer will lead a low club and East will win the trick. West will discard his lowest diamond. East must lead back either a heart or a diamond. The declarer will win five club tricks, giving the declaring side up to date six club tricks, a spade and a heart trick, and it must still win two tricks with its two yet unplayed aces. If West wins two spade tricks before leading another suit, South will make just nine tricks.

Minnesota is the leading state in the United States in the value of the products of flour and grist mills.

Detroit Stove Firm Tied Up By Strike

DETROIT, April 9 (AP)—Employees of the Detroit-Michigan Stove Company, said by union officials to number 800, went on strike to-day, seeking a 20 per cent wage increase and a 36-hour, five-day week.

The strikers immediately formed picket lines, parading in orderly manner, but making no effort to stop workmen who went through the gates.

The strikers are all members of the Mechanics' Educational Society, which called the strike when negotiations with company officials last week failed.

The Society also has called a strike of tool and diemakers for next Thursday night, if a "considered offer" on demands for a 20 per cent wage increase and a 36-hour five-day week is not forthcoming from the job shop employers.

Norwegians Flee Fatal Slide Scene

OSLO, Norway, April 9.—(AP)—Survivors of the Cliffside catastrophe in which more than 50 persons died on Norway's west coast were reported fleeing the locality today.

No further rock falls were expected, but it was believed few residents of the fishing hamlets of Tafjord and Foraa would linger long at the dread spot turned into a death trap by rushing water Saturday.

Sleeping residents of the two villages, on opposite sides of Korsnaes Fjord, were trapped by great waves while rolled up after a crag weighing thousands of tons fell into the sea.

Ships bearing relief supplies were enroute from Aalesend to the scene of the disaster, Norway's worst in years.

Old time residents recalled today that years ago there were predictions that som day the cliff would fall into the sea—sending, as it did Saturday, a mighty wall of water over the flimsy houses in the villages.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

Central Press

Seeing is believing applies to golf as well as to other things. Few discussions of golf technique bring satisfactory answers. That is, answers which are really convincing. And it's quite easy for the discussion to become a heated argument. Motion pictures not only supply answers to most of these questions, but they also teach the observers much that has never gotten over to them before. Particularly if some of the swings are shown in slow motion. If you or your friends haven't the necessary equipment to run pictures at home, go to some photographic supply store. Most of these stores can rent you small projectors and fine educational films of Jones, Sarazen and other leading players in action. The cost is nominal.

SPYING ON SPORTS

International — Canadian

"Gossip and Such"

"CHAMPEEN JEEMY" LONDOS, world title claimant to the heavyweight wrestling crown, may at any time now go out on a furniture buying spree. His eyes will be peeled for a nice, little rocking chair. (Ole rocking chair's got him—almost!).

In short, folk, the champ is seriously considering his exit from the world of wrestling within the next few months.

Londos wants to quit an undefeated champion, marry, hie away to the land of his forefathers—Athens, Greece — and spend the remainder of his days sipping wines, strumming a mandolin, and recounting his mat conquests to his brethren.

THE CHAMP, a shrewd business man who demanded and received guarantees throughout the depression, has made quite a sum of money ever since he took the title from Dick Shikat at Philadelphia, in 1930. Londos has drawn gates, it is said, totalling $5,000,000, of which he is supposed to have received more than $1,000,000.

This establishes a record for the sport, for no wrestler, in the history of the rough and tumble pastime, has ever reached the $1,000,000 mark in earnings.

Even Frank Gotch, the peerless champion of pre-war times, who wrestled in almost every town in his own country, and in every corner of the globe, made only $250,000 in his career of 14 years. Londos, as well as other wrestlers of to-day, will earn more during a prosperous season than Gotch did in his reign as the world's undisputed champion.

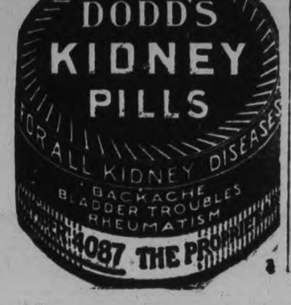
IF "JEEMY" does quit the mat he will leave behind him a colorful record—but not like the Great Gotch, who retired only after competition was so bad that there seemed to be no one who could knock the royal mantle from his massive figure.

Londos may feel himself slipping, and presumably doesn't relish the idea of defeat. Maybe he has been reading of other sports idols who have gone to the top and who, sooner or later, have been knocked down from their pedestals.

But, in the words of the wise, the lure of gold is mighty strong, and maybe the champ will stick around for another million.



YOUNG'S SOFT GOAL BREAKS 2-ALL DRAW IN THE THIRD FRAME

Weiland and Aurie Score Other 3rd Canto Goals to Give Wings 5-2 Win.

WILF CUDE STARS.

Border City Goalie Gives Spectacular Display in Nets Despite Broken Nose.

CHICAGO, April 9.—(CP)—Even the Chicago Black Hawks, in close pursuit of the Stanley Cup, have come to realize there is something about the strange dealings of fate that makes it tough for the home team in these National Hockey League playoffs. For the 11th time in 14 playoff games the home team lost last night.

A crowd of 17,700, all ready to cheer in the new champions of the world, was assembled to watch the Hawks make it three straight over Detroit's Red Wings, National League champions. Tommy Gorman's machine had taken the first two games of the series right on Detroit ice.

For two periods the Hawks did a little better than hold their own. The score was 2-2 as the third session opened. Suddenly Doug Young, Red Wing defenceman, lofted a soft shot from the Chicago blue line. The puck bounced in front of Charlie Gardiner's skate and hopped over into the net.

When it was over the Wings had a 5-2 victory tucked away and were back in the thick of the struggle. Cooney Weiland and Larry Aurie bagged the goals that clinched the verdict on breakaway plays, Aurie getting the final goal in the last 10 seconds. The result left Chicago leading two to one in the five-game series. The 4th game will be played here tomorrow night and if the fighting Red Wings manage to win it, the teams will move back to Detroit for the deciding contest.

Cooney Weiland

Wilf Cude, sensational young Red Wing goaltender, emerged from the battle as the outstanding hero in the victory. In the second period his nose was broken when Lolo Couture's stick accidentally struck him across the face during a furious pile-up in the Detroit goalmouth. Cude returned to the game after being taped up and gave a masterful display.

'Goat' of Game

His colorful foe in the Hawk nets, the nimble Gardiner, was the 'goat' despite the fact his work was on a par with Cude's all the way. The all-star netman fumbled just once — allowing Young's shot to bounce past him—but that miscue sent the eager Wings on their way to victory.

The Hawks had played confidentially up to that point, doing a little better than holding their own against a Detroit team that played inspired hockey at times. The Chicago defensive system seemed capable of staving off the Wings indefinitely while the Hawks lashed shot after shot on Cude.

Jack Adams' fighters made it plain early in the struggle that they were in peak form. After Paul Thompson had sent the Hawks into the lead 28 seconds, the Wings went back and got two. They were in front at the end of the first period.

Paul Thompson

Thompson's quick goal came on a neat passing play with Doc Romnes and Mush March and the left winger had an open net to shoot into when March slid the rubber to him. The tally was on the first Chicago attack of the game.

Gordon Pettinger evened the score on a brilliant drive with Wilf Starr and Frank Carson. The lanky Regina boy started the attack and finished it, shooting from close range. Then Aurie got the first of his two goals, accepting a passout from behind the Chicago goal by Walter Buswell and banging the puck past helpless Gardiner.

The Hawks moved cautiously in the second period, hoping for an opening. When it didn't come, they attacked savagely in twos and threes. Cude rose to great heights in stopping these raids and in one of them he was injured. Hardly had he returned to the game when Johnny Gottselig nailed a pass from Don MacFadyen and whipped home the tying goal.

Cude was unbeatable in the third period. Chicago laced 15 shots at him without once breaking through. Then Gardiner stunned the expectant crowd by letting Young's drifted get past. The Hawks attacked furiously to get it back and left their defences wide open.

Weiland batted in the rebound of Aurie's close-in shot to give the Wings a two-goal margin and in the last minute of the game Aurie streaked down alone to score the fifth goal.

Montreal Y.M.H.A. Defeated 39 To 32

BROCKVILLE, Ont., April 9. — (CP). Young Men's Hebrew Association, Montreal, to-day faced a deficit of seven points following their 39-32 defeat here Saturday by the Brockville Rowing Club in the first game of a two-game-total point inter-provincial intermediate basketball playoff.

Brockville to-day made ready to travel to Y.M.H.A.'S home floor where the second game will be played on Wednesday. Montreal forged to the front in the early part of the first half but Brockville uncorked a brilliant series of attacks that brought the score to 24-17 when the half time whistle blew. Point by point the teams scored in the second half with Montrealers unable to cut down the seven point lead.

MONTREAL AND WINDSOR FIVE IN CAGE FINALS

Nationales Defeat Ottawa Grads 35-22 in Second Game for 86-41 Win on Round.

LONDON BEATEN 47-22

(By the Canadian Press).

Montreal Nationals and Windsor Assumption College, hailed as fit to take places among the greatest teams developed in Canadian basketball, to-day awaited the word that would send them into a national playdown series.

Both brushed aside obstacles over the week-end, Nationals defeating Ottawa Grads 35-22 and 86-41 on the round, and Assumption beating London Aces 47-22 and 84-57 in the two games.

While the senior men were working toward the finals, Percy Page's Edmonton Grads cleaned up the Western Canada girls' situation in one swoop. Defeating Vancouver Provinces 35-30 Saturday, they won the series with the British Columbia winners in two straight games and, as Winnipeg Olympias have decided to default, take over the Western title without further argument.

Windsor - Walkerville Alumnae kept pace with Assumption by winning their round with Toronto Ladies 50-38 and taking the Ontario title, even though they lost Saturday night's game in Windsor 21-19.

Another Windsor team, the Y.W.C.A. Intermediates, gained a 10-point lead on Toronto Parkdales in the first game of the Ontario girls' intermediate final series. They play again in Toronto next Saturday.

Humberside Wins Title.

Toronto Humberside Collegiate won the only Dominion title decided by beating Ottawa Glebe's 30-29 on Saturday and taking the round 67-59.

Toronto Broadview "L" and Montreal C.P.R. meet in Montreal on Friday and Saturday in the junior playdowns. Broadview eliminated St. Catharines at Toronto Saturday, beating them 30-14 and 54-36 on the round. C.P.R. won their way into the interprovincial stage with a 35-22 victory Saturday over Ottawa High School of Commerce and a round count of 86-41.

Brockville Rowing Club go into the Wednesday game with Montreal Y.M.H.A. with a seven-point lead, gained when they defeated the Montrealers 39-32 in an intermediate interprovincial playdown at Brockville Saturday.

In another intermediate clash, Windsor Y. Arrows won 40-34 from Kingston Y. and take the lead into the next game at Kingston Saturday.

HAZEL-WOOLLEY DRAW

LEAMINGTON, Ont., April 9. — Alex. Hazel, prominent Essex Country boxer, and "Chuck" Woolley of St. Thomas battled to a draw in the five-round feature bout sponsored by the Leamington A.C. Saturday night. The semi-final came to an end in the second round when Ross Galloway of St. Thomas knocked out Jerry Gow, Leamington.

HAWKS BEATEN BY WHITE STARS OVERTIME GAME

Canadian Amateur Hockey Team Loses Caste in International Series.

FINAL SCORE 2 TO 1.

Over-confidence is Evident in the Play of Allan Cup Holders.

(By Elmer Dulmage, C.P. Staff Writer).

TORONTO, April 9 (CP)—In its very first official test of the year against the United States game, Canadian amateur hockey has fumbled and lost at least some caste. The comeback attempt is to be staked to-night.

Out of a slow, unexciting opening skirmish in the first North American series, Detroit's White Stars, United States champions, emerged with a 2-1 overtime victory over Moncton Hawks, Allan Cup holders, who required official urging to take part in the series in the first place.

The second game will be played to-night. If the Hawks win this, the teams will play a deciding contest Wednesday night. A gallery of 2,000, that would have been extremely bored with the proceedings had not the White Stars been delivering the biggest hockey upset of the year, seemed to get a kick out of the American win.

Stars in Nets

Pete McMahon, a giant 240-pound goaltender, native of Brockville, Ont., was the largest obstacle the Hawks faced. The Allan cuppers had no difficulty outskating the White Star forwards and they swarmed around the Detroit cage probably two dozen times, seeking in vain for a weakness in McMahon's armour.

The big fellow, amazingly active, dove into at least six shots that seemed certain to beat him. He kicked out drives for the corners and caught the high ones with his hands. Even when the Hawks threw rubber at him for minutes on end, McMahon showed no signs of letting down the barrier.

Hawks dallied a little in the first period, doing little backchecking and attacking casually. Even at that they outplayed the slower White Stars, who broke through occasionally to provide Goalie Jimmy Foster with an exciting moment. The exchanges were entirely without enthusiasm.

Find 'Selves in Second

The American champions started to find themselves in the second stanza. Aubrey Bingham led several threatening drives into Moncton territory before a play clicked. Jimmy Sullivan, former Markdale, Ont., and St. Michael's College player, passed to Bingham, who relayed it to Robbie Robson and the defenceman, posted in front of the Hawk cage, fired a goal.

The Hawks attacked somewhat viciously for the rest of the period, but the best they could do was tie it up. Bill Miller sifted through the whole Detroit line-up and feinted McMahon from his cage before slipping the rubber into the empty net. Dud James and Aubrey Webster missed fine chances to send the Hawks out in front as the Canadian champions turned in.

Fruitless Fight in Third.

Actualy lit was midway through the third period before the crowd realized the Hawks were fighting for a goal and that the goal wouldn't come. The Allan Cup winners staged raid after raid, driving right up to McMahon's doorstep a half dozen times, but they could not beat the giant.

During one rush, Sammy McManus, Hawk left winger, was accidentally cut across the face by Gordon Hunt's stick and was forced to retire. He was not badly hurt but did not return to action. At times Moncton charged five abreast and kept the puck inside the Detroit blue line. The White Stars always cleared.

The 10-minute overtime period was less than half over when the Americans— all naturalized Canadians except two—punched in the winning goal. It was a Bigham-to-Sullivan-to-Hunt play and Hunt took the final pass right in the Moncton goal mouth, scoring with a high shot.

The Hawks started the game 10-1 favorites. They benefited from penalties, Detroit drawing nine of the 13 netted out for minor offences. They probably will be fairly heavy favorites before game-time to-night, too.

OSHAWA BALL CLUB IS GRANTED ONE YEAR'S LEAVE OF ABSENCE FROM CENTRAL ONTARIO LEAGUE

On Condition That They Play Two Games in Each of Central League Towns.

O.B.A.A. CONVENTION.

Usual Problem of Finances Brings About Heated Arguments at Toronto Conclave.

An agreement was reached at a joint baseball league meeting, at which the O.B.A.A. sat in, in Toronto whereby the Central Ontario League granted the Oshawa club a one-year's leave of absence to play in the Ulster Stadium League on condition that Oshawa would play two games this summer in each of the Central League towns, Peterborough, Belleville and Kingston. There will be no interlocking schedule this summer between the Ulster and Central Leagues.

With President C. K. Jutten of the O.B.A.A. in the chair, the Oshawa question was brought up right at the start. Mr. Brown of the Dukes requested the release of his club from the Central League claiming it was financially impossible for the team to make the trips to the C.O.B.L. towns, and it was impossible to get players off work in time. President Max Swanston of the C.O.B.L. pointed out that the Central League teams all experienced these same difficulties and he asked what the Ulster Stadium proposition was. Joe Townsend of the latter league made no proposition but reviewed the troubled baseball situation in his circuit and asked the O.B.A.A. to make a ruling in the case which would be for the good of baseball in general.

Mr. Jutten of the O.B.A.A. then asked would a three-team Central League operate without Oshawa. Max Swanston said: "No." Newt Thompson brought up the question of an interlocking schedule and asked what the expenses would be. Then R. A. Elliott of the O.B.A.A. asked how would it do for the leaders of the four Toronto leagues to play an interlocking schedule with the C.O.B.L. Mr. Thompson replied: "The Central League has still to live down that West Toronto League of last year." After some further discussion, it was suggested that the C.O.B.L. representatives and those of the Ulster League, including the Oshawa delegate, retire to another room and thresh the matter out, with the O.B.A.A. This was done.

They returned in about half an hours' time, and Mr. Jutten announced that the C.O.B.L. had granted Oshawa a year's release to play in the Ulster Stadium League on condition that Oshawa play two games this season in each of the three C.O.B.L. towns, with points counting on both sides; and there would be no interlocking schedule between the Leagues. Everyone at the meeting cheered this settlement. The guarantees suggested for Oshawa to play double-headers in the C.O.B.L. towns—without return games—were: Kingston, $100; Belleville, $75; and Peterborough $60. The session then adjourned.

HARRY DAVIS GOES TO TOLEDO OUTFIT

Former Toronto First Baseman Released by Detroit Club on Option.

LAKELAND, Fla., April 9.—Manager Mickey Cochrane of Detriot Tigers announced the release of First-baseman Harry Davis, Catcher Gene Desautels and Shortstop Frank Parker. All leave under optional agreements making them subject to recall.

Desautels and Davis go to the Toledo club of the American Association and Parker returns to Beaumont in the Texas League.

The release of Davis rounds out a deal reported to have cost the Tigers $50,000. He came to Detroit from Toronto at the opening of the 1932 season, purchased on the insistence of former Manager "Bucky" Harris. Davis made good at once, but last year was displaced as a regular by "Hank" Greenberg.

MAPLE LEAFS LOSE WEEK-END BATTLES

Syracuse Takes 2-1 Victory on Saturday and 10 to 5 Sunday.

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 9. — Andy High and his Syracuse "Chiefs" made life miserable for Manager Ike Boone and his struggling Toronto Maple Leafs by winning both exhibition games over the week-end. On Saturday afternoon the "Chiefs" finished on the right end of a 2-1 score. Playing under adverse weather conditions on Sunday—it rained nearly throughout the entire game—Syracuse trounced the Maple Leafs, 10 to 5.

However, there is a silver lining after the storm, and it came with the news received from General Manager Larry MacPhail of the Cincinnati Club, who informed Manager Ike Boone by wire late last night that Tommy Robello had been turned over to the Toronto club, and was expected to report to the Leafs here on Monday evening.

BOB LEITHAM TO CLAIM WORLD'S BANTAM TITLE

MONTREAL, April 9. — Claim for recognition as world's bantamweight champion will be laid before the New York State Athletic Commission by Bobby Leitham, Montreal, Canadian titleholder, through his manager, Sam Gibbs, next week, it was announced by Gibbs.

The claims for the title are based on the fact Al Brown, the previous titleholder, has been suspended by the New York State Commission and the National Boxing Association. Following his meeting with the New York Commission next week, Gibbs will travel to Providence, R.I., to lay his claim before John T. Foster, president of the National Boxing Association of the United States.

BELLEVILLE DEFEATED BY LOCAL VOLLEY TEAM

Triumphing in three out of four games, the picked volley ball team which will represent Peterborough in the Ontario Volley Ball Tournament at Toronto this month, defeated a team from Belleville in the Y.M.C.A. Saturday. Each match was well-contested and a brilliant demonstration of the game at its best was provided for the spectators.

The Peterborough men took the first match of the series with ease but secured a victory in the second only after some extended play, the visitors becoming more accustomed to the strange court. Belleville won the third but yielded the deciding fourth game after a stiff contest. The teams:

Peterborough.—Cecil Richardson, Don Crawford, A. E. Dryland, A. B. Rhodes, Rev. C. D. Daniel, Jack Hardill, Stan Payne and Cliff Cadd.

Belleville.—R. L. Brown, J. E. Shorrt, R. E. Houston, A. McFee, M. Davison, D. McLean and J. F. Faulkner.

RESIDENCE RULE IS CHANGED AT ANNUAL O.B.A.A. CONCLAVE

Ontario Body Decides to Abolish Amateur Cards for One Year Trial Period.

SUNDAY BALL BANNED.

Turn Down Proposal to Force All Players to be Released Before Signing Again.

TORONTO, April 9.— Delegates to the sixteenth annual meeting of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association on Saturday had a big day. They bade farewell to amateur cards for a year; they extended the residence rule from Jan. 1 to March 15; they came down on an attempt to permit Sunday baseball; they snubbed an effort to enforce players to secure a written release from clubs with whom they have signed; and they made several other changes in the 1933 constitution that will, it is generally believed, starengthen the organization that included over 10,000 players during the past season.

Introduction of the Sunday baseball controversy produced the most heated discussion of the whole meeting. Rules that no players connected with the O.B.A.A. could take part in Sunday baseball without first securing special permission, and with President C. K. Jutten of Hamilton vacating the chair to propose the amendment to throw things open, the action started.

Sought Sunday Ball.

According to the proposition, it was suggested that the Ontario Association permit Sunday ball, leaving the question of whether the game would be played on those days, entirely up to the district government. N. A. Taylor was the seconder of the motion.

D. P. McFarlane of Kitchener spoke heatedly against the proposed change. E. P. Danult came back with a supporting stand. Ralph threw a blast against the amendment, and when Pat Kennedy discoursed at great length against the change, W. J. Snyder, who had taken over the chair, called attention to the fact that since the matter had been on the floor for 40 minutes, speeches should be limited to two minutes.

After a great deal of harangue that brought about comment from N. A. Taylor to the effect that the issue should not be decided on "sob stuff" a vote was taken, giving the issue a 36 to 24 majority.

At this time a bright observer of the opposition discovered that this was not the necessary two-thirds vote, and rather than take a poll and daily longer, Jutten declared he would withdraw his motion in favor of the delegates who had to catch trains and leave the matter over for another year.

Extend Residence Date

While releasing their hold over the stability of players to the extent of two and a half months, the O.B.A.A. was of the opinion that the extension in the residence rule would give the players a better chance of becoming established. This March 15 limit might even be extended at the discretion of the executive.

Feeling that amateur cards were not necessary for baseball players of the O.B.A.A., the motion originally read that cards be optional for all time. However, those who tread carefully had the one-year trial clause included and possibly the revenue to the extent of $600 that the A.A.U. of C. formerly received from this source will be only temporarily cut out. Since the O.B.A.A. is one of the leading lights of the federation, though it is likely that cards will not be needed in the future at all.

Headed by Toronto and Niagara Falls representatives, a great effort was made at the morning sitting to have all players obtain their written release from the clubs with whom they have signed, regardless of whether it is at the first of the season or not. Hamilton delegates buckled the move strenuously and the voting saw them have their way by only a fraction of a vote. Had such a rule been instituted, moving players and the current early season rush to secure the best players would have been considerably reduced.

Order Signed Coaches

More or less tramping on the toes of those who wish to coach minor players, the Ontario body ruled that only signed players may coach on the base lines during a game. Considerable opposition was provided but the motion passed.

It was also proposed for the players that each home team keep its gate. With the interests of clubs of smaller towns at heart, the move was voted down.

Following officers were elected for the coming year: Immediate past president, C. K. Jutten, Hamilton; president, W. A. Smith, Galt; first vice-president, A. J. Walsh, Toronto; second vice-president, N. A. Taylor; Rodney; secretary, W. Y. Synder, Hamilton; treasurer, A. Hillmer, Oakville; A.A.U. governor, B. Smith, Toronto; executive H. J. Carmichael, St. Catharines; G. E. Gibbar, Napanee; W. Kay, Peterborough; J. W. Scott, Kitchener.

Bill Terry Wants Winning Moundsman But Will Not Break Up Crack Infield

(By The Associated Press)

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 9 (A.P.)—As if he didn't have pitching troubles enough, Casey Stengel, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, now is worried over Ray Benge.

The big Texan, a persistent holdout, has developed a mysterious arm ailment of some sort. He hasn't been able to do more than jog the ball since he arrived in camp.

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Bill Terry admittedly is looking for another pitcher, but he won't break up his regular infield combination to get one. The manager of the world champion Giants scotched reports he would trade Hugh Critz, crack second baseman, if he could get a winning moundsman.

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Arndt Jorgens' chances of getting more work with the New York Yankees looked good for a while, but now it seems certain he will remain second-string backstop. Jorgens was used regularly when Bill Dickey waged his long salary argument, but Big Bill finally signed and now is clouting the ball at better than a .400 clip and fielding in fine form to boot.

CHICAGO.—The Chicago Cubs went back to training camp activity to-day but will offer something a little different for the benefit of the fans, starting tomorrow.

After to-day's routine drill a series of four early-season style intra-club games will be played at Wrigley Field.

YANKEES RANK SECOND BERTH IN LEAGUE POLL

Washingto Club Picked by 49 Sports Writers to Win American Pennant.

DETROIT IS FOURTH.

Boston Red Sox Sensation of Poll With 8 Observers Naming Them for Title.

(By Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 9 (AP)—Given a substantial vote of confidence despite their failure agianst the Giants in the 1933 World Series, the Washington Senators are picked to repeat in this year's American League race, starting exactly one week from to-day in the national capital.

Tabulation of votes in the eighth annual Associated Press pennant poll, conducted among major league sports writers and editors, shows the champions to be the choice of 49 out of 97 experts. This is slightly better than 50 per cent for Joe Cronin and his well-balanced crew.

Yanks Rank Second

The conviction that the New York Yankees are the only club with a real chance to upset the Senators echoes from the fact that they are the choice of 33 observers to win the pennant. This vote gives Joe McCarthy's club a solid hold on second place in the consensus.

The rest of the clubs are picked to finish in this order: Boston Red Sox, third; Detroit Tigers, fourth; Cleveland Indians, fifth; Chicago White Sox, sixth; Philadelphia Athletics, seventh, and St. Louis Browns, eighth.

Some of the experts may wish to hedge if Lefty Grove doesn't produce pitching results in keeping with his $125,000 price tag, but the Red Sox are the sensation of the poll, nevertheless, with majority support for their first division chances and no less than eight observers naming them to dash off with the pennant.

The Tigers and White Sox, the other two clubs benefitting from trades with the Athletics, are the only remaining long-shot choices to top the entire standing. In the consensus, however, Cleveland takes fifth place from the White Sox by a narrow margin, and the Indians may turn out to be the real dark horse of the race, if their exhibition performances against the world champion Giants are a criterion.

DOGNAPPERS BUSY.

HINDSDALE, Ill., April 9.— (C. P.)—The police are looking for a band of organized "dognappers."

Within the past few days seven pets of children have been stolen from their owners. The value of the missing dogs were estimated to be $700.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Hockey — Bowling — Boxing
Basketball — Curling, Etc.

By C. J. P.

And now King Baseball steps into his own. With the annual meeting of the O.B.A.A. over and done with, it's up to the various clubs and leagues to ge squared around and set for the season. The convention was a good one with thirty-three proposed changes coming up. The C.O.B.L. put across that change in residence rule—"to March 15th"—okay in spite of opposition from Toronto, Niagara Falls and the Intercounty League. The "four commercial player" question was withdrawn by the C.O.B.L. for this year. A number of important changes were made, including one which will make the bantam diamond regulation size. Bill Kay, Max Swanston, Joe Ahearn and this writer were present from this town.

• • • • • • •

Friday evening, the all-important gabfest was held by representatives of the Central League, the Ulster Loop, Oshawa and the O.B.A.A., to settle this perplexing Oshawa tangle. When it was all done these facts stood out: Oshawa still belongs to the C.O.B.L. and must play games in these towns this summer; and there will be no Central League-Ulster Loop interlocking schedule in '34. As far as our winter-long argument with the Oshawa scribe goes, we won that all right. But there isn't much satisfaction to it. The C.O.B.L. delegates went up there for that Friday meeting wanting to retain Oshawa and get an interlocking schedule. Well, they've still got Oshawa—but that's all.

• • • • • • •

And the blame lies right at the doors of the Belleville and Kingston clubs. Not the Ulster League. The question was asked: "How much difference in guarantees will the Central League clubs give to the Ulster League ones for an interlocking schedule?" Max Swanston of Peterborough said: "From forty to fifty dollars." That was okay all around. But Newt Thompson of Belleville said: "Not a nickel!" And Art Casterton of Kingston said the same thing. Right there and then, it was all off. If Belleville had been willing to make a fair guarantee, as Peterborough was, Kingston would have been forced to fall in line. So Belleville was really to blame, and the C.O.B.L. is the goat.

• • • • • • •

Ken Colling of Belleville told us that the Belleville club was willing to give Uster Loop a difference in guarantee of fifty bucks, and Manager Peeney Mills told us the same thing right after the meeting. But New Thompson told us that he had been instructed by two Belleville executive members not to give them a cent. Now, somebody's screwy—either Newt Thompson or the Belleville executive. Or maybe half of the executive was willing and half said, "Nix." What a system they have there! Anyway, Belleville gummed up the works on the interlocking schedule. As far as Kingston goes, they always kick about guarantees. They really don't understand the situation at all, and for this the blame can be partly laid to their sportswriter who—unlike the scribes in other Central League owns—does not keep his readers abreast of what is going on in baseball organization work.

• • • • • • •

So, we've got the same old three-team Central Ontario Baseball League made up of Peterborough, Belleville and Kingston to operate in 1934, and the only other thing we have is a double-header one holiday here with Oshawa, and the same in Belleville and Kingston. We guarantee them sixty bucks to come here, Belleville offers them seventy-five and Kingston one hunderd—all subject to approval of the club officers, of course. As far as guarantees with the Ulster League goes, this town was willing to give them a hundred dollars to come here—that's forty over their guarantee to us; Belleville was supposed to jump fifty, making it $125; and Kingston was asked for an increase of seventy-five, bringing it up to $175—a pretty stiff figure that might have been whittled down.

• • • • • • •

Well, that apparently is that. But we're pretty certain that the last hasn't been heard of it yet. A three-team senior loop, even with Oshawa here once in the summer, would be a big flop financially to the local club, and probably to Belleville also. We need new teams and new faces, and we imagine strong efforts will be made to get them. Some action is required right away toward getting a different arrangement for an interlocking schedule with some Toronto loop, or something. The case might yet be re-opened. We haven't heard the local officers' point of view on it, but it's a cinch they wont like the idea of the same old three-team league here. Knotty Lee, whom we saw there Saturday evening, said: "That will never do again, and the fans wont come out. Something will have to be done within the next two weeks." He expects to be here tomorrow.

• • • • • • •

Paying over the ten bucks entry fee for the City Baseball League here—which was donated by the Senior Ball Club—we voted for this loop and obtained certificates. We got enough for four junior teams, four juveniles and four bantams—after all, there's nothing like being optimistic! We don't know what the loop will think of the O.B.A.A.'s decision to make the bantam diamond regulation size, but the vote for this was almost unanimous and it stands. Another thing that was pointed out is that no one can coach in the coaching box of a minor league game except a signed player. That's not so good as it means older fellows who might help the kids a lot can only coach from the bench. Still, it's a rule, too. The local City League should meet this week and make plans for a big season. No amateur cards, by the way, are required in the O.B.A.A. this year.

• • • • • • •

The merry pro rasslers will be back to Peterborough this Friday, Tommy McClure of Toronto bringing down six topnotchers in the grunt and groan business. They tangle at the Brock Friday in three big bouts. Paul (Tarzan) Orth is thrown in there against Mustapha Pasha, the 'Terrible Turk'—both big names in the rasslin' game; Young Angelo, the 'Fiery Wop', meets the popular Johnny Felix in a second main mat melee; while the preliminary sees Jack (Adonis) Kennedy in there against Karl VonLehman, powerful Dutchman. The time is ripe for a rasslin' show, and this one looks like a pip to us. The fans'll likely eat it up.

• • • • • • •

Picking 'em off the grapevine: Bill Kay of Peterborough was once again elected to the O.B.A.A. executive Sat'day in Toronto . . . . So was Ernie Gibbard of Napanee; Ernie, who is a good O.B.A.A. man except when it interferes with his ball team, said Napanee would not jump to senior this year . . . . Hugh Campbell will likely call a meeting of the local senior club within a day or two . . . . Red Hollingsworth, who got his transfer, will try for shortstop with Oshawa Dukes this month . . . . Church Hockey League is holding its annual banquet this e'en in the Knox Church . . . . The C.O.B.L. should call a meeting shortly and see what's what and why not . . . . Detroit White Stars licked Moncton and the Red Wings beat Chicago, making it a big week-end for Detroit in hockey.

Cunningham Breaks 1,000-Yard Record

NORMAN, Okla., April 9 — Glenn Cunningham of the University of Kansas last night had beaten the world record for 1,000 yards. In Oklahoma University's amateur track and field meet on Saturday, he ran the distance in 2 minutes 11.1 seconds. The record of 2.11.2 was set by C. Ellis of Great Britain in 1929.

Cunningham finished six yards ahead of Glen Dawson of Tulsa A. C. Harold Manning of Wichita A.C. was close behind Dawson.

YOUNG ANGELO TO MEET FELIX IN MAIN MATCH

"Clown" of the Wrestling Game Here in Next Friday's Mat Card.

THREE GOOD BOUTS.

"The Master of Them All," will be one of the performers on Peterborough's first light heavy wrestling show this season, at the Brock Street Rink, under the auspices of the Baseball Club next Friday night. The "Master" is none other than Young Angelo, the Sicilian Flash, who will grace the card's second and final main bout of the evening's bill. This bout will be another two-out-of-three falls' affair, with a one-hour time limit, and by way of introducing the "Fiery Wop," as the Sicilian has also been called, to local fans, no better guarantee for their enjoyment at the show can be given than a direct quotation from the column written in a Toronto sports paper by a veteran wrestling reporter, Phil Daniels—one of those who does not get unduly excited about wrestling exhibitions, but who tends to remain bored even in cases where the fans themselves get excited. This reporter wrote after Angelo's last appearance in the Queen City:

"It's a long time since I enjoyed myself as much as I did at the last Mutual Street Arena wrestling show. And all because of the antics of one Young Angelo, the Sicilian Flash as he is called. Wotta wrestler, wotta clown, wotta showman. Laugh—I never laughed as much before nor expect to again until they bring this chap back and he gives us an exhibition similar to the one he put up against "Red" Simms. And who didn5t get a real laugh, oodles of them, that attended that show? And who of these will not look forward with keen anticipation to his next visit. Angelo won his last encounter, but Simms really hurt his foot on one of this trips out of the ring.

"Any time Angelo decides to quit the mat he can make good as a clown. Funny! He's the funniest thing I've seen any place. His very appearance raises a laugh and his antics are enough to give the onlookers convulsions. In his bare feet, with his toes turned up as high as I've ever seen any human turn them up, his torso doubled up, his arms extended in appealing fashion and a look on his screwed-up countenace that words cannot describe—Young Angelo is a scream. And how he made that crowd roar, first with anwer at his rough tactics, then with glee at his funny antics. It isn't often I enthuse over any of these grapplers, but I will admit that I got a real kick from the way Angelo strutted his stuff. "Red" Simms was an excellent foil for the Sicilian, as the Hamiltonian did not spare himself, and the two went about their business as if they really meant it. And what mattered most, it gave the crowd a real kick."

Angelo will be opposed to Johnny Felix, of Tulsa, Okla., a grappler who come to the fray with a reputation of being "rough, tough and bad." This frame should be productive of all the speed, skill, science, thrills, and action for which light heavy wrestling has come to have a name in the centres where this form of entertainment has been introduced.

In addition, the card will include another main bout, between Paul Orth, of Toledo, O., the "Tarzan of the Mat," and Mustapha Pasha, the "Terrible Turk," of Istanbul.

There will also be a preliminary match, with one fall 30 minutes time limit.

BROCKVILLE BEATEN 4—3

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., April 9 (CP)—Skates and jerseys were packed away to-day as the Atlantic City Sea Gulls, former United States titlists, concluded their amateur hockey season stay here.

The final game was a nip-and-tuck victory over the Brockville Intermediates of the Ontario Hockey Association. The score was 4—3.

Professional Wrestling

Great Card to be put on by the

BASEBALL CLUB

At BROCK ST. RINK

FRIDAY EVENING, April 13th

There may be two, possibly three professional wrestling bouts in the Brock this year and the best of talent will be here. This program is put on by a new string of wrestlers never seen here before and booked through the Arena Gardens. There are two main bouts, each two out of three falls. One hour time limit and a preliminary as good as a main bout.

THE PROGRAM

Preliminary: 1 fall, 30 minute time limit. Karl VanLehman, Germany vs. Jack Kennedy, Phoenix, Arizona.

FIRST MAIN BOUT

MUSTAPHA PASHA, The Terrible Turk, Turkey vs. PAUL ORTH, the Tarzan of the mat, 1 hour limit, two out of three falls.

SECOND MAIN BOUT.

YOUNG ANGELO, the Sicilian Flash vs. JOHNNY FELIX.

1 hour limit, two out of three falls.

Angelo is an outstanding headliner. As there will only be, at the outside, three professional wrestling shows in the rink this year, see this one as it will be one of the most exciting and thrilling to be staged here. Auspices Peterborough Baseball Club.

Admission 50c; Reserved Seats 75c. Ringside $1.00; Ladies any seat 25c.

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Martha Jane Brunt,
Norwood, Ont.

I am very very glad that you had the courage to ask me questions, and although some of them do not pertain to handwriting as a basic fact, yet your writing does indicate the power to be successful, and so your questions are really answered in that way. Of course you did not tell me your age or birthdate, so I cannot work out your numbers for you, and as far as being born at the beginning of a year is concerned, you might possibly come under the sign of Capricorn the Goat and be ruled by Saturn, that is, from December the 23rd to January 20th, or you might come under the sign of Aquarius the Man, ruled by Uranus, that is, from January 21st to February 18th. However, if either of these are in accordance to your birthdate, you will know which one to choose. The women of Capricorn usually marry young, and before marriage as well as after make excellent milliners and designers. I suggest for you according to your writing, hairdressing. I do not think you would remain single after twenty-three, at least not for long, because you are idealistic and quite romantic, and your type as a rule are very attractive to the opposite sex. When in homes of their own, your type, make excellent partners and homemakers.

Jean Fair,
Beaverton, Ont.

You are quite a young person, and so your true characteristics will not predominate in your writing for a long time to come. However, your 't' bars show a spirit in keeping with your personality, and that is independence and persistence. Your capital letters reveal generous traits, and you will have to learn to curb this characteristic, before weaker sisters depend upon you too much for assistance, either mentally or materially. There is an inclination to be rather impulsive, but that is quite characteristic of you, for you do things on the spur of the moment as though guided by an inner intuition. Don't you? That capital 'D' of yours illustrates a seisitiveness which at times overcomes you, but you will no doubt outgrow this tendency as you gain confidence in your own efforts. I am going to suggest that you spend as much time out of doors as possible this summer, and try to engage in active sports, such as swimming or tennis. Your 't' bars create a tendency to argue matters, and I think the spirit of fair play will overcome this, as it will also lessen your nervous characteristic.

Wellington McGinnis,
Ennismore, Ont.

Your handwriting as portrayed, indicates a very youthful person. You seem to be too undecided to know what you would like to do at present, but no doubt you will grow out of this state of mental unrest as you grow older. Farming presents itself in your sample of writing just now, and I would suggest that when you are older, you go in for thoroughbred stock-breeding. Make it outstanding, something that others will respect you for. The manner in which you decipher the word Ennismore, shows me that you have the ability to carry on in this line, once you have made up your mind about it, and even now, you could begin with a lamb or two, or a few baby calves. School fairs should help you to become proud of your hobby. You would have to learn to keep a record of all parentage, but I think you could easily do this, because you are going to make the most of every opportunity which presents itself from now on. Aren't you?

Sally McGinnis,
Ennismore, Ontario.

This writing depicts youth, but it also illustrates a fine interest in progress. The firmness of the downstrokes as portrayed, reveal much character which at present is in the making, and with proper guidance from the correct teacher would blossom forth in all its loveliness later on and do credit to the community. There is art noted in the capital letter 'E.' Imagination is depicted in the capital 'S' in the name Sally. Try to develop this talent and make it work in conjunction with the artistic trait and I venture to suggest that some day we shall hear from you. Your 'I' dots tell me that you are going to be very careful and painstaking. At present your disposition is inclined to be changeable, but as you are not by any means grown up yet, that is to be expected.

If you care to write again and tell me your birth date and year, I will gladly tell you your lucky number, your best day and months. Use the same name that you gave above, and tell me the date upon which this appeared in print, that is necessary for purposes of reference.

Verna Joan Harvey,
Hastings, Ont.

The handwriting as delineated on your sample for analysis shows a conservative nature, rather inclined to live unto yourself in a vale of secrecy. You could accomplish much that would bring you pleasure, if you were to 'snap out' of your present mode of living. Enjoy life and look for the good in others. Take care of your nerves, get out of doors and try to appreciate the beauties of nature. You would do well in a position where you could have access to money matters such as banking or clerking later on when you are older.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, April 10

The astral figuers for this day seem to emphasize the importance of the purely personal affairs, with Venus the "heart star" wielding her joyous influence in the domain of the social, artistic, domestic and romantic affiliations rather than in business. Yet there is a sign advising caution against strife, duplicity or subtle undermining in affairs generally, calling for restraint, wariness and precaution.

Those whose birthday it is are likely to find themselves engulfed by a year of social, domestic, artistic or romantic activities, with much happiness, contentment and gratification maturing through such affiliations. In business it would be well to be on guard against treachery, secret enmity and also petty strife.

A child born on this day may be romantic, poetic, affectionate, with many emotional and sentimental yearnings, probably expressed in unusual cultural versatility and talents.

YOUTHFUL BURGLARS ARRESTED.

GUELPH.—Two youthful burglars whose fleet footedness saved them from capture after they robbed the house of Harry Steenton, Queen street, last week, admitted their guilt in police court to-day and were remanded for a few days on $500 bail. A juvenile, whose job was to cry "jiggers" appeared in juvenile court and was also remanded.

HENRY II. GREAT IN ACHIEVEMENT

Ottawa Legal Authority Says King's Work Entitled Him to Much Credit.

OTTAWA, April 9 (C.P.). — Henry II is entitled to be called the "greatest of Englishmen," according to John E. Read, legal adviser of the department of external affairs, an authority on international law who has won distinction in the preparation of several cases for Canada in international disputes.

Mr. Read supported his commendation of the second Henry in an address here before the University Club. "Henry's claim to greatness rests upon the fact that he created more of the elements of English civilization which endure today than any other dead Englishman," he said.

The most distinctive feature of English civilization, Mr. Read believed, was the sovereign power, and under it the constitution of supreme national authority. In the history of England, it was not the rise of democracy which was important but the rise of the sovereign power and its institutionalization into a permanent political system.

To Henry II he gave credit for changing England from a loose association of principalities, often antagonistic, into one nation. He was responsible for the rise of sovereign power. Among other achievements Henry established the right relationship of church and state, or or at least the supremacy of the state in temporal matters.

As Wings Trounce Hawks In Third Stanley Cup Battle

This photo shows some action between the Chicago Black Hawks and the Detroit Red Wings during the Stanley Cup series game played at Chicago last night. Lionel Conacher of Hawks, extreme left, is shown retrieving the puck after Lewis of Wings, shown behind cage on the ice, failed to make a goal. Wings won this game 5-2.

ROYAL WEDDING SAID CERTAINTY

Danish Prince, Swedish Princess Said Keeping Engagement Secret.

WAIT GUSTAF'S RETURN.

LONDON, Eng., April 9. (AP)—Persons close to Scandinavian royalty laughed off denials to-day and insisted that Crown Prince Frederick of Denmark and Sweden's Princess Ingrid will be married after all.

Their engagement will be announced, these well-informed sources said, just as soon as King Gustaf ends a vacation on the Riviera and returns to Stockholm, perhaps by the end of April.

As a matter of fact, the royal pair already are engaged, it was said, but they have promised to keep it a secret until the elderly King goes back to his capital.

Princess Ingrid said, in effect, "Nothing to it" when questioned some days ago. In Stockholm the royal family denied an engagement was "impending." Prince Frederick also attempted to scotch the reports.

The two met at Cannes recently, however and were seen together much during Prince Frederick's visit to Stockholm several weeks ago.

J. BELL ANSWERS REV SUTHERLAND

Part in C. C. F. Organization Was Toward Disorganization Former President Says.

Abolished Opening Prayer.

Joseph S. Bell, former president of the local C.C.F. Club, today in an interview with The Examiner discussed his belief that Canada now needs statesmen, not politicians, more than ever before.

Said Mr. Bell, "Were the public much mystified by the asserted martyrdom of Rev. John S. Sutherland, presumably in the C.C.F. cause at the hands of cruel unappreciative elders? Doubtless those worthy elders need defence. That phase anyway is the church's business.

"As to the C.C.F. phase and the widely circulated imputations on my friends, I certainly should know much about that, and not as Mr. Sutherland states it", continued Mr. Bell. "The genuine Christian is considerate of others, and wholly loyal to his friends, will lend a hand to the friendless, will love consistency, and will hate hypocrisy, is not clamorous for his own interests and will not place principle above any individual.

"What a criterion on his standing in his own community, that an anonymous telephone conversation was more effective than his life, Mr. Sutherland claims part in club organization. His part really was club disorganization, against those striving only for the cause.

"We began with an active speaking campaign, supported by voluminous correspondence in The Examiner. Mr. Irvine assured me of plenty of speakers, members of Parliament, throughout the winter which was fitting time for an educational campaign.

"After the Irvine December meeting, I retired. To fight the enemy outside is enough, with the struggle with supposed friends within. The good man wrung his hands over the "beautiful sentiments" expressed in my resignation, but left the spiteful purported report of the meeting, appearing in The Examiner, uncorrected.

"In such atmosphere began Mr. Sutherland's campaign, continued with the pillorying of "Section 98" which should trouble us not at all, and ends imputing animosity to honorable opponents whom I requested to make no factional fight, that our cause receive no possible harm.

"I could add much enlightening information, but we strive not against the individual, but against an economic system wholly disorganized in distribution, in the midst of plenty, for one based on service in co-operation.

"Rev. Mr. Sutherland abolished the opening prayer, but his objective languishes without Divine help," concluded Mr. Bell.

LESS FOOD

OSSINING, N. Y., April 9.—(CP)—The H. C. L. (Remember?) is sweeping back into vogue at Sing Sing prison, where the problem of keeping the inmates content gastronomically on 21 cents per prisoner is growing daily more intricate.

Prison officials said today that because of the rise of prices it soon may be necessary to reduce the quantity and quality of the menus.

Movies Attract $1,000,000,000 Heiress

Well, well, maybe movie acting isn't so hard after all. At any rate Merry Fahrney (ABOVE) is giving up the luxury and ease that being heiress to a $100,000,000 could give her for a place in the spotlight of Hollywood's movie arcs. Of course, living in the lap of luxury is apt to get boresome at times, too.

JOHNSON MOTOR BOOKLET LEADER PRINTING TRADE

Most Outstanding Booklet Printed by Examiner Job Department.

WORK TO BE PROUD OF.

Outdoor Scenes From Every Province in Dominion of Canada.

In its news columns and also in its display windows The Examiner seldom refers to the work and products of its job printing department. Most people are reluctant about tooting heir own horns. In connecion with the news stories of the progress of local manufacturing plants, something might have been said of the fact that the job department of The Examiner has been steadily employed throughout the depression, with some overtime being required since the first of this year.

But, the whole plant and especially the Job Department, is more than pleased with its production of the Canadian Johnson Motor Company's new booklet announcing this season's Johnson outboard motors, an exhibit of which is on display in the south window of The Examiner office. This is a three color job with an exceptionally distinctive cover design of silver on a black background. The inside pages are printed in black ink with cerulean blue borders and backgrounds for the illustrations which are set flush with the outside of the pages.

The fact that this work was done in Peterborough, and that a local plant had the facilities and also the workmanship to produce this striking booklet should be of more than shop interest. Employees of the Job Department of The Examiner have many fine productions to their credit which compare favorably with similar "out of town" work. One of the big automobile companies is showing a Spring advertising booklet including designs in black and silver, which does not indicate any better craftsmanship than the new Johnson Motor booklet.

Outdoor scenes from all the provinces of the Dominion are included in the Johnson illustrations which incidentally portray the numerous uses of the company's outboard motors in all the ordinary conditions of water. One of them is a local fishing picture of a shallow shore line indicating that a "Johnson will take you to impossible places—where the 'big ones' are lurking."

The new models of Johnson Seahorses with the 1934 improvements of the patent Co-pilot, quick action starting, propeller protection clutch, rubber-cushioned steering, vacuum pressure cooling and other changes that contribute to the efficiency of the engine and convenience in its use, are all shown in the booklet. Some of the new "Sea-horses" are on display in The Examiner's window with their silent appeal of the pleasure they promise on the lakes and rivers during the long season now opening.

The Co-pilot is an improvement.. which permits the driver to have both hands free while the engine is running. This change will be welcomed by all users of Johnson motors and especially by anglers. The 1934 Johnson incorporates many new ideas by which it is keeping pace on the water with the refinements that are observed in other applications of the gasoline motor.

FRENCH STRIKE WAVERS

PARIS, April 7.—(AP)—Leaders of grumbling government functionaries, impressed by the firm stand of Premier Gaston Doumergue, wavered today in their move toward a general strike in protest against pay cuts.

Unmoved by compaints and arguments, M. Doumergue told a delegation of functionaries:

"The interests of France must come before the interests of different categories of citizens."

SCOTT'S SCRAPBOOK — By R. J. Scott

ROBERT MARSDEN, ROSENEATH INDIAN, TELLS FINE STORY

Writes Letter to Campbellford Man in Fine Style—Well Known in District.

WORKED ON CANAL

CAMPBELLFORD, April 9.—(By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—Memories of long ago and of the old friends now passed to the beyond have been revived by one of the districts older residents, Robert Marsden, of Roseneath, who recently celebrated his 87th birthday and whose story and photo recently appeared in the pages of The Examiner.

Well known throughout the country, Mr. Marsden with many of his Indian fellows worked at Campbellford during the days when the present Trent Canal was being built. During those days they all dealt with W. I. Stillman of Campbellford, who owned and operated a general store, and Mr. Stillman came to know and love these natives of our fair land. Knowing Mr. Marsden well, when his birthday notice appeared in the paper, he wrote him a congratulatory letter, and received the following reply, in perfectly written script and far above the average for a man of his age.

Roseneath, March 29, 1934.

Dear Mr. Stillman:

I was real pleased to received your kind letter and to think that an old man would be kindly remembered. Hope this also finds you in real good health, after the long, trying, hard winter we've had. Now we can look forward to the warm, sunshiny springtime. I am getting quite feeble, as I have been very sick for the past two weeks, but must not complain for I have long since passed my allotted time.

I am going to relate a story of a very old friend of mine by the name of "Cha Tick" or Captain Jim, that's all I ever knew him by. He was all through the war of 1812 and never received a scratch. He died in 1858 at the age of 120. Now "Cha Tick", when his time came, arose in the morning, apparently well, ate his breakfast, then smoked his pipe, then called in all his relatives saying he was going to a long journey. He shook hands with each and every one bidding them all goodbye. His people really thought he meant to go somewhere at the time. However, after bidding them all goodbye, he just lay back and passed away.

When they went to lay him out every one of his joints had fallen apart with old age.

But I know I shall never reach that age. Well I guess I'll conclude and again thanking you for your kind remembrance.

I remain,

Sincerely yours,
ROBERT MARSDEN.

TO LEASE WINDSOR STATION

OTTAWA—The Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission has received authority from the government to lease station CKLW in Windsor for five years. This station which is owned by the Western Ontario Broadcasting Company, has been the Columbia outlet in the area for the past two years. The Commission proposed to use this station to bring its series of sustaining programs to the listeners in Western Ontario.

To Be Heard On Air

Music lovers in all parts of Canada will welcome the announcement that the London Life Insurance Company will sponsor an all-Canadian broadcast the evening of April 10, from 9 to 10.30 E.S.T.

The occasion is the commemoration of the company's diamond jubilee anniversary. The London Life, established in 1874 has grown to occupy a prominent place among Canada's leading financial institutions. This company can point to an unbroken record of increases in life insurance in force for the past forty years.

The broadcast will bring a thoroughly Canadian program. The featured artist will be Edward Johnston (above) Canadian tenor. Reginald Stewart and his famous symphony orchestra, will accompany Mr. Johnston and also contribute full orchestra numbers.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAINS.

F.O.B. shipping point: Wheat, 82c to 84c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

Egg prices registered substantial declines during last week's trading on the Montreal Dairy and Produce Market as milder weather continued to cause an increase in production. Graded shipments in cartots or less ended the week at 19c a dozen for A-large, 18c for A-medium, 17c for B-Grade and 16c for C-grade. Receipts totalled 15,068 cases, about 5,000 cases more than the previous week.

The butter market soared early in the week to the highest level since 1931 at 31c a pound, but later in the week milder weather and prospects of increased production, together with slow demand at the high levels, caused the market to ease. At the end of the week No. 1 grade brought 30c a pound for carlots or less, compared with 29¼c to 29¾c a pound the previous Saturday. A total of 5,318 boxes was offered for sale, compared with 4,811 boxes the preceding week.

Cheese continued at 11¼c a pound for current make Ontario and 11½c to 12½c for white and colored summer cheese. Offerings amounted to 572 boxes.

On the potato market Quebecs in 80-pound bags brought $1.05 to $1.10 and New Brunswick Mountains in similar quantities $1.10 to $1.15. Prince Edward Island Mountains, in 90-pound bags were $1.35 to $1.40.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Fireworks in the rye market Saturday gave quotations for that grain an upward whirl to almost 5 cents a bushel higher than Friday's bottom figures.

The apex for rye values Saturday followed orders from Washington that seven big shipments of rye from Poland be shut out from landing in the United States pending investigation to determine whether the grain was subject to added duties under the anti-dumping clause of the United States Tariff Act. Further impetus to rye market upturns came from an authoritative estimate that the condition of the 1934 domestic crop of rye is only 65.1, breaking the low point record.

Rye closed unsettled at a fraction under the top prices reached but 1⅛c to 1⅜c above Friday's finish; wheat unchanged to ⅛c higher; corn, ⅛c to ⅜c up; oats ⅛c to ¼c advanced, and provisions varying from 20c decline to a rise of 2c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 9. — Wheat idled through a languid session on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange on Saturday, and wound up with losses of ¼c to ⅜c. The May option finished at 67¼c, while July was at 68¼c, and October at 69⅝c.

A minor selling flurry caused a slight shakedown toward the close. Fluctuations held through the short session within a range of ¼c.

Cheering news was that substantial amounts of Canadian wheat had been purchased for shipment after the opening of navigation No figure was placed on the export demand.

Coarse and cash grain markets maintained customary inertia, and price changes were negligible.

TOBACCO BUYING UNDERSTANDING IS DISCOVERED

Worked to Disadvantage of Growers Sutherland Reports to House.

FINDS NO COMBINE.

Finds Signs of Unwritten Law Letting Imperial Company Set Opening Price.

OTTAWA, April 10. (CP).—While no evidence was found to establish the existence of a combine among tobacco buyers operating in Western Ontario in 1932 there appeared to be an "understanding" which worked to the disadvantage of the tobacco growers, the report of Hon. D. M. Sutherland, special government investigator now before the House of Commons, states.

Mr. Sutherland found the action of the buyers in staying out of the market until October 26, 1932, an unusually late opening, had the appearance of collusion. The report was tabled in the House of Commons yesterday as the government reversed a decision previously arrived at. Premier R. B. Bennett explained it had been found possible to table the report because Mr. Sutherland was appointed by order-in-council and not in the ordinary operation of the Combines Investigation Act. Reports made under the act are not made public.

Tobacco growers, Mr. Sutherland found, operate at a decided disadvantage in dealing individually with a corporation like the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada particularly when the company buys not only for itself but for the Imperial Tobacco Company of Great Britain and Ireland.

Market in Britain

Following a satisfactory purchase of Canadian tobacco by British buyers in 1931, Mr. Sutherland says, it appeared to have been known to the trade the British would be in the market for a substantial amount of tobacco in 1932. Arrangements were then completed by the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada to handle Canadian purchases for the large British firm.

In this way they kept a competitor out of the market and earned a commission of $35,000. Responsibility for delay in opening the market could not be placed entirely on the Imperial Tobacco Company the report says, although there appeared to be an unwritten law permitting this company to set the opening price.

"The long-delayed opening of the market which took place on Oct. 26, (132) had the appearance of collusion in deferring the time of buying, as the principal buyers were in the field almost simultaneously on that date," the report says.

Signs of Understanding

"The approximate average of prices paid from day to day from the date of opening the market until Nov. 7 (1932), when the average price had decreased to about one-half the averageof the first day's purchases, together with the fact that an increase in prices paid from that date until Nov. 2 when the prices were nearly as high as the average at the opening of the market, although the best quality of tobacco is usually purchased first, also suggested an understanding among buyers which was operating against the interests of tobacco growers.

Mr. Sutherland made his findings to F. A. McGregor, registrar, Combines Investigation Act, who in his

TO STUDY SILVER QUESTION

SHANGHAI—James Harvey Rogers, United States financial and economic expert, arrived in Shanghai today to study the silver question as it affects China.

Victim Of Sarnia Oil Refinery Explosion Had Feeling His Time On Earth Was Short

SARNIA, Ont., April 10.—(CP)—Relatives and friends of John P. Harvey, victim of Monday's explosion at Imperial Oil Refinery are wondering today if the ill-fated man had a premonition of the tragedy that befell him. They said today Harvey had indicated several times during the last few months he felt his time on earth would be short.

They recalled that he recently visited the cemetery here with his wife to view the grave of a relative and while there, incidentally pointed out to his wife where he would like to be buried.

The most curious evidence of the apparent premonition came yesterday morning when, after starting for work, Harvey returned to his Capel street home three times for personal words with his wife.

Mrs. Harvey said when she heard the report of the explosion, a 'cold wave' came over her.

DAVID LLOYD GEORGE COMPLETES 44 YEARS OF SERVICE IN HOUSE

Carnarvon's Dean of Parliament Spends Most of Time at Home Writing.

GROWING VEGETABLES.

By Thomas T. Champion
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, April 10.—(C. P. Cable)—David Lloyd George today completed 44 years' unbroken service as members of the House of Commons for Carnarvon, but he did not attend the House today.

David Lloyd George

The present parliament has seen little of the Welsh wizard who had been the central figure in some of its greatest sittings, both before, during and after the Great War. The statesman's time is spent almost entirely at his Surrey home, Churt, writing further war memoirs and growing fruit and vegetables.

Lloyd George starts writing at 5.30 in the morning and usually goes to bed at 9:30 p.m.

He was first elected from Carnarvon at a by-election when he was 27 years of age but for some years thereafter his majority was very slim and at Westminster he had a prolonged struggle before his merits received general recognition.

Dean of House

Upon the death some years ago of the venerable 'Tay Pay' O'Connor Lloyd George became the dean of the House. And Carnarvon today is as wholeheartedly loyal to Lloyd George as the Scotland division of Liverpool used to be to the genial old Irish Nationalist.

There were persistent reports today that Major Gwylim Lloyd George and Miss Megan, son and daughter of the former Prime Minister, would join the Labor party. They visited their father at the Easter recess, but if they do go over to Labor it will be entirely on their own initiative.

The elder Lloyd George in any event will continue to represent Carnarvon as an Independent Liberal, member of a party of one or two persons, maintaining rigid aloofness from the opposition Liberals led by Sir Herbert Samuel and the government Liberals led by Sir John Simon.

ASSASSINS MISS RIVERA'S SON

Shot Goes Wild in Attempt on Life of Spanish Phalanx Society Leader.

MADRID, April 10 (AP)—Assassins to-day missed in an attempt to kill Jose Antonio Primo de Rivera, son of the former Dictator of Spain, and himself leader of the Fascist movement.

The attempt took place in the central section of Madrid. The shot went wild.

Jose Antonio Primo de Rivera, who is 32 years old, claims that 100,000 members are enrolled in his Falange Espanola or Spanish Phalanx.

The members wear blue shirts and symbols formed of crossed arrows. They have staged demonstrations throughout Spain, and many of their members are known to be adherents of former King Alfonso, although De Rivera and his lieutenants say their organization is not monarchial.

De Rivera and his men seek sufficient seats in the Spanish Cortes or Congress to form a working minority in the Government.

Dognappers

CHICAGO, April 10. (CP).—Suburban police said they had solved the mysterious disappearance of more than a score of valuable dogs from Hinsdale and nearby communities, with the arrest of three men, Walter Reese, of Downers Grove; Harry Poss and Joseph Randall both of Westmount.

Eight pedigreed "dognapped" dogs were recovered, the police said, and 14 others were also found in the men's possession.

SWAMP YIELDS MAN'S REMAINS

Trapper on Rounds in Cartwright Finds William Hamilton, Missing Since Fall.

FROZEN IN ICE.

LINDSAY, Ont., April 10 (CP) — William Hamilton, 27, was found dead yesterday frozen in the ice of a swamp with only his head and shoulders above the surface, and this brought to an end an intensive search started early last November when the young man disappeared from his home in Cartwright, near Blackstock.

The entire district had been thoroughly combed by searchers at the time and this spot, near his home, had been subjected to a special search. It is thought that when he first disappeared he had been drowned and that his body, sunk in the water, eluded the searching eyes of his friends. The body came to the surface just as the freezeup started and soon after a blanket of snow hid all signs.

On Monday, Fred Hearn, a trapper setting out his traps, made the gruesome discovery. As only the man's head and shoulders were showing the ice around him had to be chopped away.

Kingston License Office Loot, $2,560

KINGSTON, Ont., April 10 (CP). —A complete check up this morning on the robbery of the local office of issuer of automobile licenses, revealed a total of $2,560 was stolen by the thief or thieves who entered the office at noon yesterday.

It was announced after the robbery the amount would not exceed $1,500, but Ross Graham, issuer of licenses, who made a check up late last night, announced this morning the total amount he had in the office was $2,892, and the sum of $332 was in another part of the desk overlooked by the robbers.

It was learned that during the busy time of the past 10 days it had been customary for one member of the staff to remain in the office during the noon hour.

Yesterday, Mr. Graham decided to step out for lunch and return in a few minutes. It was while the office was empty that the robbery occurred.

INTERNATIONAL ARMS PARLEY CALLED MAY 23

Disarmament Session Adjourns Till April 30, Henderson's Warning Ringing in Ears.

PICTURES GREAT WAR.

Only Solution is Universal Agreement With U.S., Japan and Russia Participating.

By JOSEPH E. SHARKEY
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

GENEVA, April 10.—The steering committee of the Disarmament conference met today, decided to call an international conference May 23, and adjourned itself until April 30.

The committee members reached the understanding that Arthur Henderson, president of the conference, will have the authority to postpone either meeting a few days should he see fit.

In the course of the session, Henderson conjured up for the delegates the spectre of another Great War and he warned them that they must do their utmost to prevent an international catastrophe.

Disarmament, the Briton said, is a world problem, "only to be solved by universal agreement," and he insisted any program must include the United States, Japan and Russia.

Delegate Stein of Russia attacked the idea of transforming the convention into one for rearmament of any nation and urged the summoning of the conference as soon as possible to discuss a universal pact of non-aggression.

Stein characterized the situation as disquieting.

Back To Anarchy.

That section, he said, "contemplates with equanimity the return of conditions that led to the Great War. They urge us to go back to international anarchy where every nation is a law unto itself and all arm."

Henderson said there was nothing to warrant an opinion that a dis-

DRINKING EVILS TO BE LESSENED

Henry Hopes New Beer Act Will Curtail Imbibing in Hotel Bedrooms.

"BECAME QUITE A HABIT."

TORONTO, April 9 (C.P.).—Premier George S. Henry to-day was on record against the abuse of the Liquor Control Act by hotel bedroom drinkers, and believed the new wine and beer legislation would correct the situation.

"I rather fear," the Premier said in an address last night, "that there are those who drink liquor nowhere else than in hotel bedrooms, which are included in the definition of residence in the Act. I fear there has been an abuse there. They go to a dance or a banquet and they secure rooms where they drink."

He thought with the sale of beer at meals in hotels, permitted under the new legislation, "we are giving an alternative that will discourage the use of hard liquor which has become quite a habit in the hotels of the province, and ultimately we may be able to alter the definition of residence."

Mr. Henry also referred to the minimum wage proposals for men, declaring he believed labor organizations were not yet ready for such a step, although he considered it highly desirable. One benefit under the minimum wage law was the amendment which prevented men displacing girls who were already employed, by underbidding in wages. He said it was difficult to obtain complaints as employees were afraid of losing their jobs.

Hen's Heart Is Found In Big Egg She Laid

QUEBEC, April 10—(CP)—A Quebec hen certainly put her heart into her work, according to Joseph Julien, her owner. When she was dissected to find out why she had died just after laying a large egg, her heart was mysteriously missing. Then the egg was broken. Julien said unsmilingly, and her heart was found in the egg.

KENNEDY URGES MARKET BOARD FOR LIVESTOCK

Would Give Group Power to Fix Minimum Price on Best Grades of Stock.

BONDS FOR TRUCKERS.

Check Price Spread by Unit in Each Province to Process Cattle, Hogs for Export.

OTTAWA, April 10. (CP)—Creation of a livestock marketing board to control the entire marketing of livestock from the farmers to the final markets was proposed to the parliament price spreads and mass buying probe to-day by H. P. Kennedy, Toronto.

Backed by more than four decades of experience in the industry, the prominent commission house head and president of the Edmonton and Saskatoon stockyards who has exported to the United Kingdom, the continent and the United States, believed this board would be of paramount importance. It should have power, he told the committee, to fix a minimum price on best grades of livestock.

He came forward with further suggestions:

1. The Board could arrange for export shipments, which would tend to stabilize domestic prices and also ensure that only cattle of the standard and type required in Great Britain be exported. The same regulations to apply a radius of 20 miles of established stockyards, purchase their supplies in open competition on public markets.

This regulation would not apply

VIENNA TO PARIS FLIER WRECKED

Engineer is Killed and Fifteen Passengers Are Seriously Injured.

WRECKERS LIFT RAIL.

VIENNA, April 10 (A.P.).—The engineer was killed and 15 passengers were injured seriously when the international express, bound from Vienna to Paris, was wrecked to-day at Ostering, between Linz capital to Upper Austria, and Wels.

Investigators said after a hasty preliminary inspection at the wreck scene that a rail apparently had been removed by wreckers.

They said they had no clues.

It was not immediately made known whether any foreigners are among the injured.

The wreckers apparently removed a whole rail from the track of the train, bound from Vienna to Paris. The government posted a reward of 5,000 schillings (about $950) for the apprehension of the wreckers.

The directors of Public Security of all provinces in Austria, meeting in Vienna today with Vice Chancellor Emil Fey to discuss ways and means of combatting anti-government propaganda and actions, immediately were confronted with this new instance of apparent anti-government violence in the train wreck.

END DEPRESSION BY 'MORE TRADE' BANKER CLAIMS

Governments Must Get Together and Start Trading Again.

BUYING MUST START.

Jackson Dodds Issues Warning Against Inflation.

OTTAWA, April 10.— (CP) — The Banking Committee of the House of Commons today was shown a path leading back to world prosperity. Jackson Dodds, general manager of the Bankof Montreal, summed up in the words "more trade" his anti-depression policy.

"We will get out of this depression," said the tall, grey-haired banker, "when the governments get together and start trading again among themselves. I think it is well known that tariffs, quotas and heaven knows what, have prevented world trade."

A warning against inflation and radical economic measures was sounded by Mr. Dodds when the committee resumed its inquiry after the Easter recess. Inflation, he said, was easy to start but difficult to stop and inevitably led to disaster as France and Germany learned to their sorrow after the war.

As far as Canada was concerned, inflation would lead to a flight from the Canadian dollar and add to the burden of paying debts in New York funds, said Mr. Dodds. The difficulty with inflation was to know when to apply the brakes, "and I have never found anyone who could tell me when the time had come for the brakes."

Supplied Credit

All through the depression, Canadian banks have supplied adequate credit to run the business of the country, said Mr. Dodds, denying the charge the banks have contracted credit and smashed down prices. It let alone, deflation will

WOLVES BOLD IN HALIBURTON

Deer Chased by Wolves Are Seen by Residents of District.

ONE FOUND IN DAM

LINDSAY, April 10 (Examiner Correspondence) — Wolves have been more numerous in Lutterworth Township of Haliburton this year than for many years past, according to the statement of Mark Ellis, a resident of that district. A deer was removed from above the dam at Elliott's Falls a few days ago, which had been driven to its death by wolves. Mr. Ellis and his son also found a deer in his barn yard, badly torn and unable to travel. It only lived three days. Three deer, chased by wolves were seen on the camp ground occupied by the Girl Guides on Cameron Lake, near Fenelon Falls.

All classes of the community joined yesterday in paying the last tribute of respect to the late Dr. T. A. Kirkconnell, former principal of the Collegiate Institute. Private service was first conducted at his late residence by Rev. C. H. Bryant, of Smith's Falls. The cortege then proceeded to the Baptist Church, where the service was in charge of the pastor, Rev. G. M. Holmes. The pupils of the Collegiate Institute lined the thoroughfare on either side leading to the church. Interment took place at Port Hope, where the deceased taught for a number of years.

EX-NORWOOD, LAKEFIELD BAPTIST PASTOR DIES

PICTON, Ont., April 10.—(C.P.) —Rev. J. B. McCormack, minister of Picton Baptist church since 1931 died suddenly to-day at his home. He had conducted Sunday services and was about as usual yesterday.

He had been in the ministry for 36 years, serving at Hillsburg, Ailsa Craig, Bracebridge, Norwood, Lakefield and Picton. He was born in Scotland 63 years ago and educated there, coming to Canada in 1910. He was the composer of both words and music for a number of hymns. The funeral will be held Thursday in the Baptist church. His widow survives.

WASHINGTON, April 10 (C.P.).—Dr. William A. Wirt named three women and two men connected with the United States administration and a newspaperman to-day as having been present with him at a dinner in September when he heard assertions of a plot to bring Communism.

Testifying to the House Investigating Committee, while hundreds crowded the huge caucus room to hear, he said they were:

Robert Bruere, chairman of the Textile Code Advisory Committee; David C. Voyle, of the Public Works Administration; Hildegarde Kneeland and Mary Taylor, Department of Agriculture Economists; Alice Barrows of the Education Bureau at the Interior Department; and Lawrence Todd, a representative here of the Soviet News Agency, Tass.

The dinner was held in the Barrows home in nearby Virginia.

"Miss Kneeland," Wirt continued "said Tugwell said: 'We must undo a century or more of development. Untangling and removing of these tissues will be almost like dispensing with civilization itself.'"

WORLD FAMED SPY TO BE MONK

Trebitch Lincoln, Ex-Canadian Missionary, German Agent in War Would Forget Past.

BUDDHIST DISCIPLE.

VICTORIA, April 10.—(CP)—Trebitch Lincoln, a former member of the British House of Commons, world famed adventurer and spy, today prepared for a journey across Canada, over the Atlantic and into seclusion in a Buddhist monastery in Germany.

Back into the public eye came the international figure as he reached here during the week-end from the Orient accompanied by six nuns and four monks of the Buddhist religion. The former Canadian Lutheran missionary said he might speak in Canadian cities but so far no arrangements for meetings had been made.

Lincoln is now know as the Abbot Chao Kung. He said he wanted to forget all about his days of spying for the German government during the Great War. He wanted to be friends with the British and the world in general. The years of conflict should end with peace, he said.

No Extremes

The abbot declared the Buddhist religion avoids all extremes, and offered goodwill. "At the home we eat only one meal a day and we are always vegetarians," he said, "It is not that we believe in unnecessarily castigating the body but we believe that mind works better if the body is fed less. Buddhism demands precise, profound and correct thinking."

Other than stating he would preach Buddhism in Europe, probably in Switzerland or Germany, the abbot would reveal nothing of his future plans. He did state, however he would not return to China. It was believed Germany would be the country selected for establishment of his Buddhist monastery.

JOHN PRIDMORE FACES CHARGE MANSLAUGHTER

Four Actions for Damages Settled Out of Court in Cobourg.

TRUE BILL RETURNED.

Mr. Justice J. A. McEvoy Presides Over Spring Assizes.

COBOURG, Ont., April 10.—(CP) —A Grand Jury returned a True Bill against John Pridmore of Belleville, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of William Beebe of Hope Township last February. Beebe was fatally injured when struck by a motor car, allegedly driven by the accused. The trial will begin tomorrow.

COBOURG, April 10.—Four actions for damages arising out of automobile accidents were eliminated by private settlement from the docket of the spring assizes of the Supreme Court of Ontario for the united counties of Northumberland which was opened here yesterday afternoon with Mr. Justice J. A. McEvoy presiding.

A trial jury which had been empanelled in one of these cases on the civil list was dismissed after Mr. Justice McEvoy, acting upon an intimation that settlement by consent had been tentatively discussed, called the several parties into his chamber for a further conference which was successfully concluded half an hour later.

The Court was then adjourned until this morning to receive the finding of the Grand Jury in the only criminal case on the docket, involving a traffic fatality. The hearing of several other civil suits was left in abeyance until the result of the Grand Jury's deliberations was announced.

J. E. O'Flynn of Sault Ste. Marie is the special Crown Prosecutor for the assizes.

At the opening of the court, Crown Attorney F. D. Boggs expressed to Mr. Justice McEvoy the congratulations of the Bar of the united counties upon his elevation to the Bench, and also a cordial welcome on his first judicial visit to Cobourg. G. N. Gordon, K.C., of Peterborough, conveyed similar felicitations from the Bar of Peterborough.

His Lordship thanked the barristers for their kindly sentiments, and joined with them in voicing regret at the sudden death of Mr. Justice Eric Armour to whom the present assizes had been assigned. Addressing the Grand Jury, he briefly referred to the importance of their duties in assisting the courts, and suggested that if the public buildings in the united counties had been recently visited by other juries this customary detail of the Grand Jury's responsibility to the public might be omitted as an economy on this occasion.

The Only Criminal Case.

A charge of manslaughter against John Pridmore of Belleville in connection with the death of William Beebe of Hope township on No. 2 highway in February is the only criminal case before the Court. Beebe was struck by a car while walking on the highway and fatally injured. That evening, it is alleged, Pridmore "gave a lift" to a transient, and further along the road

NEGRO GIRL OF 16 LIVES 9 DAYS WITH DEAD FATHER

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 10 (AP) —The weird tale of a 16-year-old negro girl, high school sophomore, who lived for nine days in a house with the body of her father, came to light to-day. Asked by a neighbor how her father was, Esther May Brown sobbingly replied:

"I last saw Daddy alive the night before Easter. He said goodnight to me as he went to bed. I found him dead the next morning. A rope was around his neck and was attached to the top of the bed. I cut it and tried to revive him, but couldn't. I did not know what to do and then went to school."

Police went to the scene and found the body. A medical examiner said the case was suicide.

Inquiry Into Federal Relief Is Ordered By Government

BENNETT TAKES ACTION AFTER KING'S CHARGES

Any Irregularities Will Be Placed at Auditor-General's Door Premier States.

LIBERAL CHIEF DIFFERS.

Claims Probe Will Disclose Most Shocking Story Country Ever Heard.

OTTAWA, April 10.—(C. P.)—With the Prime Minister's assurance of an investigation of federal relief expenditures by the Public Accounts committee before it the House of Commons today continued discussion of the controversial unemployment relief bill. Charges of "looting the treasury" levelled by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, precipitated a heated debate last night and ended in Prime Minister R. B. Bennett's announcement an inquiry would be authorized.

The investigation adds one more to the long list of active committees on Parliament Hill, a notable feature of the present session. Committees are so active Mr. Bennett expressed doubt if the Public Accounts committee could get into action for some little time. Many members are occupied on the Mass Buying, Banking, Radio and Agricultural Committees. He said he would get the probe started as soon as possible.

Debate on unemployment relief brought to light differences between the government and Georges Gonthier, auditor-general, the one civil servant who does not have to take orders from the government. The auditor-general is the servant of the House of Commons and checks all government expenditures.

Up to Auditor-General

Any irregularities which might have taken place should be laid at the door of this official, Mr. Bennett declared, while Mr. King said the fault lay in the government's failure to institute a proper auditing system for relief expenditures.

The Liberal leader predicted an inquiry would disclose "one of the most shocking stories this country has ever heard." The government could not evade its responsibility by blaming the auditor-general.

The differences arose, according to Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor, when he asked the auditor-general to make certain audits and the official had declined on the ground it might interfere with the independent functioning of his department and work a hardship on certain municipalities.

The government had adopted greater safeguards although generally following the practice of the former Liberal government in its unemployment relief scheme of 1922, Mr. Bennett told the House. The errors which had come to light had been corrected. He was convinced there was no deliberate dishonesty or "looting of the treasury" by provinces or municipalities but where amounts had been improperly charged up it was a simple matter for the

ONTARIO HORSES IN GOOD DEMAND

Bring $125-$150 in Hastings —100,000 Acres Wheat Winter Well in Essex.

SOME FEED SHORTAGES.

TORONTO, April 10 (C.P.). — The Ontario Department of Agriculture in its weekly crop report to-day indicated mixed prospects for wheat in the province, but reported good sales of horses in some quarters. Damage to orchards was reported from some districts

The Department reported that in Southern Ontario, Essex County has 100,000 acres of fall wheat, almost twice as much as usual and that it appears all will survive the winter. In Brant, it said, many farmers reported damage to last year's seeding and that some damage had been done to orchards and raspberries.

In Lambton County, it said, there has been good demand for horses, and Michigan institutions have taken numerous two-year-old fillies and breeding mares at good prices. In Lincoln, it reported, slight bud growth made it difficult to obtain an estimate of winter damage to orchards.

In the central part of the province Hastings County reported the prices for horses at $125 to $150 a head with good demand.

The report said 25 per cent. of the cattle herds in Frontenac County were in poor condition, and that some losses were expected. It mentioned heavy losses among pigs. Feed supplies for cattle were reported low in Carleton County.

Throughout the northern parts of the province snow continued to cover the ground, affording good protection for grain in most instances.

HOUDE RETURNS TO MAYORS SEAT IN RECORD VOTE

Piles Up 53,531 Majority, Largest Ever Given Montreal Mayoralty Aspirant.

3 LOSE DEPOSITS.

Four of His Old "Brain Trust" Are Elected in City Council List.

(By Campbell Carroll, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

MONTREAL, April 10 (CP)—Once known as "L'Enfant Terrible" of Quebec politics, debonair Camillien Houde to-day sits ensconced in the mayoral chair of the Metropolis of Canada more firmly than any of his predecessors.

Not content with piling up the largest majority accorded an aspirant to mayoral honors in Montreal, Mayor-elect Houde enriched the city's coffers by making his three opponents forfeit their $500 deposits.

The man who ruled over Montreal as a virtual dictator during two terms of office from 1928 to 1932 was returned to the mayoralty with a majority of 53,531 over his closest opponent, Dr. Anatole Plante, Liberal member of the Quebec Legislative Assembly for Montreal-Mercier, who secured 36,838 votes to Mr. Houde's 90,369. His two other opponents, Salluste Lavery, K.C., and Pierre Desrosiers, Laborite, polled 12,930, and 30, 101 votes respectively.

As R. L. Calder, K.C., right-hand man of the Mayor-elect put it, "Knight Houde has blossomed forth again with all the swashbuckling verve of yore."

"Hands Off Montreal."

Mr. Houde rode into power with a platform resolving itself to three words, "Hands Off Montreal." He saw Dr. Plant's candidature as another step of Premier L. A. Taschereau, of Quebec, to "extend his grip over the province," and he pleaded with the electorate not to elect a man "who was chosen at a political caucus at Quebec."

Nearly as jubilant over the defeat of another Liberal—ex-Alderman Alfred Legault, member of the executive committee of the retiring regime and a Liberal organizer on the Island of Montreal—as of his own victory over Dr. Plante who had been given the paternal blessing of Premier Taschereau, Mr. Houde characterized his victory as "one which shows that even a well-oiled political machine cannot stand up against the popular vote when it is aroused."

4 Former Henchmen

Although the ex-mayor stood aloof from any previous alliances in the fight just ended, he sees himself surrounded by Aldermen many of whom formed his little brain trust back in 1928-30 and again in 1930-32. Ald. Tancrede Fortin, K.C., a former chairman of the executive committee, is back in office, ex-Ald. J. M. Savignac, ex-member of the executive committee, is back again, Ald. W. S. Weldom, also a former committee member, was elected by acclamation, and Dr. Zenon Lesage, an out-and-out Houdist, again carried the day in his bailiwick of St. John Ward So, in addition to his whacking majority of nearly 54,000 votes, the mayor-elect will find many of his old stalwarts among whom he will distribute important posts in his new administration.

In addition to the defeat of ex-Ald. Legault, Mr. Houde's "Bete Noire" for four solid years, other high-ranking personalities in the administration of Hon. Fernand Rinfret bit the dust in the landslide election. Lionel O. Bell, retiring executive committee member, Lost his deposit in St. Andrews ward to George S. Layton, a newcomer, Dr. H. A. Quintal, veteran alderman and chairman of the metropolitan commission during the past two years was badly defeated in St. Mary ward, and Dr. F. L. Demers, militant Liberal and fervent admirer of retiring Mayor Fernand Rinfret, squeezed just enough votes out of his ward to save his deposit.

Cat Becomes Lonely Tries To Adopt Rat

ST. MARY'S, Ont., April 9 (CP). —Her own family relations disrupted but her maternal instinct still keen, there's one St. Mary's cat determined on bucking the laws of nature. She insists on adopting a natural enemy of her race—a rat But the rats don't appear to enjoy the terms of the new peace plan. The cat, however, is undismayed, and so far has made no fewer than five efforts to carry out her plan.

It all started after the cat deserted her first family, and the storekeeper, in whose place she made her home, drowned the next additions.

The mother became lonely. She appeared later with a rat, the nape of its neck gripped in her teeth. When the cat did loosen its hold she never lost trace of the adopted son until he finally escaped. Five times she has appeared with a rat but each time it proved a transient.

Unromantic

PHILADELPHIA, April 10. — (CP)—Catherine McLaughlin, of Teadon, is accused by a taxicab driver of telling him: "I have $15 and I want a ride around in this balmy spring air."

George Updyke, the chauffeur drove her around $15 worth and, when the money was not forthcoming, stopped at a police station. He hadn't been chauffeuring Miss McLaughlin for the balmy spring air, he told a magistrate, so the young lady will have her spring day in court.

Soft Coal Forces Plot To Beat Code

WASHINGTON, April 9 (C.P.).—Soft coal operators from five States massed forces to-day to overthrow Hugh S. Johnson's NRA mandate for shorter hours and higher wages.

The battle ground was the floor of NRA's public hearing on the recent amendment to the United States bituminous coal code. This extended the seven-hour working day and a compensating increase in wages to all soft coal mines.

Administration officials conceded the order was one of the most drastic steps in code-making yet taken by Johnson They pointed out, however, it was purely a stop-gap measure designed to prevent approximately 200,000 miners from going on strike upon expiration of the old wage scale last April 1.

NINE POLITICAL SPEECHES FLOOD SOUTH OXFORD

Orators Wax Warm in Last Few Days Before Vote Next Monday.

ONLY TWO IN FIGHT.

Manion and Col. Ralston Assail in Turn King and Bennett Records.

TILLSONBURG, Ont., April 10.—(C.P.).—Electors of South Oxford to-day were given a moderate breathing spell from the shower of oratory that deluged the riding yesterday when no fewer than nine speeches were distributed here and at Ingersoll. Only one meeting is scheduled for to-night, at which the chief speaker will be Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways.

The by-election, necessitated by the death during last recess of Thomas M. Cayley, will take place next Monday. The battle is between stalwarts of the two older parties. Hon. Donald Sutherland, who sat in the House of Commons from 1911 to 1926, and was Minister of Agriculture in the Borden Government, represents the Conservative interests, and A. S. Rennie, business man of Tillsonburg, is Liberal candidate.

Yesterday the electors of Ingersoll heard Hon. J. L. Ralston, former Minister of National Defence, while Dr. Manion spoke at Tillsonburg. At the same time Earle Rowe, Conservative member for Dufferin-Simcoe, spoke in support of Mr. Sutherland.

National problems and how these had been met by the present administration were discussed by Dr. Manion, who dwelt on the effect upon Canada of world conditions. Colonel Ralston charged that the Government's policies had been inadequate and that the financial program of the present administration had resulted in little else than a heaping up of national debt.

Railroads In Limelight.

Both Col. Ralston and Dr. Manion dwelt on the railway situation. Col. Ralston declared the $25,000,000 Sir Henry Thornton might have spent on Canadian National Railways hotels was a mere bagatelle compared to the $60,000,000 Prime Minister R. B. Bennett guaranteed to the banks to aid Canadian Pacific Railway financing.

Both parties were equally responsible for the railway situation, Col. Ralston continued. He claimed that in 1912 Mr. Bennett had favored construction of a third trans-Canada railway, although Mr. Sutherland had blamed Sir Wilfrid Laurier for building a second line. He charged the Government's record of finance had not fulfilled the promises made in 1930, and claimed it had fallen short by millions of dollars of balancing the budget.

Dr. Manion charged that in 1929 the Mackenzie King Government had committed the Dominion to an added expenditure of $25,000,000 for the C.N.R., for "useless hotels," steamships and "a hole in the ground in Montreal you could put this whole town into." He said his Government's reorganization of the system would enable the road to reach an earning position when prosperity returned.

Dr. Manion said the system had improved by $7,000,000 since the first of the year, as far as earnings were concerned, compared to the same period in 1933. Canadian Pacific earnings had advanced $4,000,000.

BANK SYSTEM IS EXPLAINED

Rotarian Stanley Neale Deals With Criticisms Hurled Against Banking Institutions.

CAMPBELLFORD ADDRESS.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 10.—(By Examiner Staff Correspondent.)—A general idea of banking was given the Campbellford [illegible] Club at the noon luncheon yesterday when Rotarian Stanley Neale, manager of the local branch of the Royal Bank, featured as the club speaker and outlined some principles of the business in its broader aspects. The chair was occupied by President Clarence Williams.

To-day banks on all sides are subject to criticism, adverse and constructive, Mr. Neale stated, and much mud was slung at the institution, some of which was malicious, but all of which was ignorant. People never try to get the real opinion of a situation, for much of the criticism of banks today comes from people who should know better, people such as professors of institutions of learning, who as a rule are not always so well informed on the subject as they should be.

A chartered bank is owned and controlled by shareholders the speaker said, and contrary to many ideas, these holders do not have a monopoly of the shares, but as a rule are ordinary people with from five to ten holdings. The bank operates under a Dominion charter which is no different from any charter held by a company, with the exception that the bank charter is more restricted, having to be called in every ten years for revision, when it is discussed openly in parliament ,and if necessary amendments made.

A charter gives the bank the privilege of accepting deposits from the general public, and also enables them to give interest on deposits, the rate of interest in Canada being fixed, while with British banks this is not so. On the other hand, the public do not have to deposit money with the banks and are under no obligation to do so.

Having received money from depositors, the bank does not loan it out again on interest, as the term is generally applied. The real wealth of the country was representative weadth Mr. Neale pointed out, which was handled through bills of exchange, deeds, mortgages, and such credit instruments, and it is these instruments that the bank may and does legally deal with. It buys and sells credit, but does not create it.

The creation of a loan always creates a deposit somewhere was a saying that was often true the speaker said, but with demand loans, in no case was a demand deposit considered a safe deposit.

Charges Too High.

Another charge hurled against banks was that the charges were too high, Mr. Neale said. The average rate of interest in Canada was under seven per cent, and when office expenses, upkeep, and all overhead ahd been deducted, only about two per cent. represented profit on this charge. The same charge was laid against banks with regard to current accounts also, but although every person had to pay a government tax of three cents on every cheque under one hundred dollars, this did not seem to worry them at all. And one of the great serivces rendered by the bank to the public was the safe deposit box system, where for a very nominal rental sure and safe deposit of valuables could be made in vaults which had cost considerable money to build and make safe.

Touching briefly on the proposed central bank for Canada, Mr. Neale said the banks were not opposed to this action providing that the Canadian institution would be like the Bank of England. It it were so it would be distinctly beneficial to Canada .

If this went into effect, the speaker said that one of the great changes would be the matter of rediscount. As applied by the Bank of England, the rate quoted by them gave the rate of interest for the whole of the country, which makes a fluctuation rate of interests. One danger would have to be avoided, however, he said, and that was in regard to inland revenues. This money, when collected, would have to go back into the treasury and so stop the circualtion of it, as is sometimes the case to-day.

BRIDGENORTH

On Wednesday last a peculiar and what might have been a serious accident, occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Robinson, of Bridgenorth, when their youngest daughter, June, out playing picked up a kitten which in its fright, bit the little girl in the face; so great was the cut that nine stitches were required to close the wound.

Master Glen Nicholls, the three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Nicholls, who was taken to a Peterborough Hospital on Monday evening, is sufficiently recovered to return home.

Mrs. (Rev.) Walton of Chatham who has been with her father, Mr. McConkey, through his serious illness, is returning to her home.

The men's club invite you to their open night this evening. The guest speaker is to be Fred Roy. His lecture is to be illustrated with many films of his own taking.

Crow River Floods Area At Marmora

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, April 10.—Some of the step logs were removed from the Crow River Dam on Friday evening and Saturday to release the waters of the rising river and ease pressure on the temporary bridge.

Traffic crossing the bridge is now being controlled by Dan Shannon by day and Wesley Wannamaker takes over these duties by night.

The water is but a few inches below the flooring of the bridge and has innundated the field where the new skating rink is situated giving that structure the appearance of an island.

There is also an unusually large ice jam on the Moira River near Deloro.

Suit By A Minor.

William Thomas, a minor, and farmer-laborer of Cramahe township, was plaintiff through his next friend, Dr. F. R. Pember of Colborne, in a suit against Stanley Brunskill of Toronto for injuries suffered in an automobile accident on September 4, 1932. The plaintiff's claim was for $10,000 and costs.

Thomas was a passenger in Brunskill's car when it ran into the ditch and collided against a tree, half a mile south-east of the hamlet of Dundonald, Cramahe township. His right leg was fractured, his scalp lacerated and there were other slighter injuries. Negligent driving by the defendant was alleged as the basis of the claim. Plaintiff accepted in settlement a sum which with $900 previously paid by the defendant amounted to approximately $2,000.

Archie Cochrane of Cobourg was counsel for Thomas and Dr. Pember, and J. W. Thompson of Agar and Thompson, Toronto, for the defendant.

Three Motor Cases.

Three cases on the civil list were litigious repercussions of a highway accident west of Welcome on September 21, 1933, in which an automobile driven by Donald Tulloch of Tyendinaga township, Hastings county, crashed into a truck of Martin Transports Limited which was stalled on a hill with a dead battery. The accident happened about midnight in a light rain. Tulloch and his wife, who were both injured, sued the transport company for $2,000 and costs, and settled the case out of court for $900.

Earle Teskey of Enterprise, a passenger in the car, was plaintiff, in the second case, against the driver of the truck, Fred Saunders, with Martin Transports Limited, co-defendant. Teskey asked for $25,000 and costs on account of his injuries. The settlement in this action was not announced.

Donald Weese and his wife, of Camden township, the other passengers in the automobile accepted $500 in settlement of their claim for unstated damages against the transport company for their injuries in this accident.

The truck with a trailer had stalled on the south side of the highway near Welcome, and in the previous criminal trial it was alleged that the driver had failed to take adequate precautions to warn traffic from both directions. Fred Saunders, the driver of the truck, stated that he had gone down the road toward the car and tried to give warning with a flashlight. The defense alleged that the driver of the automobile had been negligent in not properly observing the conditions on the highway in the dark and rain. The five passengers of the automobile were all seriously injured in the crash.

Mr. Cochrane was counsel for the plaintiffs in these three cases, and Agar and Thompson of Toronto represented the defendant company.

BENNETT TAKES

Dominion to recover the moneys improperly paid out.

The Provinces Share

This was because the government had insisted on the Provincial Auditor signing all certificates covering expenditure under the act. The name of the Province consequently backed the correctness of all accounts and if mistakes came to light the province involved had no choice but to adjust the matter and in every case was prepared to do so.

The Liberals yesterday continued their assault on the sweeping powers reposed in the Government under the Unemployment Relief Bill. Mr. King fought for deletion of the "peace, order and good government clause" and the blank cheque provision. The former authorizes the Government to take any action it deems necessary to meet an emergency by order-in-council and the latter authorizes it to spend whatever amount it considers necessary on relief.

Provisions Necessary

Both provisions were neecssary, Mr. Bennett claimed. The Legislatures of British Columbia and Alberta had given wide powers to the Governments of those provinces to act. The Federal Government intended to watch developments in this connection, although it would take no step to interfere with the laws enacted by the Legislatures. But the Dominion Administration needed power to protect the business of the country.

Mr. King saw Canada at the parting of the ways between Democracy and Dictatorship. The Western provinces, he said, were simply following the example of the Dominion. If the present tendency continued, Canada would have, instead of a series of free parliaments, a group of irresponsible Provincial Soviets with a Federal Soviet at Ottawa.

Great social changes were coming about, Mr. King said. He urged that they be accomplished gradually and in the tried constitutional practice of the nations adhering to the British constitutional system instead of after he fashion of European counries which had gone to the extremes of Fascism, Communism or Socialism.

TOBACCO BUYING UNDERSTANDING

report to Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor, states:

"Reviewing the evidence in this case,, I cannot but feel that the growers have been operating at a decides disadvantage dealing indivually, as most of them have been, with a corporation which has such bargaining strength as the Imeprial Tobacco Company of Canadian particularly when the latter company is buying not only for itself but for the Imperial Tobacco Company of Great Britain and Ireland as well.

"The evidence which has been obtained, however, is not sufficient, in my opinion, to establish the existence of a combine within the meaning of the Combines Investigation Act; nor in my opinion is it sufficient to justify any more extensive investigation than has been made."

No Marketing Organization.

In the case in review, Mr. Sutherland states in his report, "there is a complete absence of any semblance to an organization of any kind on the part of the tobacco growers for an orderly marketing of leaf tobacco, except in the case of the few companies or syndicates growing tobacco on a large scale.

"The absolute dependance of the growers on the tobacco companies under these circumstances entitles them to open and above-board treatment and a fair price for their products. That the confidence heretofore placed in the tobacco buyers no longer exists is evident from the allegations made and the demands for an investigation."

Information as to the operations of the tobacco companies was obtained through personal interviews with the growers and with officials of the various companies and also from returns submitted by the companies in response to requests made for certain information under the Combines Investigation Act, Mr. Sutherland states.

Correspondence between the companies was a particularly important source of information, one remarkable feature of such correspondence being the absence, Mr. Sutherland continues, with one notable exception, of any reference to prices of raw leaf tobacco.

The Price Key

"The fact," Mr. Sutherland declares, "that prices prevailing in Canada generally determine the price paid on the export market for Canadian tobacco has an important bearing on the whole question that must be taken into consideration. It would appear, from copies of correspondence furnished, that British tobacco manufacturers were kept well informed as to the quality and prospective yield of the Ontario 1932 flue-cured crop, in which they had shown an early interest as a result of the satisfactory quality of imports of the 1931 crops."

In conformation of this, Mr. Sutherland quotes an extract from a letter from the Leamington Tobacco Sales Corporation, Limited, Leamington, Ontario ,to Gallagher Limited, Belfast, Ireland, reading: "From information which we have received which seems to be quite reliable, the British Leaf Tobacco Company of Chatham will be in the market for 5,000,000 pounds of flue-cured tobacco this year. Last year they handled about 1,000,000 pounds as an experiment, which seems to have proven satisfactory."

The following extract from a letter by H. P. Buell, vice-president of the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, to R. C. Harrison, of the British-American Tobacco Company, dated Aug. 27, 1932, is referred to by Mr. Sutherland as most significant: "I will be visiting the Southern market next week and the week following."

"I will make it a point to see Mr. Reed, and I hope that he will let me know if the buying of their Canadian requirements will be entrusted to us.....I have heard that several of the independent English manufaturers have already placed their orders with local Ontario dealers for purchases from the new crop."

Knew of British Market.

Continuing his report Mr. Sutherland states: "These letters indicate that the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada as well as other companies, was aware two months in advance of the opening of the Canadian market that a number of British manufacturers would be in the market for Canadian tobacco It must have been known to the trade early in August that the British Leaf Tobacco Company which is a subsidiary of the Imperial Tobacco Company of Great Britain and Ireland, would be in the market for a substantial quantity of tobacco. It is also evident from Mr. Buell's letter to Mr. Harrison that the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada was apparently desirous of having the buying of this tobacco entrusted to them.

"That this was done is acknowledged in a statement received from Mr W. Milligan, president of the British Leaf Tobacco Company located at Chatham, Ontario, where this company has a modern processing plant.

In response to questions submitted in this investigation, continues Mr. Sutherland, Mr. Milligan had stated in part in a letter as follows: "We bought about 3,500,000 pounds from the 1932 crop. The Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada bought for us on a commission basis. All tobacco was allotted to us in the barn before delivery was made. The average price paid for this tobacco was 16.81 cents per pound."

Kept Others Out.

Mr. Sutherland, in his report, proceeds: "The Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, by this arrangement, not only kept out of the market what might otherwise have been a competitor, but received a commission of $35,000 on the transaction.

"There is evidence that the delay in opening the market was not only unnecessary, but had the effect of adversely influencing the price and was against the interest of the growers. The responsibility for this delay, however, cannot be placed entirely on the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada. Notwithtanding the apparent existence of an unwritten law permitting that company to open the market and set the opening price.

"The large surplus of tobacco grown in 1932 over the requirements of Canadian tobacco manufacturers had an influence on marketing conditions that must be recognized."

TWEED DENIES FAITH BREACH

North Waterloo Liberal Claims No Promise Given on Beer, Wine Bill.

HIS PROPOSAL REFUSED.

KITCHENER, Ont., April 10. — (CP). S. C. Tweed, M.L.A. for North Waterloo, yesterday emphatically denied that there had been a breach of faith on the part of some of the Liberal members in not acquiescing with the Ontario government's beer and wine legislation in the legislature. Speaking specifically in regard to himself he said that he had never at any time given a promise as to what action he would take on the legislation.

Mr. Tweed pointed out that at the Liberal meeting held in Toronto prior to the announcement of the bill, when it was announced that the party would not oppose the bill, there were several absentees including himself and they therefore could not be bound by the general statement.

"During the past 10 days several statements have been issued to the press to the effect that all the opposition members of the Ontario legislature had agreed to the famous acquiescent statement on the beer and wine bill" Mr. Tweed who was not among those at the meeting, said to-day. "The impression is given that several members had broken their promise and double-crossed the leaders. As far as I am personally concerned I gave no promise to anyone as to what action I would take on this legislation. When the bill came before the House for second reading I urged upon the government certain changes in the Liquor Control Act. When Premier Henry spoke on the bill he admitted the change I suggested had considerable merit but declined to adopt it. I therefore used my judgment and voted against the government".

Mr. Tweed is not seeking re-election.

R. PRATT ON TRIAL.

PERTH, Ont., April 10 (C.P.). — Charged with murder, Dr. Wilton Pratt, aged Smith's Falls physician, goes on trial at the Lanark County Assizes here this afternoon. All 11 cases on the docket for the Spring Assizes concern Dr. Pratt, for he also faces 10 charges of performing illegal operations which will be dealt with after the murder charge is disposed of.

All the charges were laid following police investigation of a fire at Dr. Pratt's home at the end of December in which his housekeeper, Miss Elizabeth McLean, lost her life.

PAYING FOR THE NEW DEAL.

Noting that the national debt of the United States will reach an unprecedented total of 31 billions in 1935, which means some $1,500 per American family, Fred. H. Clausen, Wisconsin manufacturer, sounds a note of warning in the current Rotarian Magazine.

"Add other long term obligations, of states, counties and cities, real estate mortgages on farms and city properties, debts of railroads, utilities, industries and like obligations, and the total is 150 billion—or about one-half the estimated national wealth."

Mr. Clausen paints roughly America's financial picture as follows: national wealth, 300 billions; indebtedness, 150 billions; income this year, 50 billions; public expenditures this year, 18 billions.

"What does this spell for the future?" he asks. "From the very size of the debt its payment will be projected into future decades. Because of to-day's necessities we are inclined to let coming years take care of themselves. And that is a dangerous attitude.

"The New Deal program is on its way. In our journey we must 'pay the costs of transportation,' he concludes, "but may we maintain a proper sense of proportion."

AERIAL PROGRESS.

The great progress that is being made in air transport in Europe is apparent from a statement received by The Examiner from Imperial Airways, Limited, the great British air company, in regard to this year's plans.

Imperial Airways announce the providing of fresh facilities for passengers with new air liners and faster services, a new "all-air" stage across Europe on Empire routes and inter-connections between continental flying routes, enabling 160 European cities to be reached from London by air.

By means of accurately timed connections, more than 70 pleasure resorts and cities on the continent will be brought within a day's flying of Croydon, some of these destinations being in Austria, Spain, Denmark and Sweden. Connections will be established with 60,000 miles of European air routes.

"On our continental services," the company's announcement states, "we shall be operating big new air-liners, driven by four engines developing a total of 2,200 horse-power, which will be the largest in the world to be flown regularly on established routes. These machines are of the "Scylla" type and are of such a size that it is possible to provide three luxuriously equipped saloons, seating a total of 39 passengers, one of these saloons being fitted up and used as a smoking compartment."

On the Empire lines accelerated schedules, all to become in force this month, will bring India within five days of England, and passengers, mails and freight will be flown through from London to Singapore in eight days, while the air journey to Capetown will be shortened from ten to nine days.

Later in the year a 2,300-mile extension of the Eastern air route from Singapore to Port Darwin is expected to come into operation. This will enable a regular air service to be flown through for 11,000 miles from England to Australia.

NOT FOR PETERBOROUGH.

The old warning about looking a gift horse in the mouth is one The Examiner believes can be safely disregarded so far as the Henry Government's announcement of an increase of 25 per cent. in relief food allowances is concerned.

municipalities are fortunately not compelled to increase their relief costs simply because the Government—not unmindful of the coming election—offers to pay a larger share if the municipalities agree to do the same thing.

It may be considered good political strategy for the Government to show this generosity with the people's money, but there is no reason why municipal authorities should saddle their taxpayers with more obligations merely because an election is in the offing and a large number of voters is at present on the relief lists.

So far as Peterborough is concerned investigations have shown that increases in food prices have been taken care of, and that the vouchers represent more food at the present time than they did last summer.

There would therefore be no justification for this city to plunge into this increased relief policy, and it is no argument to say that only one-third of the great cost would have to be paid by the municipalities because in the long run our taxpayers would have to pay a proportionate part of the Government's share.

Our relief burden is sufficiently heavy at the present time without taking on any more obligations; and Peterborough's answer to the Government's announcement should simply be, "Thanks, no—we'll carry on at the old rate."

After all it would seem to be a matter for Peterborough—and not the Ontario Government—to decide what we propose to pay in the way of relief allowances, so long as we do not go beyond the scale laid down by the Provincial and Federal Governments.

TROUBLE AHEAD.

The Examiner is greatly mistaken if the beer and wine manifesto issued by the Ontario Temperance Federation does not create an embarrassing situation in a large number of Ontario constituencies.

With the Conservative party committed to sale of wine and beer by the glass and Mr. Hepburn apparently striving, without complete success up to the present, to set up the impression that the Liberals are in the same boat, the temperance forces are launching a campaign that will cut squarely across party lines.

The Federation urges upon all electors who do not favor the wider sale of intoxicants in Ontario four simple duties.

First, that they vote only for candidates who agree to support the submission of all major changes in the liquor policy to the people in a non-partisan vote, and who agree to oppose the coming into operation of the freer sale of beer and wine until the act permitting such sale has been submitted to such a non-partisan vote of the people.

Next, the organization urges that those members of the Legislature who took a stand against the beer and wine bill be given every support possible both in party convention and at the polls, and finally, it is strongly suggested that where no candidate will pledge himself to support these policies the temperance forces consider the nomination of a candidate who will so pledge himself.

It does not require the seventh son of a seventh son to foresee in this campaign the possibility of serious difficulties for both Conservative candidates and Hepburn Liberal and Progressies, for there is in most sections of Ontario a very strong feeling against part or all of the beer and wine proposals, and the interjection into the fray of independent dry candidates would undoubtedly be a disturbing factor; indeed in some cases a dominating factor in the campaign.

A province-wide dry campaign with the wet vote split between the two old parties in many ridings has interesting possibilities, from a political as well as a social viewpoint.

THE BEST SELLERS.

To say that a book is the "best seller" does not always indicate that it is the "best book." There are a lot of authors who will agree with this, especially those who have never produced a "best seller", but, according to Bruce Catton, who writes book reviews for a popular newspaper syndicate, there is evidence to show that quality does not always stand on top in the matter of sales.

A list of the 65 best sellers in the American book market since 1875 was drawn up recently for the Institute of Arts and Sciences by Edward Weeks. And the longer one scrutinizes this cross-section of the nation's literary tastes the less confident one feels of drawing any deduction from it.

The all-time best seller, to begin with, is the Rev. Charles M. Sheldon's "In His Steps," which has sold 8,000,000 copies. Second, fourth and fifth places are held by Gene Stratton Porter's books, "Freckles," "The Girl of the Limberlost." and "The Harvester."

That old reliable, "Ben Hur," places third. Mark Twain's "Tom Sawyer" is sixth, closely followed by Harold Bell Wright's "The Winning of Barbara Worth."

And so it goes. That best of all western romances, Owen Wister's "The Virginian," is well up toward the top; but a book like Mrs. Porter's "Laddie" is ahead of it. Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn," which competent critics have called the greatest of American novels, ranks high with a total sale of a million copies; but it is outclassed among others by such a book as "Five Little Peppers and How They Grew," by Margaret Sidney.

Non-fiction titles are fairly well represented. Edward Bellamy's famous "Looking Backward," for instance, has sold 500,000 copies, and Wells' "Outline of History," has sold 684,000; but "Pollyanna" has sold a round million, and "The Rosary" better than 900,000.

As Mr. Catton says, trying to deduce anything from these figures is difficult. Good books are on the list, in profusion; so are unutterably bad books, and a great many that are neither one nor the other.

You could argue that people like sugary optimism in books, and support your argument by a citation of titles; but such books as "All Quiet on the Western Front" and "Main Street" are there on the list to refute you.

What does it all mean, then? Nothing much, probably. The reading public is pretty omnivorous. It devours good books and it devours trash.

About all one can safely say, apparently, is that the best seller lists don't mean a thing.—Chatham News.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

When an American hockey team beats a Canadian team in a championship game that's real news, neighbors.

"Dry" candidates and C.C.F. standard-bearers may throw a monkey-wrench into the political machinery in more than one constituency in the coming provincial election.

Credit must be given the Henry Government for at least one constructive achievement. By cutting the Legislature down to ninety members it has made the most effective reduction in governmental overhead yet undertaken by any provincial administration.

While Sir Henry Drayton is urging the people not to encourage any more government expenditures, the slogan of the Henry administration apparently is, "Come and get it."

With its appropriation cut to $39,000, the National Gallery of Canada operated during the last fiscal year with a cash balance of $18 left, which sounds like very accurate financing.

It looks as if Uncle Sam is indeed due for a headache when all the bills come in.

When Mr. Henry announces the election date and Mr. Hepburn clarifies the position of his party on the beer question, the campaign will be on in earnest.

Premier MacDonald of Nova Scotia, who was elected on a platform of lower taxation, has discovered that instead of reducing levies, he will have to seek new sources of revenue. Promise and performance are two quite different things.

When Russia and the United States got together last year several Canadian newspapers were filled with stories of the huge trade with Russia that Uncle Sam was going to enjoy, and with lamentations over the chance Canada was losing. Now we are told that the Soviet-United States trade, already at its lowest ebb, is threatened with virtual collapse.

CHAPTER 34

Harvey strode off immediately with his light elastic gait which was so much more like the springy movement of a young animal than that of a man who had left his youth behind.

And as he went, Viola spoke with a queer half-childish appreciation. "Isn't he nice? He—helps one, don't you think—without really trying?"

Tiggie knew what she meant, and suddenly reflected upon the contrast between his own solidity and Harvey's essential airiness, and with the thought he realized half ruefully what it was that had provoked her unexpected mirth.

But her laugh was a relief to him; it lessened the tension. "Yes, he is a help," he said; then with another look at her, "You're all right, are you?"

"Oh, yes," she answered, "thank you."

"Well, I'm going to take you down to Farne now," said Tiggie, still supremely matter-of-fact. "You'll get stronger down there, and they're all wanting you. Spot told me there's a cottage near them where you can stay. I got Harvey to wire to Mrs. Rutherford to get accomodation for you last night."

"Oh, yes?" she said. "Yes?" Her voice was low, with a hint of suspense.

"That's all," said Tiggie. "You'll be all right under Spot's care."

"Oh, yes," she said again rather faintly, "And you—are you coming too?"

"Of course," said Tiggie. "But I shall put up at the inn. Harvey is coming down too. You see," he hesitated momentarily—"I'm not telling Spot anything yet. We thought it better not. A little later on all we need say is that your husband is dead. And afterwards—when you leave Farne—I shall go too. And then we can let them know from a distance that we have married in time for you to go back to India with me in the autumn."

"Oh!" said Viola. Her breath came rather fast, and he had to stoop to catch her words. "Did—did you think of all that?"

"No—Harvey," said Tiggie. "He's a genius, you know. A very good sort. He's helped me all through."

"How kind!" she said. "And he"—her voice was fainter still—"knows everything?"

"He knows about your marriage to Norman being a farce, that's all," said Tiggie.

"But—he's a genius," she murmured, as if to herself.

"Here he is!" said Tiggie.

A taxi had come into sight. It drew up at the curb, Harvey jumped out. His thin aquiline features wore a smile of impish humor.

"The wedding chariot!" he observed, and stood bareheaded and bowing at the door.

"Are you coming?" said Tiggie.

Harvey's smile developed into an open grin. "Not in this conveyance. I'll follow in a bus—your humble Sancho Panza. I'll see you at Paddington. You've ample time."

Viola was already in the taxi, but Tiggie paused. "Don't be an ass, Harvey! Come along with us! There's heaps of room." Then, reading refusal in Harvey's mocking eyes, he clapped a persuasive hand on his shoulder. "Please, old chap! I want you."

Harvey straightened up with military precision. "I am yours to command. But what does the lady say?"

Viola was leaning forward, her blue eyes set like burning sapphires in their sunken hollows. "Oh, please! I want you too," she said.

Harvey made a gallant gesture of capitulation, though he hardly looked at her. "In that case there's no more to be said," he observed. "You get in, Tiggie! Leave the back seat for me!"

He took command like a major domo and Tiggie stolidly acquiesced. There was only room for one manager at this stage, and his main care was Viola, whose aspect filled him with grave misgivings. Though the touch of her hand was so cold, she had the look of one consumed by an inward fever, and he dreaded the moment when reaction might set in.

He watched her covertly as they jolted through the crowded streets, but she gave no sign of weakening. Her white face was composed and even impassive. She seemed to take no note of her surroundings. He did not speak to her. There was something unfathomable about her which made him fear to intrude. So utterly had she placed herself in his hands that it seemed almost like taking advantage of her helplessness to assert any degree of intimacy with her. Her agony of the night before had apparently left her too numbed for feeling—too weary for speech. Whatever she did had a mechanical air, as though her thoughts were wrapt away far behind all physical disturbance. And he suspected that an unutterable fatigue weighed down both soul and body, depriving her almost of the power to think.

Later it might be, when the strain was over, the fever gone, she would awake and become again the sweet elusive being who had so strangely won his heart—if indeed he had come to her in time. But that doubt was beginning to press upon him now with an insistence that would not be ignored. Her frágility, her pallor, her silence, all imparted to her a species of unearthliness that made him afraid. He wondered with a sinking heart what Spot would say when he saw her. All through that long drive through the thronging traffic his mind was at work upon her, considering now this means, now that, for the accomplishment of her welfare. No one had ever cared for her before as he meant to care for her. Those vows which he had just uttered had been no empty formula with him. All that was humanly possible should be done for her. And if he failed, if even yet she eluded him, slipped from his grasp, he would have done his best. It was not in him to do less.

They reached their destination at last, and Harvey, faithful to his self-appointed role, departed to collect the luggage. The heat of the summer day was beginning to be felt, and Tiggie led his quiet companion to a seat. The station was buzzing with people, and he took up his stand slightly in front of her, trying to shield her from the noise and confusion around. He could think of nothing else to do for her, and it was Harvey who brought her strawberries for refreshment during the earlier part of the journey.

The train was already in, and they found her a corner seat in a first-class compartment with Tiggie. Harvey was traveling third-class, but he promised himself the pleasure of looking in upon them later ere he took his leave to seek humbler accomodation.

"Why is he coming too?" Viola asked when he had gone.

But Tiggie could not tell her. He was by no means clear upon that point himself. "I suppose he wants to paint something," he said.

She asked no more, seeming indeed to take small interest in his reply. Quietly she lay back in her corner and closed her eyes. And to Tiggie with that new sensation of sinking at the heart there came the realization that she was too weary to attempt to keep up appearances any longer—weary well-nigh unto death.

He wondered if there were anything he could do, but again he could think of nothing. He had not even thought of the strawberries that lay neglected beside her. Sadly he settled himself into the seat opposite and took up the paper.

The journey to Farne was a complicated one, involving two charges and a five-mile drive at the end of the railway.

To Tiggie the later stages seemed interminable, but Viola made no complaint. Her air of patient exhaustion never varied, though he thought the dark shadows on her face deepened as the day wore on. She had a faint smile for him whenever he spoke to her, but she did not speak herself unless compelled.

Harvey was invaluable, attending to all details as a matter of course. There was no hint of mockery now in his attitude. Tiggie had never before seen him so grimly business-like, and he knew that he shared his own anxiety, though no word of it passed between them.

It was late in the afternoon before they reached the final stage of the journey and found themselves confronted by a small motor-omnibus, which was waiting to transport them to Farne. The west country hills spread all around them in their pleasant summer greenness, and a soft breeze with the tang of the ocean salt in it blew lightly upon them as they emerged from the station.

"This'll do you good," said Tiggie cheerily to the silent girl beside him.

She did not speak in answer, but again her eyes smiled at him—their patient, weary smile. He thought it the saddest thing he had ever seen.

Only two other passengers besides themselves occupied the vehicle as they set out over the narrow, winding roads, and these were a burly farmer and his wife who descended at a village on the route. After that the way lay over a wide and desolate moor where the plovers were calling plaintively and no other living creature was in sight. The sky had clouded somewhat during the afternoon, and deep shadows lay here and there in the hollows. Harvey gazed upon the scene with a species of frowning appreciation, his long fingers absently pulling at his beard, his eyes remote, expressionless, yet curiously alive, as they darted over the landscape. Tiggie had not much attention to spare for him, but occasionally he wondered what was passing in the artist's alert brain. Harvey was, and always would be, an enigma to his straightforward intelligence.

Predatory Wealth And Nazi Plague Spots The Cause of Much Disturbance In Europe And In America.
(By H. W. L. MAHOOD)

THE UNITED STATES

Andrew Mellon and His Wealth.

Predatory is a harsh word. It is a word to be used with caution. There are, however, instances where no other word is more fitting. Whether it should be used in describing the vast wealth accumulation of Andrew Mellon is left to the reader to determine.

In a previous letter, attention was called to some investments made in Good Gulf Motors Oils and Gasoline. With assets of $743,000,000 in 1929 he gleaned a profit of $44,500,000. The surplus was $39,000,000.

The many useful purposes to which aluminum can be put is of quite recent discovery. While the supply is found in one twelfth of the earths' surface, the extraction is costly. As to aluminum, Andrew Mellon was quick to see what the future held. His ambition was to monopolize the mineral. And he monopolized. Just as he began business for himself, when very young by buying in the small, so he began in the aluminum venture. His first deal was the purchase of a $20,000 company. With his feet down, and having studied the prospects of a market for the manufactured articles, he began to crowd competitors to the wall, in the United States, and in Europe, and Asia.

One day the word "bauxite" caught his eye. He read the newspaper article. Aluminum from bauxite? Priceless deposits? Investigation followed in quick order. He bought them all. His was now the greatest and closest monopoly known to history. The Koppers Company, a $177,000,000 firm, was purchased during the Great War for $302,350. Watch for more.

Will Hungary Tolerate Hitlerism?

Nazi Plague Spots—Hungary

Hungary has suffered. Hungary bore brutal tryanny at the hands of Russia for long time. The present map of Europe shows her free. Once free, freedom ought to be maintained. How can the Hungarian youth of to-day consent to a Nazi control of their government? The past history of Hungary if studied in her schools and universities, ought to preclude such possibility.

Hungarian history does not read as does Canadian. Difficulties of which Canadian citizens have never dreamed have been the lot of Hungary. True it is that difficulty is the nurse of greatness. William Cullen Bryant once wrote that "Difficulty is a rough nurse. But she rocks her foster children into strength and athletic proportion. The mind grappling with great aims and wrestling with mighty impediments, grows by a certain necessity to their stature.' The progress of Hungary has been in the face of harrassing impediments. The progress attained ought now to be shielded.

Gomboes has made an impression on the world public he cannot erase. To American Hungarians he has promised that he will not tolerate Hitlerism in Hungary. In Hungary he winks at their activities. He is two-faced. To the one-faced, Gamboes is despised. Behind this double-mindedness there is a motive. The Versailles Treaty carved up Hungary. Hungary is only a fraction of what Hungary ought to be. By currying favor with Germany, and of course, with the Nazis,, hopes are entertained that some day her frontiers may be widened. Thus she ties up her hopes with German hopes.

The former Minister of Justice was Magy. He declared while in office: "If necessary we shall ally ourselves with the devil to obtain our rights." Hungarian schools of all kinds are seething with Nazi propaganda.

* * *

Nazism in Germany Different.

Nazi Plague Spots—Finland

For Germany to be the homeland, the racial blood must be Germanic. Hitler's demand is without equivocation. For this the Nazis insist in Germany. Over in Finland, the issue is different. Finland has her National Patriots. This organization has come up out of great stress and strain. The Russian Bear had his paw on Finland for hundreds of years. Through it all the Finnish spirit was not broken. Finland is a little country. The population is small. As long as a race survices, it is impossible to blot out that something, deeply planted, which makes for hope and freedom.

Finland did not come up out of the past afflicted with the inferiority-complex. With hope and freedom in his heart no man walks cowed. He stands straight, and looks every man in the face unabashed. What oppression could not do, Nazism is doing for the Finlander. For a mess of pottage he is in danger of selling his liberty-birthright. The National Patriots are uniting with the Nazis to establish Fascism.

The new movement has crept into the church. The method employed is to found a functioning nucleus in every church, in every parish, and in every school. The Finlander goes to church. It is a part of his life, a struly as is his daily vocation. The churches are crowded every Sabbath. Finlanders go to church, as they once upon a time did in Canada. The Finlander and the church are one. The closer the bond, the more harm the Nazis can do.

Citizenship is to be henceforth restricted to those belonging to the nation, racially, culturally, and historically. This limitation is the direct result of Nazi indoctrination. But there is a fly in the ointment. A trade war has arisen between Finland and Germany. The Finlander is considering a complete break with Nazism. Here is trusting that she may once more struggle her way to self government, a government of the people, and for the people.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

On this date, in 1842 Halifax was incorporated as a city. Until then the grey outpost of Empire, at our Atlantic gateway, had been administered first by the military and then by magistrates. It seems strange that very nearly a century should have elapsed before Haligonians were given the right of a say in their own affairs, but after the military regime which began with the founding of Halifax in 1749 the mercantile leaders practically had the whole control of the town's affairs until 1842 when, as a result of the crusade of men like Joseph Howe the old Merchants' Compact (as ruthless in its way as the Family Compact of the early days of Upper Canada) was brought to ground and the common folk had some voice in civic affairs.

Naturally when a city council began work money had to be provided to create public utilities and naturally the big property owners raised a rumpus about the "confiscation of property rights" as they did everywhere when civic machinery commenced to operate; but they had to accept the new situation and eventualy paid their taxes willingly for, be it said to its credit that in nearly 90 years of its civic life there have been very few municipal scandals in Halifax. The city has every reason to be proud of its civic history and owes a debt to the men who in 1842 formed the first city council. The old merchants laid the foundations of Halifax's importance as a financial centre, with ramifications all over the world; but the credit for the last 90 years' progress as a clean and healthy city goes to the mayors and aldermen who have accomplished much and surmounted many difficulties.

The restof Canada salutes Halifax in its civic birthday!

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

TALKING ABOUT PEOPLE

You may deny it all you wish—you may say that it isn't "nice" to do it—

But one of the lasting pleasures of life is Tlaking About People.

You're sitting in a group and you don't want to play cards—and politics has (or have) been frayed out—and the NRA and AAA and CWA and the gold standard are finished—and you've recommended your favorite books—you've talked about the children—and it's too early to go home and you don't want to go, anyway—

So you talk about people....Not far-off characters in history. Not Caesar and Cleopatra. Not Henry the Eighth. Not Napoleon. Not Mussolini, Hitler, or Roosevelt. But people you know. People you see every day, every week. Acquaintances. Friends.

Not maliciously, either, you understand. Not exactly talking behind their backs. Nor exactly the same things you'd say to their faces....But just pleasant analysis, comment, friendly gossip about them. Just the sort of things they probably say about you when you're not there.

And it's fun.

Why shouldn't it be? And why shouldn't we talk about people?

After all, people are the heart of life. Unless we are unnatural hermits, we can't live without them, without seeing them, working with them, pleasuring with them, sharing our experiences with them, fighting with them, dreaming with them, suffering with them, talking about them.

They talk about us, we talk about them. We wonder about them, they wonder about us. We analyze them, they analyze us. We're puzzled about them, they're puzzled about us....You're not supposed to talk about people, but if you don't talk about them—what, in the end, are you going to talk about?....About earthquakes, psychoanalysis, child care, operations, and recipes? Very well, talk about earthquakes, psychoanalysis, child care, operations, recipes and how to cure a cold.

But finally, make yourself comfortable, drew a long breath, and Talk About People.

A Thought

THE LONELY ROAD

Old pal, tonight there's many miles
Between the paths we tread;
But I take the same old roadway
With the same old stars o'er head.
The moonlight's on the river
And it makes the meadow bright,
On yonder hill and valley
It is shining, silver white.

The way is very lonely now,
It has never seemed so long,
But every road's the same, old pal,
And everything seems wrong.
Oh, it's not the same without you—
I miss you more each day,
And the road will e'er be lonely
As long as you're away.

SILVER MEASURE RECEIVES FAVOR IN U.S. SENATE

Amendment Provides Unlimited Purchase Till it Reaches Gold Price of $1.29 Ounce.

NATIONALIZE METAL.

America to Accept Silver From Other Nations in Exchange for Surplus Crops.

WASHINGTON, April 10 (AP)—The United States Senate Agriculture Committee to-day reported favorably the Dies Salver-Farm Relief Bill, carrying the Thomas amendment for nationalization of the white metal.

The amendment by Senator Thomas (D., Okla.), provides for unlimited purchase of the metal until it reaches a gold price of $1.29 an ounce or until the 1926 commodity price level was attained.

The dies Bill provides for the acceptance of silver from other nations at a premium of 25 per cent over the world price in exchange for American surplus crops.

Nationalizing the metal means the Government would take possession—just as it did with the gold supply.

It would be taken over, under the proposal, at the highest price of the preceding day.

Beginning Jan. 1, 1934, not less than 50,000,000 ounces would be purchased monthly at the top world prices, silver certificates being issued in exchange.

The certificates would be based on a value of $1.29 an ounce for silver, and the difference between this and the price at which the metal was obtained would be "clear profit" for the Government, Thomas explained.

Certificates issued in pursuance of the export plan would also be based on the $1.29 value.

Livestock-Produce Quotations

Wholesalers offered cheese to retailers at the following prices: New—Lorge, 13c; twins, 13¼c; triplets, 13½c. Old—Large, 17½c; twins, 17¾c triplets, 18c. Medium—Large, 15½c; twins, 15¾c, triplets, 16c.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

TORONTO, April 10 (C.P.) — Wholesale prices on fruit and vegetables as supplied by White & Co., were reported unchanged to-day.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, April 10 (C.P.). — Trading failed to pick up on the cattle division of the Toronto live stock market this afternoon and under slow movements two grades of cattle went lower. While other grades were steady, butcher cattle and plain fed calves were 25 cents down for the week. Although receipts were light at 1,060, the supply was moderately heavy with 2,800 head of cattle on the market from Monday.

Calf trade was slower and prices eased off on common calves. The bulk of the supply went from $4.50 to $6.50 while choice vealers went at $7.00 to $7.50. The price on choice was down 50 cents from yesterday, bu tit was not an actual drop as the quality of the supply was poorer. Track hogs gained 10 cents, while the other grades continued steady. Western lambs were still unsold, while some spring lambs moved from $5.00 to $9.00 each.

Sheep were slower to $1.00 to $4.00 cwt, according to quality.

Receipts as reported by th eDominion Live Stock Branch were:

Cattle 1,060, calves 980, hogs 1,150, sheep and lambs 500.

Medium to good weighty steers brought $5.50 to $5.85, while choice butchers ranged from $5.25 to $5.50, and common sold at $4.00. Butcher cows were steady at $2.50 to $4.25, and bulls brought $2.50 to $3.50. Choice fed calves brought $6.50 to $7.00, and plain $4.00. Off truck hogs were 10 cents higher at $7.50, while f.o.b. and d fcars sold at $7.15 and $7.90 respectively.

Live Stock Quotations

Cattle quotations with the exception of good and choice steers up to 1,050 lbs. were reported unchanged to-day. To-day's quotation was from $5.00 to $5.60.

Hog quotations remained unchanged.

GOLD ISSUES STEADY TO-DAY

Base Metal Shares Generally Unchanged on Toronto Mining Section.

SILVERS LEAD TRADE.

TORONTO, April 10 (C.P.).—Action was concentrated in the leading silver stocks this afternoon on the mining board of the Toronto Stock Exchange on news from Washington interpreted a help to Canadian silver interests. Sharp price advances were recorded. Gold stocks were steady and base metal shares were generally unchanged at the close.

Volume was fairly large in the senior gold group with prices holding to a steady level. Lake Shore gained 35 cents, Dome 25 cents, McIntyre 25 and Pioneer, Teck and Hargreaves a few cents each.

Bagamac and Maple Leaf steadied around 27 and 65 respectively, the former off 3 cents and the latter off 16 cents, both up about 5 cents from their morning lows.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET CLOSE

NEW YORK, April 10 (C.P.) — Motor stocks and others rallied briskly in the forenoon to-day. Advances of fractions to around 2 points were largely held in the quiet period that followed. Late gains of 1 to about 2 points were shown by Chrysler, American Can, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, Santa Fe, J. J. Newberry, and American Telephone. Transfers approximately 1,450,000 shares.

HUNT TRANSIENT'S BODY AFTER LEAP INTO RIVER

GALT, Ont., April 10 (C.P.). — From Blair comes the story to-day of the suicide of a transient there in the swollen waters of the Grand.

The unknown had been loitering about the Blair Bridge since last Thursday. It was said he had stopped motorists and told them he was going to jump into the river.

He had also told Blair school children a similar story, and said he slept at night in barns. Last night Mr. and Mrs. Gillow and Alex. Smith saw the man moving about a small island in the river, and suddenly saw him jump into the stream and disappear. Provincial police from Kitchener are investigating.

INDUSTRIALS REGISTER HIGHS

General Tone at Toronto Follows Bright Outlook on New York Tape.

INTERLISTEDS UP.

TORONTO, April 10 (CP)—Several new high prices for the year were registered on the industrial board of the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day and the general tone of the market followed the brighter outlook on the New York tape. International Pete at 24⅞ was up half a point and all the interlisted shares included Brazilian, C.P.R., Ford "A" and Nickel, as well as some of the distilleries closed higher.

Oils had the lead in group volume and besides Pete, higher prices were registered for British American, Imperial and McColl.

Brewery shares edged up narrowly, a ¾-point gain going to Canada Malting, and in the distillery group, Brewers and Distillers traded in heavy volume at an advance of 10 cents, while Distillers Seagrams gained ½ and Walkers Common and Industrial Alcohol closed unchanged.

CLAIM DISPATCH CLEARS FAHEY

Counsel for Jaspar Man Says He Has Statement From One of Train Robbers.

SENT FROM SEATTLE.

CALGARY, Alta., April 10 (C.P.). The Calgary Albertan in a dispatch from Edmonton says counsel for James Fahey, or Frank Grigware, has received a sworn declaration clearing him of participation in the Omaha, Neb., mail robbery for which he was serving a life sentence when he escaped from the United States penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kas., in 1910.

Grigware, whom the United States is seeking to extradite, escaped with five other prisoners by commandeering a locomotive in the prison yard. Since then he has been living at Jasper under the name of Fahey.

The dispatch says the declaration was made by Lawrence Golden before a notary public at Seattle, and "absolutely clears the Jasper man of any complicity in the Omaha mail train robbery."

Golden was identified in the statement, the dispatch says, as one of the men who actually took part in the robbery.

Woodstock Legion Holds Vimy Night

WOODSTOCK, Ont., April 10. — (C.P.)—Three hundred veterans, representing 10 branches of Zone 4, the Canadian Legion, gathered in Ingersoll Town Hall last evening for the annual Vimy Night dinner of the Zone. Col. W. T. Lawless, of London, was the guest speaker, speaking in reminiscent vein of his long career as a soldier, which extended from the Riel Rebellion to the Great War.

Hon. J. L. Ralston and Hon. R. J. Manion, both of whom were in town engaged in the South Oxford by-election campaign, sent their regrets at being unable to attend.

ONTARIO HOG PRICES

TORONTO, April 10 (C.P.) — Bacon hog quotations were irregular to-day at $7 to $7.15 a cwt., f.o.b. shipping, with $1 premium for extras. To-day's prices were: Brantford, $7.15, up 15c; Kitchener, $7.10, down 15c; Hull, Que., $7.15, off truck; Barrie, $7, unchanged; Peterborough, $7 unchanged.

$34.70 GOLD AT LONDON.

MONTREAL, April 10.—(C.P.)—Bar gold in London down three cents to $34.70 an ounce in Canadian funds; 134s 6d in British funds. The fixed $35 Washington price amounted to $34.94 in Canadian.

DR. PRATT IN COURT

PERTH, Ont., April 10. (CP) — Whether Dr. Wilton Pratt, 71-year-old Smiths Falls physician, will stand trial on a murder charge at the Lanark county assizes here will be decided by the grand jury which will meet at 1.30 o'clock this afternoon.

INTERNATIONAL ARMS PARLEY

armament agreement was impossible, but he declared:

"A new race for armaments has begun, although it has not yet gathered much momentum."

His address was directed to the experts gathered to determine whether hope yet remains for an international control of arms.

The experts were members of the steering committee of the World Disarmament Conference. Upon their diagnosis will be based decision as to whether the conference shall again be called into session or disarmament dubbed—for the present at least—a lost cause.

There was a soberness about the delegates gathering for the opening meeting to-day that bespoke the difficulties they foresaw in obtaining any arms limitation convention.

Chief among these difficulties was the problem offered by Soviet Russia and Japan, glowering at one another in the Far East. The former never has been a member of the League, sponsor of the disarmament conference. The latter has resigned.

Nearer the green council tables of Geneva lay the heavily fortified French border—and back of that border a determination to resist German rearmament with all France's power.

British Guarantees.

Striving to overcome the French attitude, Great Britain was expected to make an alteration of France's stand on German rearmament a condition of London's agreeing to give guarantees of French security.

A British spokesman said on the arrival of a big London delegation to-day that new hope had developed that the disarmament problem would be solved.

The size of the British contingent, headed by Anthony Eden, Lord Privy Seal, impressed Geneva as an indication that John Bull has no intention of allowing the disarmament cause to fade into extinction.

The British believe the disarmament conference should be called into session after the League of Nations Council meeting in May, but think the steering committee should tackle the job of preparing a preliminary plan.

After talks with leaders in Belgium, Louis Barthou, French Foreign Minister, was said to-day to have been convinced of the necessity of signing an arms convention to prevet an armaments race.

It also was reported that France hopes to provide for collective pressure against any nation which should attempt to scrap the convention.

Women Organize For Bible Society

The organization supper meeting of the ladies of the churches of the city was held at the Y.M.C.A. last evening. Over one hundred were in attendance. R. N. Stuart, president of local branch of the Bible Society, presided, and the speaker of the evening was the Rev. S. G. Pinnock, one of the field secretaries from Toronto.

Mr. Pinnock thanked the ladies for their devoted service in the past and encouraged them to continue, pointing out the importance of the Bible Society to the missionaries, who would find it almost impossible to convey the message of the Bible to the native peoples without translations made in over 600 dialects and languages.

The city-wide canvass of the Bible Society is to be conducted during the next two weeks. Ladies from the following churches are assisting: George Street, St. Paul's, Murray Street, St. John's, All Saints', Knox, Park Street, St. James', St. George's, St. Andrew's, Trinity, Mark Street, and the Pentecostal Churches.

Mrs. Tyler Speaks At Easter Service

The Easter Thank-Offering meeting of Knox Church W.M.S. was held on Thursday afternoon with the first vice-president, Mrs. Watt, in the chair. The meeting opened with the Easter worship service led by Mrs. Morrison. The Devotional Leaflet was given by Mrs. Stevens after which the regular business was transacted. Six girls gave a very pleasing tempera: chorus and Mrs. Tyler of Park Street Church was the guest speaker. The speaker took as her text "She Hath Done What She Could," bringing to the minds of the ladies the thought: Have we really done what we could for the Temperance cause?

A vote of thanks for the splendid address was given and the meeting closed with singing "Take My Life and Let It Be" and the Lord's Prayer in unison.

BANKS OVERSTEPPING MARK

TORONTO, April 10. — (CP) — Charges that banks had overstepped their "legitimate" use by cutting heavily into the office-building field were heard before today's closing session of the meeting of the Building and Managers Association.

Stewart Chambers of Hamilton wrote requesting that a representative be sent to the Ottawa Banking enquiry to seek ... on of a clause in the revised ... g law to prevent banks buil..., and operating huge officie buildings, and the delegates had the matter under consideration.

KENNEDY URGES MARKET BOARD

to farmers and ranchmen who wish to export their cattle direct to markets outside of Canada.

Sell on Rubber Market

3. That all commission firms holding licenses be required to sell all their livestock on the public markets.

4. That commission firms and co-operative salesmen, representing the producers be organized as a separate body that they may be able to function in the interests of the producers without their powers being nullified by other members of the Livestock Exchange, who control the majority vote and are not representing the interests of the livestock producers.

5. That where packing plants are at present established in cities where no stockyards exist that the same regulations as apply to stockyard companies and commission houses as to providing facilities for the competitive buying and selling of livestock, weighing, publishing of receipts and prices at time of purchase be applied.

6. That all truckers handling farmer's funds and all export agents be bonded to the dominion government—the same as livestock commission salesmen.

7. That sale of all livestock by public auction be made optional and when put into operation on any market that it be only necessary to be approved by stockyard proprietors and commission salesmen representing the producers.

Room for Increase

Under the agreement with Great Britain whereby Canada was given a certain quota in the exporting of bacon, the Dominion could still increase her exports by the bacon from approximately 2 000,000 hogs over the 1933 figures.

"Therefore" Mr. Kennedy stated, "the marketing board, if appointed, should be given the power if they see fit in checking the spread from the farmers to the ultimate consumers, to establish new units for the processing of all classes of livestock."

If any economical unit, he continued, were established — one in each province on the public competitive market—from figures given by experts these units could be established at a conservative estimate of $200,000 each. Each unit would take care of 2,000 hogs and 500 cattle per week. These plants could process the exact quality of bacon required for the British market and see that the net return would only provide the actual cost of processing and reasonable interest on capital invested.

These plants also would take care of all by-products.

Take Care of Surpluses

"These plants under the control of the Marketing Board could arrange to remove surpluses from the markets by handling the canners and inferior grades of livestock and marketing the product through other sources," Mr. Kennedy told the committee. This class of meat should be segregated completely from regular packing house products and sold exclusively as concentrates for animal and poultry food for domestic and export trade.

A Livestock Commissioner under the Marketing Board should be appointed at each of the five suggested markets, he answered the committee. The Commissioner should hold a conference on Thursday of each week with representatives of packing companies, wholesale butchers and commission companies, and co-operating salesmen representing the farmers, in order to discuss the latest prices, prospective demand and supplies and get the fullest co-operation of all interests for the orderly marketing of livestock for the coming week.

The system of selling hogs under any kind of fixed differential was criticized by the witness. "I would urge that every grade be sold on its grade on a quality basis in open competition," Mr. Kennedy said, who will continue his testimony this afternoon.

DR. WIRT NAMES 5 U. S. OFFICIALS

Represented by former Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, as counsel, Wirt was stopped again and again by members of the committee as he sought to discuss the administration program.

Key Statements.

Wirt's statement that brought about the inquiry was to this effect in part about the dinner conversation:

"The most surprising statement made to me was: 'We believe that we have Mr. Roosevelt in the middle of a swift stream and that the current is so strong that he cannot turn back or escape from it. We believe that we can keep Mr. Roosevelt there until we are ready to supplant him with a Stalin. We al lthink that Mr. Roosevelt is only the Kerensky of this revolution."

Coyle told reporters that so far as he knew the "Kerensky statement" had not been discussed at the dinner.

Wirt said that during the conversation with Miss Kneeland reference was made to Secretary Wallace's book, "America Must Choose" and that it was said that Secretary Wallace ahd "agreed with his assistant Tugwell" that the "things they are now doing must go on and that it is impossible to turn back."

Bulwinkle asked who told him that "we have President Roosevelt in the middle of a stream.'

Wirt named Lawrence Todd of the Soviet News Agency, Miss Neeland and Miss Taylor.

All In The Stream.

Wirt said they said that not only was Roosevelt "but all of us are in the middle of the stream."

Bulwinkle pressed him to tell who made "that Kerensky statement."

"Lawrence Todd," Wirt replied, and said that Miss Taylor acquiesced.

"Do I understand them to be the 'brain trusters' you had reference to?" asked Bulwinkle.

"No, sir," Wirt said. "I said in my statement 'brain trusters' and their satellites."

"Are these satellites?"

"I would consider them so," said Wirt.

JOBLESS APPLY TO ROAD CAMPS

Relief Officer States That Unemployed Must Depend on Own Resources for Burleigh Job.

MANY INQUIRIES.

Inquiries as to the proper procedure for local men to adopt in order to secure employment on the Burleigh Falls road camps have been flooding The Examiner Office during the past several days. It has been definitely established here by city officials that men must depend upon their own resources in securing work at the camps, A. G. Metheral, relief officer, stated.

"We are not sending any more men to the camps," Mr. Metheral said. "Any man desiring work should go directly to the various camp foremen and apply for work. Transportation to the camps can be secured quite easily."

Mr. Metheral said that during the winter the city sent 152 single men to the camps. Most of these men are still at the camps and appear to be quite satisfied with the work and conditions, he added. A great deal more interest in camp employment has been aroused since the Government announced that the men will be paid 25 cents an hour.

In the case of married men, the big percentage of the monthly wage cheque will be sent to the man's family to support them. Single men will receive $10 a month by cheque and the rest of their wages will be placed in the bank for them, it was learned, and they will be expected not to apply for relief next winter.

MAGISTRATE RESERVES DECISION IN CHARGE AGAINST THOMAS HELE

Man is Charged With Attempting to Murder His Wife.

ONE WITNESS CALLED.

Evidence was presented to-day before Magistrate Langley in the case of Thomas J. Hele, Sherbrooke street, charged with attempting to murder his wife at their home on the evening of March 16.

William Meredith, aged 18, a neighbor, who told of taking a razor from Hele's grasp after the man had shouted at his wife 'I'll kill you', was the only witness to testify. Magistrate Langley stated he was undecided whether or not to to commit Hele for trial before a superior court on the evidence produced to-day by the Crown and witheld his decision until Thursday.

Meredith stated that about 7 o'clock he left his home to visit a boy who lived next door to the Heles. As he went past the Hele house he heard loud crying.

"I went into the house and saw Mrs. Hele with tears streaming down her face and a girl about seven on the sofa" he testified. "Tommy Hele was sitting at the table eating his supper. I asked what was the trouble and Mrs. Hele said her husband had choked and slapped her. They were arguing. Tommy got mad at what she said and grabbed up a chair and lifted it above his head as though to hit her with it. I shouted at him and he dropped it.

"Then he put on his hat and coat as though going out. His wife said 'blah' at him. He turned around and shouted 'I'll kill you'. Then he ran to the sideboard. His wife yelled 'The razor!' She tried to hold the drawer of the sideboard closed but he grabbed the razor in his hand. I ran to him and took it off him. I put the razor in my pocket and walked out of the house."

Cross-examined Meredith said Hele and his wife were arguing about the supper, the husband complaining about the potatoes. He said that Hele at no time had an opportunity of opening the razor.

Crown Attorney McElderry conducted the prosecution and W. J. Arthur Fairs the defence. Mr. Fairs urged that there was no evidence to substantiate the charge of attempted murder.

END DEPRESSION

run itself out because people eventually must start buying, forcing up prices.

The Bank of Montreal official was questioned all morning by members of the Progressive group and once or twice became piqued when asked to agree or disagree with theories advanced by economists and pseudo-economists from all quarters of the globe. Several times the committee chairman, R. B. Hanson, Cons., York-Sunbury, called a halt to the line of questioning, demanding facts not abstract theories.

Just before the committee rose for the lunch recess, Finance Minister E. N. Rhodes protested against the continued discussion of banking and economic theories, saying ::We will be here until the snow flies again" if a halt were not called. Primarily, the committee was established to study the Bank Act, and he suggested a start be made.

DOCTOR MAY YET CURE LAD TURNING TO STONE

Evolves New Treatment in Effort to Save Life of "Ossified" Boy.

BATTLE BRAVELY

By H. F. SWEENEY
Copyright, 1934, Central Press Canadian

BENNY HENDRICK

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 10.—Benny Hendrick wants to be a soldier when he grows up. That is what he confided to me when I saw him in Wilkes-Barre General Hospital. The ambition comes from a toy gun sent to him by one of the thousand of persons who are evincing a personal interest in his strange case. He likes to hold it in his hands, to say "ping" as he points it at his white-clad nurses and doctors.

Blissfully unaware that his case is making medical history while his frail body slowly but surely turns into bone, Benny continues to be the most popular patient in the orthopedic ward.

Still Walks

Benny smiles as internes or doctors stop at his bed to take a glimpse at the lad whom they agree will be completely ossified before he reaches the age of twenty—unless medical science overcomes his malady, the usually uncontrollable myositis ossificana.

To the casual visitor Benny appears far from being in the process of ossification. He walks at will, although with a slight limp, the result of a fall when three years of age.

He has the use of his arms from the elbows down and handles his toys with seeming ease. Upon closer inspection, the ravages of the terrible disease become apparent. Above the elbows the arms are very thin and like rods of iron—the muscles that usually denote strength in a youngster having already been transformed into bone. His back feels as though it were made of boiler plate instead of flesh.

Benny smiled wistfully when I asked if I might "test his muscle" and suggested that some day he might be a boxer.

Benny said that he "eats lots" but his nurse said that his appetite was not very good.

Had Bad Fall as Babe

Benny seemed to be a normal child when he was born seven years ago, Mrs. Theresa Hendrick, his widowed mother told me through an interpreter. She is of Polish extraction and speaks little English. His father, a mine worker, was killed when Benny was two years of age.

When he was one year old, an older sister dropped Benny and his head struck the ground. His mother attributes his condition to this fall, but doctors who have studied the case doubt if this accident was a contributing factor.

For signs of the disease had already presented themselves, as members of the family now recall it. When Benny was two, he had difficulty in using his hands, and it was observed that his back had begun to stiffen. A year later the same thing began to happen to his legs. It is likely Benny was predisposed to the malady from birth.

The family's financial condition was such that it could not afford regular treatment for the boy and it was not until the case came to the attention of Dr. H. Alexander Smith, head of the orthopedic staff of Wilkes-Barre General Hospital, that the disease was diagnosed definitely and Benny placed under scientific treatment.

Although reticent to talk about the case, Dr. Smith, who is held in high regard in Pennsylvania as a bone specialist, explained that he is using a newly discovered treatment in an effort to retard the progressiveness of the disease. He said that the malady is caused by excessive and uneven distribution of calcium in the body. With parathyroid injections he hopes to "produce a calcium outlet." By this method calcium created by the body organs and not properly distributed is eliminated and prevented from lodging in muscular tissues.

This treatment is comparatively new and there is no basis for predictions concerning its effectiveness.

The boy has two brothers and three sisters, all of whom are in normal health. They live with their mother in Larksville, a suburban section.

Mrs. Hendrick visits her stricken son daily. In her chats she tries her best to make him forget his affliction. When he asks her to take him home, she answers, "Pretty soon."

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner Office by 5 p.m. on the day before insertion. All letters must be signed by the writer, although a pen-name may be used when inserting non-controversial subject matter. Letters over 400 words will be cut down at discretion of the editor.

THE PRESENT CRISIS

To Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—The Province of Ontario is facing another crisis in the aggressive development of the liquor trade. The Government of the province has placed on the statute books, subject to proclamation, a measure which will enormously extend facilities for the sale of intoxicants and at the same time threaten to remove even those imperfect safeguards and limitations which have hitherto surrounded Government Sale. This has been done in spite of the fact that the Premier has repeatedly given assurance of opposition to the proposals for beer and wine, and in spite of the protests of hundreds of thousands of citizens by post-cards, petitions and resolutions.

The extension of the liquor traffice under the operation of this measure will inevitably be followed by serious injury to the people of Ontario. Beyond all doubt it will involve financial losses to business. It will impoverish homes, seriously impair and frequently disrupt family life. It will throw additional burdens on relief and charity. It will bring unprecedented temptation upon youth of both sexes, both above and below the legal age of purchase. It will increase immorality and augment crime and thereby add to the cost of police and of the judiciary. It will inevitably be followed by subtle and far-reaching impairment of health, both physical and mental, again adding to the burden of the state. And it will increase enormously the danger to human life on the highways. Viewed as a whole, this legislation contains features more detrimental to temperance, to youth, to morality, to health and to human safety than any other liquor legislation ever placed on the statute books of the province.

Machine Politics

Apart from the provisions of the Act itself, the methods by which it has been secured and by which it has been passed through the Legislature, raise important questions. These make manifest in startling relief the fact that in the Conservative and the Liberal parties there are elements in control that seek to dominate both the intelligence and the conscience of the representatives of the people in the Legislature. It is clear that these same elements are willing to prostitute political power in the service of an institution which experience proves to be one of the most lawless, corrupt and injurious elements in the life of the nation.

The position taken by the leaders and ruling powers in these parties involves the moral integrity of the members of the Legislature and threatens the foundations that underline representative government.

Do You Approve

Electors of Ontario, you will shortly be confronted with a two-fold responsibility: (1) that of approving or condemning the action of the Legislature in attempting to re-establish what is practically the bar-room in all but name, to extend the sale of liquor to clubs of various sorts and to take the first step in turning our restauants into saloons; (2) and that of approving or condemning the attitude of our political parties in attempting to coerce your representatives to support an evil thing.

The Policy of the Federation

In view of the action of the Legislature and the position of the political parties in relation thereto, The Ontario Temperance Federation deems it necessary to declare its position and to define the principles of action it would suggest to the people. It approaches the problem from a non-partisan point of view. Its policy is and always has been to support not parties but measures and men.

It is surely now evident that where moral and social issues are involved, especially when they conflict with powerful financial interests, the values which they represent can be sufficiently guarded only when decision is reached by a non-partisan vote of the electors. This necessity arises out of the variety of moral standards comprised in a political party and also from the numerous and varied matters that confront the voter in a political election. This diversity of moral standards is present also in cabinets and, together with the secrecy which surrounds the deliberations and decisions of such bodies gives favorable ground for the pressure and intrigue of anti-social forces. The only certainty that the true mind of the people is definitely ascertained and their interests protected in such questions is in a resort to a non-partisan vote.

Such a method is in practice in numerous countries. It has evolved by the legitimate development of democracy in Canada and at present such action is actually pending under the direction of the Conservative Government in Saskatchewan. In Great Britain it has recently been proposed in the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Licensing for England and Wales in regard to Wales and Monmouthshire. No political party in Ontario has in convention formally renounced such a process.

In the light of events, the refusal to adopt such a course can only be interpreted as motived by the desire to keep the liquor question in party politics where it can be used to obscure other issues, to obtain the mass support of the liquor interests and to secure from the same sources party funds.

Recommendations

1. The Ontario Temperance Federation recommends that in the coming election the electors vote only for such candidates as will agree to support the reference of all major changes in our liquor policy to the electorate in a non-partisan vote; and in addition, the implementing in law of the wish of the people thus ascertained and the impartial and thorough enforcement of our liquor laws.

2. The Ontario Temperance Federation also recommends that the electors support only candidates who agree to oppose personally, in caucus and, if necessary, in the Legislature, the proclamation of the Act providing for the freer sale of beer and wine until said Act has received the approval of a majority of the electors in a non-partisan vote.

3. The Ontario Temperance Federation further recommends that the electors urge their candidates to support the extension of the Local Option principle to county areas for the removal of stores or other places for dispensing liquor.

4. In loyalty to the commitments on which they were elected by their constituency, to their personal convictions and to the promotion of temperance, certain representatives in the Legislature have risked the sacrifice of party preferment and even jeopardized their political life. It is the determined purpose of The Ontario Temperance Federation to protect in every possible way these men from undue attack. Because political integrity, public honor, and moral courage are of value in public life, it will be a disaster far-reaching in its effects if the electors permit these men to be displaced by their conventions or defeated at the polls.

5. In view of the importance of the freedom of our representatives from coercion and of the many and widespread evils that will inevitably result under the amended liquor law, The Ontario Temperance Federation urges the electors to rise above slavish partisan allegiance and support only such candidates as will subscribe to the above stated requirements. In a constituency where no candidate appears who is willing to agree to the course above suggested regarding non-partisan voting on moral issues when required, and the coming into operation of the Act authorizing sale of beer and wine by the glass only after such a vote of the electors has been taken. The Federation recommends that the electors consider the selection of a candidate who will agree to support such a course; and would advise that the candidate base his appeal in addition on the need for honesty and economy in public affairs and the promotion of social legislation calculated to protect and insure fair living conditions to all our people. Where such a candidate is brought out, or in any case where a favorable candidate is in the field, the temperance elector should deem it his duty not only to vote for such candidate, but also to influence, in all proper ways, others so to vote; and should where he can lend his assistance in bringing to the poll every possible voter in support of such candidate.

A False Hope

The plea that sufficient safeguards will be thrown about these new and dangerous privileges granted to the liquor interests and that control can prevent the resulting evils, is unworthy of belief. The situation proposed is in itself, even with the best of intentions, beyond the power of any practical control. The liquor forces which do not now keep the law and never have, and which have been powerful enough to wear down and destroy to such an extent the moral resistance in our political parties, will evade and drive through the flimsy barriers that control can institute. A party that depends on a liquor program for its election, can scarcely be trusted to enforce rigidly the liquor laws.

False Logic

On the other hand, the claim that the liquor problem must be ignored in order to secure honesty and economy in public affairs, is surely mistaken. It is side-stepping responsibility. In the last analysis it asks you as an elector to place a few paltry dollars, your share in any general saving, above the well-being of thousands of your fellow-citizens, the true economic and moral interests of our people and the safety of a vast number of human lives. The better and more independent your candidate, the surer you are ultimately of honesty and economy.

A hundred years ago Ontario was struggling to secure complete liberty of representative government and equal rights in religion and education. The men who stood steadfastly for the people in that fight are to-day acclaimed patriots and heroes. To-day Ontario is involved in a struggle with a vicious plutocracy that assails the freedom of representative government and that assaults all the values which religion and education create.

Elector of Ontario, where will you stand in the fight for political integrity and public well-being?

On behalf of the Ontario Temperance Federation,
R. S. Rodd, President,
A. J. Irwin, Secretary.

PRICES OF FARM PRODUCE

The Editor of Examiner,

Dear Sir,—One of your correspondents stated that Mr. Bennett was trying to help the farmers to grow better crops, etc. He supposed that his was to make better prices and went on to say that prices of farm produce were too high now, or words to that effect. I presume he mean that the farmers are making too great profits on their produce. I should like to have him give definite figures in proof of that belief.

I kept records of expenses and receipts in connection with a flock of hens, such as are kept on the average farm. They were April hatched chicks, and as most people know, must be kept for over seven months before there are any worth while returns. When the hens were a little over a year old they were sold, because it does not pay to keep them at present egg prices. The work was valued at 20c per hour, and the time spent on them averaged about one half hour per day. The grain was home-grown and valued at one cent per pound. And what do you suppose was the profit made on the whole year's work? I found that the profit was on the wrong side the ledger, in fact a loss of $35.

This shows that the prices of eggs are not too high. My records show that they are now one cent less per dozen than at this time a year ago. Possibly other farmers can give their figures to show whether prices paid for milk, butter, meat, and other farm products are too high.

If the writer meant that farm produce prices are too high compare with manufactured goods, I think he is further from the truth than ever. Also, eggs and bacon, and milk all have to be of a certain grade, so that when the prices are low, it is a real benefit to the buyer or consumer. On the other hand, many kinds of clothing and other produce, while lower in price, are also low in quality because of lack of government regulations in regard to grading. As a result, the farmers and other buyers, are not really getting much reduction when buying these goods.

Also, with the promises of higher salaries and wages, and with so many ready to vote for more beer, we farmers are led to believe there is more money to be spent, and would like enough of it to enable us to make just a small profit on our produce.

I agree with most of the letter referred to, except just that part about farm prices.

Mrs. Farmer.

MISS E. FRANCES THOMPSON
Director, Canadian School of Home Science

MISS THOMPSON has been a Chevrolet enthusiast for years. So, it's only natural that when the new, 1934 Chevrolet Master Six came out she was one of the very first to try THE FLOATING RIDE.

"Amazing," she said. "The most exciting low-priced car I ever drove." And that's just what Chevrolet is—from those new "Knee-Action" wheels that abolish bump and bounce—to the sleek, racy Fisher Body lines that everyone admires. Shrewd shopper that she is, Miss Thompson quickly found the other new features that make Chevrolet the ideal woman's car: "Starterator" automatic starting. Easy Syncro-Mesh gear shifting. Feather light steering, thanks to the new front end design. Quick acceleration in "high" and "silent second". Roomier, beautiful Bodies by Fisher, with fine, durable upholsterings. Matchless economy of gasoline and oil. And that most-imitated of all recent car advancements—improved, built-in No-Draft Ventilation.

Miss Thompson chose a Chevrolet Master Six for her personal car because only Chevrolet gives all these features in the lowest price field. Why don't you profit by her tip? Invite a friend to go with you now to our showrooms—to see and drive the revolutionary new Chevrolet for yourself!

THE CHEVROLET STANDARD SIX is the lowest-priced car in Canada. Both Standard and Master models may be purchased on the economical GMAC time payment plan.

RUGGED WOODVILLE PIONEER CAPT.N. PATTERSON, ACTIVE TORY

Spent Early Days Roaming America, at One Time Farming in Arizona.

NOTED ATHLETE IN YOUTH.

LINDSAY, April 10 (Examiner Correspondence).—These are the days when citizens delight in recalling and honoring the rugged, sturdy pioneers of early days. The village of Woodville, half of which is in the Township of Eldon and the other half in the Township of Mariposa, boasts, and proudly so, of having in its midst a gentleman who in his days was an extensive traveller, a globe-trotter in the days when travelling was not so convenient or so comfortable as in these modern times. His name is familiar to hundreds in the county, namely, Captain Neal Patterson.

Although in his 84th year, Capt. Paterson is still quite active and being the Dean of Conservatives in the district, he was in Lindsay Friday, attending the caucus being held by the executive of the Conservative party of the old North and South Victoria ridings, which were recently amalgamated. Capt. Patterson comes of his Tory principles honestly. His father died when he was a lad of two years, and Capt. Patterson went to live with his Grandfather McKinnon, who was a "Tory of the Tories' and Scotchman from the aristocratic Scots of Aul Scotland.

Grandfather McKinnon had a brother, General McKinnon, an officer in the British army and the military blood tingled, and does yet, through the veins of Capt. Neal Patterson. He was for many years a private and later a Lieutenant and Captain in No. 6 Company of the 45th Regiment of Victoria County, in the days when Capt. Hudspeth was in command and Arthur Thirkell was the Ensign.

Started as Carriage Worker

However, it was as a traveller that Captain Patterson best recalls old times. He was born on the 7th Concession of Mariposa Township, and for some time lived on the 12th Concession of the same township. He then went to the little old historical village of Manilla, on the boundary of Victoria and Ontario Counties. There he started to learn the trade of a carriage maker in the days when carriage making was one of the biggest industries in the country. He then moved to Lindsay and worked with a man named Kennedy. Then he moved to Woodville for a time and later on took up the same line of business in Cambray. Later, Capt. Patterson moved into Western Ontario, locating for a number of years at Thamesville. Then the wanderlust coursed through his veins and he struck off for Colorado where he spent some three years. Then the sunny slopes of California beckoned and for two years he remained in that country, after which he struck out for British Columbia. In later years, he turned to Woodville, but it was not long until he, still in the prime of roving youth, left for Arizona, where he purchased a fine sheep farm and was quite successful. There he remained some eight years, but left for Los Angeles when he found his eyesight beginning to bother him. Remaining there for three years he again returned to Woodville on a visit and it was while he was on his way back to California that he received word that his mother had been injured, and he returned to Woodville.

Noted Wrestler

Being a man six feet two inches tall he commands the respect and admiration of his fellowmen, and his military bearing is admired by many. He is a genuine son of Scotland and proud of it. He was also quite athletic in the days when brawn counted for a great deal. As a wrestler he gained considerable attention and there was only one man that could throw him, and he is still residing in Lindsay, namely, William Hickingbottom, Bond street. The Captain could throw Hickingbottom with the back hold, but not with the side hold, and Hickingbottom generally got two out of three throws. Capt. Patterson was also good at high jumping.

For many years he has been honored in Masonic circles in Victoria County, and at one time held the office of District Deputy-Grand Master. He joined the Masons at Flagstaff, Arizona. He was also for many years a member of Odd Fellowship, joining at Thamesville, Ont.

Capt. Patterson is also a staunch believer in the Presbyterian faith and for years attended the old Gaelic church at Woodville, and still speaks Gaelic rather fluently. The preachers in those days who preached in Gaelic were John McTavish, Rev. Ross and J. L. Murray.

His parting shot as he left the reporter to attend the Tory caucus was, "Now, dont forget to vote for me if I come out as the candidate."

BEHIND the Scenes in HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, CAL., APR. 10.— All in a week, George Brent appears to have become Hollywood's most enthusiastic bachelor.

Ruth Chatterton

One of the actor's first moves after the announcement of his separation from Ruth Chatterton was to reengage his valet, George who served him in leaner years and who was one of the things Brent gave up when he took the wedding vows.

The reinstated man Friday, a mass of grins, delivered to Warner Brothers the dupicate key of the Chatterton-Brent studio bungalow and announced that he is looking for a cottage at Tolucca Lake, where he and his master will establish bachelor quarters. It was in this district, so popular with the stars, that Brent maintained a modest establishment before his marriage.

The actor has literally blossomed out in the last week. He not only will pilot his own plane and take up polo, but I saw him in a late spot the other night for the first time in ages.

Warner Brothers beam approval to every move. They are bending every effort to recapture public enthusiasm for Brent.

The annual banquet of St James' United Church Sunday School held last night was one of the most successful events of the season and was much like a happy family gathering among whom were numbered as honored guests members of the church Official Board and Rev. Dr. C. V. McLean. Mr. Prest, the school superintendent, on behalf of the Sunday School Board of Managers, cordially welcomed guests, teachers and officers and ushered them to the bounteous spread of good things for which the Cheerful Workers' Bible Class were efficient caterers. During the banquet hour music was provided by St. James' S.S. Orchestra, with Mrs. Cecil Searles at the piano.

As chairman Mr. Prest announced the numbers on the program, which opened with a hymn and prayer by the pastor, Mr. Moorhouse. A selection by the orchestra composed of a medley of hymn tunes made a fine prelude. The second number was a reading, "A Teacher's Prayer for Remembrance" by Miss Jean Hammond. Mrs. H. F. Doig contributed the vocal solo "Resignation."

The guest speaker, Rev. Dr. McLean of St. Andrew's United Church, was welcomed and introduced by Mr Prest. Dr McLean expressed his pleasure in being allowed to share the prevailing good fellowship and congratulate the superintendent upon being able to interest the Stewards and elders of the church in S.S. work. Referring to the lives and habits of our ancestors, Dr. McLean said some were fishermen, some were sowers, and some were prospectors. To this latter, he directed the thoughts of the S.S. teachers of children. To be a successful prospector, the speaker said it was necessary to know how to distinguish pure metal. Thousands of prospectors passed over Hollinger Mine before it was finally discovered by a man whose discernment was developed. So with a teacher, and the prospector has much to teach a Sunday School teacher.

Teachers Are Prospectors.

You teachers are prospecting for that which is more precious than silver and gold. In a boy or girl in your class you may find a treasure to your church, the community, the nation, and the world. Sir William Osler, one of the world's greatest physicians, was found in just this way by Johnson, a minister who was a father and advisor to him as a boy. Johnson found in him precious metal and staked his claim for the welfare of mankind. A teacher can have no more powerful faculty than the power to discern true value in a boy or girl. Mackay in far-off Formosa found in the worst specimen of heathen boyhood his first convert. A man with lesser vision would have given up. Do not end by just prospecting. Be a miner. He must follow the prospector and release the pure metal from the ore, then it must be refined. Undertake to release this treasure in your pupils. You may find it a trying process to refine it, but it is worth the patience and hard work.

Rev. Mr. Moorhouse voiced his sincere appreciation of Dr. McLean's challenge to St. James' S.S. teachers.. Messrs George and Gerald Cuff gave a duet, "'n Evening Prayer." A hearty vote of thanks was extended by William McLaren to the Cheerful Workers' Class, to Dr. McLean, and all who assisted in the evening's success, which was endorsed by all. The benediction by Dr. McLean brought to a successful conclusion another milestone in the history of St. James' United Sunday School.

To The Smart Boys

I am a common object known
To all smart boys at sight;
Though no magician. I can wield
A more than magic might.

I turn the hunter's pointed shaft
To soft, strength-giving pith;
Of frowning wrath I form a trough
To fodder cattle with.

A star-like flower I make to be,
Chief ruler of a college;
And into ponderous lumps I change,
Donkeys, without their knowledge.

I make one British river frisk
On four legs round the room;
Another as a plant I show,
A plant of rich perfume.

A piece of architecture turns
Into a moving measure;
An old world ship becomes a thing
Which archers hit with pleasure.

Big watery dishes I construct
Of grains grown by the farmer;
I turn a constellation to
A piece of ancient armour.

A famous gardener I transform
Into a stately dame;
An old-time Eastern tribe becomes
The miser's god and shame.

The art of hooking fish I turn
To means of smoothing clothing;
A red-dyed root grows from a snake,
Which most boys view with loathing.

Now, having heard what I can do
With dead and living creatures,
Pronounce my name, or else depict,
My plain, familiar features.

If you should find the talk too hard,
You cannot justly blame me;
You need not make five strokes to paint
Nor ope you lips to name me.

IRISH STALLING ON SETTLEMENT

So Says Thomas Regarding Solution of Differences Between Countries.

NEW DUTIES GOLDEN.

LONDON, April 10 (C.P.).—The land annuities on which the Irish Free State has defaulted now form only part of the dispute between the Free State and the British Government, emphasized J. H. Thomas, the Secretary for the Dominions, in the House of Commons yesterday.

Answering questions about the dispute Mr. Thomas repeated a statement made many times previously, that Great Britain was very willing to resume discussions with a view to the settlement of all outstanding questions. But the discussions must be on an acceptable basis, he declared.

The British Government had already offered to submit the dispute to an impartial tribunal, but the offer was unacceptable to the Free State, the minister said. Since the Free State originally started the fight with Britain by withholding payment of the $15,000,000 yearly land annuities, the dispute has considerably widened, the British Government holding the Free State has repudiated the treaty also by abolishing the oath of allegiance to His Majesty and in other ways.

A meeting between President Eamon de Valera and Mr. Thomas in order to try to surmount the difficulty over the suggested tribunal was urged by the Labor member, D. R. Grenfell, to which Mr. Thomas replied he had never shirked a meeting with anybody. Mr. de Valera, he said, had never given any indication of any desire to re-open the matter.

Incidentaly, it was announced the special import duties on Irish produce imposed in the Anglo-Irish tariff war yielded duties of $12 500,000 last year.

A. Northey Honored On 80th Birthday

NORTH SMITH, April 10.—(Examiner Correspondence). — On Thursday evening about fifty friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Northey in honor of Mr. Northey's 80th birthday. As the party was about to partake of their birthday supper, Mr. Northey was greatly surprised when the Misses Olive and Mildred Northey, on behalf of the children and grandchildren, presented him with a leather trimmed Morris chair, and Mrs. Northey a bouquet of cut flowers, accompanied by the following address, read by Miss Margaret Northey:

"Dear Grandfather, — We are gathered here to-night on your eightieth birthday occasion to offer our heartiest congratulations on this another year passed. We are deeply thankful to the Giver of All Good Things that He has spared you to us these many years, and we trust that you will be with us for many birthdays to come. We ask you to accept this chair, not for its monetary value, but for the love and best wishes that go along with it, sincerely trusting that you may enjoy its comforting depths throughout the remaining years that God in His infinite wisdom may see fit to leave you with us, and—

"May the smiles with which you cheer us,
And the goodness of your heart,
And the happiness and sunshine
Which are of yourself a part.

Father dear, on this your birthday,
In some way return to you
And bestow deserved blessings
On your life and all you do."

Signed on behalf of your children and grandchildren — Olive Northey, Bernice Kennedy, Mildred Northey, Margaret Northey.

The following were guests from Peterborough: Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Kennedy, Alex. and Bernice, Mildred and Olive Northey, Mr. Harry

LARGE AUDIENCE SEES GOOD PLAY IN WARSAW HALL

"The Wild Oats Boy" Presented Under Auspices of Women's Institute.

PARTS WELL ENACTED

WARSAW, April 10.—A large audience turned o o see "The Wild Oats Boy" a 3-act play presented in the Warsaw Town Hall, Thursday night by the young people under the auspices of the Warsaw Women's Institute. Long before the play commenced the hall was filled to capacity.

Several of the characters made their first public appearance in this play and in a short address between acts Dr. Munro pointed out that they were equally as good as the more experienced players. Dr. Munro and his orchestra assisted during the evening, while vocal selections were rendered by Miss Velma Payne and Mrs. Chas. Foster of Peterborough.

Cast of characters: Aunt Anne, Uncle George's housekeeper (Miss L. Burgess); Della, the maid (Miss M. McCauley); Judy, Uncle George's adopted daughter (Miss D. Tucker); Nora, the cook—maybe, (L. Bryan); Patricia Gilden 'Pat', Judy's friend (Miss M. Bell); Eve Martin, another friend, (Mrs. O. McIlvena); Eddie, the Wild Oats Boy (E. Jackson); Jake Peters, cousin from New York, (C. Payne); Price, the country widow, (Mrs. W. Anderson); Charlie Benton, ex-prize fighter (G. Payne); Trout, Prue's pesky son, (S. McCauley); Seth, the uncle with the money, (W. Anderson); Mose, Uncle George's darky servant, (O. McIlvena).

The various characters were admirably taken and had been well chosen, while the different chan s in costume were very effective before the footlights.

The play centres around a young couple, Judy and Eddie, whose engagement Judy has broken on account of Eddie's wild days. Uncle George having adopted them both from childhood wishes to see them happily married so consults his lawyer. The result is he disguises himself as "Uncle Seth" sends a fake telegram saying Uncle George has died suddenly, comes home along with the rest of the relatives to keep an eye on Eddie.

W. Anderson as Uncle Seth and later as Uncle George, played both roles to perfection. Uncle George's will states that Eddie must be home and in bed at eight each evening for three months or lose his share, in which case it will be divided among the relatives.

Act I.—All the relatives clear out at eight as Eddit gets ready for bed, but Judy stays—"seeing is believing"—but as Eddie really gets ready for bed, she loses courage and departs too.

Act II.—Some of the relatives waylay Eddie to keep him out of bed but just as the clock is on the stroke of eight he rushes in and makes it in time.

Oct III.—The "Wild Oats Boy" wins and Judy accepts his ring again. Throughout the play the comedy is well enacted by S. McCauley) as Troaty, the gawky son of cousin Prue, a country widow. Nora, who is really a detective in the guise of a maid, raises many a laugh too with her clumsy ways, while Ollie McIlvena as "Mose" the darky servant, has the crowd roaring with his vivid description of how he saw the ghost of Uncle George.

The emotional side of the play was exceptionally well taken by Miss Della Tucker as "Judy" and Mr. Eric Jackson as "Eddie."

L. A. Bryan who directed the play throughout, wishes to thank the entire cast for their kind co-operation.

CORN BORER ACT TO BE ENFORCED

Farmers in Northumberland, Durham and Hastings Must Clean Up Fields.

SUGGESTIONS MADE

The following statement is given out by Professor L. Caesar, Provincial Entomologist for Ontario, who has charge of the administration of the Corn Borer Act:—

"Farmers in Northumberland, Durham and Hastings are warned that the Corn Borer Act is in force in these counties and that corn fields must be cleaned up well and all other corn remnants gathered and burned or ploughed under before May 20th or, if the season is wet, before June 1st.

Hand-picking after cultivation may be avoided entirely or to a large extent by attention to the following:—

1.—If the stubble is short and has not yet been ploughed under, the use of a wide-furrow plough equipped with a skimmer makes it possible to bury the stubble so completely that no hand-picking will be necessary.

2.—If the stubble is six inches or longer, it should first be crushed by rolling or discing. Run the roller or disc in the same direction as you will plough so that the stubble will always lie in the same direction as the plough is going. If this is done and a skimmer used, it will result in good burial even with a six inch deep furrow.

3.—Never plough crosswise the stubble rows, but always lengthwise.

4.—When running the last furrow before the stubble row, run it as close to the stubble as possible, not more than two inches from it. This will allow the stubble on the next round to fall flat into the furrow instead of upon the side of it, and so will give much better burial.

5.—If the stubble was ploughed last fall and has heaved, it will be dragged up in cultivation unless the field is first rolled by a heavy roller to drive the stubble into the ground again.

6.—When cultivating, a disc should be used wherever possible instead of a toothed implement. A disc drill should also be preferred to any other type of drill in sowing. The discs do not drag up stubble to nearly so great an extent as toothed implements.

Every farmer is urged to weigh these suggestions carefully and thereby save himself unnecessary trouble. Hundreds of men, by using a little care, find the Corn Borer Act very easy to comply with, and have at the same time the satisfaction of knowing that they are killing the borers and thereby helping to save the corn industry."

MISS F. THOMPSON DRIVES CHEVROLET

Cooking School Expert Drives New 1934 Model.

Wherever the Canadian School of Home Science is held, there is always a great deal attention directed to the automobile used by the School Director, Miss Frances Thompson. Her car is a 1934 Chevrolet of Canadian manufacture, and although it resembles previous Chevrolet cars, it is said to be the most extensively improved model since this car was stepped up to six cylinders.

The new Chevrolet has an 80 h.p. engine which, according to General Motors of Canada, Limited, is the most powerful and efficient ever to be placed in a Chevrolet. The power plant, incidentally, is of a most interesting type and is the outcome of three solid years of research and testing. The purpose of all this was to provide smoothness and quietness, and the results seem to be really remarkable.

Besides flashing performance from the new engine, the Chevrolet present a number of distinct chassis improvements, most interesting of which is the new Knee-Action front wheel suspension of a type which contributes to a comfort in riding never before thought possible in a motor car. This independent front wheel springing gives not only improved riding but a host of other advantages. Steering stability is greatly improved and wheel fight completely eliminated.

A new distribution of weight, in which the engine is located far forward and the rear-seat passengers sit slightly in front instead of above the rear axle, combines with "knee-action" to make the ride of the new 1934 Chevrolet astonishingly smooth, comfortable and enjoyable.

In appearance, the sleekness which has been a feature of recent Chevrolets is further accentuated by an increase to 112" wheelbase and in the treatment of the car design itself. The 1934 line of passenger cars again features Fisher No-Draft Ventilation in all closed body types.

Egypt has banned all coin-operated machines that can be used for gambling.

"I do solemnly declare....."

For a long time I suffered badly from

INDIGESTION

I tried everything to get relief. I even stopped smoking to see if it would help me but I continued to get worse.

A friend of mine recommended Fruit-a-tives and after taking them for a short time I began to feel much better. It was not long before I was entirely well and could eat anything without pain or after effects. My indigestion and constipation left me. I can not give enough praise for your wonderful medicine and have recommended it to all my friends.

AND I make this solemn declaration conscientiously believing it to be true and knowing that it is of the same force and effect as if made under oath and by virtue of 'The Canada Evidence Act'."

Indigestion left him after taking Fruit-a-tives . . . man says in sworn statement

SOON after he started taking Fruit-a-tives Mr. Sansone's indigestion left him and he could eat anything without pain or bad after effects. In proof of this he voluntarily made the sworn statement printed above so that everyone will know what Fruit-a-tives did for him.

For sufferers from stomach trouble caused by indigestion, resulting in gas, discomfort or pain after meals—here's good news! Fruit-a-tives will help you quickly—surely—safely. Thousands thank Fruit-a-tives today for lasting relief from indigestion and all its distressing symptoms. That's why, today, Fruit-a-tives is the largest selling remedy of its kind in Canada.

Fruit-a-tives are the result of 15 years research by a renowned Canadian physician, a past-president of the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons. He combined an extract of oranges, figs, prunes and apples with certain herbs in such a way and in such proportions as to give unusual benefits.

Fruit-a-tives bring the organs of elimination to healthy action. They act on the liver and intestinal tract, assisting the kidneys and skin to function normally and ridding the system of dangerous wastes and poisons—the stomach tends to become strong and well again. Fruit-a-tives help your body clear out elements that can and do cause indigestion — constipation —bad breath—sick headaches—or even more serious complaints.

Start Fruit-a-tives today. See how quickly they'll give you new life . . . new vigour. 25c and 50c at all stores where drugs are sold.

POLICE UNCOVER SIMILAR CASES

Inspector Bold Believed to Have Solved Dunbarton Case.

TWO BODIES FOUND.

DUNBARTON, Ont., April 10. —(CP). Provincial Police were said to-day to be in possession of information which would reveal a series of cases where newly-born babies have been disposed of, as the result of their investigation into the finding of two little bodies in the municipal dump here last week.

Inspector A. B. Boyd of the Provincial force, detailed to the search for the parents of the two children, believed twins, was said to have obtained sufficient information to confront the mother with the charge. Police, however, maintained strict secrecy and declined to discuss the case.

The inspector was said to have uncovered details of similar cases over a period of years but it was indicated no information would be revealed until police had definitely laid a charge from the most recent case, disclosed last Thursday when a Dunbarton resident discovered the babies' bodies in sacks half-buried in the refuse.

Machine Gunners Parade Wednesday

The local machine gunners will muster at the Armouries at eight bells on Wednesday evening for the first parade of the season of C Company, 4th Battalion, C.M.G.C., under command of Major James Turnbull.

In requesting a full turn-out, the O.C. said there would be an issue of uniforms to-morrow night.

He also intimated that the unit is to go into camp, probably during June at Connaught Ranges near Ottawa, where a very profitable period of training was spent last summer.

WHEAT DEBATE MAKES HEADWAY

Nations Agree on 4 Subsidiary Points But Are Uncertain of Main Plan to Adopt.

NO MINIMUM SET.

ROME, April 10 (C.P.-A.P. Cable). —Entrusted with the task of devising a specific plan to raise the world export price of wheat, a committee of experts of the world wheat conference held a long morning session to-day and was expected to continue its private deliberations until to-morrow.

Sitting in a closed and guarded room of the International Institute of Agriculture, the committee had not yet reached agreement on which of four main plans should be adopted, it was learned this afternoon, but had agreed on four subsidiary points. These were:

1. Exporters should have the choice of whether to make sales on a basis of quotations based on cost insurance and freight to importing markets (c.i.f.) or on a basis of freight on board from ports of export.

2. Flour, whole wheat, meal and semolina should be supervised by governments in a manner similar to that employed on wheat and grain exports.

Flour Price Schedule.

3. Schedule of prices for flour should be drawn up on a percentage basis with reference to corresponding types: wheat and patent flour to be priced at approximately 145 per cent. of the minimum price of the corresponding type of wheat; bakers or clears at 135 per cent.; low grade at 125 per cent., and other grades, including whole wheat flour or meals, at 120 per cent.

4. Governments should agree not to participate in any transaction of a commercial nature, such as barter accords or deals resulting from frozen credits which might kill or hinder the system regulating minimum wheat export prices.

If, however, wheat is sold under barter arrangements or through liquidation of frozen credits, it must be at prices not less than the minimum agreed upon by the governments, the committee further agreed.

AUTO WORKERS STRIKE ENDED

10 Per Cent. Wage Increase Granted—Fear Tool Die Workers May Quit.

ASK 20 P.C. BOOST.

DETROIT, April 10. —(AP)— A 'key' strike that threw 23,400 automobile workers out of their jobs has been settled but mediators looked anxiously today toward a threatened walkout in the vital tool and die industry.

William Collins, American Federation of Labor leader announced last night that striking employes of the Motor Products Corporation had agreed to return to work this morning at a 10 percent increase in wages. This dispute involved 1,000 strikers and 4,600 others laid off because of the walkout.

The strike in the Motor Products Plant, which makes auto parts, had thrown 18,000 men out of work in the Hudson factory was expected to resume work late today or tomorrow.

A threat of a strike of tool and die-makers who want a 20 percent wage boost became the next hurdle for the peacemakers. The Mechanics Education Society of America may call these workers out on Thursday in Detroit, Pontiac and Flint if the job shops in which they are employed refuse to meet the demand.

McRUER ASSAILS GOVERMENT'S PART IN STRIKES

Says More Attention Paid to Chickens at Stratford Plant Than Starving Strikers.

CITES LOW WAGES PAID.

Raps Lack of Interest to Remedy Conditions, Asks What Labor Minister Has Done.

TORONTO, April 10 (CP)—J. C. McRuer, K.C., charged at a Liberal rally here last night that the Ontario Government paid more attention to caring for chickens in a Stratford packing house during the strike of furniture workers and packing house employees last fall at Stratford than to "starving" strikers.

In the midst of the strike, he said, Provincial Inspector George Turkin of the Society of Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, was on hand to see that the chickens in the factory were cared for and not allowed to starve to death.

"Rifles, bayonets, machine guns and tanks for the toilers—care for the chickens," remarked Mr. McRuer. Girls in the factory went on strike for an increase in the piecework rate for picking chickens.

The speaker said the Government did nothing to bring the strike to a settlement. He cited low wages, he said were paid to expert furniture workers before the walkout.

Nothing Done

"A session of the House has passed," he said. "And not one thing did this Government do to see that such conditions, that are said to exist all over this province, are brought to an end. Whatever the cause, it was and is the duty of the Government to get to the root of it and prescribe the remedy.

"Where has the Minister of Labor been for the last four years? I even suggest that 95 per cent of the people of this province cannot tell you who the Minister of Labor is; he has so distinguished himself. What Labor problems has he solved? Has he given any justification for the portfolio he has? The portfolio of Labor is one of the most important in the Government, but it is utterly useless unless the administration of that department is an administration from the heart."

FALL WHEAT IS WINTER KILLED

Twenty-five Per Cent. of Herds in Frontenac in Poor Condition.

CHEESE FACTORIES OPEN.

KINGSTON, Ont., April 10. (CP) Considerable doubt as to survival of new seeding of alfalfa and clover over the winter is expected in the report on crop conditions for Frontenac county made to-day by the local office of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Fall wheat also appears to be badly damaged.

In a few cases in the county, cattle are out on pastures trying to pick up a living. It is estimated that 25 percent of the herds are in very poor condition. Reports are coming in that the mortality of pigs is very heavy, many of them being born dead.

Four or five cheese factories have opened to receive milk. But the supply has been very low. The supply of grain and hay is short and good seed will be scarce as the grain is of poor quality.

Easter Message Is Read To Auxiliary

The Elizabeth Parker Auxiliary of Trinity United Church held their Easter meeting in Reid Street Hall at six o'clock last evening with Mrs. Roy Brown, convenor for the supper. The tables were beautifully decorated with spring bouquets and mauve candles in silver holders.

The president, Mrs. A. Parker presided. Miss L. Elliott conducted the devotional period and read a leaflet entitled "The Keeper of the Keys" Mrs. Brown, president of the Peterborough Presbyterial delivered a beautiful Easter message saying that women were the first to receive the message of the risen Lord.

She mentioned the joy we should feel because the slavery of sin was abolished through the resurrection. In closing, a few particulars of the Women's Missionary work were given. She said, "If we cannot go to the foreign land to tell the story let us send it." After a liberal thank-offering was received. Miss Daisy Adlam sang "Building for Eternity."

The new study book, Living Issues in China by Dr. Hodkins was introduced by Miss D. Marshall. It shows the missionary contributions to the changes in their life. Miss M. Richardson, the herald, told a story concerning a member of The Church of All Nations, Montreal.

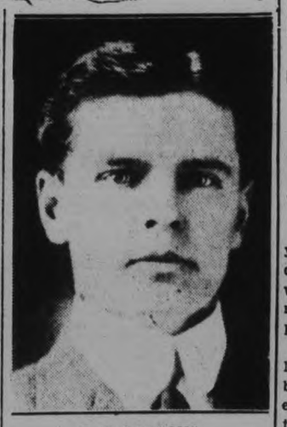
R. H. Parsons Completes 21 Years' Service As Engineer For City Of Peterborough

Starting to-day upon his 22nd year as Peterborough's city engineer, R. H. Parsons looked back for a moment this morning on some of the works completed here under his direction.

Studying his files to oblige an inquisitive reporter, the city's engineer stated that Peterborough now has 77.4 miles of paved sidewalks. The laying of sidewalks commenced here in 1898, and when Mr. Parsons took charge of the engineering department 21 years ago, 53 miles had been put down at a cost of $202,061.27. While he has occupied the office, 21.11 miles of sidewalk have been laid at a cost of $107,547.46. Thus the total cost of the city's sidewalks is $309,608.73.

Since 1897, when it was first decided that Peterborough needed sewers, 44.5 miles of sewers have been put down at a total cost of $552,058.42. More than half of the sewer system has been constructed under Mr. Parsons' regime.

The city has 55.6 miles of paved roads, all but a few blocks of which was accomplished since Mr Parsons became city engineer. Total cost of this paving with the necessary storm drains is $1,142,477.84. There are 8.57 miles of curbs and gutters, which cost $39,540.89. Besides this, there has been the average expenditure annually of $30,000 for road maintenance and bridge building.



R. H. PARSONS

It is probable that Peterborough's city engineer holds the record for Canada for long years of service as an engineer to a single municipality.

INSULL FAILS TO LOSE HOPE

Prisoner Undergoes Operation in Turkish Jail Infirmary for Abcess on Thumb.

LAWYERS FIGHT ON.

ISTANBUL, April 10 (A.P.). — Samuel Insull underwent an operation in an Istanbul jail infirmary to-day for the removal of an abcess from his left thumb.

Attendants said he submitted smilingly and seemed in a pleasant mood, despite the probability that he will soon be started for the United States and trial on embezzlement and fraud charges in Chicago.

To-day, while American authorities went ahead with plans for the fugitive's return, Insull's lawyers insisted they still had not abandoned hope.

After further conferences with their 74-year-old client, they announced they had not played their "trump card" in the fight against extradition.

Some saw in a Turkish legislative move for an explanation of the Government's handling of the Insull case the influence of the Insull legal staff.

Suleiman Sirri Bey, independence member of the Chamber of Deputies, brought a threat of possible further delay in Insull's departure with the demand for an explanation.

At Ankara, the capital, he filed an interpellation calling upon the Minister of Justice to supply particulars. To-day, this official gave no indication when he would reply.

Heavy Winter Delays Opening Of Roads

QUEBEC, April 10 (CP)—The unusually heavy winter has delayed opening main highways in the province and they will not be available to motorists for another week at the least, officials of the Quebec Roads Department said to-day.

In the neighborhood of Hull, St. Hyacinthe and Sherbrook sections of highway from five to twenty miles are clear, but in other regions the roads are still unfit for traffic.

In many places, according to the department, roads have suffered heavy damage owing to the deep penetration of frost.

CITY OF THREE RIVERS HAS SURPLUS OF $101,506

THREE RIVERS, Que., April 10 (C.P.).—There is no wolf howling at the door of the city treasury here. The city council can snap their fingers at talk of hard times and depression, for last night they approved the 1933 financial report with a surplus of $101,506 and set apart $99,213 of it for their reserve fund.

The budget for 1934 estimates revenue at $1,607,593 and estimated expenditures at $1,483,536, which would leave surplus next year of $124,056. The 1934 budget was also unanimously approved.

FRANCE REVIVES PARLEY SCHEME

Hopes to Discover Ways of Boosting Trade in Her Vast Empire.

MOOTED YEAR AGO.

(By Richard G. Massock, Associated Press Foreign Staff).

PARIS, April 10—(A.P.)—France's year old plans for a colonial economic conference hastily were revived to-day to help put over Premier Gaston Doumergue's anti-depression drive.

An attack on the high cost of living in France also was begun by the Doumergue cabinet in an effort to appease government functionaries disgruntled by the recent five to 10 per cent. pay cuts.

The search for ways and means to strengthen trade in the vast French empire was resurrected by Pierre Laval, Minister of Colonies.

The colonial conference was proposed early in the administration of former Premier Edouard Daladier, but Daladier's government passed out during the bloody Paris riots and the project never materialized.

Feeling herself more or less isolated economically, France hopes to become more self-relaint with the aid of her 100,000,000 inhabitants in both hemispheres and her 1,700,000 square miles of territory.

MURRAY STREET CHURCH IS FILLED TO CAPACITY TO HEAR REV. ROLLS

"From Slavery to Freedom" is Subject of Illustrated Lecture.

BEAUTIFUL PICTURES.

A crowd that overflowed Murray Street Baptist Church was present to hear Rev. Dr. C. J. Rolls lecture on the subject "From Slavery to Freedom," in which the story of Israel's experiences from the days of Abraham, until they reached the promised land, was thrillingly told.

When Abraham began the great adventure, he passed through Damascus from Ur of the Chaldees and came to Hebron, a Moslem village to-day. Pictures of surpassing beauty were shown illustrating this part of the journey.

The lecturer told dramatically of the murder of Abner by Joab, almost within the gate of Hebron, one of the famous cities of refuge. Then came a scenic view of Mt. Moriah, the place of sacrifice, and the cave of Machpelah which the patriarch bought for a burial place; then on to Bethel where the gleaners were seen gathering the tares from the wheat. At this point, the lecturer asked the question: Is the world growing better or worse? and answered it affirmatively: "The world is growing better and worse as Jesus taught: the tares and the wheat shall grow together" he said. Then came Bethlehem, the grave of Rachel, bought by Sir George Montefiore for $75,000, the cheque in Palestinian currency being shown. Thence scenes were shown of Jacob's well, the bridge of Jacob's daughters, beside the slope of Mt. Ebal, set amid the landscape of Samaria. Then the life of Joseph was portrayed; Dothan, where he was sold to the Ishmaelites; and his tomb, not far from Jacob's well. Then the lecturer proceeded to Egypt, showing the avenue of sphinxes, leading from the River Nile to the temple of Rameses, the Pharaoh of Egypt.

The pillars of the Temple at Dendara were shown, and the citadel overlooking the Pramids.

"Was Israel the chosen people?" asked the lecturer. "By all means, they were. Not in a sense of being a favorite people! Rather they were to be a pattern to all other nations. In that sense they were chosen."

The crossing of the Red Sea, the wilderness wanderings, the waters of Marah, the rock which Moses struck to produce water, and mighty Sinai were all shown. Here the speaker paused to refer to the monastery on Mount Sinai, where the famous M.S.S. recently sold by Russia to the British Government was found by Tishendorff. A burning bush on the plain where Israel encamped was shown. Then came the burial place of Aaron, the place where Johua gained the victory over the Amalekites in the valley of Ajalon, the scenes around the Dead Sea.

The tomb of Joshua, over 2,500 years old, was shown. Scenes of life among the Bedouines, the wild tribes of the desert, descendants of Ishmael were depicted with realistic fidelity. The concluding portion centred in scenes in the vicinity of Jerusalem.

Rev. Sutcliffe led the devotions Rev. Millyard led in prayer, while Dr. Barr gave the announcements, including the next illustrated lecture for Friday evening: "In the Wake of General Allenby's Triumph."

Missionary Work In Canada Described

Group "G" of the W.M.S. met for their regular devotional and business meeting on Friday afternoon last, in the Sunday school room of George St. United Church. It took the form of an open meeting, with many visiting members from other groups being present. These were cordially welcomed by the leader, Mrs. Ludbrook. The roll call was answered by an Easter thought and responded to by all the members. A paper on Missionary work in Canada was given by Mrs. Rutherford.

The guest speaker was Mrs. Lane, who gave an excellent Easter message.

The Alohoa Serenaders, with their instructress, Miss Helen Ludbrook, entertained the group with several numbers on the Hawaiian guitar, which was very enjoyable.

The Misses Jean and Mary Lillow sang a pleasing duet, accompanied by Master Bob Hamilton on the Hawaiian guitar.

Sentence prayers were offered by several ladies and the meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction, after which the group entertained the visitors with a dainty lunch.

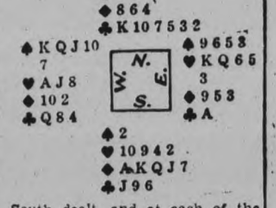
CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

EXPENSIVE GAMBLING.

Neither side was vulnerable when the following interesting hand appeared in a duplicate game. A study of what should take place and what might take place is interesting.



South dealt, and at each of the eleven tables he passed, as he should. At six tables West passed, and in each instance at four tables the hand passed out.

At two of those six tables the hands were passed until East made an opening bid of one heart, because he was gullible enough to believe that he should open light as fourth hand. At both tables the hand was played for game at hearts. One East player went game, losing only two diamond tricks and a single spade trick. At the other table East went down a trick, because South led a spade and obtained a ruff.

At five tables West made an opening bid of one spade, because he was strong in both major suits, and did not believe either opponent could go game. At two of those tables where four spades was the final contract, North led his lone heart. When trumps were led North won with his ace, then he led a diamond and was enabled to ruff a return lead of hearts. He led another diamond and ruffed another heart, thus defeating the contract two tricks. At the third table the singleton heart was led. North won the first trick in spades, but South took both his diamond tricks before giving his partner a ruff, so that the contract went down only a single trick.

The only spade or heart contract which was not doubled was the one that went game. East and West paid the penalty for making opening bids, in four of the five cases where they bid and played game contracts, but two tables where West made opening bids of spades suffered even worse. At one of those tables North played five clubs doubled, and fulfilled his contract. At the other table South fulfilled a doubled contract of five diamonds.

North lost a single heart trick and a single club trick. He discarded his two low spades on dummy's established diamonds and picked up West's queen of clubs.

South won the first spade trick with dummy's ace. He led a diamond and returned his jack of clubs. The queen went up and the king fell to the lone ace. East won a single heart trick. The declarer ruffed a spade and pulled trumps. He discarded his three remaining hearts on dummy's clubs.

Emil Abdullah of Trans-Jordan will visit in Europe this summer.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

It seems to have dawned on the consciousness of at least one dietitian in the world, that everybody is not exactly the same and does not need exactly the same kind of food. This dietitian is Dr. L. Jean Bogert, who has written a book called "Diet and Personality."

I appreciate the book particularly, I suppose, because I am constantly being asked, "What is a good diet for reducing?" "What is a good diet for increasing weight?" "What is a good diet for this and that?"—as if there were a mathematical answer to all these questions.

No one can plan a diet unless he understands the general principles of nutrition and dietetics, and there is no single hard and fast diet for any condition. This even includes so strictly a dietetic question as diabetes. The diet for a diabetic depends upon the diabetic himself. A hundred people with diabetes might have a hundred different kinds of diet.

Dr. Bogert starts out with the consideration of the slender person, and gives a word picture of this group, to which, he says, both himself and Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, with over 25,000,000 other people in the United States belong. "They are the kind of folks that get things done, but they often use up a lot more energy in the process than they need to. They tend to be high-strung, sensitive, ambitious and quick—the race-horse type. After a fine spurt they are apt to be exhausted and may be irritable."

These people have certain physiologic peculiarities which account a good deal for their psychology and for their activities. One is that the lack of body fat tend to allow their organs to sag so that they easily become tired. Apparently their ductless glands, especially the thyroid and adrenal, are over-active and cause them to be high strung. Finally, the digestive system is peculiar, and one of the reasons why it is so hard to fatten this type of person is because they have an unusually short and muscular active intestinal tract, which may hurry food through the body before it is complete digested and absorbed. In a dietary way they need plenty of good nourishing food of all kinds.

Dr. Bogert suggests the following sort of meals for this type of individual:

BREAKFAST
Oatmeal With Sliced Banana and Cream
Scrambled Eggs Bacon
Toast Coffee (one cup
LUNCH
Creamed Fish
Baked Potato With Butter
Young Beets With Their Tops
Chocolate Blanc Mange With Cream
Cookies Milk (one glass)
DINNER
Puree of Split Pea Soup
Roast Duck With Applesauce
String Beans
Cauliflower With Hollandaise Sauce
Romaine Salad With Roquefort Dressing
Butterscotch Pie

MENU HINTS

Grapefruit Juice
Macaroni and Cheese Buttered Peas
Pineapple Salad Prune Souffle
Tea or Coffee

Here is an inexpensive, meatless meal. Too many fruits, you think? Well, maybe, although in the spring fruit is one of the very best foods you can eat. And these fruits are of different flavors, you notice, so that they do not conflict. Some are acid, some bland.

Today's Recipes

Prune Souffle.—Two-thirds cup of prune pulp, one-third cup sugar, dash of salt, two teaspoons lemon juice, three egg whites. Orush prune pulp with the tines of a fork, working the sugar and salt well into the prunes. Add lemon juice. Beat egg whites stiff. Fold in fruit pulp. Pile lightly into a greased baking dish. Set the dish in a pan of hot water and take in a moderate oven, 350 degrees Fahrenheit, for 45 minutes, until the mixture will not adhere to the finger when touched lightly. Serve at once with whipped cream or soft custard.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Tomato Rarebit

One pound rich cheese, one tablespoon butter, two-thirds cup strained tomatoes, one-fourth teaspoon dry mustard, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one-fourth teaspoon salt. Melt the butter in the upper compartment of the chafing dish or double boiler, add the dices cheese, the seasonings and cook over hot water until the cheese melts. Add the tomato and continue heating the mixture until it is smooth and creamy. Serve on toast or crackers.

Applesauce Cake

One cup seeded raisins, half cup chopped nut meats, half cup shredded citron, half cup candied orange peel, two and a half cups flour, two teaspoons soda, one teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon each allspice, nutmeg, salt, one-half cup butter, one cup sugar, one egg, one and one-half cups applesauce, one teaspoon vanilla, two teaspoons lemon juice, one teaspoon grated lemon rind, two teaspoons cold coffee. Prepare fruit, dredge with part of the flour. Sift remaining flour, with soda and spices. Cream butter, add sugar gradually and when thoroughly creamed, stir in the beaten egg. Add applesauce which has been drained until quite dry. Beat in flour, sifted with spices. Add remaining ingredients in order named. Mix thoroughly. Turn into a deep pan lined with waxed paper. Bake one and one-half hours in a slow oven, 300 degrees Fahrenheit. The shredded citron or candied orange peel may be omitted or both fruits may be used.

INQUEST IN BABIES' DEATHS.

OSHAWA.—The inquest into the deaths of the two infants whose bodies were discovered in Dunbarton last week will be held within the next two weeks, Crown Attorney Alex C. Hall said yesterday.

The inquest will be held at Pickering.

Delay in holding the inquest has been occasioned by the inability of Dr. Frankish, Provincial medico-legal expert, to attend in the near future because of work in which he is engaged in Western Ontario.

Just as likely to offend—the Girl who says

"I NEVER PERSPIRE"

The truth is: all healthy people perspire though many never notice it themselves!

Girls who say "I don't perspire" fool themselves. But they never fool others.

We all perspire, though we may not know it. And perspiration odour clings to underthings. That's why dainty girls play safe, avoid wearing undies the second day.

It's so easy to Lux underthings after every wearing. Just swish them through the safe, small-bubble Lux suds. It takes only 4 minutes or less . . . the new 8-times-finer diamonds dissolve so quickly . . . even in lukewarm water.

Lux whisks away every trace of perspiration odour; leaves underthings dainty, new-looking. You know you're safe with Lux!

LUX underthings after every wearing!

See Lux demonstration

Miss Frances Thompson naturally chooses Lux for her exacting work at the Canadian School of Home Science this week. Favoured for fine things for more than 25 years, Lux today is still safer . . . still easier to use! And so ECONOMICAL in the new big package! You can Lux all your fine things regularly . . . keep them fresh, new-looking. Follow the advice of the experts: use only Lux for all fine things!

One of the most successful social evenings in the history of the Peterborough Rangers Sergeants' Mess was held on Friday in the recreation room at the Armouries. It was the sixth in a series of similar social evenings held under the auspices of the Mess, and took the form of a whist drive and dance. Arrangements for the evening were in the hands of the social committee of the Mess. At the conclusion of the cards, refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. H. Chate and the prizes for whist were presented by the president of the Mess, C.-S.-M. G. Weir. They were won as follows: First, Mrs. J. Marshall and Mr. H. Lemmings; second, Mrs. H. Lemmings and Mr. W. Bolan. The consolation prizes were won by Mrs. S. Kitchen and Mr. H. Summers. Music for dancing, which included a variety of favorite numbers, was furnished by an orchestra composed of Miss R. Clark and Messrs. T. B. Griffin, Sr., F. Griffin and P. Clark. The door prize was won by little Miss Helen Griffin, while Mrs. J. Hunter won the raffle. Mrs. J. Gore won the lucky number contest, while the prizes for the spot dance went to Mrs. T. L. Griffin and Mr. H. Summers. During the evening Mrs H. Chate was presented with a small gift on behalf of the Mess by the present, C.-S.-M. G. Weir, in appreciation for her untiring work in the preparation of the dainty refreshments that have meant so much to the success of each social evening. The appreciation of the Mess is extended to the following who very kindly donated prizes: Mr. C. Shaw of The A. Wander Co., McDermid and Jury, Mrs. T. B. Griffin, Sr., and the H. J. Boyle Co., as well as a friend. A very pretty and well-attended Easter tea was held on Saturday afternoon by the Young Women's Missionary Auxiliary of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, at the home of the president, Miss Aleitha Davidson, Aylmer Street. The guests were received by Miss Davidson and Mrs. A. T. Barr, and were ushered to the tea room by Miss Nina Davidson. Miss Mary Greer acted as general convenor. Tea was poured by Mrs James Dutton and Mrs W. A. Burrell, assisted by Mrs. Roy A. White, Miss Mary Greer, Miss Jeannette Connal, Miss Marlie Vickers and Miss Muriel Davidson of Toronto, a house guest of her aunts. Miss Dora Dymond acted as treasurer. The table was very attractively arranged in the Easter colors of mauve, silver and yellow, with daffodils and pussy willows in a silver basket and mauve and yellow candles in silver candlesticks. A sale of cooking was looked after by the Misses Dora Dymond, Jeannette Connal, and Marlie Vickers, and a pleasing musical program in charge of Miss Jean Cameron, included songs by Mrs. L. Mitchell and Miss Cameron, with accompaniments by Mrs. G. Wilson Craw, and piano selections by Miss Muriel Davidson of Toronto.

Large Attendance At Sacred Concert

At the sacred concert held in St. John's parish hall on Sunday evening, in aid of the family of the late Charles Fenner, and sponsored by the Peterborough Workers' Unity, of which the late Mr. Fenner was an executive member, there was a very fine attendance.

Jack Smith was in the chair and the opening address was given by the Ven. Archdeacon Blagrave, who spoke of the Workers' Unity and asked for further interest in the movement, as he considered it a fine way of joining in friendship and unity. Rev. Dr. Blagrave also spoke of the fine character of the late Mr. Fenner.

The program included many well-applauded numbers; selections by St. John's Orchestra, songs by Mrs. S. Mitchell, Miss Jessie Pattison and Walter Firth, and entertaining numbers by the Salvation Army group, the Caledonians and Bert McCannan's Merry Makers.

At the conclusion of the program, E. Bradbury, chairman of the Peterborough Workers' Unity, spoke of the work of the organization and also extended thanks to those who took part in a successful concert.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

ORCHID ETIQUETTE

This business of wearing orchids isn't quite as simple as it might be. There's a distinct etiquette of placing, as well as a question of good taste in color, and a knowledge of the proper occasion upon which to wear this rare flower. And there's also a law of numbers to obey.

* * * * * * *

The chic woman doesn't wear orchids upside down, stems pointing heavenwards. Nor does she breeze into certain places wearing these flowers, any more than she wears an evening gown at noon.

* * * * * * *

One orchid, just pinned on at the shoulder as though by chance, is nice. But two orchids—never! This arrangement is too banal, too uniform. Three orchids give the wearer an air of distinction—and five orchids, that million-dollar, off-to-Europe look.

* * * * * * *

The orchid is not a delicate flower, surprising as this may seem. Durable is rather a commonplace word that describes its lasting qualities. With a little care, it can be made to last a considerable length of time.

* * * * * * *

Dainty and apparently as fragile as the wings of a butterfly, the orchid, under proper care, will retain its beauty and perfection for days at a time. Of the thousands of varieties of orchids, the cattleya, with its widespread petals of purple and lavender and a splash of crimson on its drooping lip, is the most widely known. A species of this blooms throughout the year.

* * * * * * *

The blossom of the cymbodium orchid is another variant of the orchid family that is deservedly popular. Three or four of these decorative sprays in a globe-shaped bowl combined to add a lovely touch to any room. With the necessary care, they will last for several weeks.

* * * * * * *

Now a word about the care of an orchid. The wearer, when dancing should wear the orchid corsage on her right shoulder to prevent bruising of the petals. She should protect the flower from the wind when going to and from the dance. Once she has it safely at home, she should place it in water, in the refrigerator, seeing to it that the petals do not touch anything. It's surprising how long it will last.

* * * * * * *

Now just a suggestion for the bride. Orchids, if included in her bridal bouquet, can be inserted with their stems wrapped. After the ceremony, she can remove them from the bouquet and pin them high on her travelling costume.

C.W.L. ELECTS 1934 OFFICERS

Mrs. B. Law is Re-elected President, Mrs. F. Overend Vice-President.

SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The majority of last year's officers were re-elected at the annual meeting and election of the Catholic Women's League, held last evening at St. Alphonsus Lyceum. The officers for the ensuing year will be as follows: Mrs. B. Law, president; Mrs. F. J. Overend, first vice president; Miss L. Hurley second vice president; Mrs. J. J. Lynch, third vice president; Miss Nora Shevlin, recording secretary; Miss Marita Collins, corresponding secretary; Miss Mamie McCarthy, treasurer.

Councillors will be: Mrs. F. Eano, Mrs. T. J. Lane, Mrs. T. Dineen, Mrs. M. Henry, Mrs. V. McIntyre, Mrs. C. J. Snider, Mrs. Duffy, Mrs. E. Hurtubise, Mrs. T. J. Carroll, Mrs. J. R. McDonald, Mrs. A. C. Wolff, Miss T. Hurley and Miss Crowley.

Annual reports were presented on Membership, by Mrs F. J. Overend, whose report was read by Miss T. Hurley; on Education and the Study Club, by Miss Lillian Hurley; on Social Welfare, by Mrs. T. J. Carroll; the financial statement was given by Miss Mamie McCarthy; the record secretary's report by Miss Marita Collins, and the corresponding secretary's report by Miss Theresa Hurley.

In the presidential address, Mrs. Law referred to the splendid work done by the executive during the past year and expressed her gratitude for the excellent cooperation by the members.

The report of the Nominating committee was presented by the convenor, Mrs. F. Lynch. Other members of the committee were Mrs. M. J. Roche, Mrs. W. J. Grady, Mrs. J. R. Corkery, Mrs. Mrs. H. A. Owen and Miss Annie Simons.

Very pleasing music formed an interlude in the business deliberations of the ladies. An instrucmental duett, "A Winter Ride" was played on the piano by the Misses Margaret and Helen Eano, and vxocal solos were given by Miss Gertrude Doyle, who sang "Danny Boy" and "Roses of Picardy" with accompaniments by Miss L. Hurley.

Omemee Allocation Is Lowered $50.00

OMEMEE, April 10 (Examiner Correspondence)—The members of the W.M.S. of Trinity United Church met in the church basement on Thursday afternoon, Apr. 5 for their monthly meeting.

The president, Mrs. Bradley was in charge and a very good attendance was present. The treasurer reported that the allocation for this branch had been lowered $50 this year and would be $440. Mrs. Vaughan and Mrs. Moncrief were appointed delegates to attend the W.M.S. convention held at Greenbank on April 27.

The ladies decided that from now until later notice is given that their meetings will commence at 3 o'clock instead of of 2.30.

The devotional period consisted of the Easter worship service led by the president. Mrs. Bradburn gave a reading entitled "The Second Mile." The devotional leaflet "Jesus in Jerusalem" was taken by Mrs. Reddick. Miss Lily Race contributed a piano solo. Mrs. Vaughan read an interesting letter from China.

The 1st part of chapter 7 in the study book "Living Issues in China" was given by the president and was followed with readings by Mesdames Vaughan, Moncrief, Elliott and Miss Race.

The meeting closed with prayer in unison.

The thankoffering service held in Trinity United Church on Sunday evening was well attended, when Mrs. Dr. Scott of Peterborough returned missionary delivered a very interesting talk. The ladies of the W.M.S. occupied the front pews and heard something of the value of their efforts in their missionary work.

I know my own mind about soaps
AND HERE'S WHY I USE PALMOLIVE

1 I don't know how to say it in the right words ..what my beauty specialist told me about Palmolive being a safer, scientific soap. But I got the idea . . . it's marvelous for keeping a girl's complexion lovely. You'll think so too!
2 It's just nice to think about—a soap made with pure vegetable oils! I know that Palmolive is made from a scientific blend of olive and palm oils—and nothing else. And to my way of thinking, that's a real beauty formula.
3 I'm so glad I gave Palmolive a real chance! Night and morning, for a whole month, I massaged its creamy, velvety lather into my skin . . . Rinsed with warm water—then cold. See what this treatment will do for your skin!
4 Now So Low in Price
It cleanses so deeply .. keeps complexions so lovely

McLarnin Matched to Meet Ross at New York

MAY 28TH IS LIKELY DATE FOR TITLE GO

Contracts Will Be Signed Today for New York Milk Fund Battle.

AGREE TO TERMS.

NEW YORK, Apri 10. — Two of the ring's doughtiest little boxers, Jimmy McLarnin, the Vancouver Irishman who holds the welterweight title, and Barney Ross, Jewish lightweight champion, yesterday were matched to go 15 rounds or less at a site yet to be determined for McLarnin's title, on May 28.

The bout, a "natural" for New York City with its big Irish and Jewish population, was formally approved by the New York State Athletic Commission, and probably will be staged in Madison Square Garden's big bowl in Long Island City. The Milk Fund will promote the show.

Sign Contracts To-day.

The contracts have not been signed, the Milk Fund said, but the managers of both boxers have unanimously agreed to terms with McLarnin coming in at the class limit of 147 pounds. Contracts are to be autographed to-day

Every promoter in the country has been angling for such a match, which may outdraw even the Primo Carnera - Max Baer heavyweight title bout, which the Garden will hold in the Bowl, June 14. The Commission, incidentally, also formally approved that bout and the date yesterday.

McLarnin always has been a scourge for Jewish boxers, among his victims being several previous prides of the Ghetto, including Benny Leonard, Sid Terris, Ruby Goldstein, and Al Singer. Ross therefore, will be shooting at more than the title when he enters the ring on May 28. Several times he has expressed an eagerness to meet the man who had humiliated so many boxers of his race.

Ross has been making a tour of the country, defending his synthetic junior welterweight title here and there, and probably will weigh in for the McLarnin bout around 140 pounds. He had little difficulty making the class weight of 135 pounds for his only title defence against Tony Canzoneri here last September, but has been over that weight in his more recent bouts.

The bout will be McLarnin's first defence of the title he won from Young Corbett III. in Los Angeles last May 29.

Both boxers, as a condition to the Commission sanctioning their meeting, agreed to defend their titles within 90 days after May 28 against challengers previously approved by the Commission.

McLarnin, if he retains his crown, therefore, must meet Bep Van Klaveren, the Dutch importation, for the welter title, and Ross must defend his lightweight championship against Frankie Klick of San Francisco. He and Klick recently boxed a ten-round draw at San Francisco in a non-title bout.

Pitcher Goldstein Is Sold To Montreal

LAKELAND, Fla., April 10—(AP)—Isadore Goldstein, right-handed pitcher, was sold by Detroit Tigers to Montreal Royals yesterday for an unannounced price.

It was Goldsteins third tryout with the Tigers, and they were forced to sell him without an option. Goldstein was rated as a good pitcher without enough control for the majors at this time.

The Tigers must drop two more men before June 15. Detroit broke camp and left here last night on the homeward trip for the opener in Chicago, April 17.

WINGS STRONG MINOR LEAGUE

Rochester Needs One More Player to be in Championship Class.

OPENS APRIL 18.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., April 10. — The opening game at Baltimore on April 18 should find Rochester Redwings, runners-up in last year's pennant chase, in a position to again give the others in the International League a real fight.

Only the absence of a hard-hitting, right-handed outfielder to offset a half-dozen left-handed swatters will prevent Manager George (Specs) Toporcer from presenting the line-up which may remain intact throughout the season.

Weak spots in the infield existing almost to the end of the training period have been strengthened through the somewhat tardy beneficence of Branch Rickey, boss of the parent organization — the St. Louis Cardinals—and the pitching and catching departments are ready to go.

The starting outfield will consist of Crabtree, Winsett and Goodman. The first two are fixtures for the season unless Winsett, through his powerful clouting moves up to faster company. Crabtree is expected to develop into the fielding sensation of the league. He hits around .290, while Winsett is regarded as certain to go over the .300 mark. Goodman is the utility man. The trouble with this line-up is all three hit from the port side.

Good Infield.

Toporcer and Johnny Mize, first baseman, were the only infield holdovers during early training. But Rickey has come across with Benny Borgman and Tommy Carey for the third and short. That should give the Redwings a fine fielding, heavy hitting infield to compare with any in the league.

The pitching squad is virtually complete with John Berly, Tony Kaufman, Ad Liska and Dykes Potter, the right-handed starting hurlers, and Johnny Michaels as chief southpaw. Virgil Brown and Norbert Kleinke, two youngsters, will work in relief roles.

Big Paul Florence will continue as first string catcher with Lewis as his alternate. Florence, like Toporcer and Mize, hits from the left side.

Thus the Redwings of 1934 seemingly need only a right-handed outfielder to edge them into the flag-winning class. President Warren C. Giles tried to buy one to no avail. However, the Cardinal chain store system is expected to deliver the goods eventually, possibly by sending Tom Moore from Houston to Rochester.

Gains Wins Quickly From Polish Boxer

BEDFORD, Eng., April 10.—Larry Gains, Toronto, colored heavyweight, continuing his build-up campaign for another try for the Empire championship he lost recently to Len Harvey, last night knocked out Bergeda Casimir of Poland, in the first round of a scheduled 12-round bout.

Gains sized up his opponent quickly as Casimir clinched in an attempt to smother his attack and dominated the bout thereafter. Gains hit swiftly with both hands and the Pole wilted under his attack. At the end of 2 minutes and 15 seconds, Gains got under Casimir's guard and walloped him with a terrific left.

Casimir staggered and Gains smashed a right swing to the jaw that dropped him. The Pole tried to rise, but was counted out.

British Rugger Team For Tour Of United States

A rugby team from Cambridge University has come to the United States to play the old English football game against teams of some of the major schools. The members of the team were photographed here as they arrived in New York. Almost before they had "worked the sea roll out of their legs" they faced the team of Harvard on Ohio field. They will play Princeton on April 10, Yale on April 12, and a combined all-east team, probably in New York, on April 14.

LAKESHORE BASEBALL LOOP SEEKS LOWER CLASSIFICATION

Experience of Past Season Shows League of Not Intermediate "A" Calibre.

PLAYERS DROP OUT.

ORONO, April 10. — The Lake Shore League is applying for permission to play in the Intermediate B series for the 1934 season because experienceof last year has shown that the league was not of Intermediate A calibre. A year ago the league was forced into Intermediate A baseball very much against its will, although all of the clubs except Cobourg had never played in any higher classification than Intermediate B. This was done because Cobourg had been playing in the Central Ontario Baseball League a higher organization, and all teams were forced to go into Intermediate A on that account.

The result of the season's play showed that this classification was too high, because the Cobourg team showed itself to be only of Intermediate B calibre. In fact, it won the playoff with Port Hope, a former Intermediate B club, only after three very close games, and in the first round of the playoffs the Cobourg club was eliminated. This experience, it is believed, shows that the league should not be rated any higher than Intermediate B, for which classification it is now applying.

Even the Cobourg club will this year be weaker than it was last year, because of the loss of players, and since none of the other clubs in the league ever had a higher rating than Intermediate B, the league feels that a great injustice would be done if the Lake Shore League were again forced against its will to enter the Intermediate A class. No sound reason can be advanced for keeping the league in a class higher than the calibre of the teams will justify.

By doing so the association would place the teams in the position of having no hope of advancing any further than a league title, with no chance of going any further than the first round of the playdowns, because all teams are of weaker strength than the other Intermediate A clubs throughout the Province.

In Intermediate B the league would be matched with leagues of relatively the same calibre and would thus have some encouragement to go through the season with a hope of the winning club have at least a sporting chance in the playoffs.

The teams are all in baseball for the love of the sport and from a sincere desire to keep the game alive in this section of the Province. While they are in the game entirely for the love of it, they cannot be blamed for having some desire to have a reasonable chance of success in the championship playoffs, and they would not have that chance in Intermediate A.—Toronto Globe.

HUDSON PLANT CLOSES

DETROIT.—The Hudson Motor Car Company announced a shutdown, effective at 1 p.m. to-day, because of inability to obtain parts, particularly those manufactured by the Motor Products Company, where a strike is in progress.

TUMBLING THE PINS

GIMBLETT'S TEAM tumbled 3361 pins in the play-off for the championship of the Monday Night League at the K. of C. Alleys last night to take first place, after a three cornered battle. Chief Gimblett and Walt Crary turned the tide in favor of the winners when they came through with triple counts of 749 and 739 respectively. Joe Anthony's crew with next to the leaders with a pinnage total of 3297 while Freeman's Five lost out rolling a total of 3023. Nels Routley substituted for Ranger in the second and third games for the Gimblett outfit.

HAWKS UNWORRIED OVER WINGS' WIN

Detroiters Cannot Win Three Straight in Their Opinion.

CHICAGO, April 10 (C.P.).—The 17,700 who can find room in Chicago's stadium or sit will be on hand to-night to see the Black Hawks, at least momentarily halted on their way, win the Stanley Cup for the first time. The Hawks themselves were confident they will end the series with Detroit Red Wings without having to return to Detroit for a fifth game.

Victors in the first two games of the series on Red Wing ice last week, the Hawks came home to climax the drive before their own followers. But the Red Wings batted out a 5-2 victory Sunday night, and if they can get another triumph to-night, hockey's classic series will be finished in Detroit.

Supposedly a defensive powerhouse, the Hawks have outshot and outskated the lighter Wings in this series. They have held an edge over the National League champions in almost every one of the nine periods played. That is the chief reason Chicago fans figure on a victory to-night for Tommy Gorman's crew.

Jack Adams, boss of the Red Wings, could see another Detroit victory.

"We are going as we did against Toronto and against Chicago when we beat them four out of six during the season," Adams said, "and we should get those three straight wins." One of the few teams in the N.H.L. with a reputation for playing as well away from home as before the home crowds, the Wings are unlikely to be worried by the cheering Black Hawk supporters to-night.

Adams had two casualties on his roster—Cooney Weiland and Goalie Wilf Cude. Both received broken noses in action, but both will be playing.

MARITIMERS FAVORITES TO TAKE HONORS

Hawks Score 4-1 Win in Ragged Game Before Small Crowd at Toronto.

MEET AGAIN WEDNESDAY.

(By Elmer Dulmage, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

TORONTO, April 10 (CP)—Not that many hereabouts are in the least interested, but Moncton Hawks were back in the running for the North American amateur hockey championship to-day and seemed altogether likely to finish on top in the inaugural series sponsored by the governing bodies of the Simon-pure sport in Canada and the United States.

The Hawks, two-time Allan Cup champions and conquerors of the best Senior teams in Canada, scored a 4-1 victory here last night over Detroit White Stars, American title holders, to even the series at one game each. A deciding game is to be played Wednesday night.

Under 1,000 See Game

Somewhat less than 1,000 bought admisison tickets to the second contest, virtually guaranteeing the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association a deficit on the series. It seemed unlikely there would be a larger attendance Wednesday. Toronto has found nothing very exciting about the way the Hawks play hockey.

Far too fast and finished for the White Stars, the Canadian champions ran up a two-goal lead in the first period and quickly dissipated any idea that the Border team would win the series in two straight games. The Stars won the Saturday night opener 2-1 in overtime.

The White Stars made this early scoring as easy as possible for the Hawks by having two players in the penalty box each time. Bill Miller marched in cloes to shoot both goals from close range and unasssted. The massive Detroit goaler, 240-pound Pete McMahon, had no chance to stop either drive.

Goalie Again Stars

From start to finish McMahon was the single scintillating figure in the game, as he was Saturday night. The Hawks might have scored a dozen on him and his reputation would easily have been maintained. He made many remarkable stops on hard shots from a few feet away and in the third period was knocked out twice, once by a flying stick.

The White Stars stayed out of the penalty box in the last two periods, but it was late in the last stanza before they were able to break through for a counter. It was far too late by then as the Hawks were coasting on the strength of a four-goal advantage.

James Scores Third

Dud James scored the third goal early in the third session while the Hawks were short-handed. Sammy McManus was resting in the penalty box and the White Stars were all inside the Moncton blue line on a power play when James poked the puck clear. He scuttled down the ice with only McMahon to beat and feinted the netman from his cage before firing.

McManus and Aubrey Webster worked a neat passing play for the fourth goal, McManus lifting the rebound of Webster's shot over the flattened figure of Big Pete. Robbie Robson scored the only Detroit goal six minutes later on a pass from Aubrey Bingham. It came during a gang attack.

Race Horse Owner Pleads Not Guilty

MIAMI, Fla., April 10.—(A.P.) — Harry R. Cooper, Canadian race horse owner and trainer, indicted March 16 by a Federal grand jury for illegal possession of narcotics, pleaded not guilty when arraigned yesterday. His trial was set for April 23.

Following Cooper's arrest by State and Federal agents, the Florida Racing Commission permanently barred him from all State tracks for alleged stimulation of horses at Tropical Park here.

Authorities reported more than 100 grains of narcotics, hypodermic needles and alleged formulas for doping horses were found in Cooper's home.

Since his arrest, Cooper has been at liberty on bonds covering State and Federal narcotic charges and one required by immigration officials, who are investigating his entry into the United States from Canada.

MONTREAL, April 10.—(C.P.).—Albert Leduc, burley "battleship" defenceman of the National Hockey League, is again the property of Montreal Canadiens. Announcement was made yesterday by Leo Dandurand that the club had taken up its option to repurchase him from Ottawa Senators.

Albert was sold to Senators on option last fall and late in the season he was loaned to the New York Rangers, his contract automatically reverting to Ottawa at the close of the season.

CUPS PRESENTED AT ANNUAL BANQUET OF LAKEFIELD CLUB

President's Address Speaks of Successful Season Enjoyed by Village Curlers.

OFFICERS ELECTED

LAKEFIELD, April 10 (Examiner Correspondence).—The annual curlers banquet was the premier event of the week to the Knight of the "Stane and Besom, and was held in the Lakefield Inn on Thursday evening, with an attendance of 34. The menu was particularly delectable, and the service excellent. Rev. W. J. Creighton said grace.

The president, W. G. Morrison, presided, and in his address referred to the successful season just ended, the friendly fraternal spirit shown had never been better and the executive had co-operated splendidly. The ladies' club had given a new interest in the mixed rinks, which had held several mixed tournaments and a successful bonspiel for the Dawson Cup. The junior rinks had been promising and had given a good account of themselves in their games in other places. With and ladies and the juniors there had been more broadening out, and next year it is hoped to have a junior club.

The executive for the ensuing year was elected as follows: E. W. Bailey, D. H. Charlton, J. R. Hill, R. D. Murduff, and E. A. Tanner.

The report of the secretary-treasurer, A. B. Burrows, showed a healthily financial condition and one to be proud of.

Mr. D. H. Charlton suggested that a rink be entered in the Tankard games next year, and the suggestion was adopted as being a forward step. This suggestion brought many reminiscences of old days, with the Tankard games in which J. W. Ridpath and Rev. W. J. Creighton played prominent parts as both are old curlers who have never ceased to take an interest in the game, and interest with them means activity.

E. H. Northey gave a humorous reading concerning the Irish and Jewish members of the curling fraternity.

A. B. Burrows was re-elected to the office of secretary-treasurer.

Cups Presented

The next item was a most important one, viz., the presentation of the cups and the accompanying speeches which were given by all the recipients at some length.

The Fitzgerald Cup for the local competition was presented by J. R. Hill to Rev. W. T. Wingle, Roy Bullock, Gordon Scriver and J. W. Ridpath, skip. The prizes to the individuals in this and the other competitions were small individual cups.

Rev. W. J. Creighton presented the Casement Cup (Skips' Cup) to Roy Bullock, J. R. Hull, R. Hurduff, E. H. Northey, skip.

E. A. Tanner presented the Tanner (Vice Skips') Cup to E. Morin, T. W. Chaplin, G. H. Spence, J. F. Harvey.

The Dawson Cup has become a trophy for mixed competition, and was presented to the ladies' club.

A vote of thanks to Rink Manager Charlton for the splendid ice conditions was given, on motion of D. H. Webster and C. S. Tanner and endorsed by all present.

A discussion followe d re the improvement of the ice by a trench of coal ashes which might prevent heaving.

On motion of A. B. Burrows and J. W. Ridpath a letter of encouragement and congratulation will be sent to the ladies' club.

E. W. Bailey suggested that the District Cup rinks be chosen by a play-off in which losers would be eliminated.

Rev. W. J. Creighton, M.A., was elected chaplain of the club, and invited the members to attend church service on April 29th, meeting at the Town Hall at 6.30 p.m. This was decided upon and the meeting adjourned at 9.45 p.m.

Officers Elected

Immediately afterwards, the executive met and elected officers for the year:

President—E. W. Bailey.
Vice-President—E. A. Tanner.
Auditors—V. Lancaster, F. L. Erskine.

A lengthy discussion took place regarding the base for the ice surface, and finally E. W. Bailey and D. H. Charlton were appointed a committee to make the suggested experiment.

A. B. Burrows suggested that the ladies' club be asked to join the men's club at the church parade.

The meeting adjourned with a successful season behind and splendid prospects ahead.

CHICAGO CUBS MOST LIKELY TO OUST GIANTS FROM LEAD

Chuck Klein on Bruins' Roster Will Add Plenty of Offensive Strength.

SECOND CHOICES.

(By Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, April 10 (AP) — Major league baseball experts, who agreed the Giants would finish no higher than sixth in last year's National League race, have done the handsome thing this Spring by picking them to repeat their triumph.

It remains to be seen just how Bill Terry's club will react to this startling vote of confidence. Their performamnces so far along the exhibition route have not been altogether becoming to world champions, but it will be time eough to use the yardstick on the Giants when the games begin to count in the standing of the clubs.

Meanwhile the ballots in the eight annual Associated Press pennant poll testify that the Chicago Cubs are the team most likely to oust the Giants from the top in another of those dramatic five-horse races for which John Arnold Heydler's circuit is famous.

Of the 97 writers and editors contributing to the poll's conseusus, 40 picked the Giants to repeat, while 34 name the Cubs to finish on top.

Bucs Rank Third

The St. Louis Cardinals have 13 backers for their hopes of taking first money, and the Pittsburgh Pirates only nine, but in the consensus the Bucs land third place. The solitary remaining vote for first place goes to Boston's battling Braves, who face an uphill job unless they can replace Rabbit Maranville at second base successfully.

The vote for the Cubs proved surprisingly heavy and was not entirely confined to the Western wing of the Baseball Writers' Association of America. The preference for the Bruins over the Pirates was based on the majority belief of the experts that Chuck Klein, National League batting king, will add much more strength to Chicago's line up than the acquisition of Pitcher Red Lucas will mean to Pittsburgh.

The Braves finished fourth, a notch ahead of the Cardinals last year, but the consensus favors a reversal of this order for 1934.

Otherwise the experts see no change in prospect. The Brooklyn Dodgers, Philadelphia Phillies and Cincinnati Reds are consigned to finish the way they did last year—sixth, seventh and eighth. The vote among these three is unusually close, however, indicating a new deal in the second division would not be a shock to the watchers in the press box.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Hockey — Bowling — Boxing Basketball — Curling, Etc.

By C. J. P.

And now that the winter seems to be definitely over, we're kind of getting fed up on these birds that go around chattering it was the coldest winter since '92 or '96 or something. We know it was cold as we had to travel around to a flock of hockey games when the mercury dived so hard it pulled thermometers right off the walls! We've gone home nights and had to hold a lighted match against our toes before we could get 'em uncurled. Yeah, we found it a cool winter, but now that it's gone the way of all frigid spells, let's forget it. If the oldtimers insist upon yipping about the winer of '96 or '32—or whatever the deuce that winter was—why we can go back and dig up one ourself.

• • • • • • •

This was before our time, in fact 'twas something over a hundred years back. It seems that one chilly morning a guy with a French name, Napoleon Bonaparte, was attending some sort of convention in Moscow, a burg in Russia. Well, to make a sad story short, Nap and his buddies jumped their hotel bill and scarmmed out when the desk clerk had his back turned. They took all the alleys and back streets till they reached the highway back toward Paris. Well, sir, it was quite cool and it snowed pretty steadily, and would you believe it, the boys began skidding into the ditches and falling right and left? Some of the chaps got quite peeved at Nap and threatened to go on strike, but he climbed a fence and made 'em election promises, saying: "Remember the Maine; and don't forget the fair femmes in Paree; a jug of wine in every dinner pail; stay here and you'll have to drink vodka!"

• • • • • • •

Now those gallants had fought for Napoleon—oh, yes, we forgot to say he had been a pretty fair soldier. He, in fact, had led his men over the Alps, while the Alpiners were away at a yodeling practice, and marched right in and captured Mussolini's land, then known as Italy. In fact, that is practically the only war that the Americans admit they had nothing to do with winning. Well, these soldiers of the Scrappy Atom figured he was the nuts, so they kept straggling along as best they could, but most of 'em hadn't bought a thermos bottle of coffee and the temperature was maybe down around thirty below. And, although it was not open season for quail, yet they qualled under the biting wind, and keep falling, like gals fall for Rudy Vallee.

• • • • • • •

Well, the point is that Mr. Bonaparte got back okay, but only a few of his frosbitten friends reached Paris with him. They had a tough time explaining it to their wives, but said they stopped off to see a hockey game between the Vladivostok Pretzel-Benders and the Vulgar Boatmen. And they told the other guys' wives that the rest of the gang stayed over for the whole series, which must have been something like an N.H.L. playdown series. Well, by the time spring had come, the wives had pretty well forgotten their hubbies anyway, so there wasn't much harm done, but the record of that very chilly winter was preserved in a letter Napoleon sent over to the guy in Toronto who had predicted a mild winter, the letter having a tabulated account of all the sub-zero temperatures that winter, a newspaper account of Napoleon's trek from Moscow and these words in Nap's handwriting: "A mild winter? Oh, yeah?"

• • • • • • •

The maul and mayhem men, who will be here for the pro grapple card at the Brock this Friday, are hand-picked—so to speak. Tommy McClure the Toronto promoter is trying to build up certain towns for next Fall and Winter to stage mat shows and he'd like to get a good spot in the east like Peterborough. Hence, he will dish up a set of matches here this Friday in his first local show that would knock 'em off their stools by the thousands in Toronto. The one grappler we want to get a look at this bird Paul Orth whom Andy Lytle and other Toronto sportswriters go into a rave over, claiming he is the biggest mat villain since the late Stanley Stasiak—and that's saying a hippopotamus' mouthful! They say you just can't help hating him, and we've seen some real hate-producers. In fact, we think we're hate-proof in the rasslin' racket, but we're willing to be shown. The others on the card are also prominent names in the big towns.

• • • • • • •

All is decidedly not quiet on the local senior baseball front. There are murmurings, and it's a cinch to see the moguls here are nearly two miles from being satisfied with the C.O.B.L., plus an Oshawa double-header, this year. And the opinion of those we've talked with is that Belleville done 'em wrong. Since some of the Belleville officers feel the same way, it's practically unanimous. "Certainly we'll have to do something about it and right away," one officer here told us this a.m. "We'll have to call a meeting and find out what's what and then the league can do the same." They want to dish up good senior baseball here for the fans this year, and they do not want to be holding the well known burlap. So we should be hearing something along the baseball grapevine some of these fine days.

• • • • • • •

First City Baseball League meeting of the year has been called by Scretary Mike O'Brien, and it will be held tomorrow (Wednesday) evening at eight bells in Duffus'. Everyone thinking of entering a team, the officers, and those just interested in kids' sports, are asked to be on deck for this session. We'd like to see the service clubs represented also. Plans will be made for the season and various matters discussed. The loop will start off even financially, not owing a cent.

• • • • • • •

And another sports' S.O.S. is the call of the officers of the Girls' Softball League to a meeting Wednesday at seven in Duffus'. It will be an executive meeting—not an open one—to make arrangements for the general re-organization session which will be held one week later. There is always considerable interest in the lasses' loop—who says the age of chivalry is dead? No, we said chivalry, not chiselry—and no trouble is experienced in getting a good turnout. But, again we point out that this first meeting is for officers and executive members only, and the public is asked to wait till the general gabfest next week. From the rumors being batted around, it looks like the damsels are in for another grand season in softball.

• • • • • • •

Grab-bag: There were nearly as many ushers in the Maple Leaf Gardens last night as customers for that Moncton win over Detroit White Stars . . . . A bigger crowd will see the Cities Service outfit play St. Mike's Juniors . . . . The wise money isn't around for the Chicago-Detroit series; but we've never held anything but dumb dough . . . . A very successful spread last e'en marked the windup of a successful Church Hockey League season, the boys eating heartily and getting their trophies at Knox United Church . . . . CHURCH LEAGUE HAS GOOD YEAR

Trophies Presented at Fifteenth Annual Banquet of Hockey Loop.

HISTORY OF CIRCUIT.

The fifteenth annual banquet of the Church Hockey League was held last evening at Knox United Church with fifty-three persons present. Most of the players of the four winning teams, their managers, the league officials and other interested parties, attended. The Women's Association of Knox Chuch prepared a fine supper and served it.

Tom Allen led at the piano in a sing-song during the meal. President Cres Sproat was chairman and gave a brief outline of the year's activities, showing a total of twenty-one teams entered in the league this year. Rev. Wm. McDonald welcomed the players to Knox Church, and stressed the value of this league to the community. His remarks were heartily seconded by Alex Gillier, Knox Sunday School superintendent.

Howard Hall gave an interesting history of the league. He and Doug. Loomis, popular physical instructor of the Y.M.C.A., organized it in 1919. There were eight teams that season and the executive included President D. Loomis, Secretary H. Hall, Mr. Maybee of Park Street, and Mr. Long of All Saints. The next season there were fifteen teams in, All Saints winning all three sections. The league has always been a success due to the efforts of these founders and such workers a Harold Rehill, Don Charlton, Fred Ward and Cres Sproat.

The presentation of the trophies last night was made by the executive: Harold Rehill, vice-president, presenting the intermediate shield to Horace Fisher of All Saints; Don Charlton, assistant secretary, handing the junior trophy to Del Rusaw of All Saints; Cres Sproat giving Keith Hughes of Knox the juvenile trophy; and Carlyle Ferguson, secretary, presenting the midget shield to Harold Pammett of Murray Street.

The team captains made suitable replies. The winning players were applauded, as were the ladies of Knox who put on the banquet. The league officers also were cheered. Rev. Mr. McDonald led the group with the Lord's Prayer at the conclusion.

VICTOR ALLAN IS JUNIOR CHAMPION

Wins Swimming Honors at Boys' Hobby Show—Lloyd Gross is Athletic Champ.

Victor Allen was declared junior swimming champion and Lloyd Gross the junior athletic champion of the Peterborough Boys Hobby Show as the results of the swimming and athletic meets at the Y. M.C.A. last Friday and Saturday were revealed by the Show executive to-day. Bill Staunton and Ward Wright were runners-up for the honours.

The swimmers were divided into four age classes, 17 to 19 years, 16 and under, 12 to 13 years and 10 to 11 years. Free style swimming, the breast stroke, underwater swimming and diving were required of the two older classes while free style swimming, the breast stroke and competition in a pigeons race was required of the younger classes.

Competitors in the athletic department were divided into five weight classes. Events in which they were tested were the short distance potato race, long distance potato race, standing broad jump, running high jump and shot put.

The swimming and athletic results follow:

Swimming.

Boys, 17 to 19 years—1, Victor Allen, 13 points; 2, George Campbell, 8 points; 3, D Loscher, 7 points; 4, Ed. Ascott, 3 points.

Manchukuo Athletes Not Wanted At Games

SHANGHAI, April 10 (AP)—Manchoukuo, Japanese-protected Empire, carved from China's northeast Provinces, which brought war clouds hovering over the Far East, to-day extended its disturbing influence to amateur sports and threatened to disrupt the tenth Far East Olympics at Manila, May 12-9.

With the Nationalist Government of Chiang Kai-Shek supporting their stand Chinese delegates to a conference here to discuss the games threatened to withdraw if Japan insisted on inclusion of athletes from Manchoukuo.

"To China, so-called Manchoukuo does not exist," they said. "If so-called Manchoukuo athletes go to Manila, China will not participate."

Japanese representatives are no less insistent that Manchoukuo join China and the Philippines in the games, and there the matter at the moment rests deadlocked.

Chang Chiung, Chief of the Social Education Department of the Ministry of Education of the Chinese National Government, and spokesman for the delegates to the conference, said:

"The National Government supports the Chinese Athletic Federation in declining to participate at Manila if so-called Manchoukuo attends."

TOMMY GORMAN REACHES TOP OF SPORTS CAREER

Famous Ottawa Showman Never Played Real Game of Hockey in Life.

FORMER SPORTS WRITER.

TOMMY GORMAN

TORONTO, April 10.—If anyone should ask for Tommy Gorman's hockey playing record, it could not be found. The manager and coach of the Chicago professional hockey machine probably never figured in a real game of the winter sport in his life—yet he is sitting on top of the hockey world without the Black Hawks.

Thomas Patrick Gorman has been going places in amateur and professional sport for 30 years. Born in Ottawa, he started out in life as a newspaperman and a lacrosse player. He helped to make the famous Capitals what they were for many years by his ability as a home player. After the conclusion of a match in which he had starred, Gorman would sit down and write a two-column story about the struggle and finish off with something like "Gorman also played."

In his sport activities Gorman has travelled to the Pacific Coast many times; as far south as Mexico on various occasions and across to the British Isles. His first big tour was in 1908 when he was chosen a member of the Canadian all-star lacrosse team which did much to start the gutted-stick game in Great Britain. That team was managed by William Foran, now secretary of the Civil Service Commission, Ottawa, and was coached by the late Jimmie Murphy of Toronto and Cornwall. Next, in 1909, he was playing with Newsy Lalonde and others for Regina against New Westminster for the Minto Cup—but the Salmon Bellies won after they had loosened some of his teeth and knocked him out. Gorman's tall, lithe figure was familiar to the crowds of all lacrosse centres of the Dominion.

Coached Ottawa Team

Although he did not play much hockey, Gorman grew up with the winter sport and eventually was pilot of the Ottawa Senators from 1919 to 1924 and within the period of five years the club won the Stanley Cup three times — from Seattle in the spring of 1920; from Vancouver in 1921 and from the Edmonton Eskimos in 1923.

Gormon fell out with pro. hockey interests in the capital when the club graduated to the handsome Auditorium and 1924 found Tommy in New York City where he gathered the "Amazing Amerks" erstwhile Hamilton, Ontario, players and others. Gorman remained with the Amerks and their gaudy uniforms until 1928, after having given Gotham the proper appetite for the "fastest sport on earth." Gorman made as offer to buy his first love, the Ottawa Senators; the deal was announced and then fell through with the result that Tommy was at loose ends insofar as hockey was concerned until he received a wire one season ago from Major F. McLaughlin of Chicago to take hold of the Hawks. Gorman, at the moment, was on the train for Vancouver but immediately changed his destination. The Hawks finished badly last year but look at them now.

Horse Racing and Baseball

The Ottawa sportsman has had various other interests. For 14 years he has been secretary of the Connaught Park Jockey club and during the winter of 1930-31-32 he was assistant general manager of the Jockey Club in Augua Caliente.

For some years professional baseball engaged the attention of the ports maestro and he had much to do with the Ottawa baseball team which captured the Canalian Baseball league championship with some regularity despite the efforts of Hamilton, Brantford, Toronto, Montreal and other cities. It was Gorman who provided the "build-up" for Urban Shocker, once-famous pitcher, who eventually proceeded from Ottawa to the major leaguers. Tommy was one of those behind most ventures in Ottawa and he helped materially in putting the capital on the sport map. Between Gorman and the late George Kenney of Montreal, there was much stirring of the sport pot around eastern Ontario and Quebec for years.

Tommy came by his showmanship honestly. He is a member of a family which gained much renown in the theatrical world and on the turf. T. P. Gorman early realized that it pays to please the public which pays the shot and his prolific writing on sport subjects helped the cause along mightily. Gorman made the fans like his teams even in defeat but the enthusiasm which was engendered more often carried the home-brews on to victory. Incidentally, Tommy had a brother, the late Joe Gorman, who was a sporting editor in Victoria, B.C., for many years prior to the war.

It may be a bit ironic but it is self evident that Tommy Gorman's star is still in the ascendent at a time when the Ottawa Senators are reported to be fading out, probably for the want of a Gorman.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Alexander P. Buchanan,
Box 130, Hastings, Ont.

The handwriting as delineated on your sample for analysis reveals many interesting characteristics. It tells of a reticent nature which is inclined to be secretive also. This trait is due in part to your sensitiveness. You work well and diligently, but do not wish to be constantly under supervision. Your brain is active and should be of the inventive type. Figures should interest you, but as you are so keen and observing, chemistry might also have an appeal for you. However, neither line is essential for one of your perceptions, but I feel sure that success will eventually be your's through your own efforts, and not through 'pull'. Your birthsign is Gemini the Twins, ruled by Mercury. Your number is 6. Your best months are April and August and Friday is your lucky day.

Miss Amy Burrill,
Norwood, Ont.

Your handwriting shows you to be a person with exceptional taste. It also depicts a fine, even temperament and graceful bearing. You are kind, generous and loving. You have a great deal of determination and make up your mind very quickly. You are rather fond of social life, and expressive in your affections. You have a noteworthy capacity for dealing with the public. You possess magnetism and dignity. You are cheerful and optimistic, fond of a good time, and quite ambitious. Sometimes you let your imagination carry you away, but dreams of this calibre are often the plans of the future. Routine bores you. You must have change in order to create that inspired impression which is characteristic of you. Colors appeal to you immenself, and you should see to it that you wear only the correct shade in harmony with your mood.

Marian White,
Norwood, Ont.

Your handwriting illustrates reserve coupled with a pleasing friendliness. You are one of those people who is ever ready to prevent strife and quite often you shoulder the blame for another's wrong doing. You are conservative by nature, and secretive but to one of your gentle type this is necessary, for others do not get an insight into what is going on in that good natured heart that is your's. When your own feelings are hurt, they remain hurt deep down within you, and you wonder why people find it necessary to hurt you so. This is because of your extreme sensitiveness. Your 't' bar crossing shows a tendency to let your impressive imagination outweigh your practical inclinations. You are loyal in friendship but often wish you could allow yourself to show your affection for your loved ones. You were born under the sign of Leo, the Lion, ruled by the Sun. January and October are your best months and Sundays your best day.

Horati Black,
112 Water St., Peterborough.

Your handwriting represents a conservative nature. The closely clipped letters depict a reserve or fear of self expression. The capita. letters indicate a musical interest The long flying 't' bars reflect a tendency to argue, yet they also represent driving force and energy. You can be secretive and reticent when you feel so inclined. You can also concentrate very easily when you wish to, but you do not often desire to be bothered with deep mental concentration. You are cautious, not too critical or too methodical, but appear to lack initiative, though you are intuitive and rather original in your ideas. You appear to be one who enjoys the companionship of your own chosen friends with a deep sincerity, but you do not care to put the social side of life foremost in your thoughts. You are born under the sign of Scorpio, the Scorpion, ruled by Mars. January and July are your best months. Tuesday is your lucky day.

Fred Stanley,
479 Park St., Peterborough.

Your handwriting characterizes you as one with the ability to sell, or to promote sales. You have absolute confidence in yourself. Detail or routine would upset you mentally because your mind is open to bigger things, so that you cannot be bothered with petty details. You are sometimes difficult to understand, and no doubt often speak in an undertone much to the exasperation of those who are trying to hear what you have to say. You have imagination and will power. There is a tendency to argue if you feel that your point of view is correct. You are always eager for change, not being satisfied to remain in a 'rut', as it were, for long at a time This is a progressive spirit, and I venture to suggest that it will be the means of a definite climb up the ladder which leads to success.

Miss Rita Quinlan,
R.R. No. 3, Marmora, Ont.

The handwriting as delineated on your sample for analysis reveals a secretive nature, rather reserved and conscientious. You should be able to pay much attention to routine and detail, in office work if desired. Your capitals reflect an artistic tendency which could bring you much pleasure if developed even as a hobby. You are well poised and neat, modest in your manner of dress and choice in your friendship. You have excellent taste and discernments. You are sensitive under pressure, loyal to those whom you love, generous when you feel it necessary to be so, but thrifty and cautious because you know it is wise to be so.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, April 11

The lunar transits for this day mark a very auspicious epoch, with things moving along happily and harmoniously in accustomed grooves, but with a gratifying and easy pressure of friendly circumstances. Employment will be pleasant, the forces will be keyed to move in eager channels; industry and effort will bring recognition and solid reward, with elders possibly contributing to such comfort as well as assisting in a stabilizing of the fortunes and increased possessions. It would be well to sign all papers and writings with discretion, however.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of steady progress, industry, patience and diligence, getting its due return in solid possessions with merit and fidelity winning the recognition of elderly persons or institutions. Employment is favorably aspected for preferment or some slight advancement. The energies and faculties are keyed to constructive achievements and practical projects.

A child born on this day should be talented, practical, keen and alert as well as resourceful and ambitious.

The Croupy Cough Worries the Mother

Mothers should never neglect the first sign of a cold or cough where their children are concerned, for if they do some serious trouble of the bronchial tubes may develop.

Half the battle in doctoring children is to give them something they will like; something they will take without any fuss, and this the mother will find in Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. It acts promptly by soothing the air passages, loosening the phlegm, strengthening the bronchial tubes and fortifying them against serious chest troubles.

U.S. TOURISTS' EXPENDITURES ABROAD DROP BY $158,000,000

Outlay North of Border Less by 50 Per Cent.—Canadians Spend in States $35,000,000.

MORE VISIT U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 10 (CP) — United States tourists were shown in final estimates made public today by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce of the Department of Commerce to have cut their expenditures abroad sharply last year. The figures placed the 1933 expenditure at $298,000,000 which compared with $446,000,000 in 1932 and the $821,000,000 peak reached in 1929.

A drop of 45 percent the report says, in the 1933 funds received from American tourists by Canada brought the proportion of total outlays in the country somewhat below the 5-year average of 37 percent of the world totals expended during 1928-1932. Expenditures by United States motorists north of the border fell 50 percent, the largest decline shown in 1933 for any single group of United States tourists.

Canadians Spend 35 Million

Estimated expenditures of $35,000,000 by Canadian tourists in the United States during 1933 showed no change from those of the previous year. While average per capita outlays declined, the number of visitors to United States side of the border increased. This reversal of the trend of recent years was due, it is believed, to the Century of Progress Exposition.

The relatively high expenditures by Canadians in the United States, coincident with a sharp reduction in American outlays in Canada, reduced the latter's net receipts to $66,000,000, a drop of 55 percent from the 1932 net balance and a decline of 67 percent from the record balance of $201,000,000 in Canada's favor in 1932.

WESTWOOD

The April meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's church, was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Hope, with a fair attendance. The president, Miss J. Davidson, took charge of the meeting.

A reading, "An Easter Thought," was given by Miss Davidson. The devotional reading on "Jesus in Jerusalem and Caperanium," was given by Miss Janet Brackenridge.

Following a short business session another chapter of the Study Book, "Living Issues in Canada," was taken up, the following taking part: Miss Davidson, Mrs. E. W. Sargent, Mrs. R. J. Douglas, Mrs. James Sargent and Mrs. S. Elmhirst.

The Cry of the Nerves

For rich, red blood

Nervous headache has often been described
As the cry of the starved nerves for more or better blood.
One-fifth of the blood in the human body
Is consumed by the brain,
In creating new nerve force.
Lacking this vital power,
Which runs the machinery of the body,
Digestion fails, nervousness and irritability develop,
And there comes headaches, neuritis and sciatic pains.
The depleted nerves are crying for red blood.
You can supply nutrition to the nerves
By using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food,
Because it goes directly to the formation
Of rich, red, nutritious blood.
Every time you use this restorative treatment
You put iron into the blood.

NAME COMMITTEES OF OFFICERS' MESS

Tribute Paid to Lieut.-Col. Winterbottom for Leadership of Rangers.

During the whole of his twenty years association with the Peterborough Rangers, Major J. E. R. Munro last night told his fellow officers he had never seen the unit in a healthier condition than it is at the present time.

Speaking at the annual meeting of the Officers' Mess, Major Munro's remarks were made following a brief conference at which Lieut.-Colonel G. G. Winterbottom, M.C., D.C.M., Officer Commanding outlined the program for the seasons training which gets under way this evening.

The speaker paid tribute to the able leadership which Lieut.-Col. Winterbottom was giving the unit stating, "I am very proud to belong to this unit to-day and happy to see the efficient and healthy state it is in."

Lieut.-Col. Winterbottom presided over the meeting which followed after dinner, and upon adoption of the nominating committees report, the following committees were appointed for the ensuing year:

Mess Committee: Capt. F. T. Hart, president; Capt. G. R. Clegg, vice-president, Lieut. R. Allin, secretary.

Regimental Committee: Major Bruce Mills, V.D., Capt. Gordon Monkman, M.C., Capt. G. R. Melton.

Sports Committee: Capt. R. J. Bolton, Capt. D. T. Crawford, Lieut. Gordon Dobbin.

Rifle Committee: Capt. G. R. Clegg, Lieut. J P. McGrath and one officer to be appointed from each company.

Band Committee: Capt. Gordon Monkman, M.C., Capt. G. R. Melton, Lieut. F. Brooks.

Capt. Bolton as the retiring president of the Mess presided over the dinner preceding the meeting, while Capt. Melton gave a brief address on the Russian campaign in the early days of the war.

Among the junior subalterns present at the gathering, and who commence to be actively engaged with the unit with the opening of the training season were: 2nd Lieuts. Harry Willis, Archie Hamilton, Neil Gemmell and Floyd Wagar.

COUNTY ROADS HELD UP WELL

Lack of Moisture Given as Cause of Surfaces Not Breaking.

FROST WENT IN DEEP.

Commenting on the comparatively good condition of the roads throughout the system under his control, County Engineer A. E. Chalmers, B. Sc., said generally speaking road surfaces are solid and unbroken despite the severe frost which went into the ground several feet. It was a pleasant reversal of the usual condition of the roads at this season of the year, he thought and he did not anticipate any serious trouble under present weather conditions, though he pointed out the effect that heavy rains might have.

Mr Chalmers providing an explanation for the unusually good condition of the roads following upon months of severe weather, was inclined to the theory that there was so little moisture in the ground when the winter set in that the frost is now being absorbed into the ground instead of coming out of the ground and disintegrating road surfaces.

Two Enter Contest In South Oxford

INGERSOLL, Ont, April 10.—(CP).—Nominations for the vacant Dominion riding of South Oxford yesterday say Hon. Donald Sutherland named as Conservative standard bearer and A. S. Rennie put forward in the Liberal interests.

The by-election which takes place on Monday, April 16th, was made necessary through the death of Thomas Cayley, former Liberal member. The voters of the rural constituency entered today upon their last week of political oratory.

Today's nomination meeting was addressed by the candidates and by Hon. J. L. Ralston, Liberal member for Yarmouth-Shelburne, and former Minister of National Defence.

AT THE CAPITOL.

"CATHERINE THE GREAT"

Period plays are the rage. We had Charles Laughton in "Henry the Eighth" and Greta Garbo as "Queen Christina." Now comes Elizabeth Bergner in "Catherine the Great," a purified version of the lady whom Marlene Dietrich is about to portray as "The Scarlet Empress." Then we will doubtless have a chance to see Claudette Colbert as "Cleopatra," Helen Hayes as "Mary, Queen of Scots," Norma Shearer as "Marie Antoinette" and Katherine Hepburn as "Queen Elizabeth," and possibly, as "Joan of Arc." These are all in the offing, as it were.

Just as "The Private Life of Henry Eighth" glorified Charles Laughton, so does "Catherine the Great" glorify Elizabeth Bergner in a new type—a slight, nervous girl who is not so very good-looking and has little glamorous allure. But her role sparkles with intelligence and appears to be animated with great sincerity, even though the play, as a whole, makes for posing in its actors.

Her effects are achieved in minor fashion. Her tone is low, as a rule, she does not go in for gorgeous costuming or for the heavy, majestic acting that might be considered appropriate for an empress of "all the Russias." An indomitable will power and extraordinary inner vitality animates her acting and her expressive little face and very dark eyes are capable of expressing many emotions.

The picture does not aim to picture Catherine as the dissolute, cruel, absolute monarch that she became in later life. Just as Alexander Korda drew a kindly veil over the peccadilloes of the eighth Henry, so he softens the character of "Little Catherine," and presents as inevitable the spectacle of her dethronement of her husband, the mad Peter, and her assumption of the reins of power. Instead of a thirst for pre-eminence, he makes a desire for love lead her to the empress' throne.

Douglas Fairbanks (it seems that English critics declare his accent is truly American, while it sounds quite Oxford-ish to Canadian ears), makes a good job of the role of the erratic Peter, although his acting is slightly anaemic throughout. Not so the role of Flora Robson, the lady who essays with such excellence the part of his aunt, the Empress Elizabeth.

The play abounds in settings of magnificence and charm. There are few pompous scenes and the story unrolls itself in simple dialogue. The faint German accent of Catherine adds piquancy to her words. Catherine the Great, it is said, reigned during most of her life without knowing one word of Russian, and it is a fact that she was a German princess, so this picture follows with fidelity the truth of history to a greater extent than the majority of screen tales.

—Jeanette.

Only One Change In A.B.C. Bowlers

PEORIA, Ill, April 10 (AP)—The curtain was rung down on the 34th annual American Bowling Congress tourney last night as the last of 3,601 doubles teams and 5,231 individual competitors failed in efforts to crash through to the top spots.

Only one change was recorded among the "Big 10" leaders on the final day's card. Scoring games of 234, 231, 223, Bill Ashworth, Paterson, N.J., soared to sixth place in the singles division with a 699 total.

Of the four main titles at stake in the 31-day tournament, the team honors were taken by the Detroit Storh's Bohemnian Beers with their 3,089 total.

George Rudolph and Johnny Ryan, Waukegan, Ill., were crowned doubles champions as a result of their 1,321 score. Erry Vidro, Grand Rapids, Mich., is the new singles titleholder because of a sensational 721. The all-events division was won by Wally Reppenhagen, of Detroit, Mich., who rolled 1,972 Saturday.

Diamond medals are awarded to the winners in each division. Top prize in the team event is $1,000; doubles, $500; singles, $300, and all-events, $133.

INTERESTING LECTURE ON CHINA IS TREAT FOR NORWOOD A.Y.P.A.

Rev. Mr. Barker Addresses Joint W.M.S., Y.W.A., Mission Band Session at St. Andrew's.

LUNCH IS SERVED.

NORWOOD, April 10 (Examiner Correspondence)—The A.Y.P.A. of the Christ Church, Norwood held a very interesting meeting in the A.Y.P.A. hall on Friday evening. Mrs. K. G. Thompson was in the chair.

The main item of the program was a lecture illustrated by lantern slides by Miss Greta Clark, who is home on furlough from Honan, China. Miss Clarke described the home life of the people of China, their school and how it is conducted.

The meeting closed by singing "God be with you till we meet again."

Miss Isabel McMillan was the hostess of the April meeting of the Y.W.A. on Thursday night. The program was in charge of Mrs. Clifford Fife, the scripture lesson was read by Miss Bessie McNaughton followed by the circle of prayer led by Miss Lottie Slater and Mrs. J. Rogers. Miss Evelyn Godin and Miss Jean Webb sang "Alone," the topic was taken by Miss Ruth Wildman. Mrs. Jack Rogers then sang "The Stranger of Galillee."

Several Easter readings were taken by Mrs. C. S. Fife, Mrs. L. Sedgwick. The meeting closed in the usual manner after which lunch was served.

The W.M.S., Y.W.A. and Mission Band of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held a joint thankoffering meeting in the Sunday School room.

Rev. A. C. Reeves acted as chairman. The scripture reading was read by Miss T. Robson. Mrs. N. Ackerman and Miss J. Clysdale led in the circle of prayer. The Rev. Mr. Barker gave a splendid address choosing as his subject "He set His face to go to Jerusalem." He stressed that to many people give gifts of money and therefore poorer do not come to church. The speaker stressed to give yourself first to the Lord and then to the cause. If Jesus lives we live also and when he lived he gave up his blood and flesh. If He lived to-day He would be still giving, but we are living for him now and therefore we must give.

Musical numbers were given by Mrs. N. C. Porter, Miss Florence Burgess and Miss Lois Rogers. The meeting closed with the benediction after which tea was served.

situated than themselves. The following is the program:

Recitation, Jean Garbutt; solo, Murietta Hull; recitation, Cameron Payne; recitation, Jimmie Webster, "A Boyless Town"; duet, Donald and Tommy Milburn.

Dialogue, "The Fairy Queen's Visit," Lois Yale, Isabel Millage, Betty Brown, Jean Orr, Jean Frankish; fairy queen, Doris Charlton; fairies, Jean Spence, Mary Northey, Lillian Calberry, Audrey Mulkins, Jean and Doris Baker; Japanese girl, Constance Orr; Hindu widow, Doris Hart; Indian maid, Muriel Miles.

Recitation, Max Gruetzner; solo, Jean Tanner, "You Go to Your Church"; hymn, "Hush-a-Bye, Little Girl," childrens choir; dialogue, "Boys' Rights," Ralph and Jack Millage, David Spence and Stanley Hart; piano duet, Mary Alice Renwick and Leona Murphy; song, "My Dolly, I Love You," by Muriel Miles, Audrey Patterson, June Burrows and Isabel Bullock; dialogue, Easter Temptations," Harry Spence, Gladys Allen, Earl Robinson; recitation, Johnny Carveth; recitation, Barbara Brown; pantomime, "Barber Shop," Donald Yale, Morley Crowe, George Tanner, Kenneth Carveth; piano duet, June Burrows and Mary Alice Renwick.

Reception Service.

Twenty-three were received into membership of the Lakefield United Church at the preparatory service held on Good Friday night and received into full communion on Easter day.

L.O.B.A. MEMBER RECEIVES HONOR

Presentation Made at Lakefield Gathering—Mission Band Entertainment.

LAKEFIELD, April 10.—(Examiner Correspondence).—About thirty gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mills, Queen street, on Thursday evening last for a social evening to honor Mrs. McMaster before her departure for Hagarsville. The evening was spent in cards and games and was delightfully social. Miss Zelma Darling read an address and Miss Edith Nicholls presented a beautiful china cake dish to Mrs. McMaster as a memento of Northern Light Lodge, I.O.B.A. Although not a member of the Lakefield lodge, Mrs. McMaster was always a welcome visitor, and her knowledge of the work of the order (she is a member of Vimy Ridge Lodge, Peterborough) was always at the service of the local ladies, and her departure leaves a gap in the ranks.

Mrs McMaster replied gracefully, assuring her friends of her continued interest in their welfare. Refreshments were served and a pleasant evening brought to a close.

Mission Band.

The annual entertainment of the Mission Band of the Lakefield United Church was held in the schoolroom of the church on Thursday evening with a fair attendance present, and Rev. W. R. Archer, B.A., in the chair. Mrs. D. H. Charlton, leader of the Band, and her assistant, Mrs. G. H. Spence, are to be congratulated on their success, and the program was very enjoyable and the numbers all well given, little women and little men doing their part in telling the gospel story to others less favorably

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT EASTER MEETING

Mrs. MacGregor Gives Interesting Talk at Warsaw W.M.S. Gathering.

WARSAW, April 10.—(Examiner Correspondence).—Considering the condition of some of the side lines, there was a large attendance at the Easter W.M.S. service in the United Church S.S. room on Thursday afternoon, April 5. Mrs. Wilkinson presided. The Scripture lesson she chose was several passages bearing on the resurrection.

Answer to the roll call was some verse, not necessarily from the Bible, bearing on the resurrection.

The special feature was a talk by Mrs. MacGregor, who spent many years of her life in Saskatchewan. Mrs. MacGregor told of conditions there now and earlier, of modes of life, the bravery of the people under trying circumstances, their churches and schools, and a good deal of the conditions she found in the homes as she went in and out among the people during the four years she did home mission work.

Jean Hawthorne, Jean Payne and Cressa Payne sang, "The Kingdom is Coming," very sweetly. Mrs. Stuart Clysdale gave a short reading.

Mrs. Robert Moore took the second chapter of the study book, "The Sharers of the Family Life." Mrs. Allan Payne was secretary. In honor of the guest speaker, Mrs. McGregor. Easter refreshments were served when all spent a very happy half hour and had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. MacGregor.

Dummer Council gave a dance on Thursday evening, April 5, which was attended by over one hundred and seventy-five people. The proceeds are towards buying a piano for use in the hall. Dr. Munro's orchestra supplied music. The Council provided the supper and the councillors served.

Dr. Munro announced that Douro young people would give their play, "The Irish Rose," in Warsaw Town Hall on Friday evening, April 13, part of the proceeds to go towards the upkeep of the street lighting. The play will be followed by a dance. If the roads become much worse the date may be changed.

The jolly gathering dispersed about 2.30 o'clock Friday morning.

Sidney Watley started sawing at his yardful of logs this week.

Miss Adams, a class-mate of Miss Dora Tedford's, is visiting Miss Tedford while home on her vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Sloan are spending a few days with Mr. Sloan's father.

A disappointingly few attended the Warsaw cheese factory patrons' meeting on Wednesday, April 4, afternoon. Bad roads and syrup making deterred many.

MILLBROOK

Miss Elsie Spence, of Toronto was home for Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Spence.

Miss Jean L. Burnham, who spent the Easter vacation with Mr. and Mrs. Russell Howe, Toronto, returned home at the week-end. Friends of Miss Margaret McConnell, who has been seriously ill in Toronto General Hospital, will be glad to learn that slow progress is being made toward recovery, though it is not yet considered that the danger point has been passed.

The April meeting of the Women's League of Grace Presbyterian Church, which was to have been held at the home of Mrs. F. J. Deyell, will be at the church instead owing to Mrs. Deyell's illness following the accident in which her ankle was fractured.

Miss Gertrude Richards, of Brighton spent the Easter vacation with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Richards. Miss Ruth Richards went to Brighton for the holidays.

Miss A. J. Hooey, of Toronto was the guest last week of Councillor J. R. and Mrs. Eakins.

Miss Isabelle Handley, whose school is at Deloro spent the Easter vacation at her old home in Millbrook.

Rev. Mr. Newman, who was preaching for a call in St. Andrew's Church on Sunday morning and evening, and Mrs. Newman were guests at the parsonage during their stay in town. Rev. W. W. and Mrs. Jones were at Chesterville for the day.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dawson will be sorry to learn that their elder daughter, Jean, is still far from having recovered from the illness with scarlet fever and the complications following from which she has suffered for some weeks past.

Mrs. Braithwaite, who has been with the Misses Finnimore for some time past, is now with Mr. and Mrs. J. Hunter, King street east, owing to the former's serious illness.

Mrs. P. Stinson, Miss Jean and Mr. Jack, were in Powassan last week visiting her mother, Mrs. Hawman.

Mr. and Mrs. George Patterson, Millbrook, announce the engagement of their second daughter, Edith Martha, to Luther Wellington Olan, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Olan, of Carmel, the wedding to take place early in April.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAINS.

F.O.B. shipping point: Wheat, 82c to 84c.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, April 10.—Eastern buying lifted wheat prices a little at times yesterday, but in the end the market fell back under its own weight.

Uncertainty regarding legislative developments at Washington acted as a counterbalance to dearth of moisture in domestic wheat areas both north-west and south-west and to suggestions the United States Government crop report might prove to be something of a stimulus.

Wheat closed irregular, ¼c off to ¼c up, compared with Saturday's finish; corn, ⅛c to ⅛c advanced; oats, unchanged to ¼c lower, and provisions unchanged to 7c down.

Corn and oats chiefly marked time with wheat. Rural offerings of corn were meagre.

Provisions reflected downturns of hog values.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, April 10.—A decline in butter prices at Toronto yesterday failed to arouse the interest of buyers. Trading was decidedly slow and receipts were said to be accumulating. Ontario creamery solids were lowered to 28c for No. 1, with seconds at 27½c. The drop in buying prices had its reflection in a ½c reduction to the trade, with creamery prints selling at 30½c for No. 1 and seconds 30c.

Offerings of cheese were light and new large paarffined was bought from 11¼c to 11½c, with 11¼c most frequently quoted. Retail prices had a fractional decline to 13c on new large, although old and medium grades, with Stiltons, held unchanged.

The egg market was steady, with brokers offering graded eggs, cases free, at 18c to 18½c for A large; A medium 16c to 16½c, and pullets and C grade 15c to 15½c. One car of Western eggs was offered in Toronto at 19c for A large, A medium 17c, and C grade 16c, although no sales were reported. A car of Ontario storage packs sold at 18½c for A large. A medium 16½c, and C grade 15½c. Wholesale prices were all unchanged from last week.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, April 10.—Butter prices on the Montreal Dairy and Produce Market was easier yesterday, while eggs were steady to a shade lower and cheese and potatoes remained unchanged. No. 1 grade butter in carlots or less was quoted at 29c a pound, with a few dealers giving a range of 28¾c to 29c. This compares with last week's close at 30c and the year's peak at 31c. Receipts totalled 874 boxes.

The egg market was 19c a dozen for A-large, 17c to 18c for A-medium, 16c to 17c for B and 15c to 16c for C graded shipments in carlots or less A total of 1,242 cases was offered for sale.

The cheese market continued at 11¼c a pound for current make Ontarios and 11½c to 12½c for summer white and colored cheese. Offerings amounted to 60 boxes.

Quebec potatoes sold for $1.05 to $1.10 per 80-pound bag and New Brunswick Mountains $1.10 to $1.15 for similar quantities. Prince Edward Island Mountains in 90-pound bags brought $1.35 to $1.40.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, April 10. — Wheat prices softened on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday, as late selling entered the market and pushed prices down, for a net loss of ⅝c to ¼c.

May wheat closed at 67c, July at 67⅞c, and October at 69½c. Export business was encountered on the scale down, but the amount of wheat involved was placed at 200,000 bushels.

Houses wih Southern connections were noted among the sellers, while some of the offerings were credited to the Government agency A little purchasing was done by seaboard and continental houses, but over the session volume of trade was very light.

Statistics for last week showed world shipments down to 8 119,000 bushels, compared with 9.152.000 bushels the week previous, and 9.877,000 bushels a year ago. North America's share of the international trade was well maintained at 3,328,000 bushels.

Chesterville Minister Heard In Millbrook

MILLBROOK, April 10 (Examiner Correspondence)—Preaching for a call in St. Andrew's United Church on Sunday, April 8, Rev. Royal E. Newman, of Chesterville, spoke to congregations representative of the circuit morning and evening, the pastor who is leaving this year, Rev. W. W. Jones, B.D., taking the services at Chesterville for the day.

The choir repeated two of its Easter anthems at morning worship, and Easter lilies donated by members of the congregation added fragrance and beauty to the church auditorium.

Speaking from the text found in John 8:9, "And Jesus was left alone and the woman standing in the midst," Rev. Mr. Newman presented vividly the transformation of soul which comes when His followers are alone with Jesus, "and for this woman, taken in the very act of sin, there was a new world and a new experience when she came into contact with a Divine Person, forgiveness and restoration literally lifting her life to a new plane of vision and victory."

"Never run away from Christ if you feel guilty; meet Him, and you have gained the greatest privilege this earth affords. We become dried-up characters apart from Him, but thirst and appetite are satisfied as we come in faith to one Who is the fountain and the bread of life."

"After fellowship with Christ we have a task and a message, and it is God's purpose to call forth our talents in His service. Apart from Jesus there isn't anything that is permanent and abiding, but we cannot be alone with Him and not come forth with changed lives, and with life's problems worked out."

TRANSIENT DECLARES CAR HIT OBJECT

Loan, Mortgage Interest Cut Is Coming

BE REALIZED NEAR FUTURE SAYS MANION

Premier Been Working Upon Proposal for Some Time, South Oxford Told.

BY-ELECTION DRIVE.

Claims Each Party Should Go Fifty-fifty for Blame Transcontinental Railway Building.

INGERSOLL, Ont., April 11 (C.P.). — Reduction in interst rates charged by loan and mortgage companies was promised the people of the Dominion to-day. Within the last few days, according to Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett has conferred with the representatives of the loan and mortgage companies to obtain such a reduction.

Dr. Manion in an address here last night said this reduction would shortly be realized. He addressed a meeting in the interests of Hon. Donald Sutherland, Conservative nominee in the by-election campaign for the Federal constituency of South Oxford. Balloting takes place on Monday.

Dr. Manion said that in the conference the Prime Minister held with the company representatives considerable progress had been made and the reduction in interest rates would shortly become an accomplished fact.

The meeting here was the only one of importance held in the riding, although Mr. Sutherland and Earle Rowe (Cons., Dufferin-Simcoe) invaded the rural sections and spoke at Brownsville.

To-day Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King entered the campaign with a speech at Norwich which was to be followed by another to-night at Tillsonburg. Hon. J. C. Elliott, former Minister of Public Works, was slated to accompany the Liberal Leader.

$2,000 000,000 From War

Dr. Manion told his supporters last night that $2,000,000,000 had been added to Canada's national debt because of the War. He said the annual interest charges were $136,000,000 and with other obligations the annual uncontrollable expenditures totalled more than $300,000,000.

He said his government's economies had resulted in a saving of $81 000,000. Dr. Manion referred to the railway problem by declaring each party should go "fifty-fifty" in the question of blame for the construction of trans-continental lines. He charged, however, that the Mackenzie King government in 1929 had expended $250,000,000 for useless hotels, steamships and bankrupt branch lines.

Dr. Manion said his government in taking over power had eliminated 96 officials of the C.N.R. who earned $3,000 annually.

Relief Recipient Gets His Order Tripled, Asks Delivery, or Pay For Carrying It Home

ST. PAUL, April 11.—(CP)—Relief groceries are all right, but William Mangan would like a little service.

The Welfare Board gave him groceries, but, he complained yesterday to the City Council, he wants them delivered.

"The government used to add 10 pounds to my grocery order," Mangan said, "but last time it added 30 pounds. I live a mile and a half from the store and I'm supposed to carry that load."

"Couldn't you make it in three trips?" asked Mayor Mahoney.

"If you will pay for the shoe leather."

Mangan will continue to carry his free groceries.

TORONTO YOUTH IS KIDNAPPED

Abductors Use Chloroform as He is Parking Car—Wakes Up in London.

AUTO STILL MISSING.

TORONTO, April 11.—(CP)—Kidnapped by unknown persons while parking his car in Toronto last night, F. V. Clarkson, 19-year-old University of Toronto student, was safe in London today, according to word reaching police here.

The youth told police he was attacked from behind while parking his car at Roxborough Road and Yonge street last night. He was overcome by chloroform and driven to London where he was left lying on a deserted roadway.

At two a.m., he said, he regained consciousness and found himself in a ditch. His clothing and belongings were intact and aside from the effects of the chloroform he did not suffer from the attack.

Clarkson was able to make his way to a neighboring sanitorium where he awakened residents and notified them of his plight.

The youth said his car was still missing, according to Provincial Police, investigating the case.

Police Not Informed

TORONTO, April 11.—(CP)—Toronto police today said they had received no information regarding the reported kidnapping of F. C. Clarksom, University of Toronto student who told London police he had been drugged while parking his car here last night and driven to London where he regained consciousness early today.

AUTO LICENSE LOOT RECOVERED

$2,025 of $2,570 Stolen in Kingston is Found Under Board in Attic Over Office.

NO ARRESTS MADE.

KINGSTON, Ont., April 11 (CP).—Recovery of $2,025 of a total sum of $2,570 stolen from the office of Ross Graham, local issuer of motor licenses on Monday, was announced by police this morning.

Up to noon, however, no charges had been laid.

The money was discovered by Provincial Constable G. V. Clubbe in the attic over the office, under a board in the floor. Provincial police and city police had been working on the case since the robbery on Monday.

In the meantime no action has been taken pending the return to the city of Crown Attorney T. J. Rigney, K.C., who had been in Toronto.

Staples Sworn In Victoria Registrar

LINDSAY, Ont., April 11 (C.P.).—W. W. Staples, representative for South Victoria, in the Ontario Legislature, this morning was sworn in by His Honor Judge J. A. McGibbon, county judge, as local registrar of the Supreme Court of Ontario, clerk of the Surrogate Court, and clerk of the County Court. The appointment was made last Thursday, and only a few officials were present at the ceremony this morning.

MISSING WOMAN FOUND DEAD.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 11 (C.P.).—Missing more than two months, Mrs. Ethel Wandersee, 52 Minneapolis, was found dead on Tuesday in a field near here.

Mrs. Wandersee was born in Ottawa She attended Normal School at Valley City, N.D., and taught for many years in North Dakota She was separated from her husband at the time of her death.

Lack Of Faith

CHICAGO, April 11.—(AP)—Roger (Broadway) Jenkins, husky Chicago Black Hawk defence star, had to pay a price today for lack of faith.

Two months ago Jenkins promised Goalie Chuck Gardiner that if the Hawks won the Stanley Cup this year, he would trundle Gardiner about the loop in a wheel-barrow.

"For your lack of faith," Gardiner said, "you will get a chance to wheel me and you'll do it at high noon the day after we cop that cup."

The ceremony was set for high noon today.

CRAZED BROKER SLAYS FAMILY

Money Worries Blamed for Shooting of Wife, Three Children, Mother-in-law.

TAKES OWN LIFE.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 11. (AP). Money worries were blamed to-day for a sixfold tragedy in which a crazed inurance broker killed his wife, his three children and mother-in-law and then took his own life.

The six, all found dead in bed with bullet holes in their heads, were: Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Freudenfeld Janet 14; Carol 11; Richard 8 and Mrs. Cora De Haven.

Police found a pistol beside Freudenfeld. They said he had shot his relatives as they lay asleep. He left a note asking that they be cremated and that a family friend, Fred Weil, administer the life insurance, which he said would cover all obligations.

At 4 a.m. Tuesday, a neighbor was awakened by what he believed to be a shot. He called police, but after examining the house from the outside, they did not enter. Later in the day when Neighbors saw no sign of activity about the place, they phoned police again and the bodies were found.

Weil said Freudenfeld recently suffered money losses.

13 Year Old Chicago Boy Admits Enticing Baby Away From Home.

Lads Make Discovery, Inform Parents—Tiny Victim Dying When Rescued.

CHICAGO, April 11. (AP)—Little Dorette Zietlow, two years old, died to-day of cold and starvation a short time after a 13-year-old boy confessed holding her captive for two days in a crumbling attic.

Police announced that George Rogalski admitted luring the child from the home of her grandmother to a deserted building. He stripped her naked, he was quoted as saying, but did not attack her. Doctors found no evidence of a criminal assault.

He induced the child to go with him last Sunday, his statement said, by promising her some candy. Then police quoted him as saying:

"I took her to the building, jumped through a window, helped her down, and carried her to the attic. The stairs had been wrecked and I had to climb up the wall, getting a foothold in the plaster.

"Felt Scared

"When I got her there, I took off her clothing and looked at her. I went away and returned later. Then I left and did not go back, because I went to school. Tuesday afternoon I went back, and I thought she had been moved, I was scared. No one was around so I wasn't so scared.

"I thought she needed food, but I was afraid to let my parents know. I looked out a hole in the building and saw some kids staring up. I chased them away. Then I left and went home."

Afterward two boys made their way through the wreckage of the building and found the child, naked, dirty and unconscious. They thought she was dead, and went home, so frightened they did not speak of it. Later they told others in the family, and last night police found the child. A flicker of an eyelid told them she was alive and they rushed her to a hospital.

Rain Greatly Needed Throughout District

While city residents were inclined to grumble at the deluge of rain this morning, farmers in the district were rubbing their hands in glee. Agriculturists agree that such a rain was just what the district needed, and more of a similar kind would be welcomed.

Walter Peters, weather recorder, said that just short of an inch of rain fell. To be exact, he said there was .93 inches of precipitation.

CAPACITY AUDIENCE.

(By Jeanette)

The music of soft, combined voices and of a piano, superbly played, made last evening's concert by the Madrigal Singers one of the most notable of the many fine musical entertainments presented by this choir of women's voices.

Excelling, as they do, in the production of exquisitely shaded tone, the Madrigal Singers, all in white gowns, sustained their reputation for beautiful harmonic effects, for faultless memory work that carried them triumphantly through a difficult and lengthy program without a printed note, and for a delicately attacked and sustained fine, sweet pianissimo that animated the majority of their selections.

They had an audience of nearly seven hundred people in the large auditorium of the Collegiate Institute, making last night's concert one of the most successful in a long list of successful musical affairs.

To Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park belongs the credit for this splendid aggregation of sweet singers and

A Cool Head

CLARION, Pa., April 11.—(C.P.). — Lightning struck a transformer outside the Junior High School last night in the midst of a student play, shattering a score of windows and bringing the 550 spectators to their feet.

Thirteen-year-old Mary Belle Baker kept on with her piano playing without missing a note. "That's all that saved a panic," said the school officials.

BOGUS CHEQUES IN KINGSTON.

KINGSTON. — Local police are on the lookout for a bogus cheque artist who duped local merchants for a total of $22. The man went to a local florists and had flowers sent "to my mother" at a local hospital, tendering a cheque in payment, and receiving the change in each case. The cheques were found to be no good and no one of the name given was at the hospital. The man is believed on his way East.

A Miracle?

TRIESTE, Italy, April 11 (AP)—If that "strange blue light" flashes again from the breast of Trieste's famous "electric woman," scientists are going to be there to see it.

Disappointed when they just missed a demonstration during the night, they decided to maintain a constant vigil at the bedside of this unusual patient.

Both doctors and nurses at the Firano Hospital aver they have seen the light from the breast of Anna Monara. It always appears, they say, when she is sleeping soundly.

The scientists—half a dozen of them—took up their watch after they had been summoned by the night nurse, only to disturb the patient in entering her room.

PROPOSE DIRECT HOG SHIPMENTS PACKING PLANTS

U. F. O. Buyer Would Also Eliminate Differentials to Raise Prices to Producer.

"PACKERS FIX PRICES."

Hearing Open to Any Witness, Stevens Emphasizes—Urges All Speak Out.

OTTAWA, April 11 (C.P.).—Elimination of hog differentials and direct shipments to packing plants would raise prices to Ontario producers, the mass buying committee of the House of Commons was advised to-day by Gordon Oswin of Toronto, a buyer for the United Farmers Livestock Department.

Hog prices on the Toronto market are fixed by the packers, insisted the U.F.O. official, with only two buyers on the market. In addition, the packers fixed the differentials and had succeeded, through direct buying, in eliminating small buyers from the open market.

In another day given over to the livestock industry, Oswald Freer, a commission man on the St. Boniface market, Winnipeg, urged revision of the livestock freight rates. He suggested a market-to-market system, patterned after the American plan with reductions on through rates to the East.

Regulation of truckers was urged by both witnesses, the Winnipeg buyer suggesting trucks be used as feeder units for the railways to eliminate direct selling to packers.

The committee adjourned until to-morrow, when other witnesses on the livestock industry will be heard.

The committee has investigators working on department stores, furniture industry, clothing industry, chain stores and the milling and baking industry, it was announced to-day by the chairman, Hon. H. H Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce. In addition, a certain amount of work has been done on the Canadian rubber footwear industry and the tobacco-growing industry, especially from the combine angle.

Rebuttal Evidence

Livestock packers and department stores will be represented before the committee to give rebuttal evidence. Department stores, it was

Four Held At Sarnia In Alien Smuggling

SARNIA, Ont., April 11 (CP) — United States immigration officials at Port Huron, Mich., it was learned to-day, are investigating the possibility of an international smuggling ring following the arrest of four persons at that border point.

Mrs. Anna Bagacius, 37, and Mrs. Kate Sawadiski, 31, who gave Detroit addresses, are held with Gurges Damuses, 39, who is said to have attempted to cross to the U.S. in a rowboat. Authorities said the three had been refused admittance at Marine City, Mich., a few miles down the river. The women were seized as they stepped from a Port Huron-Sarnia ferry.

George Hermon, who said he lived in Sarnia, is also being held for deportation after officers alleged he tried twice to enter the U.S. and was finally taken from a freight train at the tunnel.

Mrs. Bagocius, a naturalized U.S. citizen was released, but Mrs. Sawadski and Damusis were taken to Detroit for further investigation.

Moncton Transient Main Crown Witness in Manslaughter Case.

FENDER WAS BENT.

Belleville Man is Charged With Killing Farmer Near Welcome.

COBOURG, Ont., April 11. — (CP) — Henry McGynne, Moncton transient who gave the information which resulted in the arrest of John Pridmore, Belleville on a charge of manslaughter was the first witness called by the Crown at Assize Court this morning.

McGynne testified that he was hitch-hiking along the highway on Feb. 6th, the day William Beebe was killed and was picked up by John Pridmore.

Four miles west of Welcome, Pridmore's car hit some object which slewed the car to the south," stated McGynne.

"My side of the windshield was frosted and I couldn't see what it was that we hit. I said to Pridmore, 'My God what did you hit. You had better stop.' Pridmore stopped about 100 feet on and I got out to investigate but he called me back with a 'Come on, to hell with it.' I went back and we went on," related witness.

Straightened Fender

At the next stop, at a service station, Pridmore stopped and got McGynne to help him straighten out a dent in the right front fender, stated McGynne.

"It was quite a dent as if some heavy object had come in contact with it. I memorised the license number and got in the car. We proceeded on to Toronto and before parting he said, 'Don't say anything about hitting something to anybody.' He told me that two or three times, related McGynne.

Witness said that when he later read in the paper that a man had been killed on the highway, near Port Hope, he notified the police in Toronto.

Cross-examined by defence counsel, McGynne stated that at no

NEEDS USE OF AUTO.

BRANTFORD, Ont., April 11. — (C.P.—Ben Pyeburn, auditor with the Provincial Hydro Department, pleaded guilty to driving a car while intoxicated when he appeared before Magistrate J. R. Blake in the county police court to-day.

Pyeburn was arrested near Fairchilds Creek on No. 2 highway by Traffic Officer Wilson late Friday night.

There was some trouble over the sentence. His Worship wished to let the Hydro official out on suspended sentence with a bond being signed, amounting to $500, that the accused would refrain from driving a car for one year and abstaining from liquor for the same term.

This sentence was imposed with the consent of Crown Attorney W. M. Charlton, K.C.

The accused demurred, saying that he was using the car continually as he moved from city to city, accounting the various departmental books. He asked that the court allow him the immediate use of the car and that the length of the term that he would abstain from liquor be made three years instead of one.

Magistarte J. R. Blake stated that he would be glad to do that but the Highways Traffic Act automatically cancelled a driver's license on a conviction of this nature. The court considered for a while and then stated that the bond would be drawn up with that proviso leaving room for the Department at Toronto to deal with the case.

Kitchener Chief Believes Ginrovitch's Statement of Slaying Girl is Right.

HUNT CONTINUES.

KITCHENER, Ont., April 11.—(CP). Kitchener police to-day were still unravelling threads tangled about the mystery of a girl's death here in 1925. Discovery of a skeleton and Jacob Ginrovich's letter confessing to slaying a girl he said came from the Winnipeg district, sponsored police onward in their efforts to identify the remains.

Yesterday Police Chief William Hodgson of Kitchener questioned Jacob Ginrovich, inmate of the Ontario Hospital for the Insane at Hamilton, about a letter the mental patient is said to have written in September, 1930, while awaiting deportation. The letter was recalled when boys playing at a sand pit near Woodside Park here last Wednesday found the skeleton of what was described as a 25-year-old girl.

The letter was signed by Ginrovich and confessed to the killing of a girl by giving her an overdose of cocaine. The letter said the girl had been buried near the park.

After questioning Ginrovich yesterday, the police chief said he clung to his story that he killed a girl in Kitchener in 1925 and buried her body in a sandpit near Woodside Park. According to Ginrovich's story the girl's first name was Mary and she came from the Winnipeg district. He did not know her surname.

"I have every reason to believe that his statement that he killed the girl is correct" Chief Hodgson said.

INSULL TO SAIL FOR U.S. FRIDAY

Third Secretary of American Embassy to Accompany Fugitive on Trip Home.

LONG FLIGHT AT END.

ISTANBUL, April 11 (A.P.). — Samuel Insull will be placed aboard the S.S. Exilona Friday at Smyrna and started on his return voyage to the United States in custody of American authorities.

Burton Y. Berry, 32-year-old Third Secretary of the American Embassy, will accompany Insull on his trip to face charges of embezzlement and fraud in Illinois.

United States Ambassador Robert P. Skinner, who designated Berry to make the trip, previously had indicated Insull might be placed aboard the American Export Line ship, the S.S. Executive, leaving Istanbul to-day.

American authorities said they expected no further difficulty in finally bringing to an end the 74-year-old Chicagoan's long flight from justice.

They minimized the significance of last-minute moves by Insull's legal staff to delay his extradition.

FERGUSON SEES CANADA LEADING WHOLE EMPIRE

Claims All Dominion's Difficulties Would Banish With 10 Cent Jump in Wheat.

GATEWAY TO EAST.

More Done in Last 6 Months to Aid Trade With Britain Than Ever Before.

LONDON, April 11 (AP)—Hon. G. H. Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner to London, told the British Luncheon Club to-day that more progress had been made the last six months toward a friendly, co-operative solution of Canadian and British problems than in all the previous years of his experience.

"I often wish," he said, "that I could live for 50 years more to see the time when Canada would be dictating the policy of the British Empire."

He said that the general situation in Canada was improving, with rapid strides and that nearly all difficulties in the Dominon would be solved if the world wheat price was 10 cents a bushel higher.

Urging that Great Britain import more Canadian products, the High Commissioner commented that some of the reasons advanced for not doing so were "tommy-rot."

"The Ottawa agreements have been of immense value, not to Canada alone, but to the whole Empire," he declared. "In the last six months more progress has been made in friendly co-operation and sympathetic help towards a co-operative solution than in the whole three years I have been here."

50 Years Hence

Good-humored laughter greeted his remark that he wished "I could live for fifty years more to see the time when Canada would be dictating the policy of the British Empire."

"If you look at our geopraphical position and our possibilities in the way of development of population," he said, " I think you will begin to suspect there is some truth in the suggestion that we are right in the gateway between the markets of the east and this country, and the day is coming when traffic will go across Canada from Britain to the great Eastern consuming countries."

Canada was improving with rapid strides, the High Commissioner declared. "The world's market price of wheat to-day is practically the entire cause of Canada's difficult situation," he added. "If wheat were even 10 cents a bushel more than it is to-day, the difference it would make in our progress in Canada, in turning the wheels of our railways and industries, in increasing employment and purchasing power, is almost beyond belief."

Canadians, he emphasized, "have constantly striven to maintain British ideals in Canada and thoroughly believe the monarchical system of responsible Government, as against the republican system, is the most desirable thing for them.

Fine Card Party Staged By Masons

CAMPBELLFORD, April 11 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — A very successful social function was held on Monday evening by Golden Rule Lodge, A.F. and A.M., Campbellford, when that organization staged a combined bridge and euchre drive. The function was held in the banquet hall of the lodge and very largely attended by members of the craft and their ladies. In all, sixteen tables of bridge and seven of euchre were in play, following which a delightful lunch was served. Prize-winners were: Bridge —Mrs. Wm. Smith, lucky number, Mrs. Ross McLaren, and Dr. H. T. Scott; euchre—Mrs. C. H. Davidson, Frank Whitton and L. Richardson.

Drifting Three Days Young Seaman Saved

LUNENBURG, N.S. April 11 (C. P.). — Rescued from death after drifting three days at sea in an open dory, Manuel Joseph 21-year-old seaman on the Gloucester fishing schooner Imperator, was brought into port to-day aboard the Lunenburg vessel Delawana II

He had been picked up 35 miles south-west of Sable Island, lying semi-conscious in the bottom of the tiny craft that had kept him afloat for 60 hours after he strayed from his ship in a blinding snowstorm.

JOBLESS RELIEF RECEIVES AIRING IN PARLIAMENT

Irregularities in Handling Funds, Wages, Proposed Program All in Debate.

SIX HOUR CLASH.

Vote on King Amendment to "Peace Order, Good Gov't" is Talked Out.

OTTAWA, April 11 (C.P.).—All phases of unemployment relief are receiving an airing in the House of Commons as that body moves towards enactment of the Government's unemployment relief bill. Irregularities in the handling of relief funds, the trans-Canada highway, wages paid to single men in camps, the proposed public works program and the prospective Ontario elections combined to provide subject matter for a six-hour debate yesterday.

As a concession to stubborn Liberal opposition to the "peace, order and good government" clause in the bill, Prime Minister R. B. Bennett agreed yesterday to modify it but Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, moved an amendment to strike it out. The clause authorizes the Government to take any action necessary to the maintenance of "peace, order and good government" by Order-in-Council which Mr. King claims is a negation of parliamentary government.

Just before the House rose last night a vote was on the point of being called on the King amendment, but Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor, continued the discussion past the adjournment hour. It is believed there were more Liberals than Conservatives present, and a vote might have gone against the Government. The vote will likely come to-day.

Although pressed by Opposition members, the Government declined to elaborate on the proposed public works plan. It also declined to disclose whether relief payments would be increased in anticipation of the negotiation of agreements with the provinces.

NEW YORK, April 11 (C.P.).—The Central Park Zoo now has two or three — it doesn't know which—wallaroos, a species of the kangaroo.

Only two could be seen when the wallaroos reached the Zoo yesterday from Australia. But Captain R. C. Stout, head of the Zoo, believes the two were three.

FATHER RESCUES FOUR CHILDREN

Next Door Neighbor and Two Daughters Also Have Close Call.

TRENTON HOME LOST.

TRENTON, April 11.—Nine persons narrowly escaped death early yesterday when a fire of an unknown origin completely ruined one residence and burned the adjacent house to the bare walls.

The fire was discovered by Mrs. Hardy, who summoned her husband, Howard Hardy, and four children under the age of 6. Hardy made two trips upstairs and barely escaped with the last two children, as the fire gained headway. He turned in the alarm, and had considerable trouble arousing Irvin Gregson and his two daughters, who resided next door. Both houses were ablaze when the fire brigade arrived. Time was lost when firemen hooked up to a nearby hydrant but couldn't get water, as the town supply is at present in a low condition. Water had to be pumped from the Trent Canal near by.

Hardy lost everything but four chairs, while Gregson managed to save some furniture from the downstairs part of his house. He carried no insurance, while Hardy had very little. The damage is estimated at about $3,000.

HITCH-HIKERS STORY TO POLICE BASIS OF TRIAL

Preliminary Witnesses Are Heard in Manslaughter Trial of John Pridmore.

FARMER WAS KILLED.

Body Was Found in Pool of Blood Near Edge of Pavement.

COBOURG, April 11.—Preliminary witnesses in the Crowns action against John Pridmore of Belleville, indicted for manslaughter in an automobile fatality, were heard in the Spring Assizes of the Supreme Court yesterday afternoon and evening by Mr. Justice J. A. McEvoy and a jury.

This trial is based on a hitch-hiker's report to the Toronto police that the automobile driven by Pridmore, who was giving the young transient a ride to Toronto struck "something" about four miles west of Welcome on No. 2 Highway shortly before nine o'clock on the evening of February 6, the night William Beebee, Hope Township farmer, was fatally injured while walking on the highway near his farm.

Henry McGinn of Monoton, N.B., the Crown's chief witness, was not called to the stand in yesterday's stage of the trial, unusual features of which have created a general interest among motorists and also the general public of the district.

J. E. O'Flynn, Sault Ste. Marie, special Crown Prosecutor, did not press for the commencement of this trial Tuesday morning, and the Court proceeded with a civil case that was not concluded until 3.30 p.m.

Mr. Pridmore is being defended by Charles A. Payne of Belleville. An unusual incident in court proceduse was noted at the opening of this case. Prior to the empanelling of the jury and the reading of the indictment against the accused, Mr. Payne whispered to him that he had to take the customary place in the prisoner's box, but a few minutes later Mr. Justice Kingston told Mr. Payne in a low voice that his client might leave the box and

Otonabee Will Aid Farmers To Get Seed

Reeve W. A. Anderson has intimated that if any farmer in Otonabee wishes to take advantage of the Act providing for assistance in the purchase of seed grain the township Council will consider applications.

Applications should be made to the township clerk, and it would be necessary for the council to pass a bylaw authorizing the borrowing of money required for any seed purchases that may be needed. It is understood that the applicant gives a note to the municipality for the amount expended on the seed he obtains by this means, and is protected by a first claim on the crop. The Act permits the municipality to give assistance in buying seed wheat, oats, barley, rye, corn, buckwheat and flax.

"I dont know whether any farmers wish to avail themselves of this legislation, and I don't know what the attitude of the council will be" Mr. Anderson said, "but the Act is there, and there may be some farmers who need help this Spring and would like to take this means of getting seed. We can say that if any applications are received, they will be carefully considered by the Council."

DR. PRATT WAITS JURY'S DECISION

Panel Unable to Return Bill So Trial is Adjourned Till Thursday.

60 WITNESSES PRESENT.

PERTH, Ont., April 11 (CP).—Dr. Wilton Pratt, 70-year-old Smith Falls physician, waited in his cell here to-day while the Grand Jury pondered the evidence in the murder indictment against the aged doctor. He is charged with the murder of his housekeeper Eva Elizabeth McLean in a fire that destroyed his home last December.

Dr. Pratt also faces 10 charges of performing illegal operations. He did not appear in court yesterday when the Grand Jury heard evidence in the case, the first murder case in Lanark county in the last quarter century.

About 60 witnesses were present when court opened but it was found impossible for the jury to examine all the evidence. Mr. Justice Patrick Kerwin ordered court adjourned and the jury confined until Thursday morning. The jury is expected to return a bill then.

W. W. Pollock, assisting Donald C. Smith as defence counsel, yesterday sought to have the petit jury excluded from the court room while the grand jury was being charged but Mr. Justice Kerwin refused the request.

The jury went out at 2.10 p.m. When court resumed at four o'clock no decision had been reached and the adjournment until tomorrow was decided on.

Home to Roost

CURTIS, Neb., April 11 (C.P.). — Sheriff Art Hudson now is sure of the truth of the old axiom that chickens go home to roost.

In searching for some chickens stolen from the Arvel Berry farm, Hudson found that a Maywood produce dealer purchased some chickens from Earl V. Nelson. Berry was unable to identify the birds, and Nelson denied having stolen them.

So, Hudson took the chickens to a point half-way between the Berry farm and the house occupied by Nelson, and turned them loose.

Came dusk, and the 14 fowls went to the Berry hen house to roost

Nelson pleaded guilty.

QUEBEC BEHIND MARKETING BILL

Taschereau Informs Legislature His Government is Ready to Work With Ottawa.

ALL PROVINCES IN LINE.

(By The Canadian Press)

Quebec to-day was counted in the parade of Canadian Provinces which have taken steps or indicated they would take steps to support the Natural Products Marketing Bill of the Dominion Government. Quebec stepped in line last night and completed the chain of support from coast to coast.

In Quebec, Premier L. A. Taschereau told the Legislature his Government would co-operate with the Dominion Administration by bringing down "an act to aid in putting into effect in this province of any Federal Act having as its object the marketing of natural products of Canada."

In British Columbia the Special Powers Act gives authority to government to control industry, finance and business, thus enabling it to co-operate in the Dominion's efforts.

A bill to empower a director to regulate trade and industry in such a manner as to maintain fair prices is before the Alberta Legislature. Saskatchewan has passed a Provincial Marketing Act; Manitoba is preparing one for presentation in June. Ontario has had a Marketing Board for some time and has indicated it is in a position to cooperate with the Dominion and the other Provnces.

New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island have passed enabling legislation to bring them in line, and Nova Scotia is preparing such legislation.

In the space of a few weeks, all the provinces have rallied to the call of the Dominion to help inaugurate a system whereby the Dominion would set up a board to cooperate with Provincial boards in marketing all natural products except those of the nations' mines.

NOTE IN BOTTLE TELLS OF FLIERS

Message at Burlington Beach May Be From Two Missing Toronto Men.

"FLOATED 5 DAYS."

HAMILTON, Ont., April 11 (CP)—Hamilton police to-day sought to establish authenticity of a message found yesterday on the shore of Lake Ontario indicating two missing Toronto aviators had floated five days after being forced down on the lake during a projected flight from their home port to Fort Erie, Ont.

The message, picked up by the daughter of a lighthouse keeper at Burlington Beach canal, may have been a distress signal from Jack Nicholls and Bert Ashley, the missing men, sent after they were lost last Dec. 10.

It was picked up by Miss Dorothy Cripps, daughter of Alfred Cripps, the lighthouse keeper, as she walked along the beach at that point. She noticed a bottle with a piece of paper inside and found a faintly-written note reading: "Help. We are the two air pilots in the lake. We are floating."

In some quarters it was believed the note might be a hoax. Capt. Jack Sanderson, Fort Erie aviation official, said he did not believe it would have been possible for the men to remain afloat five days.

Police, however, planned to convey the message to relatives o fthe missing men in an attempt to identify the handwriting.

PEMBERTON, N.J., April 11. (C.P.). — George Riely former constable and traffic policeman, who was arrested on a charge of beating up a brother-in-law, told Justice of the Peace Emily T. Speir that he had no money for bail.

But, said the Magistrate, he had no officer to take the prisoner to the county jail at Mt. Holly.

"What's the matter with taking myself to jail?" asked Riely.

The court consented and the prisoner went to jail unescorted.

Immunization Near For Malaria Fever

LONDON, Ont., April 11 (CP)—Dr. Ray Lloyd, graduate of the University of Western Ontario and prominent scientist, has directed his work at the Rockefeller Institute in New York to Malaria, it was learned at the medical school here yesterday.

According to a fellow scientist, just returned from a visit to the New York Research Laboratories, Dr. Lloyd's work on yellow fever has attracted world-wide attention and may have developed to the point where practical immunization against the scourage is possible.

It has been discovered the virus of yellow fever, when transmitted to rats, brings about a change different to that in man, producing encephiditis or brain lesion in the animal. The blood serum of the rat, when injected into human blood, apparently immunized the human subject against yellow fever.

Among those who attended the dance at Wallace Point on Wednesday evening were Mr. and Mrs. John Brackenridge, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Howson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Moncrief, Mrs. Reg Perrin, Betty Perrin, Helen Howson, Mildred Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brackenridge motored to Brighton on Wednesday.

In the account in Fridays paper of the play "There Goes the Bride," which was given at the church on Monday evening it was unintentionally omitted that owing to the illness of Alf Davidson, Miss Helen Howson very splendidly took the part of Billy Curtis. The young people are planning to give their play at Bailleboro about April 20th.

The Once-a-Week Club met at the church on Friday night. Mr. Howson had charge of the meeting. Miss Helen Howson took the topic.

GOLDEN JUBILEE PLANS LAID BY HAVELOCK UNITED CHURCH

Over 400 Invitations Mailed to All Parts of Canada for Week's Program.

BEGINS APRIL 29.

HAVELOCK, April 11. (Examiner Correspondence).—Elaborate plans for the celebration of the Golden Jubilee of Havelock United (formerly Methodist) church are being completed by the committee in charge. Four hundred invitations have been mailed to many points in Canada as far west as Vancouver and east to Halifax, as well as the United States and the British Isles, to former members of the congregation.

The religious services will begin in the church on Sunday morning, April 29th, with Rev. R. J. Fallis of Toronto a pastor here in 1887-1888, in charge. The afternoon service on Sunday at three o'clock will be taken by Rev. Ralph Spencer of Cobourg, a former Havelock boy. Rev. W. R. Archer of Lakefield, who preceded Rev. S. A. Kemp, the present pastor, will conduct the evening service beginning at seven o'clock. The guest soloists on these occasions will be Mrs. H. C. Kindred and her daughter, Mrs. Fawcett, both of Tweed and former members of the congregation.

On Monday, April 30th, "Reminiscent and Re-union" night, there will be a program of old fashioned numbers, tableaus, pantomines, and musical selections, and a parade of old fashioned and modern costumes.

On Tuesday, May 1st, a reception will be held in the church by the Women's Association. The festivities will commence at 2.30 and continue until 10.30 p.m. On this occasion there will be a display of antiques, curios, photos, etc., and tea will be served. A special feature will be the cutting and serving of the four storey Golden Jubilee birthday cake, with a delicious cup of tea.

Wednesday, May 2nd, will be featured by a pageant at the town hall, the title "Retrospect and Prospect" written and directed by Rev. S. A. Kemp the pastor, and will depict the main events of the church and village for the past fifty years.

Thursday, May 3rd will be reception day, the program the same as Tuesday and will be held at the church.

On Friday evening, May 4th, "Young People's Night" a program of music and miscellaneous numbers will be presented at the Town Hall by the young people of the congregation, under the direction of Ronald Kemp.

The closing services of the Jubilee will be conducted by Rev. E. O. Seymour, M.A., B.D., a former pastor, from 1920 to 1926. The afternoon service will be in charge of Rev. Gleyn Beatty (former Havelock boy). Guest soloists on this occasion will be Mrs. Harold Buchanan of Toronto (formerly Velma Davidson) and Messrs. Henry Campney and Russell Abernethy of Campbellford.

The regular meeting of the Efficiency League was held in the basement of the United Church on Monday evening, April 9th, with about thirty members and the usual number of visitors in attendance. The president, Miss Morrison was in charge for the regular meeting and the group leader Miss Barbara Fennell in charge of the program.

A request for a donation of five dollars for music for the orchestra was received and granted.

The matter of a suitable gift to the church on the occasion of the Golden Jubilee celebration came up for discussion, but nothing was decided upon. This will be discussed at the next meeting.

Mr. Keith Chiles was in charge of the topic for the evening, and handled it most capably. A reading by Miss Dorothy Davidson, an instrumental duet by Misses Helen Buchanan and Barbara Fennell, a selection by Hill trio—Kenneth, Fred and Elaine—interspersed by orchestral selections rounded out a very interesting program.

Passenger traffic from Australia to the United States is so heavy that it is difficult to get passage on any of the smaller steamer or cargo boats.

Obituary

JOHN McMILLAN

ROSENEATH, April 11 (Examiner Correspondence)—Seized with a stroke on June 5th, 1929, which caused a lengthy illness, John McMillan, Roseneath's grand old man passed away on Wednesday morning, April 4th.

In speaking of Mr. McMillan before he became stricken to the invalid's chair, he was a most valued citizen to Roseneath village and Alnwick Township. His sterling honesty and resourcefulness won for him a place of responsibility and trust and for eighteen and one half years he was township clerk, and was one of the most generous of men, of a kindly hearted, quiet geniality, ever ready to come to the aid of others less fortunate, and always willing to do his duty or help any society which would be a builder to the community.

The upholstery and furniture business which Mr. McMillan founded along with the undertaking business, built on the unquestioned integrity and stability of the man who guided its affairs for nearly sixty years, and brought him to the forefront as one of Roseneath's leading men.

He was a faithful supporter of the Methodist Church and in politics was a Conservative.

Deceased was born on December 20th, 1843, on the family homestead in Dummer Township, his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. John McMillan, having cleared the land and endured all the privations and hardships incident to early days in this country.

The simple but impressive funeral service on Saturday afternoon was under the direction of Rev. R. W. Paton, M.A., B.D., who had paid the deceased gentleman, many visits during his illness. The silent streets lined with people, many of whom had come a distance to be present at the funeral. All walks of life were represented in the throng of those who wished to pay their last respects to one whose life and work had a deep influence upon the life of the community.

He is survived by five sons, Willis and Leslie of Anerold, Sask.; Cecil and Percy of Detroit, Michigan; and Milton of Roseneath, the later having nursed and cared for his father, also two sisters, Mrs. Eliza Hoskins, of Rolla, North Dakota, and Mrs. Jane Fraser, of Brighton, Ont., and one brother, James McMillan, of Toronto, Ont. His wife predeceased him twenty-nine years ago and an only daughter, Maude, twenty-two years ago.

The L.O.L. No. 261 is bereaved. It has lost its oldest and honorary member, and of which the Order in a body were honorary pall-bearers, Messrs. Earl Braithwate, Ernest Timlin, R. A. Nichol, Gordon Parker, W. Arnold, Herbert McCracken, James Webb, James Timlin, Ross McCracken, Andrew Douglas, C. W. Varcoe, T. Honey, Arthur Murphy, Bruce Timlin and William Murphy.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Thomas Honey, Charles Grigg, John Murphy, Ezekiel Brisbin, Gordon Parker and William Arnold of Cobourg.

EDWARD KEEGAN

(Examiner Correspondence)

CAVAN, April 11.—Veteran resident of the Cavan district, Edward Keegan died last evening at his home in Cavan village in his 80th year. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. James Casey, Valentia; a niece Mrs. Ruth Keegan Taylor, and a nephew, Everett Keegan, at home. Funeral arrangements later.

HITCH-HIKERS STORY TO POLICE

sit beside him at the table occupied by counsel. One court official remarked that it was the first time in many years of experience that he had seen a prisoner charged with manslaughter given permission to sit outside the "dock."

The Trial Jury

The personnel of the jury was: W. H. Mann, Haldimand; Roy Merriam, Haldimand; Fred Peake, Seymour; Ernest Anderson, South Monaghan; Fred Patton, South Monaghan; John J. O'Brien, Seymour; Robert Dark, Cramahe; David Melklejohn, Seymour; Joseph Sheehan, Bowmanville; Alvin Brown, Manvers; Harold Mallory, Haldimand; George R. Jennings, Brighton.

Dr. Robert McDermott, Port Hope, the first witness, testified that he had performed a post-mortem examination of Willam Beebe's body and found that death was due to a fracture of the base of the skull with laceration of the brain and hemorrhage.

Norbert McHolman, farmer of Hope Township, said he had passed along the highway about 10 p.m. A heavy snow was falling and a gusty wind was swirling the snow. Visibility was not good, he said.

Cecil Burley of Newtonville, proprietor of a service station, recalled that about nine o'clock on the evening of the accident a coupe stopped in front of his office. He saw its two occupants get out and walk around the car, both apparently looking it over. They then drove away.

Carlos Dickenson, Hope Township farmer, said he was returning home from Bowmanville about 8.45 o'clock on the night of the accident. He saw a man walking on the highway whom he thought was William Beebee, identifying him by an habitual peculiarly stooped position. Beebe was then near his own farm.

Found the Body

Lorne Kingston, Whitby, told of finding the body of Beebe in a pool of blood about two or three feet from the north edge of the pavement. Witness was returning from Brighton and had passed through Port Hope at about twenty minutes to nine o'clock. Two cars, both going west, passed Kingston's automobile between Welcome and the place where the body lay. One of them was a blue coupe, travelling at a rapid speed, that cut in close ahead of him after passing Kingston's car. Witness said that the first sign of the fatality was the red patch of blood prominently visible in the car's headlight. About sixty feet from the body was a mitt, nearer the body was a hat and another mitt almost in a line with the body.

To Mr. Payne, witness said that he thought, at the time of the incident, the couple which passed him was a Chevrolet.

"Aeroplane" Fish Offer New Puzzle

SAINT JOHN, N.B., April 10 (CP)—Strange fish stories are circulating in this district. First, the carcass of a peculiar beaked whale with a pig-like snout and two horns was washed ashore at Duck Cove. Secondly, each of a half dozen "aeroplane" specimens caught by fishermen in the Kennebecasis River presented the following picture: A tail complete with "Stabilizer" and 'rudder," one eye black, the other blue; a mouth located shark-fashion under a sharply pointed snout; long feeler-like fins; a bluish-black body more than two feet long and weighing about four pounds.

Some amateur naturalists, puzzled, found this sort of thing depressing. It is bad form, they say, a reflection against their sobriety, and should not be allowed.

EVERY POSSIBLE STEP WAS TAKEN BY BANKS TO OFFSET DEPRESSION

General Managers of Three Canadian Banks Appear Before Committee.

ISSUED WARNING IN 1927.

OTTAWA, April 11.—(CP)— The answer of three of Canada's large banks to the question of what they did to combat the depression was before the House of Commons Banking and Commerce committee today. It came yesterday from the general managers of the Candian Bank of Commerce, the Bank of Montreal and the Bank of Nova Scotia, S. H. Logan, Jackson Dodds and H. S. Patterson.

All three were unanimous in saying the banks took every possible step to ward off the evils of the depression both by warning of its coming and practical action after it had arrived. But, as one expressed himself, the banks could not prevent people from speculating and neither could they prevent the fall in prices which occurred over the whole world and began first in countries other than Canada.

When the committee meets again on Thursday it will hear Morris Wilson, general manager of the Royal Bank on the same point.

The committee's work is an examination of the Bank of Canada Act and the Revised Bank Act, now before it, but as it proceeds it is seeking the answer to the question as to the activities of the banks in the depression which was propounded in a resolution sponsored by C. G. Power (Lib. Quebec South) and John Vallance(Lib. South Battleford).

Issued Warning in 1927

As early as 1927 the bank managers told the committee they issued warnings of the impending storm. They advised bank managers to warn the public against stock speculation, and by refusing loans on stocks and raising interest rates sought to discourage speculation.

There was not a great deal a bank could do in a direct way to mitigate the effects of a depression, Mr. Patterson said. It could do something in two ways: by maintaining its own position and thus maintaining confidence and assuring its depositors of their money when needed, and by assisting its customers to weather the storm.

The Royal Bank, he said, and the other banks also did both these things. The banks did not and it was not in their interest to force clients into liquidation. Further, they refused no new loans which had a reasonable prospect of being repaid. It was not through choice that they put money into bonds, as they preferred loans.

The reduction in bank loans of several hundred million dollars which took place between 1929 and 1932 was in consequence of and not the cause of the fall in prices, Mr. Patterson argued. Lower prices mean less money was needed to finance commercial undertakings, brokers' loans on a large scale were repaid, people turned to saving money instead of spending, and merchants bought their requirements from day to day instead of carrying large stocks and running the risk of loss through lower prices. All these things contributed to the reduction in the amount of bank loans.

Mr. Dodds attributed the depression in a large measure to the trade barriers erected by the nations in recent years. Tariffs, quotas and embargos strangled trade and the depression would lift when the governments of the world again permitted trade to flow more freely. He said he did not blame the Canadian Government or any government particularly, but the general practice.

Fairmount W.M.S. Will Hold Social

FAIRMOUNT, April 11 (Examiner Correspondence) — The Fairmount W.M.S. held their April meeting in the Sunday School room on April 4th at 2.30 p.m. The meeting was opened by singing "Low in the Grave He Lay," followed by the opening prayer read by Mrs. R. C. Hanbidge.

It was decided to hold a pancake social on Thursday, April 19th and Mrs. F. McIndoo, Sadie Allin and Mrs. R. H. McArthur were appointed for the program committee. The following program was very much appreciated — readings, Mrs. W. Shaw, Helen Earle, Mrs. R. H. McArthur, Mrs. Robert Hooten.

The meeting was closed with singing "My Faith Looks Up To Thee."

JOBLESS RELIEF RECEIVES AIRING

a reason why the Government here wished to have authority under the Peace Order and Good Government Clause to deal with any orders a Provincial executive might make that would encroach on Federal jurisdiction Wilfred Hanbury (Lib Vancouver-Burrard) wanted to know in what particular a provincial executive clothed with the power the B.C. Cabinet had, could do anything that a Legislature could not do.

A Legislature passed a statute, said Mr. Bennett, and the Dominion might disallow it. However, in the case of an executive with all the powers of a Legislature it would not pass a statute but accomplish the same result by promulgating an ordinance. A provincial executive might promulgate an ordinance that was ultra vires, but there would be no Federal authority to disallow it since it was a statute.

Would Be Forearmed

He was confident in spite of certain remarks made by provincial officials that no province would seek to exceed the jurisdiction given in the constitution but he wished to be forearmed for such an eventuality.

The amendment moved early in the day by Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King, would delete the peace, order and good government clause, one of the main stumbling blocks so far as the opposition is concerned in the bill. Under it the government could pass an order-in-council, dealing with any subject. As long as it was made to refer to the all-embracing phase of peace, order and good government.

During the day's debate, Premier R. B. Bennett announced the government did not intend forcing repayment of the lien notes signed by Saskatchewan farmers in the dried-out areas who applied for relief from the Saskatchewan commission. Cancellation of the notes has been the subject of discussion between the Dominion and the province.

Protests came from opposition members several times during the day over the 20-cents-a-day paid to relief workers in government construction camps. It was argued the men should be given fair wages and treated the same as private workers.

The government, announced Mr. Gordon, would give consideration to a scheme of lending money to provinces and municipalities to be expended on construction programmes. The suggestion came from Wilfred Hanbury, Liberal member for Vancouver-Burrard.

$10 Wage Too Low

When a government contributed to an enterprize, Humphrey Mitchell (Labor, Hamilton East), said it had a direct responsibility to see that fair wages were paid. A wage of $10 per month for men working on a national enterprise such as the trans-Canada highway was not a fair scale in his judgment.

Rates of pay should not be lower than those paid by a private employer. He maintained there was another illustration of his point where the 10 percent reduction was only being restored to civil servants receiving $1,000 or less a year.

The Ontario Government had announced increases in rates paid men in camps under the relief scheme and in relief allowances. "It was too bad there was not an election every year," he remarked.

Mr. Mitchell considered the "blank cheque' provision in the government measure was a proper provision.

The policy of the government with respect to the wages of men in camps would be made known in due course by the Prime Minister, Mr. Murphy told Hon. Peter Heenan (Lib., Kenora-Rainy River). Mr. Heenan had asked whether the Dominion proposed to follow the example of Ontario which had recently announced higher pay for the men in highway camps.

Rawdon Rifle Club Presents Trophies

SPRINGBROOK, April 11.—The annual dance and presentation of the Rawdon Rifle Club was held Thursday night in Springbrook Orange Hall. A large crowd attended and had a real good time. The music was excellent, being furnished by the Belleville Night Hawks. The most spectacular event of the evening was the presentation made by Colonel Yates of Deloro who handled it in a most efficient manner giving a wonderful address on club work also promised to donate for the coming year a miniature cup for the ones who compete on the ranges of 21 years and under. The D.R.A. Silver Salvor was presented to a worthy member, Frederick Mack and the silver cup which was donated by E. B. Collett of Toronto vent to John Wellman. The captain of the club, George Wellman acted as chairman and introduced Colonel Yates on behalf of the club. Colonel Yates was in dress uniform showing the many medals he has won in his past military career and promises to be on the ranges with this club next year for competition. A short address was given by the trophy winners.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 11, 1934

SAVE THE LAWNS.

At the request of a citizen—and without it may be said, a great deal of confidence of accomplishing anything useful in the face of previous failures—The Examiner begs leave to sound a seasonal warning in regard to needless damaging of lawns.

Until the frost is out of the ground and the surface is thoroughly dry, the public generally should keep off the lawns and give the grass a chance, for carelessness in this respect at this season does considerable unnecessary injury.

The citizen who requested The Examiner to call attention to this situation suggests that teachers in the city's schools could help materially by telling the pupils of the desirability of them refraining from walking or playing on park or private lawns, while employers should give similar instruction to their delivery staffs.

The practice of "short-cutting" across soft lawns is undoubtedly responsible for a great deal of damage every spring, and a little consideration for others would materially help to improve conditions.

The Examiner has as a matter of fact called attention to this subject on a good many occasions in the past, and on the whole we have not had any reason to feel gratified at the results, inasmuch as school children, delivery boys and the public generally have not shown any overwhelming desire to cooperate in this lawn-saving campaign.

However, we have been asked to do our share again this year, and so here it is; let us hope that this time the effort may prove successful and local lawns may be given a chance.

HERE'S THE WAY OUT.

One of the largest crops of recent years has been the harvest of plans, cure-alls and panaceas that have emerged in regard to the economic difficulties in which the world has been involved.

Just as most people believe that they could do much better at running a newspaper than those now engaged in such an occupation, nearly everybody thinks he knows what is wrong with the universe and just how it could be cured.

Consequently, there has been no lack of plans for economic recovery, but not many individuals have gone to the same length in giving publicity to their views as has some anonymous amateur economist out in Vancouver, who has mailed to Canadian newspapers a very lengthy printed circular, entitled "Field Day for Fools in America."

This gentleman belittles the efforts of Canadian and American Governments to deal with the depression, says the press of the continent is sterile as a medium for spreading common sense, and declares that everything will be all right yet if his program of migration back to the land and a fixed price for gold for ten years should be adopted.

So sure is he that he has the one and only solution for our economic ills that he intends to distribute his lengthy screed throughout Canada via the voters' lists, as long as his money holds out.

It would be interesting to know just how many of the recipients of this Vancouver broad-sheet will wade through its closely printed five columns.

BETTER BUSINESS CONDITIONS.

While the Alexander Hamilton Institute reports a slight recession in general business activity in Canada in February, following a new high for the recovery movement in January, nevertheless the total volume of business in the second month of the present year was 21.1 per cent. greater than in February, 1933, and 39.9 better than the depression's low in April of last year.

The report indicates business conditions generally better and is of a most inspiring nature.

The Institute's index of trade activity was 66.6 in February, as against the revised index of 66.3 in January, 60.8 in February, 1933, and 47.6 in April, 1933.

Since February business activity has continued to be maintained at a level well above that of a year ago, car-loadings, for instance, for the first three weeks of March showing a 22.9 per cent gain over the same period twelve months ago.

The figures as regards employment are decidedly encouraging.

They show that employment in the Dominion has been steadily upward since the beginning of the year, and at the beginning of March reached the highest level since business began to recover. The index of employment on the basis of 1926 as 100 was 88.7 on March 1, compared with the depression's low of 76 on April 1, 1933, an increase of 12 per cent.

Increases in manufacturing and building activity and a new high for the recovery movement in the index of wholesale commodity prices are other encouraging features.

Evidence that the corner has been successfully turned and that Canada is on her way back to better days is piling up, and this authentic report by the Alexander Hamilton Institute does much to confirm that opinion.

WORTHY OF ASSISTANCE.

The attention of those who are in a position to help is directed to the appeal being made to-day by the Garden Plots Committee of the local Relief Board on behalf of a number of citizens who, although they have by heroic efforts kept off the relief lists, are almost at the end of their resources.

It is felt that these residents, who because of the fact that they are not "on relief" are not eligible to receive municipal or Government assistance, would be materially aided in their fight to keep their heads above water if they could work a garden plot and grow a supply of vegetables for the use of their families.

In many cases such deserving citizens who have manfully carried on a battle against hard times and who have managed to keep going without calling upon the public treasury, have neither the land nor the seed available for establishing a vegetable garden.

The Garden Plot Committee, through the instrumentality of private contributions, were able to deal with that situation last year to good purpose, but unless similar assistance comes forward now it will, of course, be impossible for the committee to carry on this season.

Contributions are therefore solicited on behalf of these plucky heads of families who have fought their way through many months of depression without accepting relief, and who can be helped in their fight by a chance to grow some of their own foodstuff.

Every dollar subscribed for this purpose will be devoted to the mission of providing garden plots for deserving citizens.

The need is great; and time is short.

An immediate response to this appeal will mean a great deal to good Canadians whose heads are still carried high despite the strain of a most distressing period.

The Reserve Bank Act of New Zealand was passed toward close of last year, and the institution is expected to function about the middle of this year. Particulars of the legislation, as given by H. L. E. Priestman, assistant trade commissioner at Auckland, in the Commercial Intelligence Journal, reveal some interesting variations from the bill now before the Canadian House of Commons, but also so many striking similarities as to suggest that the measure may have been used as a model by the framers of the Ottawa measure.

The similarities begin with the preamble. The primary duty of the Reserve Bank is to exercise control over monetary circulation and credit in New Zealand, to the end that the economic welfare of the Dominion may be promoted and maintained. The Canadian bill sets forth that it is desirable to establish a central bank to regulate credit and currency in the best interests of the economic life of the nation, to control and protect the external value of the national monetary unit, etc.

One difference is in the prescribed profits. Sharee holders of the Bank of Canada are to get six per cent., those of the New Zealand bank five per cent. Other banks in New Zealand must deposit not less than seven per cent. of their demand liabilities; Canadian chartered banks must deposit five per cent. of deposit liabilities. Initial capital of the New Zealand reserve bank is £500,000, that of the Canadian institution is to be $5,000,000.

The New Zealand bank is to come into existence when the capital is subscribed "whether by the public or the Minister of Finance," and shall be entitled to commence business on the date on which it becomes entitled to issue bank notes. Six months' notice is to be given by proclamation, and on that date the issue and reissue by every other bank in New Zealand of their existing notes shall cease. On that date also the gold holdings of coin and bullion shall be transferred to the reserve bank. Reserves of a minimum of 25 per cent. of the aggregate amount of notes in circulation and other demand liabilities must be maintained, in gold coin, bullion, sterling exchange or net gold exchange.

The New Zealand management rests with a board of directors, including a governor, deputy-governor and seven other members, which is the same as in the Canadian set-up except that the latter provides for an assistant deputy-governor.

In New Zealand, three members of the board are to be appointed as state directors and four are to be shareholders' directors, and not more than one shall at any time be a director of any other bank. Two of the four shareholders' directors shall be representative of primary industry, and the other two shall be persons who are or have been actually engaged in industrial or commercial pursuits. The Canadian legislation provides for first appointment of directors by the Government, and thereafter by the shareholders. They "shall be selected from diversified occupations, but no person shall be eligible who is a director, officer or employee of a chartered bank."

Loans to the Government are limited in the New Zealand measure to one-half of estimated revenue for the year, as compared with one-third in Canada. In each case, however, loans may be made to states (provinces) up to one-fourth estimated revenue for the year.

The same prohibitions apply as to interest in any commercial or industrial undertaking, also the purchase of the bank's own shares or those of any other bank.—Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

They say they never come back. But still there's Camillien Houde with the biggest majority Montreal ever gave a mayoralty candidate.

Canada's relief payments are to be investigated by the Public Accounts Committee of Parliament. The probe may show the Federal Government made a mistake in assuming that strict honesty could be expected of everybody.

Even the smoothest running political organization in existence is powerless when the public decides the time has come for a change. The utter rout of the Liberal machinery in Montreal shows that political affiliations do not always count.

If the federal treasury has been looted in irregular relief payments, as is charged, the Ottawa Government can, of course, recover from the Provincial Governments, and the latter in turn from the offending municipalities. But how much better it would have been if everybody had played the game.

The electors of South Oxford were bombarded with nine political speeches on Monday. They are undoubtedly glad that the by-election campaign will soon be over.

Tiggie himself took small note of their surroundings, his one consuming desire being to come to the end of the journey. He had a desperate feeling that Viola's strength was very nearly spent. He thought they would never come to the end of the winding moorland road, but at length a long hill rose before them, and when they had labored to the top, there lay below them one of the finest views in England, green down merging into rugged cliff and beyond, wrapped in a pearly mist, the boundless blue of the Atlantic. Harvey's eyes fastened upon it and remained fixed; but he said nothing whatever.

They left the moor behind and came to a descent between rocky boulders, so steep and so winding that even Tiggie with his experience in Indian hill roads began to wonder if they could possibly reach the bottom in safety. The green slopes upon which they had looked soon towered above them, and the great expanse of ocean narrowed to a bay up which the breakers rushed to burst in thunder on the beach. On one side of the road was a gorge hollowed by a dashing stream, only visible here and there through the fresh green foliage of the trees that hung above it. Slowly, with screeching brakes and grinding gears, they crept down the precipitous road which curved inwards to the gorge. And now the boom and roar of the sea reached them, filling all things with its somber music. Looking at Viola, Tiggie saw that her eyes were open and on her face was a rapt expression as though she were drinking in the sound.

Something moved him to speak. "It reminds one of the old days," he said, "coming home on The Pioneer."

Her look came to him with a wistful understanding that went to his heart. "Yes, the old days!" she said with a sigh.

Almost at the foot of the cliffs the gorge was spanned by a little stone bridge, and here they saw the tumbling water at last as it rushed down its rocky chasm to meet the sea. It was a glen of fairy loveliness which even Tiggie was obliged to view with appreciation. The evening sunshine fell with a golden glow, and the mossy boulders shone emerald green in the sparkling foam of the torrent.

They crossed the bridge and drew up in front of a rambling stone-built edifice which bore the sign of "The Sea Lion". A swinging board depicted a formidable tusked creature with a whiskered countenance and flippers for feet against a very green sea background which provoked a laugh of sardonic amusement from Harvey.

"Ici nous descendons!" he observed. "At least I imagine we do. I expect we shall find the whole place alive with artists. Hullo! Who's this?"

A bareheaded and very sunburnt woman holding a brown midget of a child by the hand had appeared suddenly in the roadway below them and was calling and gesticulating.

"Hullo!" exclaimed Tiggie, wrenching at the door. "Why, there's Mrs. Spot!"

He sprang out to greet the newcomer, and the child leaped to meet him with a squeal of delight. It was Peter, all his taciturnity fled under the influence of this English paradise by the sea.

"We've been watching for you," Helen said. "And have you brought Mrs. Norman? Oh, there she is! Oh, my dear!"

The change in her voice was eloquent. Tiggie restrained her for a moment as she would have gone forward to welcome her.

"She's very tired," he said. "Don't ask her any questions! Get her to rest!"

Helen gave him a quick glance of comprehension and curbed her eagerness. Viola was in the act of descending. She held up her hands to her and took her into a warm clasp.

"You poor child!" she said. "Come straight along with me! It's only just around the corner. I've got a lovely little room waiting for you."

"How kind!" Viola said in a voice that seemed scarcely able to produce itself above a whisper.

She received Helen's warm kiss with a quivering smile and accepted the support of the firm arm without demur.

"Come along!" Helen said. "Tiggie will look after your things. I can't tell you how delighted we all are to have you, Joyce and Jack especially. But I wouldn't let them come. I thought it might be too many for you."

She drew the girl away with the words, bestowing a smiling nod upon Tiggie as she passed him. "You must put up at the 'The Sea Lion'. I've told them you're coming. I'll send Jack along presently to show you where we are. Bring your friend too! Come along, Peter!"

She included Harvey in her smile, and passed on with Viola and the child round the corner of the inn down to a narrow alley between fishermen's cottages that led to the shore.

Harvey stood and snuffed the breeze with a dreamy air while Tiggie settled accounts with the driver. Then abruptly he awoke.

"I say, this won't do! You're doing all the paying! So that's Mrs. Spot, is it? She's the right sort."

"Oh, yes, she'll help us," said Tiggie. "You stay here like a good chap while I take this along!"

He picked up Viola's suitcase with the words and promptly followed the path which Helen and Viola had taken.

Harvey looked after him, snuffed the breeze once more, then turned with resolution and entered "The Sea Lion". "Well, I'm going to have a drink," he said, "whatever happens."

When Tiggie rejoined him nearly an hour later, there was about him an air of desperate resolution which made Harvey regard him with interest. He himself, mellowed by refreshment and the cheering discovery that he was in a part of the universe that exactly suited the development of his artistic genius, was lounging in the porch of "The Sea Lion," gossiping amiably with his landlord—a well-seasoned veteran in the fishing world.

He broke off his talk at the sight of Tiggie's set face and removed his pipe to accost him. "Hullo, old chap! All well?"

Tiggie halted abruptly. "I want the postoffice," he said. "Where is it?"

The landlord—known to all in Farne as Joe Penny—saluted deferentially and made reply with a haste that recognized expediency.

"That's across the road, sir, round that corner. But they'll be closed, I'm thinking. It's getting late, you know, sir."

"I don't care how late it is," said Tiggie with great distinctness. "I've got to get a message through to London tonight."

Joe Penny rubbed his forehead. "Well, I'll see what I can do, sir. It's Mrs. Bright what runs the postoffice. She might oblige a stranger."

"If she won't," said Tiggie between his teeth, "I'll charter that damned bus to take me all the way to Plymouth to get it through."

"Oh, don't you worry to do that, sir!" said Joe soothingly. "There's ways and means—way and means."

He hitched his trousers and stepped into the road, Tiggie turning stiffly to follow.

Harvey moved beside him. "What is it?" he muttered. "Is she ill?"

Tiggie looked at him with eyes that seemed to see beyond him. "I must get on to Spot somehow. Helen wants him to come at once—catch the night train if possible. I must get hold of that bus and meet him at the junction."

"Oh, not the bus, sir, not the bus!" said the landlord soothingly over his shoulder. "My son's got a faster car than that. There's plenty of ways and means here, sir—plenty of ways and means."

"We must get them going then," said Tiggie sternly. "There's no time to be lost."

Harvey looked at him with sympathetic admiration. His opinion of Tiggie was mounting steadily. Silently he stood by and watched as he doggedly set himself to overcome all the obstacles in his path, refusing to be baffled even by Mrs. Bright, a lady of decidedly formidable presence, who did her best to hold her own against him. It was more by desperate insistence than persuasion that Tiggie eventually carried the day. Mrs. Bright having the shrewdness to see that there would be no peace for her until she yielded.

The message was sent therefore that was designed to bring Spot to them the next morning by the earliest train at the nearest station, and Tiggie turned his attention forthwith to Joe Penny to secure the only fast car in Farne to meet it.

The landlord of "The Sea Lion," also influenced by the fever of urgency that inspired Tiggie, made lavish promises as he led the way back to the inn. It would be all right. The gentleman needn't worry. He'd have the car ready, and his son would drive it. No, he didn't think it would break down, and if it did—well, there were ways and means—ways and means.

They reached the inn. Tiggie removed his hat and mopped his brow. There was exhaustion in the action.

Harvey took him by the arm. "Come along, old chap! Come and have a drink! You need it."

Tiggie looked at him, and his drawn face relaxed into a smile. "How on earth did you know?" he said.

Harvey drew him into the beer parlor and gave the order. "I take it there's nothing more to be done for the moment," he said. "So you may as well sit down and refresh yourself. You've got to live."

"I'll take your word for that," said Tiggie somberly. "But there won't be much to live for if———" He broke off.

Harvey was regarding him with a flicker of amusement in his queer eyes. "You mortals are all alike," he observed. "There's never more than one thing at a time worth having."

"That's true," said Tiggie slowly, in the tone of one coming to a logical conclusion. "But aren't you like that too?"

"I?" said Harvey, and laughed. "No. That's where I differ."

Tiggie regarded him without humor. "I always knew you were a freak," he observed.

"Yes. You would," said Harvey.

A Thought

TO DEVELOP INITIATIVE

If you want to cultivate initiative—some people never raise any—do it this way:

Take any one of your prospects and write a story about him. Try to tell all about him from the way he eats and drinks to the way he calls his dog. Then when you read the story over (of course it's for you alone), think how you might make him like you. Then try out your plan, and if you get him to liking you the balance is not hard. Unless you are a ball of mush.—The Insurance Review.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE FIRST BOARD OF TRADE

On this date, in 1809 a "Committee on Trade" was formed at Montreal, which in 1822 became the Board of Trade. For some reason the Montrealers claim that theirs is the first board of trade in Canada; but judging from the records they are wrong, for Aikins' "History of Halifax" states: "Strange as it may seem the year after Halifax was founded in 1749 the merchants banded themselves together and formed 'The Association for the Benefit of Trade'." This organization continued to function until 1767 when its name was changed to the "Committee of Trade" which name was retained until March 4, 1832, when it became the "Chamber of Commerce." This continued until 1863 when some differences arose, some of the members withdrew and formed the Halifax Board of Trade, but in 1890 the two organizations combined under the name "Board of Trade."

The records show that in 1809 the Montreal merchants communicated with the Halifax committee and got such data as justified the organizing of a committee at Montreal, which eventually became the board of trade. But before that Quebec merchants, also acting on the advice of the Halifax men, formed a body which was known as the Board of Trade from the outset. The Toronto Board of Trade was not founded until 1845.

On this date in 1879 the Winnipeg Board of Trade was organized with A. G. B. Bannatyne as president. It had its ups and downs, mostly down for a number of years, but never ceased functioning even in the darkest days and in course of time developed into the valuable institution it is now.

THE BROWSER

When the Browser was a kid he lived in a small town and one of the happiest experiences of the year was when the Redmond Stock company came to town. The Browser didn't get to all the shows but he got to some of them and he has had few richer enjoyments than were his when he used to sit in the balcony and watch the stock company do its repertoire....They were all nice respectable people married to each other and enjoying their work. It was rumored of course that the villain "drank", and the ingenue was closer to 40 than to 18, but who cared about that? They were our friends and it was fun to see the same people playing in different shows every night and being cowboys one night and society gentlemen the next....You don't forget things like that....And somehow, while the Browser was reading Phil Strong's "Village Tale" he fell to thinking about that old Redmond Stock company and how the same people played different parts in different plays....That Phil Stong is an odd sort of fellow. His mind has an unusual twist to it. He isn't a great writer and he'll never be a great write but he's different and there's a fascinating quality about the stuff he writes. As you read his "Village Tale" you begin to wonder, "Where have I met, where have I seen and heard these people before?" And you answer your own musing by remembering that you have met them only in his other books, in "State Fair" and in "Strange r's Return," and you'll meet them again some day in all the books he writes....They'll be there because they live in Phil Stong's own mind and imagination and they emerge whenever he punches his typewriter....And the Browser will always read any book that Phil Stong writes because he does know how to mix his people and his material into a fascinating story, and he has a devilish non-moral slant of mind that makes all his books different from other people's books. ....This book is about a well-behaved fellow named Slaughter Somerville who kissed another man's wife, kicked a villain in the face, lied that villain onto the scaffold and finally took the other man's wife away from him—all things he'd been taught were wrong and "got more out of those things than he got out of all the rest of his life" ....Don't let the children read it (if you think you can keep children from reading anything) but it's the best of his novels.

The Browser, you may remember, went into ecstasies over Morley Callaghan's "Such Is My Beloved". ....Dorothea Brande, reviewing it for the American Review, said, "I regard a book like 'Such Is My Beloved' as more insidiously corrupting than many a book that goes without scruple after the emotions and senses." (Well, the Browser never did look about book reviewing as an exact science. It's really what Pater calls the adventure of the soul among masterpieces, to which the Browser would add—"among mediocrities and trash as well" because sometimes you get considerable profit out of the trash.).... Friend of the Browser said the other day, "Whenever I read a book like Hammett's 'The Thin Man' I turn with relief to Jeffrey Farnol." The Browser doesn't. Books like "The Thin Man" make Jeffrey Farnol's books seem thinner than any thin man and hollow as a tennis ball, even though he always reads Farnol's romances....The American Mercury wants more newspaper men writing for it....Phyllis Bottome's name rhymes with HOME and not with got 'em or phlebotomy.... Louis Adamic was sent to Europe to write a book about America but his "Native's Return" is about Yugoslavia, instead....That's how good books are written....Several times while the Browser was reading Hammett's "Thin Man", he thought of how the form of mystery stories has changed. Read that book and then try to read or re-read Wilkie Collins' "Woman in White."

THE BROWSER.

WOMAN'S PROTECTOR CLEARED

LONDON, Ont., April 11. (CP.)—Henry Traxler was freed in City Police Court to-day on a charge of stealing a diamond ring, when detectives found he was attempting to protect a woman-friend and was not implicated in the theft.

The woman, Mrs. Evelyn Thorpe, pleaded guilty to the ring theft, and as well admitted guilt on two charges of obtaining merchandise by misrepresentation. She was remanded until Saturday.

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner Office by 5 p.m. on the day before insertion. All letters must be signed by the writer, although a pen-name may be used when inserting non-controversial subject matter. Letters over 400 words will be cut down at discretion of the editor.

TIME FOR ACTION

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir—

So the answer to the proposition of Ottawa that applicants for small plots of land should see the local council is "nothing doing." There is one thing sure and that is the season and the opportunity are both passing without anybody in authority to take this matter up and help the situation out. To-day I met a farmer who has built a house on a corner of his farm engaged a man and his wife by the year and will pay them what with cash and wood, milk, etc., will amount to not only relief but a good business proposition for both parties. Perhaps there are more of these possibilities.

J. H. Burnham.

REPLY TO W.S.

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Sir,—"W.S." has mistaken the "Back-To-The-Land" movement which I have been advocating. It is simply that people who want to ram their own subsistence (the word used in the U. S. A.) should have that chance instead of feeding them with charity. It is not that they may enter into competition for the market. They will not be allowed to do so, so long as they were taught and "found" by the government. Here are a number of people begging to be allowed to go on land and earn "their own living" by digging it out of the soil. Teach them, give them the land and help them if necessary in any other way and surely that plan is better than leaving them to despair and demoralisation. But it is for one purpose only and that is their own living. They are not to be bonussed in this or any other way to compete with others.

J. H. Burnham.

CHANGE IN ATTITUDE

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—On reading Dr. Mahood's article in The Examiner, Saturday, I have been struck by the change in that good man's attitude towards Russia. In a former article in the Examiner he wrote decrying the leaders of the movement in Russia in Saturday's article he is praising that or the outcome of that government.

To Mr. Mahood....

Ah, ah, Mahood, you're understood;
To be a man of letters,
And I'd never try to criticize,
My educated betters,
But when our local "press" I scan;
For parts I love to read,
The scrip you've wrote on Russia,
Brings thoughts back to my head.
It's not long by you did decry,
The part that Nation played,
How Lenin, Stalin and such men
Composed a Red Brigade;
Then how with murderous lust for blood,
They played the traitor's part,
To free their country from the "heel"
Of a "holy" plutocrat.
Oftentimes the "news" may change the "views"
Throughout the nations wide,
Like thoughts that burn, or men who squirm
Before the flowing tide;
For those, who cradled in the fold
Of luxury shall weep,
When those who live by honest toil
Stand square upon their feet.

Thanking you dear editor for your perusual, whether you print it or not.

Sincerely yours,
John Beggs.

CONTINUE FIRE PROBE.

LONDON, Ont., April 11 (C.P.).—Inquest jurymen to-night will continue their investigations into the Hunt's mill fire of March 3, which claimed the lives of District Chief Scruby and Lieut. Hartop, veteran firemen. Only five of 18 witnesses who have been subpoenaed were examined at the opening session last week and an effort will be made to conclude the inquiry this evening. Remaining witnesses include 10 members of the department who were trapped in the building together with Fire Prevention Engineer Ritchie of the Fire Marshal's office, Toronto, and Hunt milling officials.

EXTRA SEARCH POWERS

LONDON, April 11 (CP Cable)—Additional powers of search and seizure are conferred upon the police in the Government's "incitement to disaffection" Bill issued today.

The object of the measure, which is applicable also to Scotland and Northern Ireland, "is to make better provision for the prevention and punishment of any endeavor to seduce the members of His Majesty's forces from their duty or allegiance," the bill says.

GAINS-LOSSES EVENLY DIVIDED

Beverages, Utility, Steel and Construction Shares Hold Generally Firm.

WEAKEN AT CLOSE.

TORONTO, April 11 (CP)—Buoyant around noon on better volume of buying and supported by a firm New York demonstration, the rally flattened in the last hour on the industrial board of the Toronto Stock Exchange, and at the close losses and gains were about equally divided. Beverages, including brewery and distillery shares, and also utility, steel and construction issues held generally firm.

Final prices for Walkers Common, Distillers Seagrams and Industrial Alcohol were up to ½ and Brewers and distillers was active at 2.40, off 5 cents. Brewing Corporation held unchanged while the Preferred issue added a full point.

Nickel and Smelters closed steady while Brazilian and C.P.R. held narrowly to the upside. Ford "A" was off a little.

MINING ISSUES WEAKEN AT CLOSE

Profit-taking Appears in Silver Group—Senior Golds Also Down.

TORONTO, April 11.— (C.P.) — The mining section of the Toronto stock exchange slowed down this afternoon and prices drifted slowly lower, giving the board a big preponderance of narrow losses at the close. Profit-taking in the silver group on yesterdays rise, started the selling and the buying demand proved to be too thin to absorb the offerings. Recessions up to about 75 cents came out in the senior golds.

In the porfit-taking Eldorado weakened 17 cents to 3.70, White Eagle 2 to 41, Nipissing 20 to 2.55 and Mining Corporation 15 to 2.25, Base Metals held fairly well, Noranda showing a small gain and Falconbridge, Sudbury Basin and Pend Oreille adding light gains.

Senior gold stocks were traded in fair volume, particulraly Lake Shore, Hollinger, Pioneer, Teck Hughes and Wright Hargreaves. Recessions of 25 to 75 appeared for Dome, Hollinger, Lake Shore and McIntyre and Teck, Wright Hargreaves and Pioneer were off 5 to 20 cents each.

Fenelon Falls Lads Are Outrun By Otter

LINDSAY, Ont., April 11 (CP)—Residents of Fenelon Falls yesterday got their first look at a live otter within the village in the past 54 years. Youths tried to catch the valuable fur-bearing animal, but it outspeeded them. An old resident recalled that 54 years ago, on April 16th two live otters were cornered by two Fenelon Falls men.

In the fight that followed one man, James Fox, lost two fingers, and othe other, Paul Sophey, was bitten on the hands and arms. The otters were winning until a third man, Joe Laverau entered the fray with a club and quickly killed the plucky little animals.

Baseball Player Hurt In Left Eye

Leslie Burton, popular local hockey and baseball player, suffered a severe injury yesterday morning to his left eye while at work at the Canadian Johnson Motor plant, when a splinter of brass entered his eye.

He was conveyed to hospital, where Dr. C. C. Cragg removed the splinter which had penetrated iris of the eye. Dr. Cragg was hopeful that the sight will not be materially affected, although this is not certain as yet.

Daily working time has been increased in German textile industries.

Son To Fight Order Giving Mother Farm

LONDON, Ont., April 11 (CP) — Mrs. Sarah Jane Morrison, 84-year-old Wardsville widow, may have to take part in another court battle for possession of her small home, as the result of an appeal filed with the Supreme Court today.

Charles C. McCrimmon, Mrs. Morrison's son, has entered an appeal against the decision of Justice G. F. McFarland, who made him give up the Wardsville home and small farm to his mother.

Mrs. Morrison sued her son for possession of the farm she had given him a deed to the property on the understanding he was to keep her for the rest of her life. Howevef, she quarrelled with her son and daughter-in-law, and asked the court for possession of the property. Justice McFarlane, who heard the case, ordered the son to return the title to the property to his mother.

TWO FIREMEN LOST IN BLAZE

Disappear After Entering Burning Store at Perth Amboy, N.J.

$50,000 DAMAGE.

PERTH AMBOY, N.J., April 11. (A.P.)—Fire Chief Rolan Jensen and Fireman Sylvester Palo are believed to have perished in a fire which swept through the F. and W. Grand 5 and 10 cent store here early to-day.

Jensen and Palo were first to reach the fire and immediately went into the blazing building. They were seen no more.

Other firemen worked frantically to conquer the flames and attempt to rescue the missing men. It is believed they went to their deaths when the floor gave way, hurling them into an inferno of flames.

In an adjoining building, Mrs. Quinn, 98, mother of Arthur J. Quinn, Comptroller of the Port of New York, was carried to safety through dense clouds of smoke.

Damage was estimated by them at $50,000.

Find Negro Guilty Of Stabbing Boy 12

HALIFAX, April 11 (C.P.).—A verdict of guilt, with a recommendation for mercy, was returned by a Supreme Court jury this afternoon against Daniel P. Sampson, Halifax Negro, charged with the murder of 12-year-old Bramwell Heffernan.

The jury was out an hour and a half, returning with a verdict finding the 39-year-old stevedore guilty of stabbing the boy to death.

Crown authorities did not indicate immediately whether they proposed placing the Negro, in the light of the verdict, on trial for killing 10-year-old Edward Heffernan, brother of Bramwell. Indictments had been returned against him on both counts.

Sampson, termed a moron by a defence psychiatrist, heard the decision stoically, just as he had sat with apparent lack of interest through the two-day trial. He was not sentenced immediately.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET CLOSE.

NEW YORK, April 11 (C.P.). — Spasmodic buying flurries occurred in alcohols, rails, and several other stock groups to-day, but old line leaders were indifferent. Motors were a little heavy. Coca-Cola and American Can rose around 2 points each. Santa Fe, American Tobacco B, Northern Pacific, and National Distillers were up about a point. U.S. Steel and American Telephone were steady, but U.S. Smelting, Chrysler, General Motors, and Nash were down major fractions.

Transfers approximated 1,500,000 shares.

Nellie Likes Her Tobacco, But Habit Not Encourged

STRATFORD, April 11.—The man who lives near Windsor, N.S., and has a dog which chews tobacco should compare notes with Ambrose Willis, 306 Deure Street, a teamster for the McLagan Furniture Company. Ambrose drives a horse which likes a chew of tobacco.

Her name is Nellie, and she appreciates a nibble off a plug of a well-known brand every now and again. Her driver doesn't encourage her. It's costly enough to buy one's own tobacco these days.

Ambrose always had a horse with extravagant tastes. There was Barney, who was destroyed three years ago at the honorable old age of 27. Barney had a reputation as a tobacco chewer. He used to chew a twenty-cent plug a week, and looked formore. Barney was particular about his tobacco. He didn't like the brand his driver chewed, so special purchases had to be made for him. Barney used to swallow his tobacco. His driver never did teach him to spit.

No wonder then, that Nellie's bad habits are not encouraged. Her driver gives her a bit of tobacco now and again, but he takes no chances on having her become such a confirmed chewer as Barney. Nellie is 21 years of age now. She has been on the job for ten or twelve years.

Mr. Willis makes a hobby of training pets. He had a dog—Pedro was his name—which used to go around picking up lighted cigar stubs which careless smokers had thrown away. He would smother them in the dirt, and then carry them between his own teeth.

PROPOSE DIRECT HOG SHIPMENTS

announced, have engaged the services of some illustrious economists who are preparing an elaborate brief on price spreads and mass buying. The packers will specialize on direct livestock buying and the hog differentials, both of which have been attacked before the committee by producers and middlemen.

When the committee opened, Mr. Stevens asked members to make their questions as pointed as possible in order to shorten the livestock phase.

J. L. Ilsley, (Lib., Hants-King), said the investigation so far had covered only one side. Witnesses so far had advanced "open markets" and abolition of fixed differentials.

Mr. Stevens said the packers and all others interested would be given the fullest facilities before the committee. Most of the witnesses so far had asked to be heard and if there were others who wished to appear he would be glad to hear them.

Sam Factor, Lib. Toronto, thought a great deal of time was being devoted to hogs, although he appreciated the importance of the subject.

Mr. Stevens said there were many other things to be considered. The committee was to investigate rubber, tobacco and other matters.

There was a hesitancy on the part of many persons in the livestock industry to come forward, said the minister. But anyone, whether packer, shipper, producer could come before the committee and present his side of the question.

H. P. Kennedy, Toronto livestock exporter, was questioned regarding the operation of the Livestock Marketing Board which he suggested yesterday should be formed to control the price spread between consumer and producer.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

WILL SUMMON SIX SATELLITES NAMED BY WIRT

Democrats Label "Red Plot" as "Bunk" and Aim to Wind Up Probe Fast.

NOT CALLING "KINGPINS."

Speaker Rainey Claims Testimony Relieves Tension, Admits Some Believe Story.

WASHINGTON, April 11.—(A.P.)—Democrats labelled Dr. William A. Wirt's "red plot" testimony as "bunk" to-day and planned to wind up the inquiry swiftly next week by questioning the persons he called "satellites" of the "brain trust." From Republican ranks there came cries of "gag" and "whitewash."

The majority after listening to the Gary, Ind., school master, made clear they have no intention of summoning any of the kingpins of the so-called brain trust.

They frankly expressed the opinion that after six guests at a Virginia dinner party attended by Dr. Wirt testify next week, the inquiry will be all washed up.

The guests, most of whom hold minor positions, will tell their stories beginning Tuesday.

Republican members of the special United States' House of Representatives committee, however, were vehement in demands that subpoenas be served on the bigger "brain trusters" quoted secondhand by Dr. William A. Wirt yesterday as planning to "overthrow our existing social order."

"Tugwell the Leader

Although Wirt conceded that his allegations were based largely on statements the "staellites" made at the September dinner party, he made clear that he felt Rexford Guy Tugwell, assistant secretary of agriculture and so-called "No. 1 brain-truster," was a leader in the "revolution" move of which he professed fear.

Wirt's intimations, however, swayed neither Chairman Alfred Bulwinkle (D., (N.C.), of the special committee, nor his two Democratic colleagues—William Arnold of Illinois and John O'Connor of New York. Since the Democrats outnumber the Republicans it was likely that their views would prevail.

In fact, Bulwinkle told reporters:

"We do not plan to summon Tugwell or any other real brain trusters."

Only 6 to be Heard.

The only persons the committee now intends to hear, he explained, are Dr. Wirt's companions at the McLean, Va., dinner.

He named them as Robert Bruere, chairman of N.R.A.'s textile code authority; David C. Coyle, public works administration architect; Miss Hildegarde Kneeland, Department of Agriculture economist; Miss Mary Taylor, economist in the A.A.A. consumer division; Laurence Todd, correspondent of Tass, the Soviet news agency; and the hostess, Miss Alice Barrows, a former secretary of Wirt but now in the Interior Department.

A three-hour conversation with them, Wirt testified, was largely responsible for his statement that "brain trustees" plotted a revolution.

He quoted Miss Kneeland at length on Tugwell's philosophy of government. To Todd he attributed the remark that President Roosevelt is "only the Kerensky of this revolution" to be supplanted by a "Stalin." Todd issued a denial.

Speaker Henry Rainey, quoted by Wirt as having said the government was going to take over industries, denied that and added:

"His testimony releases the country from the tension it felt and from the fear of immediate revolution. You know, some people believe that kind of bunk."

Bulwinkle said he felt the detailed testimony of the other six diners should make Wirt's allegations look "sillier."

OTTAWA'S STAND ASKED ON ONTARIO RELIEF MOVE

OTTAWA, April 11 (CP)—Was the Government sympathetic to the announcement of Premier G. S. Henry, that relief allowances in the Province be increased by 25 per cent, and would the Dominion grant to Ontario be increased automatically? Humphrey Mitchell (Labor, Hamilton East) asked in the House of Commons last night.

"I have not seen nor have I been notified what the Ontario Government is doing," replied Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor, "but as I have indicated before any contribution that may be made by the Federal Government to the Province will have to be the subject matter of an agreement between the two governments if and after this legislation passes Parliament, and the authority to enter into such an agreement is vested in the government."

The unemployment Relief Bill for the present fiscal year was being discussed at the time.

ONTARIO POLICE IN MANY DUTIES

Members of Provincial Force Called on for Varied Tasks on Frontiers.

TORONTO, April 11. — (CP). — Tasks of Ontario provincial policemen in the northern part of the province are almost as varied as those of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. In his recent annual report, Major-General Victor Williams, commissioner, quotes a report of one of his constables, which reads:

"I was informed that several Indians were sick and in need of medical attention across the river at Dog Lake. I at once proceeded to visit all the shacks on the island and found some of the Indians in very bad physical condition. Two squaws were not receiving the proper care at child-birth and babies were süffering from skin disease.

"I wired the Indian agent to send a doctor as soon as possible. In the meantime I succeeded in getting two nurses up by freight train whom I met and took to the island by dog team. They rendered first aid to the squaws and babies and no doubt saved one woman's life as peritonitis had set in. When the doctors arrived I took them by dog team to where the sick Indians were."

The commissioner's report says constables are called for "unimaginable purposes and are expected to be the guide, counsellor and friend of settlers, trappers, prospectors and Indians."

His report praises the conduct of men in trans-Canada highway camps where, it says, "conditions were exceptionally good, they having been free of trouble of any kind."

WAS NOT AWARE HUMAN BEING HIT

time, prior to reading of Beebe's death in the paper did he have any suspicion that Pridmore's car had hit a human being.

Defence counsel asked McGynne what time he was picked up in Trenton and was informed that it was at 6.10 p.m.

"If it is shown that Mr. Pridmore received a long distance 'phone call at 6.00 p.m. in Belleville, do you still maintain you were with him at 6.10 p.m. in Trenton?" asked defence counsel.

"It was ten minutes after six when we were driving out of Trenton," replied McGynne.

McGynne told defence counsel that it was 11 p.m. when he and Pridmore arrived in Tpronto.

"If a real estate dealer in Toronto says that he was talking to Mr. Pridmore in Toronto at 10 p.m., would you still say you got there at 11 p.m.?" asked defence counsel.

"It was about 11 p.m.' maintained McGynne.

SHOOTING MOTHER-IN-LAW GETS MINER JAIL TERM

TORONTO, April 11 (C.P.).—Convicted of doing grievous bodily harm by shooting his mother-in-law through the hand, Gordon Coleman, 23-year-old Timmins miner, was sentenced to-day by Mr. Justice J. A. Hope to two years less one day imprisonment.

The youth previously was charged with attempting to murder the woman, Mrs. Mabel Shaw, when she attempted to telephone police during a family altercation, but the jury convicted him on the lesser charge.

HOUSE DEBATE PROVIDES FUN

Members Enjoy Episode as Heenan and Gott Bicker Like Schoolboys.

NASTY REMARKS.

OTTAWA, April 10 (CP)—After a rather circumspect debate which dragged through the afternoon in the House of Commons yesterday on the Unemployment Relief Measure, the discussion slipped near six o'clock. Hon. Peter Heenan, former Minister of Labor, had been condemning the Ontario Provincial Government at some length.

"It is cheap trash for a provincial election and you will not get to first base with it," cut in Eccles Gott (Cons., Essex South).

This brought a return from Mr. Heenan and led to further crossfire.

"Every time I talk to my honorable friend I am ashamed of myself," said Mr. Heenan.

"All this conversation is entirely out of order," said Findlay MacDonald (Cons., Cape Breton South) who was presiding at the time, for the House was in committee.

"I want to be decent but I can never be decent when I am speaking to the honorable gentleman," Mr. Heenan replied, to which Mr. Gott observed that now he knew what to expect.

"If the chairman cannot keep that honorable gentleman quiet," Mr. Heenan added, "I will go over and do it myself."

"You would have a fine time," came back from Mr. Gott.

"All you would have to do," said Mr. Heenan, "would be to give him a little pin prick and he would blow up like a bubble."

The few members in the House at the time were enjoying the interlude. "Shut up," one member playfully shouted from time to time. "Just a waste of time," came from another, and "Like the grunt of a pig," was on observation sent across the chamber, as Mr. Speaker resumed his place, and the House rose at six o'clock.

Montreal's Finances Worries British M.P.

LONDON, April 11 (C.P. Cable).—Questioners who have been repeatedly reassured regarding the financial status of the city of Montreal returned to the subject in the House of Commons to-day. Sir Nicholas Grattan-Doyle, Conservative, asked if Montreal had recently taken steps to obtain a loan in London and suggested for the "protection of the public" in the event of a loan being obtained privately steps should be taken to prevent its resale in Britain until the Canadian authorities had reported the city had balanced its budget.

Leslie Hore-Belisha, Financial Secretary to the Treasury, replied that so far as he had been able to ascertain no steps had been taken by Montreal recently to borrow in London, and therefore the second part of the question did not arise.

JURY HEAR WITNESSES.

PERTH, Ont., April 11 (C.P.). — The Grand Jury of the Lanark County Assizes this afternoon was nearing the end of the examination of numerous witnesses on the murder indictment against Dr. Wilton Pratt, aged physician of Smith's Falls.

It was expected they would shortly be able to commence hearing the evidence on the 10 charges of performing illgal operations that also stand against the 70-year-old doctor who is held in a jail cell here.

HARPER WILL IS PROBATED

City's Oldest Native Resident Leaves Estate of $16,787.95.

DIED IN 91ST YEAR.

John Harper, the city's oldest native, who died in his 91st year on the evening of February 5, last left an estate of $16,787.95 consisting of personal property amounting to $14,937.95 and real property valued at $1,850.

In his last will and testament which has recently been probated Idonia Gillot, wife of William Gillot of this city is bequeathed the property located at 588 Romaine street, in which the late Mr. Harper was residing, as well as all the furniture and household goods and effects.

To Ernest Sutherland, express agent, who is named in the will along with Sydney Taylor Medd as an executor and trustee, is bequeathed the sum of $500, while to Percy Rubidge is willed, "the oil painting of my late wife and the oil painting of Charles Shaw".

Residuary Trust Fund

Under the terms of the will the trustees are directed to dispose of all real and personal estate not otherwise disposed of in the will, and to set up a "residuary trust fund". The net income from the residuary trust fund, it is directed, is to be paid to George C. Irwin, barber, during the term of his natural life.

"If any event or events occur as a consequence of which the said net income shall cease to be payable to the said George C. Irwin", the terms of the will state, "the trustees may in their uncontrolled discretion,

(1) Expend such part, as they shall deem advisable in the maintainence of the wife and children of George C. Irwin, or,

(2) Pay the net income or any part to any member of the family of George C. Irwin for such purpose and on such terms and conditions as they may think proper to prescribe, or

(3) Retain the net income or any part thereof and add the sum to the residuary trust fund.

"Upon the death of George C. Irwin the net income of the residuary trust fund shall be payable in semi-annual installments to Idonia Gillot for the term of her natural life.

Division of Fund

"Upon the death of Idonia Gillot the residuary trust fund shall be divided into three equal parts and disposed of as follows, namely:

"One-third to the Salvation Army.

"One-third to the Presbyterian Church or congregation at Peterborough commonly known and called Knox Church, and

"One-third to the Trustees of the Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, provided that the institution, its successors and assigns agree to at all times stand ready and willing to receive at their hospital and furnish a good private room and board free of charge to any one related to the testator, for such period as a competent medical authority may deem necessary to restore such person to normal health, and further provided the hospital trustees for the time being permit the testator's executors to place in a conspicuous place in the said hospital a brass tablet stating the testator's name and the purpose of this bequest.

"I authorize the trustees to invest moneys of my estate in any investment which they shall deem reasonably secured and likely to return fair annual increase, not being limited to investments expressly authorized by law, and with power to retain investments made by me in my life so long as they shall think proper, and to reinvest the proceeds of the same or any part thereof, in similar security, and in order to carry out my intentions I exonerate my trustees from any responsibility for loss or damage which may be occasioned by retaining investments in the form in which the same shall be at the time of my death and by reason of investments made by them in good faith in securities other than those authorized by law".

Mr. Harper makes a provision in his will automatically disentitling any benificary or legatee from receiving any benefits, in the event that they contest the validity of any of the provisions of the will. He also leaves instructions for the guidance of the trustees in the administration of the estate.

The will is dated September 22, 1933, and is given over the signature of John Harper, with Sydney Taylor Medd and F. Rickey as witnesses. A codicil to the will appoints George W. Lundy, insurance agent, one of the executors and trustees in place of Sydney Taylor Medd.

FAMED ACTOR DIES IN LONDON

Sir Gerald du Maurier is Victim of Internal Disorder at Age of 61.

NOTED PRODUCER.

LONDON, Eng., April 11. (AP).—Sir Gerald Du Maurier, noted actor, died in a nursing home today after an operation for an internal disorder.

He was 61 years old.

Famed as an actor, producer and manager, Sir Gerald was born at Hampstead, England, March 26, 1873. He ws the son of the late George Du Maurier, who won renown as an artist on the staff of Punch and as author of "Trilby".

At 21, Sir Gerald made his first stage appearance at the Garrick Theatre in the play "The Old Jew."

He went to North American in 1896, playing in "The Dancing Girl," "Hamlet,", "The Seats of the Mighty," "The Red Lamp," "Trilby" and "King Henry IV".

One of his big successes was scored at the Hicks Theatre in May, 1907, when he appeared as Montgomery Brewster in "Brewster's Millions."

He became associated with Frank Curzon in the management of Wyndham's Theare and opened in September, 1910, as John Frampton in "Nobody's Daughter."

As his fame grew steadily, he was called upon to appear at many command performances and played in a number of proluctions arranged for benefits.

Sir Gerald interrupted his brilliant theatrical career in 1918 when he joined the army as a cadet in the Irish Guards. He did not reappear on the stage until September 8, 1919 as John Ingleby Cordways in "The Hoice" at Wundham's hTeatre.

AND NOW THE HAPPY PRINCE AND PRINCESS ASSUME CARES OF STATE ON BELGIAN THRONE

Albert's Tragic End Brings Romantic Couple to Royal Duties

(This is the final instalment of a four-part story of the romantic life of the new Queen of the Belgians.)

By JOHN PARKER
Central Press Canadian Writer

Astrid and Leopold lived simply—King and Queen apparent of the Belgians.

Leopold had a busy official and military life, inspecting colonies and other journeys. Matters of royalty still did not keep Astrid from her many duties as housekeeper—Leopold's income of $17,000 a year requiring much management to get along. (As king, however, Leopold will receive more than a million a year.)

Traditions of dignity meant nothing to this couple very much in love.. Recently, returning from a visit to Sweden, Astrid saw Leopold and King Albert waiting on the quay. The king cautioned his eager son to remember his regal dignity.

But as soon as the gangplank was out, both prince and princess rushed together—meeting in the middle of the gangplank for an affectionate embrace.

Sports Enthusiasts

Both were ardent sports lovers, and continued their tennis and swimming, with time for winter sports in Switzerland every year.

It was in a tiny villag eln Switzerland that Astrid received the news that King Albert had been killed while climbing a peak—news that made her a queen.

Astrid was sleeping when the long distance telephone urgently summoned Leopold. Stunned, the prince awakened Astrid and told her of the death of his father. In the pale light of early dawn, the sorrowing couple dressed hastily for their sad journey to Brussels.

King—and Queen

In the dark of a winter night, with spluttering candles to supply feeble and weird light, they saw the remains of King Albert, borne back to his capital on an artillery cassion. Supporting each other in their grief, they walked together to the king's grave.

In formal Picture of Belgium's Royal Family

With the nation still in mourning, Leopold took the oath that made him king—and Astrid, queen.

Wearing a lieutenant's uniform, Leopold stood soberly before Belgium's parliament. To his left sat Queen Astrid, in full mourning, but with her veil pushed back from her face. Beside her sat the assured Princess Charlotte—but tiny Prince Badouin was distressed and nervous, clutching his mother's skirts. Quietly, Atrid reassured him and finally the tiny prince stood royally by.

Raising his right hand, with index and forefinger joined, Leopold took the oath of allegiance, promised to support the constitution and became Leopold III., King of the Belgians.

Another child is expected. The hopes are that he, too, may be a prince. But who can tell—Astrid may be Belgium's last queen. Even now parliament is not entirely satisfied with a "dictator" cabinet set up by the late king.

Belgium, "most royalist" of countries, may yet abandon monarchial rule.

MADRIGAL SINGERS PRESENT FINE MUSICAL ENTERTAINMENT

their very beautiful music, but their own interest must also be unfailingly keen and their attention unrelaxing, to produce such exquisite shading and expressive renditions of selections that range from grave to gay, from lively to severe.

The Singers were fortunate in having as assisting artist one of the finest musicians who has come to Peterborough in a long time, Madam Norah de Kresz of Toronto. Endowed with a striking personality, a warmth and friendliness of manner that made her a favorite at once with her audience, Madam de Kresz proved to be a mistress of the pianforte. She played with warmth and charm, with a thorough musicianship that made the most exacting of her selections appear to be extremely easy, so facile was her execution, with an expressive rendition that colored each composition with a manner all its own, and also with an outstanding touch on the keyboard. Two of her numbers displayed a strong, virile, forceful, touch that appeared almost like that of a man, while the others exhibited a smooth, velvety texture, almost muted in effect. It seemed as though the hard balls of her fingers were used at times, while the broad, velvety, long pads struck the notes in the softer interludes.

This remarkably gifted musician was generous in the extreme, playing two encores for each of her groups of selections. Artistic, satisfying and thorough, playing with warm spontaneity, an attractive adjunct of her music was the undertone of gay composure that radiated through each selection, as if the warm, balanced essence of the musician impregnated the ivory keys.

Motets in Latin

Dr. Ernest MacMillan's very fine arrangement of the National Anthem opened the program and then the Madrigal Singers presented two motets in Latin, sung "a capella." These motets, which were originally a secular form of a part-song, with Biblical verse as the theme, became more variable in the eighteenth century, and evolved then as the practical equivalent of the English anthem. The word is derived from "motto," or "mot," signifying a text or saying. Last evening, Palestrina's "Sub tuum praesidium," and Vittoria's "Ave Maria," formed the text of the two motets. According to an authority in the audience, the Latin pronunciation was exceptionally good, and the unaccompanied words, which, added to the unfamiliar language, must have made these little pieces quite difficult, were sung with delicate precision, the high clarity of the soprano voces relieved by the cool richness of the altos, and the second item, the "Ave Maria," imbued with requisite reverence for this choral rendition of an age-old petition to the Mother of God.

In this second motet also, was exhibited a quality of finely controlled, beautifully shaded swelling crescendo that was noticeable in many of the choral effects, and that requires skill and sustained effort to make so perfect.

On their second appearance, the Singers presented a group of German dances woven about a sentimental theme that sprang from the musical pen of the sweet German composer, Schubert, and were impregnated with the delicate charm and optimistic atmosphere imparted by this musician. They were in varying mood, ranging from the pastoral peace of "On Forest Verge," to the philosophic tone of "Wait a While"—"no storming, no striving, can ever quell the march of time, go now and mark this well"—to the finale "Now with Yearnings," of this tone picture of youthful joy and romance. In this group, individual solo bits made a departure in the usual choral procedure.

Trio of Folk Songs

A trio of charming folk songs of differing national type came next, with plenty of variety in their modulations and tone coloring. Two were repetitions of favorites of other years. These were the English "spoken" composition, "My Johnny was a Shoemaker," all about the gay lad whose jacket was of "deep sky blue," who went to sea and left his lass consoling herself with a buoyant ditty, and the sombre Belgian folk number, "The Faithless Lover," with its phrase of haunting remembrance, "Dry the tears that blind me." In the third of these bits of national tone pictures, "Play, O Gypsy,"—"let the trembling strings, awakening, sigh and sing my bitter woe"—was the temperamental mood of the Hungarian singer. All were adequately interpreted by the sweet voices, the Belgian number, in particular, evoking renewed applause.

The last group, with the major effort of the evening in the final composition, a repetition of another year's rendition of "The Snow," demonstrated very forcibly the precision in attack and instant release of tone, the swelling, finely modulated crescendos and the sustained, soft finales of delicate, pianissimo tone, that animates all the music of the Madrigal Singers.

This group was comprised of English compositions, the first "In the Highlands," by George Butterworth, a young composer who died at Vimy Ridge, and three of the musical children of Sir Edward Elgar, who died this year. They were his "My Love Dwelt in a Northern Land," sung in unaccompanied fashion, also "As Torrents in Summer," and, exquisitely rendered, "The Snow," descriptive in atmosphere, with the soft fall of winter snow simulated in the recurrent hissing sibilants of the words. This had a beautiful background in piano, violin (played by Stanley Northrop), and 'cello (played by Martin Chenhall, Junior). So attractive was the rendition that the audience demanded a repetition.

As always, the superb piano accompaniments of Mrs. Agnes Logan Green provided the last touch of charm and effectiveness to the choral music, delicate sweetness of her playing giving just enough emphasis to the instrumental background.

Piano Solo Numbers

The Singers formed a semi-circular group for the piano selection by the gifted Madam de Kresz whose muse was colored by a sensitive, imaginative quality that took nothing from its power and dynamic force, in passages of forte type.

An element in the attraction of her work was the pleasing character of the choice of compositions unless, perhaps, by some chance which could not be doubted by one who fell under the potent spell of this gifted musician, she is able to color any composition with her own especial allure.

Madam de Kresz played four brief numbers by older musicians, as opening selections. Johann Sebastian Bach, of whom Schumann said that "music owes almost as great a debt as a religion owes to its founder," came first, with the celebrated Organ Fugue in G minor (minus the Prelude, however), which he composed as a tribute to the master pianist, Reinken, at the time of his visit to Hamburg in 1720, shortly after the death of his first wife. It has been said of Bach that his religion, severely Lutheran, colored his music, and that he never wrote to please the public taste, but rather with an eye to the demands of the composition. In listening to these fugues, with the theme repeated in varying forms, one recalls that Jeremy Taylor said: "All parts of the scheme are eternally chasing each other, like the parts of a fugue."

In this composition was demonstrated that broad, full, masterly tone that changed later to a velvety texture for the three lighter numbers: the Italian composer Ciaia's "Allegro Molto" arranged by a "ferocious" modernist, Bartok, in which one hand seemed to be struggling for supremacy over the other; Scarlatti's "Capriccio," in D Major and A Major, a delightfully whimsical bit of evanescent, enchanting music in which the melody dances in the treble in sharply-etched, crystalline trills, and Christian Bach's "Allegretto," with a right hand busy at unceasing demi-quavers and the left hand dashing across to sketch gay, high-pitched treble accents that embroidered the main theme.

Two vivacious encores of brisk type with the right hand working overtime in a ceaseless treble, were accorded the insistent applause for the first group.

Slavic and Gallic Music

The "highly spiced" music of Hungary and the gay, brittle music of France had their way in the second group. Dohnayi, a contemporary musician who lives in Budapest, who directs the Philharmonic Society's orchestra there and who has charge of broadcasting in Hungary, was heard in two sharply contrasting compositions. They were the peaceful, lovely music of Christmas-time and shepherds' pipes, "in "Pastorale" and the equally fascinating "Ruralia Hungaria" in which the frenzied enthusiasm and fervor of the Magyar peeped forth, in pounded, massive, forte chords.

Debussy's music was not as satisfying, probably because so very different in type. It impressed with its cool, passionless, "moonlight' quality after the stormy Hungarian melodies. Madam de Kresz played two of the noted Frenchman's compositions: "Sarabande", from the dance suite. "Prelude, Sarabande and Toccata", and "Minstrels," with its capricious, almost freakish changes in mood.

As a double encore came some glorious Chopin music and a gay, brief, sparkling finale to a marvellously played piano program.

During the evening, a beautiful bouquet of flowers was presented to the director of the Singers, Mrs. Park, whose facility in training her group had an outstanding demonstration of its worth in the undeniable success from every angle of last evening's concert.

Members of the Madrigal Singers' group are as follows: Mrs. A. Barton of Lindsay, formerly of Peterborough, Mrs. L. M. Brooks, Mrs. C. H. Crowe, Mrs. G. H. Cutmore, Mrs. F. Free of Campbellford, Mrs. E. Kitney, Mrs. J. Matthews, Mrs. L. Mitchell, Mrs. E. V. Morphet, Mrs. G. Richmond, Mrs. L. Spriggs, Mrs. F. Turner, Mrs. S. Whitehouse, Mrs. Ross Williamson, the Misses Freda Allison, Eleanor Brown, Isabel Connolly, Jean Cameron, Geraldine Collins, Pearl Carruthers, Margaret Dickson, Ethelwyn Dix, Jean Dickinson of Port Hope, May Jory, Helen Lytle, Emma Meiklejohn of Campbellford, Jessie Maconomy, Isobel McKee, Mary Medd, Trucie Pearson, Marion Rannie, Marion Ralston, Dorothy Sager and Margaret Wolstenholm.

ANGLO-AMERICAN TARIFF DEALS OFF FOR PRESENT

LONDON, April 11 (AP)—Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, told the House of Commons yesterday that tariff negotiations between the United States and Great Britain were impractical at present.

Runciman said: "I do not think commercial conversations between the two governments could be usefully considered at present."

His statement was in reply to a member's question whether in view of the fact that "a free interchange of commodities would secure additional employment in the two countries," he would initiate talks with the United States designed toward the mutual lowering or, preferably, abolition of tariffs.

The reply was interpreted as at least a partial answer by the British government to Richard Washburn Childs' recent tour of European capitals at the behest of President Roosevelt. Child sounded out various nations on tariff.

ALL-BRAN MADE HIM REGULAR AS CLOCK

Delicious Cereal Corrected His Constipation

We quote from his voluntary and enthusiastic letter: "After reading your advertisement, I decided to use ALL-BRAN. I had been taking pills right along. But now I don't have to take pills.

"I take ALL-BRAN every morning, and am as regular as the clock. It has done me a lot of good."—Stephen Higgins (address furnished upon request).

Common constipation frequently causes headaches, loss of appetite and energy. Yet this condition can be overcome, usually, by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN.

Tests show this delicious cereal provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid elimination. ALL-BRAN is also rich in iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently this clears out the intestinal wastes.

Isn't this safer than taking harmful patent medicines? Two tablespoonfuls daily are usually sufficient. Chronic cases, with each meal. If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN makes no claim to be a "cure-all."

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal with milk or cream. Use it also in making fluffy muffins, and breads, etc. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Examiner Cooking School Opens in Opera House

All-Canadian School Is Largely Attended On The Opening Day

Miss Francis Thompson and Her Able Assistant, Miss Vincent, Introduced to Large Audience of Peterborough Women by James Dutton.

LECTURER WELCOMES SUGGESTIONS AND HINTS FROM HER AUDIENCE—RECIPES NOT EXPENSIVE

The Examiner Cooking School is off to a fine start. Again enormous crowds attended the Grand Opera House yesterday afternoon to hear Miss E. Frances Thompson as she skilfully demonstrated for the Canadian School of Home Science. This is an all-Canadian school, and none but all-Canadian products are used by Miss Thompson.

Long before two o'clock, a steady hum of happy voices was heard as the large auditorium, the galleries, and the "gods" were speedily filled with eager and interested women, who were all ready with pencil and notebook when the curtain was raised.

Mr. R M. Glover, president of The Examiner, cordially welcomed the army of Peterborough housewives to this latest Cooking School, which bids fair to become the best ever sponsored by The Examiner.

Miss Thompson and her efficiently trained assistant, Miss Vincent, were introduced to the vast audience by James Dutton, of the Chamber of Commerce, in glowing terms. Calling attention to the beautiful equipment, the well-filled larder, and all the impedimenta, he declared they would mean nothing without Miss Thompson's presence to illustrate their many uses and values.

Mr. Dutton reminded the class that for the great privilege they were enjoying in attending this Cooking School they were indebted to The Peterborough Examiner, who sponsors it.

Miss Thompson and Miss Vincent were also accorded a royal welome by the audience.

Cooking may be a serious matter for some women, but to Frances Thompson, it is so evidently a joy and a delight that those who listen to her lectures find them not only instructive but a source of supreme entertainment.

Evidently Peterborough women held a vivid remembrance of this fact, for they came in their hundreds, if not thousands, to hear and admire, and they were not disappointed. From the moment Miss Thompson stepped upon the stage, she had her audience with her. Her charmingly healthy and wholesome personality fairly radiated the joy of living, and her deft fingers as they stir and pat and mould, fascinate the eye, and her unquenchable enthusiasm for her work must be an inspiration to every woman who is pacing the monotonous treadmill of "three meals a day."

Doing Good Deed.

Anyone who can lighten that task is doing her "good deed" and surely the women who attended yesterday afternoon's session, went home with fresh zeal for the daily round of housekeeping.

There is nothing dull about Miss Thompson's interpretation of the culinary art. Interspersed with her exposition of the best way to make a meat loaf or the surest method of producing a perfect Yorkshire pudding is an amusing anecdone, a bit of personal experience or some little quirk of expression that sends the crowd into gales of laughter.

In her opening speech our lecturer, who looked just as trim and attractive as we remembered her—in spottlessly white Hoover dress, with its shoulder spray of sweet roses—her white shoes and flesh-colored stockings—said how glad she was to see so many women present.

Not Formal Gathering.

She emphasized the fact that this was not a formal gathering, and how she welcomes suggestions and hints from her hearers. She does not even mind interruptions, and is always glad to explain anything which is not quite clear, to anyone in the audience, if asked to do so.

The stage setting is charming and highly practical, a part of which is Miss Thompson's personal property. It is carried out in cream color and blue, and dainty curtains are used here just as you might have them in your own kitchen.

A beautiful dining-room set at one side of the stage has the table done in Community China and Community Plate (King Cedric). Tall green candles, a large green pottery bowl filled with pink carnations for centrepiece, and sparkling glassware formed a most attractive ensemble.

Entirely at home in this environment, Miss Thompson began her lecture and demonstrations. Her first offering was an appetising ham and beef loaf, and the finished product left nothing to be desired.

Supreme aluminum utensils were used for the preparation of this meat loaf, and the meat itself was supplied by Buehler Bros.

"Toad in the Hole," a sort of glorified Yorkshire pudding, at least in appearance, caught the fancy of everyone at once, as being a particular favorite in its way. It was also guaranteed to bring any husband into quick submission.

Talking about husbands; one of them had the supreme pleasure of tasting this dish for supper last night.

The Quick Bread which Miss Thompson made is highly adaptable, but as a breakfast accessory, cannot be improved. Her settled "habit" of using "Eggo" as her baking powder assures success, whether for the finest and most delicate cakes or for bread and biscuit.

Colorful Fruit Salad

The piece de resistance of the Cooking School yesterday, we think, was a delectable and colorful fruit salad which fairly made one's mouth water.

And, best of all, Miss Thompson's recipes are within the means of the most humble housewife, and her methods are clear, concise and easy to carry out.

A wholesome and appetising drink, especially for children, was the concoction produced from Vi-Tone and hot milk, in the twinkling of an eye by Miss Thompson's capable hands.

While friend husband may not be vitally interested in methods for washing stockings and lingerie, you should see him sit up and take notice when he sees the difference Miss Thompson's method of doing this homely bit of work, makes in the family budget.

And tea! The cup that cheers. Did you see the women observe the easy process yesterday, by which a good cup of tea may be brewed (even in a chipped teapot), when you use the best brand of tea—Salada.

Perhaps, after all, "Magic Mayonnaise" was the best recipe of the lot. And the method of its making was indeed pure magic. This clever handling of ingredients, which, by the twist of the hand, turned it into a tantalizing appetiser, certainly left a "good" taste in the mouth for to-day's lesson, the second in the series of The Examiner Cooking School, which promises to be even more interesting than that of yesterday.

Generous Prizes

One had only to glimpse the smiling eyes of the winners of yesterday's generous prizes to get an idea what this school really means. "Sure! See you to-morrow," could be heard from dozens of voices as you pass along the street to catch your 'bus home. For, however kindly the offer, everybody could not take advantage of the "Chevrolet" that stood at the door and needed only your "best smile" to receive the reward of "a drive home."

The firms who have entered so heartily with The Examiner in promoting this cooking school—believing it to be one of the most profitable of advertising schemes, are the following:

NEW INHALATOR IS PURCHASED

Added to Fire Department at Cost of $265.

REPLACES PULMOTOR.

An inhalator, for use as an adjunct to artificial respiration in cases of apparent drowning, or gas poisoning, was last evening purchased by the Fire, Water and Light Committee, from the Safety Supply Company of Toronto, at a total cost of $250.

For use by the City Fire Department, the new piece of apparatus, which replaces the pulmotor, long since condemned as unfit for further use, is the first inhalator of its kind to be placed in this city.

Following a demonstration of the apparatus which was given by the company's representative at the Fire Hall last week to Alderman Malcolm McIntyre, chairman of the committee; Fire Chief George Gimblett; and Dr. A. W. McPherson, medical officer of health, the committee deferred purchase of the equipment until they had communicated with other users of the apparatus.

D. C. Draper, chief constable of Toronto Police Department, where three of the inhalators have been in use for the past three years, stated "these machines have given excellent satisfaction and in my opinion are indispensable where artificial respiration must be applied under emergent conditions".

Fire Chief Elliott of Oshawa wrote to state, "Our reports show we have been successful in reviving two persons from carbon-monoxide fumes, five from coal gas fumes; and one patient at the Ontario Hospital. I would say that the inhalator is a real asset to any fire department that is called upon to do this kind of work".

Other recommendations concerning the equipment were obtained from Fire Chiefs Smith of Mount Dennis and Armstrong of Kingston.

Before deciding upon the purchase of the equipment the entire committee consisting of Aldermen Malcolm McIntyre, chairman; Robert S. Cotton J. P. Max Sloan, George Macdonald, James Ellis, Fred Tuggey and Walter Stocker, last evening had the apparatus thoroughly demonstrated by the company's representative with the assistance of members of the Department.

English Lake Country To Go Upon Market

LONDON, April 11 (CP)—Lovers of the English countryside got a shock to-day with announcement a large slice of the Lake District is coming into the sale market.

The area, in Westmoreland, includes three lakes—Buttermere, Crummock Water and Loweswater, with 5,000 acres of adjoining land, and the district attracts thousands of visitors every summer.

An effort is expected to promote its purchase on behalf of the nation, or at least sufficient of it to save the site from spoliation.

The present owner is Martin Marshall of Patterdale Hall. His forefathers acquired the beautiful property in the reign of George III. Earlier it had belonged to the Jacobite Earl of Drinkwater, who was beheaded, his lands being seised for the Crown who granted them to Greenwich Hospital, which in turn sold the land to the Marshall family.

Construction has begun on a chain of nearly 20 airdromes between Singapore, Alor Star on the Malay Peninsula and the border of Siam.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY BOARD NAMES COMMITTEES FOR YEAR

Regular Monthly Meeting of Board Held in Council Chamber.

SUBMIT CONSTITUTION.

The following standing committees were appointed at the regular meeting of the Board of the Children's Aid Society, held yesterday afternoon in the City Council Chamber: Finance—V. Eastwood, Sr. (chairman), E. B. Fowler, R. H. Parsons; Foster Home—James Abraham (chairman), the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, Mrs. E. F. Lawrence; Property—W. Stocker (chairman), C. A. Salmonsen, Ross Dobbin, Dr. H. M. Yelland. The lady members of the board will form the personnel of the Shelter House Committee, with power to appoint their own chairman, and also to appoint a group of from three to six members to be a Purchasing Committee of food, clothing and supplies for the Shelter.

The president, the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, was in the chair.

Yesterday was men's day for the board, as the meeting opened with nine men present and only two ladies, both of whom remained quite silent during the gentlemen's tussle with some intricacies of the constitution, which again reared its head at yesterday's conference. Two other ladies, however, arrived later, making a total of thirteen, with the press representative taking the jinx away by adding another numeral to the total present.

E. B. Fowler, who has gone to considerable trouble to straighten out some of the tangles encountered in the constitution since the society changed its name from the "Children's Aid Society of Peterborough" to the "Children's Aid Society of the city and county of Peterborough," read over some of the clauses prepared by him, but the meeting was unable to cope with the entire situation, as a group of at least two-thirds of the membership, totalling about twenty people, is necessary for such action.

R. H. Parsons suggested that there might be a conflict between the proposed by-laws and the constitution, and it was decided to submit the draft to a legal authority.

The report of the superintendent, John Edgar, mentioned a district case in which four or five children are involved and in which a visit to the parish priest was necessary in order to procure suitable clothing and avoid the necessity of making the children wards of the society.

One of the girl wards of the society is at present in the hospital following an operation for mastoid trouble.

Mrs. E. F. Lawrence sent a letter acknowledging flowers from the organization, and it was decided to send a letter of condolence on the death of her husband.

Mr. Edgar asked for suitable office equipment and supplies necessary to keep valuable documents safe. The Property Committee was asked to look into the matter.

Various Reports.

The report of the superintendent was as follows: Applications for children, 4; children returned to parents (not wards), 4; wards placed out, 3; wards returned to Shelter, 1; mileage covered, 450; complaints, 2; investigations, 3; police court attendance, 2; foster homes heard from, 3; children involved during the past month, 26; places visited, Clarina, Toronto, Port Hope and Cobourg; mail received, 26; mail sent out, 59. There were 17 children in the Shelter during the month and 10 at the end of March.

Donations were gratefully acknowledged, as follows: From Williard Chocolate Company, per C. E. Spooner, one large chocolate rabbit; from the Habooo Stores, large box of biscuits; from James Juby, one box apples; from the Capitol Theatre, large box of candy; from the Woolworth Company, 4 dozen bonnets and 4 dozen caps.

The report of the Purchasing Committee follows: Fitzpatrick & Geraghty, $36.33; J. John, $1; E. L. Payne, 65c; W. Scott Company, Ltd. $30; R. Hall, Ltd., $3.98; James H. Whatley, $2; W. S. Bogue, $2; Grafton & Company, $18.54; George Weston, $6.23; Campbell's Dairy Products, $33.76; Peterborough Hardware Company, 98c; Joseph Stewart, $3.50; Darcy Foster, $8.09; John Edgar, $1.45; R. J. Soden, $2.75; Bell Telephone Company, $8.90; S. Jordan's Flower Shop, $3; F. W. Woolworth Company, $5.40; R. Neill, Ltd., $5.23; Sanitary Ice Company, $30 Total, $303.73.

Those present at the meeting included the president, the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe; the superintendent, John Edgar; Mesdames J. J. Lynch, C. Wright, H. W. Darcy, J. Welsh, Messrs. E. B. Fowler, C. A. Salmonsen, W. S. Stocker, R. H. Parsons, J. McIntosh, H. B. Cowan and Dr. H. M. Yelland.

Pneumonia Fatal To Rescued Deer

The deer, rescued from the ice of Katchewanooka Lake last week after it had fled through the village, died of pneumonia, Fred. Marshall, fish and game inspector, informed The Examiner to-day. Although every care was given the young animal, its icy bath in the lake and fright caused its death, Inspector Marshall said. "Most young deer captured under such circumstances die," he explained.

IT'S TRUE. There is more energy and better balanced nourishment in a small serving of Grape-Nuts with milk than in almost any other food. The special process by which Grape-Nuts is made from whole wheat and malted barley is the reason. This also makes Grape-Nuts one of the grandest tasting of all foods—and one of the easiest to digest. Brighten up tomorrow with Grape-Nuts for breakfast. It's one of the most economical of foods—you use so little per serving. Your grocer has it.

WARKWORTH COUPLE OBSERVES GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. George Bamber Fifty Years Married on April 8th.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARKWORTH, April 11. — On unday, April 8th, Mr. and Mrs. George Bamber, received many congratulations from their friends and neighbors, the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary which they observed quietly.

Mr. Bamber is a son of the late John Bamber and Jane Mainprize and was born in Murray township, September 1, 1859. There were seven sons and five daughters in the family, and there are now living four sons and two daughters. ters.

Mrs. Bamber before her marriage was Phebe Anne Jacobs, a daughter of the late James Jacobs and Eliza Anne Gardner, and was born in Seymour township, near Stanwood, November twenty-ninth, 1866. Besides Mrs. Bamber there is only one sister living out of a family of two sons and six daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Bamber were married April 8th, 1884, by Rev Peter Wright, a Methodist Episcopal minister who also married the latter's parents in 1859. After their marriage they lived on a farm in Murray township for 16 years, then an a farm near Stirling for 1 years, and for the past 16 years on a farm in Percy township, near Dartford.

From this union, there was one son, James, who is living at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Bamber, who are active members of St. Andrew's church, are well respected citizens. They are in good health.Mrs. Bamber states that during their fifty years of married life they have had more happiness than sorrow.

Marmora Legion Sponsors War Reels

MARMORA, April 11. (Examiner Correspondence).—The seventeenth anniversary of the battle of Vimy Ridge was marked by Marmora Post No. 237, Canadian Legion by the showing of twelve reels of Government approved war pictures to a crowded house at the Town Hall on Monday evening.

Included in the audience was a large sprinkling of returned men who followed the scenes of Ypres, Cambral and the Somme with keene interest and in reminiscent mood Capt. Larry O'Brien, M.C., was at the piano and played popular airs of war days suitable to the scenes portrayed.

Following the National Anthem, a few introductory remarks were made by Comrade W. J. Cottrell. The community feels indebted to President L. R. Rundle and Past President P. Gray for their efforts in promoting this excellent observance of Vimy Day.

Marmora

Mr. Thomas Quackenbush has moved into the house formerly occupied by Mr. Clayton Potts.

Miss Norah Armstrong of Belleville, is visiting friends here.

Miss Ilene Cuddy is spending a few days in Toronto.

Spring Is Here! First Grass Fire

"Spring is really here!" cheered the fire fighters yesterday as they hopped aboard their truck to answer the alarm which officially welcomed the new season on behalf of the fire department. It was the first grass fire of the year, and it was at the corner of Rogers and James streets.

The fire was attributed by the Chief to two children of tender years who had been playing with matches. Pointing out the hazard that exists with the ground in such a dry condtion as it is at the present time, the Chief, requesting the co-operation of all citizens, stated that before rubbish is burned outside it is now necessary in accordance with the city fire prevention by-law to first obtain permission from the department.

FULL HOUSE SEES LAKEFIELD PLAY

"Poor Father" Presented by Young People in Town Hall.

LAKEFIELD, April 11.—(Examiner Correspondence.—"Poor Father" filled Town Hall to capacity on Friday night and scored a success. The play was a farce with a rather flimsy plot, but barrels of fun and all centred around the old saw, "Oh what a tangled web we weave when first we practice to deceive." Father, Mr. Tompkins, had political aspirations and was also a bit of a Don Juan and his difficulties led him to fake a burglary in his own home. He confided to a detective, Harold Caldwell, who is in love with Gladys Tompkins.

A darky servant, who is the hit of the piece, helps to tangle things up more, but finds the reception of confidences most profitable as there is no sign of depression in the tipping of "George." Marie, the French maid, who knows no English, and Mr. Dummell, who has lost his memory, play important parts in the mystery which constitutes the plot of the play.

Mrs. Tompkins and her daughters, Gladys, Caroline and Bessie and her son Clifford, who is an earnest student of psychology, all combine to spare father any worry and the result is most amusing. George mixes things up badly and the whole plot is straightened out of course just before the curtain falls.

Harold was a scream and his witty sallies kept the audience in roars. George, the darky, who told the truth sometimes, and father who was in fear of blackmail for an actress friend, Vivian Loramie, and of arrest for possession of corporation bonds it was illegal for a government aspirant to own, were strong and played their parts well. The male parts were much heavier than the girls' parts and allowed more opportunity for individual talent, but nevertheless the girls all acquitted themselves well and each filled her role admirably. The part of the absent minded bachelor, Mr. Sidney Dummell, was particularly well taken and not overdone at any time. Clifford Tompkins was another well taken part and scored a hit with the audience.

The cast of characters was as follows:

Mr. Tompkins, "poor father"—Bob Stenner.

Mr. Sidney Dummell, an absent minded but wealthy bachelor — Henrick Brown.

Clifford Tompkins, son of "poor father" and a student of psychology—Jack Woodhouse.

Harold Caldwell, a detective — George Chappell.

George Washington Brown, the Tompkins' colored servant— Fred Hampton.

Sergeant O'Connor, policeman—Fred Marsden.

Mrs. Tompkins, father's wife — Mrs. Mendal Smith.

Gladys Tompkins— Miss Pearl Peacock.

Caroline Tompkins and Bessie Tompkins, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Tompkins—Miss Jean Blewett and Miss Phylis Lake.

Vivian Loramie, father's actress friend—Miss Lilian Mason.

Marie, the French maid—Miss Kathleen Wannamaker.

Between the acts musical numbers were given, Miss Winnie Payne sang "The Garden" very sweetly and as encore "The Fairing" with Miss Lillian Mason as accompanist. An old college favorite "The Bullfrog," was sung as a quartette by Misses Winnie Payne and Lilian Mason, D. H. Webster and F. G. Kendall, with Herrick Brown at the piano. There were also several piano numbers by Herrick Brown. The young people all did exceedingly well and are to be congratulated on this, their first venture into a three act play.

Rev. W. J. Creighton was chairman and expresesd gratification at the splendid turnout.

A dance was held at the close of the evening.

A box of chocoaltes was presented to Jack Clappell who sold the greatest number of tickets. Jack's record was 84 tickets.

Motoring Across America Is Topic

CAMPBELLFORD, April 11 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — "Motoring Across America" was the very interesting topic given by Fred Palliser at the regular meeting of the Young People's League of St. John's United Church, Campbellford, on Monday evening. The meeting, which was well attended, opened with the Scripture reading by Velda Cryderman, the president giving a devotional reading entitled "The House of Many Lamps." The program was in charge of the Social and Literary convenor, with Harold Outingdyke in the chair. This included: Reading, Ruth Palliser; piano solo, Kathleen Wilson; reading, Ruth Taylor, and the topic.

At a London sale $1000 was given for a 13-cent Hawaiian Islands stamp of 1851.

SHOW BOAT DAYS CAST GIVEN OUT

Proceeds From Play Will Go to Aid Eye Clinic Work in City.

50 PICKED GIRLS.

When the curtain rises on "Show Boat Days" at the Grand Opera House a week from to-morrow night, it is confidently believed that the predicted success of the production will be more than fully realized.

Bearing promise of being one of the most scintillating amateur musical comedy shows ever presented by local talent, rehearsals for "Show Boat Days" are now going forward at a fast and even tempo under the capable direction of George Zarfas of the Canadian Production Company.

Sponsored by the Kinsmen Club for the promotion of their Eye Preventive Clinic which is performing a valuable service among under-privileged children of the city, the production embraces a cast of eleven characters; a chorus of fifty picked local girls; and a Kinsmen minstrel troupe.

The cast comprising some of the best amateur talent in the city, is as follows: Edna Forster (Effie the Maid); Florence Glenny (Virginia Lee); Trucie Pearson (Aunt Jenny); Florence Irons (Mrs. Stewart); Dr. E. M. Crough (Col. Stewart); George Nicholls (Sammy deckhand); Jack Clayton (Pilot of Show Boat); Ed Riley (Blackface); Harold Coleman (Jefferson Dillard); George Coleman (Sheriff).

In the knowledge that they are appealing on behalf of a worthy cause, and that the type of entertainment they are offering is of highest calibre, the Kinsmen are confidently seeking generous public support which is all that is now necessary to ensure the success of the biggest venture undertaken by the club.

NELSON SECRETARY OF NEW MILK BOARD

Former Agricultural Representative Receives Important Government Appointment.

Further recognition of the outstanding ability of John B. Nelson, former agricultural representative of Peterborough County, came yesterday with his appointment as secretary of the newly-organized Provincial Milk Board. Mr. Nelson will add the duties of the new board to his other important duties which caused him to be called to Queen's Park from this city last year.

One of Mr. Nelson's first acts in his new capacity with the Milk Board was a brief visit to Peterborough to-day. Although he declined to make any definite statement as to the purpose of his visit here, he admitted that it was in regard to the Board of Health's request for an investigation by the Milk Board into the milk situation here. The Examiner learned that he was in conversation with Mayor Denne and others here.

It is possible that Peterborough may be the first place at which the new board will sit. London also has requested that the board investigate milk conditions there.

Citizens' Aid Sought In Providing Funds To Purchase Seeds For Relief Gardens

The relief garden is no longer an uncertain experiment, owing to the fine cooperation of the garden workers hundreds of homes in Peterborough were blessed with a better supply of vegetables throughout the past winter and many of them are still using potatoes they grew last summer.

I consider our garden workers among the very best class of Peterborough citizens. They have a true self respect, an ambition to work; they detest charity; the lazy man does not ask for a hoe.

While it is gratifying to know that quite a number who have been on relief are finding at least temporary employment, it is unfortunately true that a large number who had a small reserve ahead are at the end of their resources, the 'rainy day' has lasted too long, the bank account has failed, the insurance been exhausted, in spite of frugality and care the dreaded inevitable has come.

This heroic class of unemployed who are bravely striving to keep off relief, and by the very success of their efforts are automatically debarred from either government or municipal aid in respect to gardens and necessary seed. Most of these applicants are elderly men to whom the ordinary doors of industry are closed, but with the help of a garden they can manage to keep off relief.

Surely this spirit of independence, this willingness to work, will be a welcome challenge to citizens in better circumstances.

This is not charity, it is an investment in constructive industry, it will help to keep down your own taxes, and best of all it will help to sustain true manhood.

Last year we had some private contributions that enabled the Committee to meet this particular need, and we now ask citizens who are enjoying happier conditions to help the Committee carry on the good work again this season.

Your contribution will be 100 per cent. effective, as all of the work in connection with the supervision and management of the gardens is contributed absolutely free of charge.

If you could see the new flash of hope and sometimes the tear of gratitude in the eye of one of these applicants when assured of a garden, you would feel doubly repaid for your helpful effort.

Please send your contributions to the treasurer of the Committee, R. M. Glover, of The Examiner, and a prompt response is desirable as the season is right upon us.

A. B. Cunningham, Chairman. R. M. Glover, Treasurer.

R. N. McFARLANE TAKEN BY DEATH

Was Ex-Mayor, Prominent Building Contractor in Kingston for Years.

NOTED CURLER.

KINGSTON, Ont., April 11.—(CP)—One of Kingston's most prominent citizens died shortly after five o'clock this morning in R. N. F. McFarlane, ex-mayor and chairman of Public Utilities Commission, after an illness of several weeks duration.

The late Mr. McFarlane entered city council in 1899 and in 1905 was elected mayor. For a number of years he dropped out of municipal politics and in 1918 was elected to the Public Utilities Commission remaining as a member of the Commission, being succeeded by J. F. Sowards as chairman three years ago.

Deceased was one of the staunchest Conservatives in Eastern Ontario, an ardent supporter of Dr. A. E. Ross M.P. He was president of Kingston Curling Club five years ago when he was instrumental in having artificial ice installed at the rink here and was one of the greatest curlers for many years. As a lawn bowler he was equally prominent, being president of the Kingston Bowling Club last year.

The late Mr. McFarlane was prominent building contractor for a number of years, but had been retired for several years.

AIRMEN RESCUE 33 FROM FLOES

Russians Speed Efforts to Take Off 50 Remaining in Bering Straits.

WRANGEL EXPEDITION.

MOSCOW, April 11 (A.P.). — Thirty-three members of a party of 83 men marooned on an ice floe in the Bering Sea were rescued by daring Russian airmen late last night and early to-day.

Plans were rushed, said reports to the Government rescue commission here, for the rescue of the 50 castaways still imperilled on the cracking floes.

Twenty-two persons were taken to safety last night by the Russian fliers, Kaminin, Molovok and Slepnev, in three separate planes and flown to Cape Van Arem, Siberia.

Early to-day, the aviators, Kaminin and Molokov, picked up 11 more.

The latter two airmen made a round trip flight from Cape Van Karme. Slepnev already was at the icy camp of the castaways with a plane he had damaged slightly in landing several days ago.

The marooned men were members of the Wrangel Island expedition of Prof. Otto Schmidt. They took refuge on the ice when their vessel, the Cheliuskin, was crushed in the ice and sank February 13 on the return trip.

Fliers have been trying for weeks to reach the 83 men. Previously, the ten women and two children marooned with them originally had been removed by plane.

Obituary

MRS. JAMES COLLINS
The death occurred at St. Joseph's Hospital at nine o'clock this morning of Mary Hanrahan, the beloved wife of James Collins. A native of Douro Township, the deceased is survived, besides her husband, by three sisters, Mrs. Martin Kylie and Mrs. John Sullivan and Mrs. Matthew Sullivan of Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan.

Funeral Mass is to be celebrated at nine o'clock Friday morning at the Church of the Immaculate Conception. The funeral will be held from the residence of her brother-in-law, Joseph Collins, 226 Munro avenue, with interment at Douro Cemetery.

ARAB THIEF LOSES HAND.
CAIRO. — In presence of a great number of pilgrims, an Arab who stole the purse of a pilgrim going to Mecca, and which contained about a thousand francs, had his right hand cut off, according to a quaint old Arab custom. After return of the purse to its rightful owner, the hand was raised atop a mast on the public square.

MIKADO WILL BE COLORFUL EVENT

Beautiful Costumes for Comic Opera Are Supplied by Mallabar.

PRODUCED FRIDAY.

The production of "The Mikado" by permission of Rupert D'Oyley Carte, at the Grand Opera House on Friday evening, by the choir and Men's Association of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, promises to be one of the most colorful dramatic events of the season. It is seldom that Peterborough audiences have the chance to witness any of the Gilbert and Sullivan light operas, which are renowned for their humour, interest and dramatic value, nAd the reputation of presenting their annual dramatic value. And the reputasible manner, with every detail arranged for in the most thorough way, has been attained long ago by the choir and Men's Association of St. Paul's.

Every indication points to another extremely successful presentation of this well-loved light opera, which centers about the woes and loves of two highly fictitious lovers in a fictitious town where the fun and humour of Gilbert and Sullivan is at its best.

Here, in gorgeous costumes provided by Mallabar, of Toronto, you will meet the romantic Nanki-Poo and his little sweetheart, Yum-Yum, who is as delectable as her name implies. Here is Ko-Ko, Lord High Executioner, ferocious and pompous, and Pish-Tush, a very noble lord. And there are the three dainty maidens, who are wards of Ko-Ko, and Peep-Bo and the redoubtable Mikado himself, and, above all, here is Katisha, she of the lovely elbow and the equally beautiful eyebrow. They make a goodly company with their fun and frolic, and the subtle humour of their makers directing the attention to the pomps and vanities which they ridicule in the days when Gilbert and Sullivan reigned supreme in the hearts and minds of Englishmen and the drama lovers of the world.

THREE BOYS, MAN ESCAPE DEATH

Lads Fall Into Rideau Canal and Are Rescued by Passersby.

BUGGY UPSETS IN RIVER.

OTTAWA, April 11. (CP). Three boys and a man are alive to-day, thanks to the prompt action of rescuers after coming close to death by drowning near here.

Jack and Donny Spooner, aged nine and seven respectively, were rescued from the icy waters of the Rideau Canal at Ottawa through efforts of Wesley Spencer and Wendell Clark. The lads were crossing a foot bridge over the canal when Jack tripped, lost his balance and fell into the water. Donny jumped down onto the ice to help his brother but also got in difficulties. Spencer and Clark, who were walking on the other side of the canal, seeing the boys' plight, ran across the bridge, the former diving into the water after Jackie while Clark helped the younger to safety.

At another section of the Rideau Canal Leonard Arp, aged nine, fell into the water. Sammy McLean, well-known Ottawa athlete, heard cries of Arp's companions and jumped into the water and brought the lad to shore after difficulty.

At Kinburn, Ont., Basil Muldoon's horse and buggy was swept into a deep ditch by the waters of the Carp River. An Indian, named Jackson heard his cries and went to his assistance in a canoe. Other resources succeeded in cutting loose the horse and drawing the buggy to dry land.

The boys were none the worse for the experience.

One of the private gifts to Great Britain's new cruiser, Neptune, is a painting of the Neptune that fought at Trafalgar.

EVIDENCE WEAK SHELTER PROBE

Judge Wants More Concrete Stories Either For or Against Charges Laid.

NORTH YORK CASE.

TORONTO, April 11 (C.P.) — Counsel in the judicial inquiry into administration of the York County Children's Aid Society prepared today for to-morrow's sittings with Judge James Parker's warning before them to call witnesses who will give more concrete evidence, either in substantiation or against the charges laid.

The Commission will resume its sittings to-morrow morning.

"I have not the faintest conception of the real conditions in this home," Judge Parker said when the case of one family came up yesterday. "The evidence has been mostly hearsay. The only evidence of lack of proper care of the children is of very mild nature to the effect that one of the boys did not look very healthy. Where is the evidence on which I might make my findings as to whether or not there was neglect of the children?"

It was charged in testimony before the Commission that George B. Little, superintendent, against whom the Toronto Child Welfare Council levelled its charges of maladministration, had told a father looking for assistance for two of his children to "Get to hell out of my office and get a job."

J. D. Lucas, counsel for Mr. Little, charged "only witnesses being called are those favorable to the ladies prosecuting this case." He stated later, however, that he did not suggest witnesses were being missed deliberately.

JANETVILLE Y.P.S. HAS LIVELY MEET

Miss O. Jackett Gives Fine Address—Mission Band Gathers, New Members Join.

JANETVILLE, April 11 (Examiner Correspondence)—The Y.P.S. of the United Church held a most interesting session in the Sunday School room this week.

Victor Blatherwick presided and the devotional reading given by Harry Lathan, was helpfully explained by Muriel Stinson.

Miss Olive Jackett in a capable manner expounded facts on the topic, "If a man die, shall he live again." The incompletness of this life was emphasized with the thought that we really commence to live in the proper sense of the word, when we are forced to die. Many interesting and appropriate illustrations were given as the talk proceeded. Rev. Smith then led in a most helpful discussion on this subject.

The remainder of the program was in charge of Bessie Howe. Marjorie Armstrong gave a delightful piano solo entitled "The Maiden's Dream"; "The Optimistic Frog" by Gladys Irvine. A magazine race and two contests were included in the recreational hour which concluded the program.

The Mission Band of the United Church held its first meeting at the parsonage on Saturday after being withdrawn during the winter months.

Miss Isabel Marshall, the president was in charge with the leader, Mrs. (Rev.) Smith assisting with proceedings. Bernice Stinson read the scripture lesson and two children's hymns were sung. When the roll was called a large number of new members paid their fees.

Mite boxes were distributed to the members for use in the coming year and a committee was appointed to arrange the programs for future meetings.

During the study hour Mrs. Smith gave a most interesting talk on China. It is expected that her talk is the first of a series of many delightful talks on China which will be contributed at future meetings of the band.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Argue were host and hostess for the South Janetville Euchre Club at their hospital home on Tuesday evening. Several tables were played with prizes being carried off by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Capstick.

Following cards, lunch was served and a jolly social time spent.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

Different from the slender, high-strung, race-horse type which we considered yesterday, is the stocky individual who has a relatively short, chunky body and tends to add weight readily. A diet which is suitable for the slender individual is entirely unsuitable for this individual.

What makes the difference in the constitutoins of these people is not an easy thing to settle to the complete scientific satisfaction of everyone, but we may speculate on the basis of certain facts which we know.

The internal bodily structure of the stocky persons shows that the bones, particularly of the spine, are broader and shorter and the muscles are stronger, so that he is not so subject to backache, headaches and fatigue as his slender brother. The digestive tract allows him to absorb and digest his food better and, therefore, his tendency to over-accumulation of fat increases.

In the internal workings of the ductless glands of the stocky person it is possible to imagine that the thyroid, pituitary and adrenal are less active than in the slender person. This is the statement which is made by Dr. Jean Bogert in his book, "Diet and Personality", although I think it is probably the most debatable part of his chapter.

The result of all these functional changes is that these people digest their food well, absorb a great deal of it, and being freed from the "endocrine urge," they are easy-going, sluggish, and this further accentuates their tendency to overweight. They are "fireless cookers.' Since their fuel needs are comparatively low and their utilization of food very complete, the first essential in their diet is that it should be low in fuel value.

COUPLE WELCOMED BACK TO FENELLA

Party is Held dat Sandercock Home For Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jeffries.

FENELLA, April 11.— (Examiner Correspondence.)—A very enjoyable time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Sandercock on Thursday evening, April 5, who entertained a goodly number of people to welcome back Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jeffries to their farm west of Fenella. The evening was spent in euchre and games. Miss Ivena Bray, Baltimore, was successful in winning the ladies' prize at euchre and Mr. Marcus Lonsberry the gentleman's prize. A bean contest was won by Mr. Claude Borden. Mr. Bert Jarvis and Miss Grace Hutchinson were winners of the jelly bean contest.

A speech of welcome was made by Mr. Carl Curtis to Mr. and Mrs. Jeffries, who replied in a few well chosen words. A very dainty lunch was served. Mr. Harry Hutchinson tendered a hearty vote of thanks to the hostesses and everybody joined in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Mrs. W. J. Thompson, temperance secretary to the Cobourg Presbytery, was the guest speaker at the United Church of Fenella on Sunday evening, the occasion being the Easter Thank offering of the Women's Missionary Society. Her address was very interesting and greatly enjoyed. She was introduced by the president of the Women's Missionary Society of Fenella by Miss Florence Macklin.

The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. N. C. Leach. The anthem "Hark, I Hear My Name" was sung by the choir. Mrs. Chas. Childs and Mrs. Jas. Knox took up the collection.

A MISTAKEN NOTION

There is commonly held the notion that an opening forcing bid shows a specific number of quick tricks. In reality the forcing bid should show the number of reasonably certain tricks which the bidder expects to win in his own hand. The number of playing tricks which must be held differs with the number of biddable suits: There should be 9 playing tricks when a single biddable suit is held, 8 playing tricks when 2 biddable suits are held and 7 playing tricks in case 3 biddable suits are held.

Each of the following hands is worth an opening bid of 2, although the quick tricks held vary from 2 to 5. The only reason that quick tricks are necessary at all is to bring up bidding strength in probable tricks to the proper standard.

♠ None	♠ K Q J 10 8 4
♥ 2	♥ K Q J 10 6 3
♦ 4	♦ A K Q J 7 2
♣ K Q J	♣ K Q J
♠ A K Q J 8	♠ K 6
♥ A K Q 10 6	♥ 7
♦ 5	♦ A K Q 3
♣ A K 8 2	♣ K Q J 2

Of course the second hand shown may also open with a game bid of 5-diamonds, but it is possible that a slam may result from the opening bid of only 2-diamonds. The remaining hands require opening bids of 2, to insure an opportunity for showing the rest of the hand held.

Below is shown a minor two-suiter which required an opening bid of 2, although it has only 2 quick tricks.

Bidding went: South, 2-diamonds; West, 2-Spades; North, 3-Hearts, to show high card strength and a biddable suit; South, 5-clubs, to indicate game at one minor make or the other, which North passed. Had South been seeking a slam he would have bid only 4-clubs, allowing North to shift or support, then have bid the small slam himself. If North had held both the minor K's he might have bid 6.

	♠ Q 10 6 4 ♥ A K 8 6 ♦ K 8 ♣ Q 9 2
♠ A K 8 7 5 3 ♥ J 9 5 4 ♦ Q 9 4 ♣ None	W. N. E. S.	♠ J 9 2 ♥ Q 10 7 2 ♦ 5 3 ♣ K 8 7 6
	♠ None ♥ 3 ♦ A J 10 7 6 2 ♣ A J 10 5 4 3

The opening lead was the K of spades. South ruffed. He led his only heart. Dummy's Q of clubs was led. East did not cover and West showed out. Dummy's 9 held the next trump trick. The 2 of clubs was led and declarer's 10 won. Having picked up the last trump outstanding, dummy's K of diamonds won the seventh trick. West won the only trick taken by his side when South finessed his 10 of diamonds, but South spread his hand for a small slam, which it would have been unwise to bid, as diamonds might not have broken for him.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Marble Cake

Three-fourths cup shortening, two cups sugar, four egg whites, one-half teaspoon salt, three and one-fourth cups cake flour, three teaspoons baking powder, one and one-half cups liquid (milk), two teaspoons vanilla, two square chocolate melted; one-fourth teaspoon soda. Cream shortening, add sugar gradually and cream well. Add the unbeaten egg whites, one at a time, and beat into the mixture. Mix and sift together the flour, baking powder and salt, add alternately with the liquid. Add soda to the melted chocolate. Divide the batter into two parts, adding chocolate mixture to one. Drop the batter by teaspoons into a greased and floured cake pan, alternating a spoonful of white batter with a spoonful of chocolate batter, until all is used. Bake in a loaf pan for 50 minutes at 350 degrees. Ice with the following: Two cups sugar, three-fourths cup water, one-fourth teaspoon cream of tartar, two egg whites, one teaspoon vanilla. Boil sugar, water and cream of tartar until syrup spins a thread (236 degrees). Pour hot syrup over stiffly beaten egg whites, beating constantly. Add the vanilla and continue beating with a spoon until mixture is fluffy and will hold its shape. If it does not seem stiff enough, add two to three tablespoons confectioners' sugar until the desired stiffness. Reserving three tablespoons of icing, spread the rest over the top and sides of cake. Melt two squares of chocolate, add the reserved icing, pipe this chocolate over the white icing in one-fourth-inch strips, about one inch apart, then draw a knife quickly across through the strips at one-inch intervals to give a marbilized effect.

Salmon Salad

There are various combinations for making salmon salad. Usually equal parts salmon and chopped celery form the foundation of the salad. To this may be added two tablespoons chopped green pepper, or three tablespoons sliced sweet pickle. Or, if preferred, one-third as much celery as salmon may be used, one-third green peas and one-third sliced cucumber. Sliced hard cooked eggs, sliced stuffed olives or both make splendid garnish. Mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing may be used. Watercress with lettuce makes a good foundation for this salad.

Read what Mrs. H. R. C., of Halifax, N.S., says about the New Cook Book.

Dear Sirs:—
I am delighted with the new Purity Cook Book. It is attractively put together and made so that it should last a great many years. The recipes, too, are such as can be used by an ordinary household, and not too fancy for a beginner such as I am. Yours truly,
MRS. H. R. C.

Purity Flour is being used exclusively by Miss Frances Thompson at her demonstrations in the Canadian School of Home Science. Purity Flour is made from hard spring wheat, grown in Western Canada. It has the high protein content and extra quality needed to produce baking of exceptionally fine flavor—in other words, really successful baking. Isn't that the kind you want, too?

LOVELY HANDS POSSESS POWER, DECLARES GLADYS

Madge Evans'

It is said that Cleopatra, that famous charmer who kept both Mark Anthony and Julius Caesar ensnared by her wiles, always perfumed her hands lavishly. Cleo, you see, possessed very beautiful hands. And so she always scented them, in order to atract attention to their flawless loveliness.

We women today, of course, are just as conscious of the power that a beautiful hand can possess as was Cleopatra. And we're just as eager to possess lovely hands as was that lass. But too often, by the time spring has arrived, we find that our paddies have become rough and discolored. The sub-zero weather of winter is anything but kind to the hands. And it tends to rob them quickly of their smooth whiteness.

Practically every woman longs to possess those "pale hands, pink-tipped" that poets eulogize. And a famous beautician recently devised a new method whereby such hands may be attained. According to her method, grapefruit juice and glycerine alone are utilized. Grapefruit juice, she claims, is a milder astringent than the usual lemon juice. Yet at the same time, it possesses the same bleaching qualities.

According to this beautician, each night and each morning the hands should be bathed with grapefruit juice. This juice should be permitted to dry naturally, and then the hands should be rubbed with glycerine. And when the skin has absorbed most of the glycerine, the residue should be wiped off. This procedure, she claims, will make the hands soft, smooth and white.

Personally, however, I would suggest that a half and half mixture of rosewater and glycerine be used after the grapefruit juice application, rather than plain glycerine. For glycerine is not a fat, but a triatomic alcohol that avidly absorbs moisture and tends to dry the skin. It forms an excellent hand lotion, however, when ameliorated with rosewater, almond oil or flower oils. Then use your grapefruit juice bleach night and morning. And always after it, apply a generous amount of glycerine and rosewater.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

Many a homemaker today is contemplating papering one or more rooms of her house, and doing the actual work herself. Those who do it in an amateur way, will find the following suggestions helpful. They are sort of first aids to inexperienced paper hangers in their preparations, rather than in the final pasting of the paper to the walls.

* * * * * *

The selection of the paper should be done remembering that the easier the paper is to match the easier it will be to hang. Avoid large patterns. They will cut to waste even when an expert does the work. He knows how to save the paper as much as possible, but there must be correct repeats. He studies and calculates, and knows the problems as solved when he starts. There are problems in large complicated designs which should cause a homemaker to to hesitate long before attempting to hang them. Let such papers be excluded from selection together with geometric designs, such as lattices and diagonal lines.

* * * * * *

It is wise to choose a small all-over pattern. An indefinite pattern in what is called a self-toned or two-toned paper is a wise choice for living room or other main rooms. A small sprigged or scattered flower pattern is a good selection for bedrooms. Plain papers no longer are merely flat tones. They have to be matched, as well as those with designs readily recognized. This importance of matching strips cannot be stressed too much.

* * * * * *

The word, repeats, is unfamiliar to many people. It is the technical term which signifies the full design, used repeatedly. Each full design length in wall paper is a repeat. Study the paper and see if it is short, for short repeats are easier to manage than long ones, and there is less waste.

* * * * * *

Measure the height of the walls of the room from base board to ceiling. Each strip of paper must be just that length. Measure a strip of the paper without cutting it off. Scan the edges of the paper and you will discover little marks. These show where strips should come together exactly. They correspond with notches in dress patterns. Measure another strip of paper the right length for the wall being sure that matching marks come together.

* * * * * *

When you are sure two strips are right cut the roll into such strips. Each alternate strip must correspond with the first and every other one with the second strip of the original two strips as seldom do papers out without waste. To insure hanging strips in correct order they should be laid one above the other in correct sequence. Trim edges to margin indicated. This will cut off the matching marks, but since strips have been matched correctly before cutting these margins away, they will match when hung and edges are fitted together without any space between them.

Home and School Association News

CENTRAL SCHOOL.

A splendid attendance again goes on record for the April meeting of Central Home and School Association which was held at the school Monday evening. C. D. Munro was chairman for a program, including business, convention report, music and a short play.

The meeting opened with the usual opening exercises and the business followed. Reports were read by the secretary and the treasurer, and also a communication from the relief convenor. Mr. Windrim's room again holds the banner for the largest representation of parents at the meeting.

An entertaining program was contributed by Mrs. W. Boorman, who delighted with two readings, "The Quarrel" and "The Little Pilgrim." Jack Skitch received great applause for popular mouth-organ selections.

A delightful feature of the evening was a short two-act play presented by members of Queen Mary Home and School Association, entitled "Cross-Word Puzzles." This play was very amusing, with a good moral attached. The cast included Mrs. Ingram, Miss Thomas, Mrs Crowe, Mrs. Ballard and Master Jack Ridyard.

Mrs. C. E. Stanton, president, before presenting her report of the annual meeting of the Ontario Federation of Home and School Associations, voiced her appreciation to the members of the opportunity afforded her in being a delegate to the three days' convention held in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, and spoke briefly of the great benefit and pleasure derived from a two-days' attendance. The speaker read a lengthy and splendid report, emphasizing the highlights in the various discussion groups. For instance, "membership" and ways and means of making and holding members. Motion-pictures came in for discussion. Development of a taste for good pictures could be brought about by school clubs and teachers. Mrs. Stanton also stressed the opportunity of hearing such famous educationists as Dr. G. W. Kirby, National head of Federation; Mrs. R. S. McLaughlin, president of the Ontario Federation; Dr. C. C. Goldring, superintendent of Toronto public schools; Dr. Ernest MacMillan, principal of Toronto Conservatory of Music, and Mrs. Frederick Hosmer of Auburn, N.Y. Quotations were given from all those famous speakers, who each had his or her particular theme. The whole report, given in a clear and lucid manner, was most inspiring.

Mrs. Stanton also attended the Presidents' dinner, which had its inauguration this year, and at which Dr. Kirby was guest of honor.

Mr. Munro, on behalf of the members, thanked the entertainers, and also Mrs. Stanton for what he termed a very thorough report.

Mrs. Stanton also added a few words of thanks to Mr. Munro, and spoke with appreciation of the play presented by the neighboring school club.

Singing of the National Anthem closed the meeting.

Mrs. D. McKinnon, convenor of refreshments, and her assistants served tea to the entertainers.

UNIVERSAL NEED IS COMPASSION GRADUATES TOLD

Presbyterian Deaconesses Graduate at Service in Toronto.

REV. BERLIS PREACHES.

Miss Elizabeth Walker is Designated to Service in Peterborough.

TORONTO, April 11.— Because compassion for the individual — "the great elementary factor in Christianity"—is lacking to-day in much of the relief work, in the opinion of Rev. H. A. Berlis, the multitude is being fed, but not as Jesus fed it. Last night in his thoughtful message to the members of the graduating class of the Presbyterian Missionary and Deaconess Training Home at the impressive exercises in Knox College Chapel, he spoke of the great need for this "compassion which is the heartbeat of Christianity—the key to our success in Christian work."

"With it not only would the multitude be fed, but they would be brought nearer to the heart of God," he said, pleading to his audience "to feed the multitude as Jesus did." "Jesus loved the multitude and served it, but that service was bought with a price—the price of sacrifice," he said.

"Compassion is a necessity," he said. "Without it our Christian Church and our Christian work will remain barren and unproductive." Mr. Berlis spoke earnestly on the great need existing to-day for such compassionate ministrations as the deaconess can give, in churches which are financially unable to carry the cost. He hoped there were in the Presbyterian Church generous individuals and generous congregations who would seriously consider financing the cost of deaconesses in such needy churches.

"Such service is given by individuals and congregation for missionaries and deaconesses abroad," he pointed out, "Why can we not do that at home?"

Members of the graduating class were: Miss Elizabeth J. Walker of Carnduff, Sask., who was awarded the general proficiency prize; Miss Marion H. McClive of Niagara Falls, Ont., and Miss Grace Irvine of Toronto, who received the essay prize. In a solemn service conducted by Rev. John McNab, the Moderator of Toronto Presbytery, Miss Walker was designated as deaconess for service in the congregation of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Peterborough.

Unlawful For Boys To Possess Air Guns

Fred Marshall, fish and game inspector, issued a warning today concerning young boys using air guns. Besides the danger caused by boys carrying air guns and the damage they often do, Mr. Marshall pointed out that it is unlawful for a boy under the age of 16 to possess such a rifle. Boys over 16 may have air guns but they must secure a license to carry it, this license being good only from May 1 to the end of August.

The inspector said that on Sunday he found it necessary to seize a boy's air gun. The lad was under 16. Railway and telephone companies report that boys with rifles have done much damage to their property lately.

W.A. BALE WILL BE ON EXHIBIT

St. John's Afternoon Branch Will Display it at Annual Tea Next Week.

Final arrangements were completed at the business and devotional meeting of the afternoon branch of St. John's Women's Auxiliary, Yesterday for the annual tea and display of the bale which is to be held in the parish house on Tuesday, April 17th from 3 to 6 p.m.

The bale which will be on exhibit consists of complete outfits for two girl pupils in the Anglican Boarding School at Punnichy, Sask.

Also on view will be the model of the Canadian Anglican diocese of Honan, China made by the W. A. juniors throughout the province, with Mrs. I. Ewing of Toronto in charge. This display should be of great interest to W. A. members generally.

At yesterday's meeting Ven. Archdeacon R. C. Blagrave conducted the devotional exercises and voiced a welcome to the president, Mrs. H. A. Morrow on her return from a trip to the West Indies.

Delegates to the annual W. A. meeting in Toronto from May 1 to May 5 were appointed as follows: Mrs. O. Campbell and Mrs. J. Cridland, alternates, Mrs. T. McBrien and Mrs. R. Cooper.

Mrs. J. Cridland read an interesting paper on a chapter of the study book.

At the close of the business session refreshments were served by Mrs. D. Eldred and her committee.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES!

By ALEX. J. MORRISON

If the hub or centre of a wheel doesn't run true and smooth the rest of the wheel can't run properly. A perfectly logical point yet few golfers really understand it. Ihave never had a player come to me with questions about hip action before he asked me about his grip, right elbow or something else. Everyone seems quite ready to assume that their hip movements are correct. They're not as interested in the hub of the swing as they are in the action of the spokes or arms. Nine-teenths of the trouble every golfer has with his grip, stance, or the action of his shoulders, arms and wrists is invariably caused by incorrect hip action.

CANADIANS WIN IN TENNIS TOURNEY

Martin and Rainville Not Extended in Pinehurst Matches.

PINEHURST, N.C., April 11. — Seeder performers in the annual North and South tennis tournamen; advanced through the first-round matches here yesterday without a single upset.

Frank X. Shields of New York, seeded No. 1, breezed through the first test to defeat Byron Ables, University of North Carolina player, 6-0, 6-0, and then polished off Nick Ashby, Duke University team member, in love sets in a second-round engagement.

The two Canadian Davis Cup men, Walter Martin of Toronto and Regina and Marcel Rainville of Montreal, headed the "foreign" seeded list, met little opposition.

Martin defeated Frank Sullaway of Concord, N.H., 6-0, 6-1 in a first-round match, and later eliminated Lawrence Jones of the University of North Carolina, 6-1, 6-2, in a second-round match. Rainville played but one match, defeating Robert Mauchel, New York, 6-1, 6-4.

MUSH MARCH SCORES WINNING COUNTER IN SECOND OVERTIME PERIOD TO ELIMINATE REDMEN

Ebbie Goodfellow in Penalty Box When Only Tally of Struggle Made.

HAWK FANS RUN WILD.

First Time Stanley Cup, Emblematic of World's Hockey Honors, Ever Brought to Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 11.—(CP) — The Western Canadian Black Hawks of Chicago, who struck the playoffs in full stride and hardly faltered on the way to the top, had the old Stanley Cup on display today. They won it last night by defeating Detroit Red Wings 1-0 in 30 minutes and five seconds of overtime.

One way and another, little Mush March, fleet left winger, had been a potent factor in the Hawk rise. He had figured in two collisions which put one stary player out of the playoffs altogether and broke another's nose. And the former Regina boy scored the decisive goal last night.

March brought the series to a close in four games by slashing a shot into the Detroit cage after taking a pass from Doc Romnes at mid-ice and fighting his way down the boards and across to the side of the goalmouth, with Red Wings checking him all the way. The Wings were shorthanded at the time.

The victory was the third for Tommy Gorman's backchecking forces. The Hawks won the first two games on Detroit ice. They ran into a 5-2 defeat Sunday night at home and a second defeat last night would have deadlocked the series and forced a fifth and deciding game back in Detroit.

They fought cautiously through the three regulation periods with neither team able to break down the rival defensive systems. There was scarcely a dangerous raid in the first 20-minute stanza. The crowd of 16,500 watched the scene in tense silence, gripped by the perfection of the play.

But always the Hawks seemed to have the upper hand. Their attacks carried a little more punch and the forwards got back faster to accompany the Red Wing counter-drives. The packed stadium felt that when the explosion came, it would be in the Detroit net.

Goodfellow Gets 'Air'

It came midway through the second extra session. The Wings faltered first, Ebbie Goodfellow drawing a two-minute penalty for tripping Tommy Cook. As Goodfellow skated to the penalty box, slowly and dejectedly, the crowd stood up for the smashing finish. This was the 'break' each team had hoped to get.

Not since the first period had there been a penalty, and then there were only two. The checking had been stiff but always fair. It had become evident as early as the second period that there were to be no more penalties—the orders were out. When Goodfellow left the ice, the Hawks swooped down.

The first five-man drive, led by Romnes, March and Paul Thompson, foundered on the sturdy Red Wing defence. The Hawks were all inside the Detroit blue line, keeping the puck there. Finally Herbie Lewis swung at the rubber and sent it back to the Chicago end. Lionel Conacher raced back with it and Walter Buswell stopped the Big Train.

It was almost time for Goodfellow to return when Romnes got possession at centre. He sent a pass across to March at the right boards. The little fellow was far from being in the clear, but he tapped the puck away from his check and skated down the boards. As he rounded the defence, he suddenly shook off Buswell and sent a waist-high shot past Goaler Wilf Cude.

The crowd cheered wildly for minutes on end, hailing Chicago's first Stanley Cup winners until President Frank Calder of the National Hockey League presented the trophy itself to the Hawk owner, Major Frederic McLaughlin.

Western Canadians formed the bulwark of the titled team. Only Conacher, Romnes and Taffy Abel learned to play hockey anywhere else. And a Winnipeg youth, the slender Cude, was the most stubborn obstacle the Hawks had to overcome. The Red Wing netman kicked out 53 shots last night to 39 handled by Gardiner at the other end.

TUMBLING THE PINS

LADIES CITY League held the spotlight at the Duffus Alleys last night when six teams battled in scheduled games. Nashua Paper girls turned in a great performance when they tumbled the Y Ladies for a four point gain, and set up at least two league records. The first was made by Eileen White who rolled 196-256-286—738 for the highest triple count of the season. Her last single of 286 was just one pin under the league high solo of 287 made by Ethel Rae. Marion Timm spilled 160-262-180—602 and Mae Hatcher had 135-202-181—518. For the losers, M. Easson was high, counting, 173-179-144—496. Nashua's second game total of 972 is also a new mark. The scores: Y. Ladies, 705-851-672—2228. Nashua 802-972-958—2722.

o O o

LOWN BOWLERS won a decisive four point victory from the Lucky Strikes, who dropped each game by a slim margin. H. Hatchers 446 in three was high for the losers, and Mrs. C. Dwyer led the winners with 464. Team scores: Lucky Strikes 658-639-752—2049. Lawn Bowlers, 689-651-759—2099.

DOMINION WOOLLENS surprised the Westclox with a high class brand of bowling that sent the latter home on the small end of a 3-1 verdict. H. Pearson gave the Woollens the edge when she scored 160-124-242—526, and B. Mills added 501. Carmel Doran maintained her average by tumbling 241-177-154—572 for the losers. Team scores: Westclox, 736-784-656—2176. Woollens 792-723-734—2249.

COLLEGES MAY DESERT C.R.F.U.

Intercollegiate Union is Opposed to the Play-off System.

MEETING ON SATURDAY.

KINGSTON, April 11. — Play-offs for the Dominion football title were expected to be the main point of discusson at the annual meeting of the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union at Montreal on Saturday, it was learned here yesterday. Professor W. P. Wilgar of Queen's University is president of the C.I.A.U.

A motion that Dominion finals alternate each year between East and West, and that a team refusing to go into the play-offs be fined was passed recently at the annual meeting of the Canadian Rugby Football Union.

There was considerable opposition among the universities to C.R.U. ruling, it was learned. The alternating of finals between East and West would mean that Eastern colleges could not send teams to the West because of lack of time. There was much opposition to levying of fines by the C.R.U., and it was believed in some quarters a move will be made on Saturday to drop out of the C.R.U.

Professor M. B. Baker, Dr W. A. Campbell and Charles Hicks of Queen's University will represent the local college at the meeting.

PLENTY OF THRILLS ASSURED ON FRIDAY'S WRESTLING CARD

Colorful Grapple Artists to Compete in Three Matches on Program.

ALL LIGHT HEAVIES.

Stars in the sky shine no brighter than will the stellar performers who will feature Peterborough's show of light heavy wrestling, under the auspices of the Peterborough Baseball Club, at the Brock Street Rink, next Friday night. From the word go this card promises to produce thrills, as well as a generous assortment of all the various personal styles in the wrestling game as at present shown all over the world. In the first of the two main bouts of the card each featuring two falls out of three and with a time limit of one hour each, Paul Orth, of Toledo, O., the Tarzan of the Mat, will meet Mustapha Pasha, the Terrible Turk, of Istanbul, Turkey.

Orth has always been a drawing card and a headline performer on the cards on which he has appeared, and there is no case on record where the combination of bad-man tactics and sob-artist antics of this star light heavy has failed to bring the best sort of entertainment to the cash customers. This match should prove no exception because of the foil which the Terrible Turk is certain to produce for the wily Tarzan. One of the Turk's peculiarities is to keep his hair extremely long, and this is certain to appeal to Paul as a weak spot in Mustapha's armor. Everything seems to indicate that this match will produce entirely new angles to the old-fashioned indoor sport of "hair-pulling." In the other main frame Young Angelo, variously known as the "Sicilian Flash," "The Fiery Wop," and "The One-Man-Riot," will oppose Johnny Felix, of Tulsa, Okla. This is a match which is sure to produce all the speed, skill, science, thrills and actions for which this light heavy grappling has come to have a name in the centres on the continent where it has been introduced, and the mixture of Felix's prowess and Angelo's rough-house antics, to which is added the latter's unquestionably superior showmanship (not to say clowning proficiency). There is every indication, then that these two main attractions will serve to send the multitude on their way from the Friday night show with a sense of having witnessed the supreme in athletic entertainment.

Florida Officials Amend Racing Rules

MIAMI, Fla., April 11.—(AP)—The Florida Racing Commission, which permanently ruled five racehorse trainers from all State tracks this winter in a crusade against the doping of animals, today amended its rules to provide for possible leniency and paved the way for early reinstatement of three of the penalized trainers. One other trainer was suspended.

Before adopting the amendment the rules provided that if any horse were found by the Commission to have been doped the trainer should be ruled off all State tracks.

As amended the rules now stipulate that if any horse is found to have been stimulated the trainer may be suspended or ruled off the tracks.

They also were changed to read that any trainer once having been suspended for violations of the rules, should be ruled off all State tracks if a subsequent analysis shows a horse under his training has been doped.

N.H.L. MUST PAY TO INVADE ST. LOUIS

American Hockey Association Demands Compensatios For Territory.

ST. LOUIS, April 11.—The rumored transfer to St. Louis of the Ottawa Senator Club of the National Hockey League will not be opposed by the American Hockey Association, if the minor circuit is compensated for the loss of territory, William F. Grant, the Association President, said here yesterday.

Grant, who voiced opposition to the proposed move when Ottawa dispatches first reported it last Saturday, said objection would be withdrawn if compensation is paid, and Frank (Doc.) Wainwright, operator of the present St. Louis Club, is satisfied.

A league meeting would be necessary to determine what value the American Association would place on the franchise, Grant said. Hockey, which started slowly in St. Louis six years ago, reached a peak in the season just closed, more than 200,000 persons attending 24 home games.

Savoldi Junior

NEW YORK, April 11. — Joe Savoldi, former Notre Dame football star and now a professional wrestler, who said some time ago that he'd like to father a whole football team, yesterday got a start in that direction, when Mrs. Savoldi presented him with a ten-pound son.

The new Savoldi will be named Joseph Jr. Joseph Sr. has wired Notre Dame entering Joseph Jr. with the freshman class of 1954.

SAINTS DRAW WITH SERVICE SEXTET 5 TO 5

Memorial Cup Winners Outscore Toronto City Rivals After Bad Start.

JACKSON LEADS SCORERS.

Crowd of 4,700 Fans Well Pleased With Splendid Display of Ice Pastime.

TORONTO, April 11 (CP)—While there are numerous instances of a good big team beating a good little team, St. Michael's College Juniors, hockey monarchs of the Dominion in their own right, to-day had proven the good little team doesn't always have to take a licking.

In the first of a three-game series for the City Championship last night, the Irish held the good Cities Service Senior outfit to a 5-5 deadlock in ten minutes of overtime, and if anything emerged with the major share of honors.

Cities Service, champions of the local Mercantile League and rated on a par with any Senior sextette in the country, started out to skate the jaunty Juniors into the ice by tallying three times in the first period without permitting a score by their rivals.

After the rest interval, however, St. Mike's showed true championship calibre by tieing it up and eventually taking the lead in the third period, when they scored twice to their opponents' once before the session was half over. The Irish advantage was wiped out, however, some three minutes later and neither team was able to take the lead thereafter.

The hockey was brilliant for the latter half of the game and the crowd of 4,700 was in a continual uproar as time and again scores were stopped at the goal-mouth.

For the Juniors, Art Jackson, brother of Harvey Jackson, left-winger on the Canadian Press All-Star team, stood out with three goals, all on passes from his teammates. Johnny Acheson and Don Willson registered the others.

Husky George Parsons pounded in a pair for the Mercantilers; the others coming from the sticks of Harvey McClelland, Jimmy Fowler and Ab Grant.

NEVER WAS SPY, CLAIMS LINCOLN, NOW BUDDHIST

VANCOUVER, April 11 (CP)—Trebitch Linbein, now the Buddhist Abbott Chao Kung, declared to newspaper interviewers here yesterday he had never been a spy despite his reputation as such.

"Are you going to visit England?" he was asked.

"And why shouldn't I?" he demanded. "I never was a spy in my life. I have employed spies in Germany when I was associated with the Kupp Putsch, but I have never been a spy. And anyway, what harm could any spy do Great Britain?"

Asked if he had not gone to China years ago to revenge himself on England, Lincoln admitted he had.

"But all that is forgotten now. All revenge has passed out of my heart. As a Buddhist I now only seek to do good, to help the world. I have no bitterness in my heart towards England. My last book I dedicated to her. The people of England will understand me. You will see I will be accepted there."

BUFFALO BISONS NEED HELP FROM MAJOR LEAGUE CLUBS

1933 International Loop Champions Weak in Almost Every Department.

PITCHING BIG WORRY.

BUFFALO, April 11 (AP).—Upon the help they may receive from major league clubs, depends Buffalo's chances of repeating its sensational International League championship triumph of 1933. The Bisons captured the 1933 title after barely getting into the play-offs.

They are weak in almost every department, offence and defence, one of their principal infield worries, the gaping hole left at second base when Fresco Thompson graduated to the New York Giants, was plugged by the arrival of Les Mallon from the Cincinnati Reds, but Manager Roy Schalk still is looking for a successor to Joe Brown at third. Brown now is with Toronto.

Throughout the spring training season, Schalk worked Jack Smith, regular first baseman, at third while Bud Clancy, with Jersey City last year, took over Smith's first-basing duties. Bill Eagan held forth at second until Mallon's arrival, while Moe Mulleavy apparently is a fixture at short.

The Bisons, while ranking first in batting last season, were last in fielding, and Schalk and other club officials have visited major league camps in hopes of acquiring smoother fielding as well as more pitching strength.

Pitching Big Worry.

Pitching may be the principal worry, as a matter of fact. It looks now as though last year's veterans will have to do the bulk of the work. One of the most promising newcomers is Milt Shoffner from Scranton of the New York-Pennsylvania League, but Schalk is depending mostly on Johnny Wilson, Bill Gould, Harold (Ace) Elliott, Hank Brewer and George Milstead. Big Ed Wineapple, former four-letter athlete at Providence College, has received considerable attention. He has played with Chattanooga, New Haven and Harrisburg, but remained out of baseball all last season to recuperate from a leg operation.

With three regulars back, the outfield problem appears to centre around reserves, Len Koenecke, now with the Dodgers, was the only fly-chaser who moved up to faster company, and Ollie Carnegie, Ollie Tucker and Heinie Mueller are back this year bidding for the regular posts.

One of the bright spots so far has been the work of Lincoln Wasem, a young catcher from Joplin, Mo. He is expected to sub for the first-string backstop, Buck Crouse, frequently.

O.B.A.A. Needs AAU Is Crocker's Opinion

LONDON, Ont., April 11 (C.P.).—"We do not anticipate any trouble between the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association and the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada," said J. Howard Crocker, London, president of the A.A.U. of C., commenting on the decision of the O.B.A.A. in making amateur cards optional for baseball players.

"W. A. Smith, newly elected president of the baseball organization, is a big enough man to see what is the best for the player. I believe that the matter will iron itself out during the next few weeks," he added.

"If the O.B.A.A. carried on without amateur cards, they will accept the entire responsibility of keeping the game clean. The athletes who compete in hockey, football, track and field and other sports must be protected," Mr. Crocker said.

It is possible the officials of the two organizations will have a joint meeting during the next few weeks, when the matter will be definitely settled, and Mr. Crocker did not believe the baseball organization would break away from the amateur union.

PEDEN AND ZACH LEAD CLEVELAND BIKE GRIND

CLEVELAND, April 11 (AP). — Three times the team of Ritter and Thomas pressed the leaders, Torchy Peden of Victoria, B.C., and Freddie Zach, in Cleveland's six-day bicycle race during the nine o'clock sprints last night, only to slacken pace with advantage within their grasp.

The Peden-Zach combination earlier in the day had taken the lead from Alfred le Tourneur and Henri Lepage, the latter of Montreal, by point advantage. Ritter and Thomas at 10 p.m., the 121st hour of the race, again were pressing and threatening to make up the lap they were behind the leaders.

SPORTS DAY BY DAY

Hockey — Bowling — Boxing Basketball — Curling, Etc.

By C. J. P.

Two soap-box sessions are slated for this e'en down at Ye Duffus' Pin-Smacking Alleys. First one is an executive meeting of the Gals' Softball (the boss calls it the Sex Appeal) League, at seven tinkles of the clock; and the other is the City Baseball League gabfestival at eight bells. The former is for officers only, but the latter is as open as that first morning yawn. There should be a good turnout of all those interested. And those who think sportsmanship is something that sailors go down to the sea in should ankle around and learn how badly the kids want to play ball and how much they appreciate a pal in need.

In answer to a raft of readers' inquiries we are very sorry but we cannot inform them of the whereabouts of Madame Mollee LaMurphy's tearoom. It wouldn't be fair to the rest of her customers. Of course, if she wants to advertise, or if curious parties manage to locate the spot—well, that's out of our hands. But we must keep it a secret. You see, folks, the Madame has a select clientele of patrons—okay, then, customers—including newsmen who seek solace in a cup of tea, worried-looking chaps who tell not neither do they spin but who daily gather there to peruse racing forms, certain sporting gentry who do not back teams and consequently have the price of cakes and tea—and others too humorous to mention. She is kept busy, they are undisturbed, and everyone is happy, so why bring in more people? After all, 'tis a very select gathering and we can't just have everybody dropping in!

A fellow in a George Street barbershop was telling a bunch yesterday that he had seen this dude, Angelo—who rassles here Friday on the pro card at the Brock—doing his stuff not long ago elsewhere. He said the Fiery Wop was a wow, and just about the best tough guy he had ever seen in a ring. He got his luckless opponent staggered from a fist to the jaw and then tied him up in half a dozen knots on the ropes, twisting his arms, legs and even neck in and out of the strands—and then smacking the referee who tried to assist the luckless rival! "He had about two hundred women and men so sore they were trying to get into the ring after him," the chap said, "and the police had to take him to his dressing-room." He ought to be good, and we imagine the whole card will be a beaut.

Here's the latest on Toronto lacrosse, written by Ted Reeve, which should interest local-gutted stick followers: "The senior lacrosse teams of Toronto are worried about grouping, mainly because no one knows how many senior lacrosse teams there may be in Toronto. Joe Dwan and his North Toronto Club may put in an entry. Oakwoods are said to be ready and Malvern Grads, with Art Pim for coach, are all set, but are not fussy about a group in which there will be too much travelling. The Grads' coffers are coffing rather feebly. Mimico, Hamilton and Fergus are all set for a bigger and better summer, but the Orillia Terriers will probably drop back to intermediate ranks owing to the departure of several star players. Brampton will be intermediates, it is said for this year, but Oranegville, Richmond Hill and Torontos are other possible senior entries. This week will clear up the uncertainty.

Annual meeting of the Kawartha District Tennis League will be held Friday, April 20th, in the local Lawn Bowling and Tennis Clubhouse. Officers will be elected, plans made for the coming season, and the question of amalgamating this league with the Central Ontario one will be discussed. The latter loop will probably have a few representatives on hand. The six Kawartha League clubs, Lindsay, Port Hope, Lakefield, Peterborough, Quaker Oats and Kawartha, are all expected to have delegates present. Tennis is becoming a mighty popular game in and around Peterborough and this summer should see it going over even better than last year.

And another annual meeting next week is that of the Church Softball League Wednesday, April 18th at seven p.m. in the 'Y'. Don Charlton of the Boys' Work Board, which sponsors this circuit, is calling the session and wants a good turnout. A committee of five will be elected to run things. Last year's committee included Harold Rehill, Len Agnew, Whitty Thirnbeck, Jack Clayton and Don Charlton. All Sunday Schools are urged to have at least two representatives on hand as the loop opens the first week of May and winds up the end of June. Suggestions at this time will be welcomed. Last year there were seventeen teams in, with St. James winning the junior section, Knox taking the juvenile and St. James the bantam division.

Let's see, what softball chatter is there? Well, the only teams definitely entered so far in the local Men's City League are the Brintons and Omemee, but we hear that Westclox, Brock St. Rink and C.G.E. will be in—that's just rumor yet. And we hear that Park Hill will not be in the Girls'' League this year, but that Choates will be back. We also have it on fairly good authority that Lindsay will not be in the O.A.S.A. this year, but plans on running a Town League and maybe enter a Rural League, the latter to include Omemee. Well, that's all we know at present, softball fans. The gals' reorganization meeting will be next week, as will the men's meeting. More after that.

Knotty Lee is here today and we understand the officers are holding a meeting to thresh out the summer grouping angle and try to re-open the interlocking schedule idea with Belleville and Kingston and a Toronto loop. Kingston's writer seems satisfied with everything, and the Oshawa scribe—while admitting they still had to play in the C.O.B.L. this year—is tickled at the arrangements that lets 'em in the Ulster Loop for another season; and who can blame him? The Belleville writer admits that Belleville and Kingston lost the interlocking schedule with Ulster but tries to say that Peterborough was to blame for Napanee not coming in, the Petes objecting. Well, they did object to playing an intermediate team that was a longer jump from here than Belleville, but don't forget that Ernie Gibbard stated in Toronto that Napanee could not play senior this year. Even if we were willing to play them, at the cost of losing Oshawa out and out. Gibbard said he wouldn't jump under any circs. He told this writer and the Belleville one that when asked point blank in Toronto Friday night.

Up and down Sports' Rialto: The C.O.B.L. may hold a meeting in Cobourg Saturday to try and get things settled. . . . . We picked the wrong number when we laid dough on Detroit to take Chicago, but we were betting the other fellow's money as we won on the Leafs'-Detroit series . . . . The O.B.A.A. set umpires' fees this year when they don't have to travel out of town as "not more than $7.00 for senior games and $5.00 for intermediate games." . . . . President Crocker of the A.A.U. of C. thinks the O.B.A.A. and the Amateur Union can get together shortly on this "no amateur cards" decision of the former . . . . But he adds: "If the O.B.A.A. carried on without amateur cards they will accept the entire responsibility of keeping the game clean. The athletes who compete in hockey, football, track and field, and other sports must be protected."

CONNY SMYTHE LOOKS WITH FAVOR ON FOUR QUEEN CITY PLAYERS

Reggie Hamilton, Art Jackson, Red Metz and "Pep" Kelly Tagged for Leafs.

SHOW MUCH PROMISE.

Johnny Acheson on Ranger List; Detroit Wants Mickey Drouillard, Wilson Sought by Bruins.

[Stratford Beacon-Herald]

After exhausting their supply of adjectives in lauding the St. Mike's juniors to the skies, following their winning of the Memorial Cup, emblematic of the junior amateur hockey championship of Canada, several of the Toronto sport scribes are now directing their attention to those members of the junior champions who are sure-fire shots for money ranks next Winter. Among those of the Irish squad designated for pro. company next Winter, according to the Toronto scriveners, are Reggie Hamilton, Johnny Archeson, Art. Jackson, Mickey Drouillard, 'Pep' Kelly and "Red" Metz.

The writer may not have witnessed these lads in action as often as the Toronto writers yet he cannot subscribe to their choice entirely. So far as Johnny Acheson and "Pep" Kelly are concerned, we consider them ripe for professional hockey and they should make good from the start. In fact, we would go farther and claim that Acheson and Kelly showed more in junior ranks this season than did either Charlie Conacher or Harvey Jackson when they played their last amateur hockey with the Marlboro juniors, and nobody question whether either of them proved duds when they hopped from junior ranks right into big time.

Hamilton and Drouillard?

Art Jackson, a brother of Harvey Jackson of the Leafs, and 'Reg' Metz of the Irish juniors, might make the grade, but we question very much whether Reggie Hamilton and Mickey Drouillard are ready now or ever will be. Previous to this year Reggie Hamilton played for the Marlboro juniors, while Drocillard performed lors, while Drouillard performed er one showed anything to rate them as much above the average then. Hamilton is another "Red" Horner in one respect only. He will lead the parade in penalties served if the referees are on their job, but in effectiveness and offensively he cannnot be put in the same class. Drouillard looked good this year simply because he had two clever wingmen with him. With Windsor a year ago he did not rate in the same class with a lot of other boys playing junior hockey then or this year.

According to reports Reggie Hamilton, Art Jackson, 'Pep' Kelly and 'Red' Metz are slated for the Toronto Maple Leafs, while Detroit Redwings are hot on the trail of Mickey Drouillard, and both the New York Rangers and New York Americans are after Archeson. It appears that Conny Smythe has made an excellent choice in Kelly and Jackshon, but they passed up a real good boy in this lad Johnny Acheson. He has been a standout in junior hockey for the last two seasons and many thought he would be the first one on whom the Leafs would get strings before some other club stepped in and beat them to it. The Leafs have also singled out George Parsons of the Young Rangers as another likely prospect for pro ranks, and in this instance they appear to have made a wise choice. We fancy Parsons would be right down Lester Patrick's alley as one thing he likes about hockey players is one who can get his shot away without telegraphing it, and Parsons sure has this down to a nicety, and when he lets it go it has plenty of momentum.

Don Heath Is Ready

If Reggie Hamilton can make the grade in professional company next winter we know of a boy who should be a standout in the same ranks, and we are not going outside of Stratford to pick him. Don Heath of this year's Indians is the lad we have in mind, and if he is not a better defenceman than Reggie Hamilton now or at any future time we'll eat all the chickens Hamilton may have helped to load during the industrial strike in Stratford some months ago.

WASHINGTON.—April 11. (AP). The veterans, Walter Stewart and Monte Weaver, were assigned to carry the Washington pitching burden to-day in the opening of a three-day joust with Casey Stengel's Brooklyn Dodgers.

Owner Clark Griffith is preparing to ask President Roosevelt as soon as he returns to the capital to limber up his arm for a tossout at Monday's opening game with the Red Sox.

OKLAHOMA CITY: — Arky Vaughan, youthful Pirate shortstop, will burn up National League pitching this season if he continues his training camp performance. His record is;

Leads Pirate regulars with a batting average of .390 leads in runs scored with 22; leads in hits with 33; leads in doubles with 7; leads in triples 3, homers 8, and also has batted in most runs, 23.

CHICAGO.—It's one worry after another for Lew Fonseca, manager of the White Sox. Now that his team is hitting and getting pitching, its defense is getting shakier day by day. Eight errors were made yesterday as the White Sox lost to the Pirates.

CHICAGO.—All of the regulars on the Chicago Cubs, plus Chuck Klein, were a little more sure of their jobs to-day. In the first of a series of pre-view games yesterday, the regulars swamped the seconds, 11 to 1.

ATLANTA.—The New York Giants gained at least one new fan and an important one during their visit to Atlanta. He is "Uncle" Wilbert Robinson, former Brooklyn manager who now is president of the Atlanta club. He was seen rooting hard when the Giants lost to Cleveland yesterday and when accused of going over to the enemy he explained;

"Well, I've been around New York a lot."

Character From Handwriting

By BLANCHE A. DRAPER

A Feature Conducted by Peterboroughs Leading Handwriting Analyist for the Readers of The Examiner

Full name and address (complete) must be given in all samples sent in.

Rebecca Todd,
Havelock, Ont.

Your writing illustrates ingenuity, intuition and intelligence. Your's is intelligence and knowledge gained through the steady application to study, and the excellent brain power with which to apply yourself. You are artistic and a little bit sentimental and romantic. You are well poised and pleasant, kindly and thoughtful. Your imagination is well expressed in the flowing capital letters with their tall upper loops. Office work or any business should appeal to one of your type as a life work. Your general character is splendid. You conduct yourself with the utmost integrity at all times. You might be interested in nursing but the chemistry side of such an occupation would be more in your line than general nursing. Your number is 8. Your birthsign is Taurus ruled by Venus. May and July are your best months and your best day is Friday.

Mrs. John Howard,
Lakefield, Ont.

The handwriting as delineated on your sample for analysis shows that you are born for leadership. The capital letters tell of an artistic tendency. The upper loops reflect a generous imagination, but you do not let it get the better of you. Business ability is noted in the small letter formations. You are a kind and thoughtful person and appear to do all the good that you possibly can for others who are less fortunate than yourself. You are fastidious as regards household appointments, and desire everything in order. Your birthsign is Taurus, the Bull ruled by Venus. Your number is 8. May and July are your most fortunate months. Friday is your lucky day.

Helen Hatt,
536 Charlotte St., Peterborough.

Your handwriting indicates an individual with more than average intelligence. You should occupy an executive position, and should be able to command attention from those whose duty it is to obey your orders. Your imagination is exceptionally keen, and it enables you to visualize plans for others to execute. You are rather a quick thinker, but yet quite concise and precise in your thoughts and plans. Your extremely tall upper loops denote a gift of imagination coupled with that of art as in advertising or salesmanship. The crossing of your 't' bars decidedly reflect magnetic will power. Your disposition is usually even, but it is changeable according to circumstances and people.

Miss Marion Armstrong,
Post Office, Balleboro, Ont.

In answer to your nice long letter which you sent through The Examiner, in order to have a character analysis of your writing, I wish to thank you very much. It is always much nicer to have several lines of writing to analyze when one is desirous of a longer reading. Of course the signature is typically you, but the other smaller, or main body of the writing does give one an insight into the motives and actions of a person. So here goes for a reading as requested to the best of my knowledge: You are a persistent person and enjoy working out of your own salvation as it were, now your age at present forbids you doing half the things that your keen mind would like to do, but it does show progress for the furtherance of your plans in the future. I should suggest commercial training, with a view to secretarial work later on, that is in regards to your writing as presented just now. You should not be staying at home, at your age, there is so much knowledge to be gained through study. Can you not go back to high school and take the commercial course? If not try night school or business college. It would be a pity to waste your talent when you are so mentally keen. Social functions will not get you anywhere as pertaining to personal success or earning power, but no doubt your friends do think that you are quite an entertaining person. You should be, because of your ready wit, and humor. As regards a hobby, try a stringed instrument, and cultivate your voice. Dressmaking for your own personal needs also should appeal to you. You ask if I think you enjoy your present life. I think you do, but not to the extent that you will later on when you have concentrated and developed your talents. You 't' bar crossings tell me that from now on you will put forth every effort to betterment of your position, for will power and determiantion are plainly marked. Now I will look up your number and horoscope and answer your other questions. I find that your birthsign is Scorpio, the Scorpion, and that you are ruled by Mars. Tuesday seems to be your lucky day and January and July your most fortunate months. Your lucky number is four. I see that you ask about teaching; the answer to that is yes, if in a secretarial line as in commercial. Your destiny number is ten, your talent number is three, your personality number is nine. Your birthpath number four. The definitions of each of these carry out in detail what I have already told you in your writing, so there is no need for repetition.

Health For Young Girls
Happiness For Tired Women

MILBURN'S HEALTH AND NERVE PILLS

Thousands of women become tired out and run down, become thin and pale, and profound weakness makes life a burden.

The whole outlook of life is changed when the nervous, sick headaches, the sleeplessness, the spells of dizziness, of weakness and discouragement, and the tired, languid feelings disappear with the use of Milburn's H. & N. Pills. They tone up the nerves, enrich the blood, and bring the health back to normal again.

PLANS PROGRESSING FOR 'Y.W.' PAGEANT

Costumes Will be Completed Within Two Weeks—Board of Directors Meet.

The regular meeting of the Y.W.C.A. Board of Directors was held Monday afternoon. Gymnasium Pageant promises to again this year be a great success. The costumes will be practically completed in another two weeks. The sewing groups from churches, Ashburnham Patriotic League and interested members and friends are working faithfully during the last two months to produce costumes which will be more varied and pretty than ever before. The gymnasium and dancing classes these days make the gym a fairy bower as elves, sunbeams, flowers, frolic through their rehearsals—Peter Pan and Wendy and Michael add the story feature to this extravaganza "Peter Pan in the Enchanted Garden".

Members are now busy selling tickets and distributing dodgers. Prizes will be awarded to those selling the most tickets. A special prize this year, dainty boudoir slippers, being donated by Mrs. R. J. Kidd of Neill's Shoe Store. Board members are assisting the gym members in their sale of tickets and city organizations have been asked to cooperate by making the Pageant known and by taking blocks of tickets. Posters and pennants will soon advertise the Pageant through the courtesy of the merchants of the city. The Pageant will be given Friday, May 4th in the Grand Opera House.

The Swimming Pool committee reported some needed repairs to the roof and the Camp Committee was voted funds to purchase sheeting which will be made up this month. All committee budgets were asked to be in by April 30, the close of the Y.W.C.A. year.

The camp committee also reported on plans for this summer which assure a real happy holiday for every girl at a reasonable rate. The annual Camp shower will be held Monday, May 14. A cordial invitation is extended to every friend of 'Y' Camp to be present.

This year celebrates the 30th anniversary of the Y.W.C.A. on its present building and 43 years service in Peterborough and plans for a fitting celebration in the fall will be arranged by the program and membership committee for the Board of Directors.

The committee working on the constitution reported on the National Council suggested constitution.

Miss Littlefield announced the Basket Ball League banquet and presentation of trophies for this Wednesday evening and Miss Brownscombe reported on plans for raising the Foreign Work allocation, a large jig saw puzzle recording each donation, every 10c filling in one piece of the picture which, when completed will represent a pretty Japanese scene and means $150 for foreign work. The help of every 'Y' member and friend will be appreciated in this work. Classes and clubs for the month included gymnasium and dancing, story telling course, group singing lessons, Red Cross home nursing and home nutrition, St. John Ambulance, Junior Cooking and Story Hour, Household Workers course, Old Country Club, Jolly Rovers Club, Wohelo Club, Everbright and Sunshine Club.

Mrs. E. E. Harvey presided at the meeting and gave a helpful Easter Devotional talk.

WORK TO START NORLAND ROAD

Conservative Association of Victoria and Haliburton Start Organizing for Election.

NORTHERN LAKES HIGH.

LINDSAY, April 11 (Examiner Correspondence).—According to an announcement made by E. Windover, of Minden, superintendent of road construction in the north country, work will be started in the near future on the highway between Norland and Kinmount. This is a nine-mile stretch, and will connect the Lake Simcoe district with the highlands of Haliburton. The road program being carried out in North Victoria and Haliburton is giving employment at present to 2,714 men. More men will be taken on the construction work from now on, it being understood that local unemployed men will be given an opportunity to get back to work or suffer the loss of local relief.

The executive of the Conservative Association of Victoria and Haliburton riding held a meeting here for the purpose of making preliminary arrangements for the forthcoming Provincial election. Every district in the riding was represented, and it is understood that a convention will be called at an early date to select a candidate. Several names are being mentioned in political circle and it is believed that choice will go to the north country. Those who are mentioned as probable candidates from that district are: E. Windover of Minden, Clayton Hodgson of Haliburton and Reeve J. Handley of Burnt River.

The water in both Cameron and Sturgeon Lakes is rising daily, although these bodies are still icelocked. It is stated that the water in Burnt River is up over five feet. Motorists are still crossing the lakes, but they are taking chances as no one knows where the thin spots are. It is expected that the lakes will be entirely free of ice in about ten days.

According to a by-law passed by the Fenelon Falls Council, no dogs will be allowed to roam around the village after April 15.

The side roads in this district are holding up well at present, although many predicted a road condition seldom experienced owing to the depth of the frost.

W. C. Whittaker, of the McColl Frontenac Oil Company, Peterborough, was the speaker at the weekly meeting of St. Andrew's Guild here on Monday. He gave an interesting talk on "Oils."

ROYALS DEFEAT BISONS

ORLANDO, Fla., April 11—Montreal Royals had two big innings in which they devastated the defensive work of their fellow International Leaguers from Buffalo, and the Canadian club pulled away with an 11-6 victory. Lambasting the slants of Wilson and Winegarner, the Royals followed up a four-run first inning with five more in the third. They collected 14 hits in all, while the Bisons plucked six runs from the five hits they collected off Henry. The Bisons committed four errors, twice the number marked against Montreal.

COMMUNITY SILVER INTRODUCES IDEA

Well-Known Oneida Community is Featured at the Cooking School.

More relief for the harried hostess; now she can be sure of finding her silver flatware—her knives and forks and spoons — as bright and spotless when she takes them out of chest or roll as they were when she put them away.

When the unexpected guest arrives and the sudden dinner-party taxes herself, and her household staff, at least there need be no flatware to clean. This is the pleasant news that housewives are hearing at the Canadian School of Home Science lectures. Oneida Community, Limited, has come to the rescue with a combination of certain secret materials which neutralize those elements in the air that produce tarnish. With the new, patented, tarnish-proof Seal-Brite containers —walnut chest, tray chest, "packette roll"—flatware is positively kept bright and spotless. Tarnishproof chests and roll have been tested by the Chatelaine Institute and carry the Institute's seal of approval.

They constitute another proof of Community's constant consideration for correct table appointments. There must be nothing obstrusive, nothing extreme. Whether the function is five o'clock tea, informal luncheon, formal dinner party, or buffet supper Community Plate expresses that distinction that has been the ideal of silver craftsmen all down the ages. It is the ideal that has animated the Oneida Community since their pioneer days of the middle of last century—with the added Community touch of a certain "Particularness" that finds its most recent expression in their King Cedric design and in their Community china specially made to harmonize with Community patterns.

This perfect harmony of plate and china is another Community contribution to the perfection of table apointments. It is to be found in Communitys Lady Hamilton and other famous designs, Deauville and Noblesse.

Leaders in design authority on this continent, Community's first consideration now as when, generations ago, it turned from the manufacture of implements to the manufacture of silverware, has been to make Community Plate as excellent and perfect as human skill and ingenuity can make it. It is the product of master workers, master designers, master artists. Standards are scrupulously exacting. There is only one Community Plate, and that is the best that Community can make.

Teams Will Decide N.A. Title To-Night

TORONTO, April 11 (C.P.).—The North American amateur hockey championship will be decided here to-night when Detroit White Stars, United States champions, and the Moncton Hawks, Allan Cup winners, play the deciding game of their best-of-three series. One of the smallest crowds of the senior season is expected to view the contest.

The White Stars, who play in the Michigan-Ontario League, won the first game 2-1 in overtime and the Hawks squared the issue by taking the second game 4-1. The Hawks are a much stronger team than the American challengers. They are heavy favorites to win to-night.

So far the series has attracted a total of about 3,000 cash customers who showed no hesitation jeering at the colorlessness of the contests. It was believed about 500 or so would see the deciding game.

BROOKLYN WIN BY BIG SCORE

RICHMOND, Va., April 11. — Casey Stengel's Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday overwhelmed the Richmond team, 25 to 5, the largest score of the exhibition season.

The Flatbushers clicked off eight runs in the second and ten in the fifth. They battered Holshauser, Green and Hart for 26 hits, while Art Jones allowed the home team 11 safeties. This victory gave the Dodgers six wins in their last eight starts.

YANKS SWAMP CHATTANOOGA

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. April 11. The New York Yankees, snarling after three straight defeats by Southern Association teams yesterday fel upon the Chattanooga Lookouts and smothered them 14 to 3.

The Yanks hammered Barfoot and Piechota for 18 hits, bunching some for clusters of three runs in the third, four in the seventh and five in the eighth. Single tallies were added in the fifth and sixth.

Police Court

Magistrate Langley eased another marital craft, that had been through a rough storm, into smooth waters to-day when he dismissed a charge of non-support against a young husband, and after some kind words of advice watched husband and wife walk arm-in-arm from the court room to rejoin their baby who was fast asleep in its carriage downstairs.

"Don't fight with each other," His Honor urged the young couple. "Whatever you do, stand together, and not let outside interference come between you. You are both fine looking young people and should be a credit to this community. Remember what I have said, and I hope I'll never see either of you here again."

The husband said everything was fine again, that it was all a misunderstanding. The pretty little wife nodded her head in agreement, smiling happily

AUTHORS' MEET DATES SET.

MONTREAL, April 11.—(C.P.) — Dates of the National meeting of the Canadian Authors' Association, to be held at Devil's Lake Camp, Lake of the Woods, Ont., are June 27-30, former President Howard A. Kennedy had announced to-day.

It had previously been erroneously reported that the Association would meet on June 5-8.

9TH FRAME RALLY WINS.

PHILADELPHIA, April 11.—(A.P.)—Behind the six-hit pitching of three rookies, Connie Mack's Athletics rallied on a booming ninth-inning homer yesterday to down their rivals for the city championship, the National League Phillies, by 8-6.

The four base blow, propelled by the bat of Frank Hayes, Mack's young backstop, sending Pucky Higgins home first, broke a six-all deadlock. The victory pulled the A's into a one-game tie in the scheduled five-game city series.

With Jimmy Foxx contributing a double to bring in two tallies, the A's registered five runs in the fourth.

Peter Perdue was paid $31.25 for 31 cord, 36 feet of wood, the money to be applied on his taxes, and council adjourned to meet on Monday, April 30, at one o'clock.

Dreaded Leukemia Kills Woman Victim

MEMPHIS, TENN., April 11. (C.P.). — Leukemia, that disease for which Memphis physicians say they have found no cure, had claimed one life here to-day, and a little girl continued her war against the malady and what doctors have termed "almost certain death."

After an illness of eight weeks, Mrs. Hattie Buchanan McKinnon, 39 wife of W. Neil McKinnon, a lumber company purchasing agent, died late yesterday.

Willie Mae Miller, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Miller, was reported slightly improved to-day, but medical observers expressed doubt as to her recovery.

In leukemia, doctors say, the white corpuscles rout the red corpuscles from the blood stream.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAINS.

F.O.B. shipping point: Wheat, carlots, 79c to 81c.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, April 11.—Trading was almost at a standstill in the local dairy market yesterday. A further decline in prices failed to impress buyers, who could not be induced to make commitments while present supplies lasted. Receipts were difficult to move and an asking price of 26c for No. 1 solids quoted at opening was almost immediately reduced. Later in the day, it was stated, butter offered at 27c failed to clear. At the close a purely nominal quotation of 27½c was uoted on No. 1 grade. The market for prints was weak, although quotations to the trade were still on the basis of 30½c for No. 1. Some Australian butter was sold on spot at 27½c.

The turnover in cheese was small with no change in prices. Churning cream has been stationary for some time at 29c for No. 1 and No. 2 at 27c, and no revision was made in quotations yesterday.

Egg receipts were about the same as on Monday, with consumer demand holding well. Graded shipments, cases free, were again 18c to 18½c for A-large, with A-medium, 16c to 16½c. Wholesalers quoted shippers of ungraded eggs, delivered cases returned, 16¢ for grade A-large, A-medium 14c and C grade 12c. Retail prices were 20c to 21c for A-large, loose, and A-medium 19c to 20c.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, April 11. — Butter prices continued to decline from recent peaks on the Montreal Dairy and Produce Market yesterday, while other lines were about unchanged from previous levels. No. 1 grade butter was quoted from 26c to 26½c a pound for car-lots or less, compared with Monday's quotation of 28¾c to 29c. Demand was slow, as buyers held off to await further declines in prices as the season advances. Volume was light, with 614 boxes being offered for sale.

The egg market was steady to firm, with graded shipments in carlots or less bringing 19c a dozen for A large, 18c for A medium, 17c for B grade and 16c for C. Receipts totalled 3,768 cases.

Current Ontario cheese brought 11¼c to 11½c a pound and summer white and colored 11½c to 12¼c. Offerings amounted to 110 boxes.

On the potato market, Quebecs in 80-pound bags were $1.05 to $1.10, and New Brunswick Mountains in similar quantities $1.10 to $1.15. Prince Edward Island Mountains in 90-pound bags sold for $1.30 to $1.40.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, April 11.—Evening-up for the United States Government crop report, together with big export purchases of Canadian wheat, helped yesterday to strengthen wheat values here.

The Government crop report, issued after trading was at an end, suggested the 1934 yield of domestic winter wheat would be much less than was generally expected, totalling 491,793,000 bushels, whereas the average of latest unofficial estimates indicated 505,000,000. Price upturns for wheat were also stimulated by Senate Agricultural Committee approval of a silver purchase bill.

Wheat closed unsettled, ¼c to ⅝c higher than Monday's finish; corn, ⅛c to ⅜c up; oats, unchanged to ¼c advance, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5 cents.

Corn and oats borrowed strength from wheat. Industries were absorbing Chicago receipts of corn.

Provisions averaged higher with grains notwithstanding weakness of hog values.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, April 11.—A healthy demand for Canadian wheat, resulting in export sales of at least 1,500,000 bushels, sent wheat prices up on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday for gains of ⅜c to ⅝c.

May wheat finished at 67¾c, July at 68¾c, and October at 70¼c. Gains of almost 1d at Liverpool sent the market off to a good start, and in the rush to buy wheat the Winnipeg prices were boosted about one cent.

Not all of the export trade was reflected in the pit, but shipping interests reported good sales, and made conservativ estimates of 1,500,000 bushels. This was easily the best day's business in weeks.

The movement caught many local traders on the wrong side of the market, and induced a little short selling. The bulk of the offerings, however, were again attributed to the Government agency. The selling did no more than satisfy the demand nevertheless, and the final figures were only a fraction below the high points.

Top grades of cash grains were in better demand, and spreads closed ¼c to ¾c better. Coarse grains trading were featureless, with all commodities fractionally higher in line with wheat.

Canadian Railways Carry Less Freight

OTTAWA, April 11. — (C.P.) — Canadian railways carried less freight during 1933 than for any previous year in the past two decades and the total of 57,099,111 tons was less than half of the record tonnage of 118,652,969 tons carried in 1928, according to a report of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Compared with 1932 traffic it was a decrease of 3,368,962 tons, or 5.5 per cent.

Wheat alone accounted for 2,287,815 tons, or 68 per cent. of this decrease. All other grains except corn also showed declines and, with only small gains in cotton, apples, potatoes and other agricultural products total agricultural products amounted to 16,155,900 tons as against 18,886,017 tons in 1932.

Logs, posts, poles and piling and ties were lighter than in 1932 but all other forest products recorded increases and the total of 6,035,153 tons was larger by 508,126 tons, or 9.2 per cent. Pulpwood was particularly heavy during the last seven months. Newsprint paper showed an increase of 12,534 tons. Wood pulp shipments finished the year with a gain of 156,896 tons, or 27 per cent.

DR. W. PRATT GOES ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

BENNETT HINTS EARLY REVISION FOR B. N. A. ACT

May Be Undertaken if His Administration is Returned in General Election.

INFORMATION ON HAND.

Action Necessary to Handling of Increased Burden of Social Services.

OTTAWA, April 12 (CP) — Revision of the British North America Act, the constitution of Canada, may be undertaken by the Bennett Government if it is returned to office after the next general election.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett surprised the House of Commons yesterday in the midst of the long discussion of the Government's Unemployment Relief Bill when he declared he was strongly of opinion an early revision of the Act was necessary in order to permit of coordinated social legislation under a central authority.

"There is not the slightest doubt in the world," said Mr. Bennett, "that unless there is a rearrangement of the powers of Parliament and the Legislatures of the Provinces the problem cannot be dealt with."

He spoke just after Hon. W. E. Euler, former Minister of National Revenue, suggested the appointment of a commission to study the co-ordination of social legislation and social agencies, mentioning unemployment insurance, old age pensions, health insurance, workmen's compensation, widows' allowances, and poor relief.

Commission Not Needed

The Government had the problem in mind, said Mr. Bennett. There was no need of a commission. The Government had taken pains to gather the information required and was in a position to act if the Federal Parliament were given jurisdiction.

If the Government moves in the matter it will be the first revision of the British North America Act since it was enacted by the Parliament of the United Kingdom in 1867, thereby ushering the Dominion of Canada into existence as a union of the Provinces of British North America.

Since then a few minor amendments have been made to the Act by the Imperial Parliament on representation from the Parliament of Canada. They have been confined, however, to changes in electoral representation, the boundaries of some provinces, and the admission of new provinces to the union.

The Government was fully aware of the difficulties standing in the way of a revision of the Act, said Mr. Bennett. Any step it might take in the future would be one which would not place a strain on "the existing mechanism."

Provincial Differences

Canada is one of the few Dominions of the British Empire which

POISONING PLOT IS LAID TO GIRL

Father Hales 17 Year Daughter to Court After Family Almost Gassed.

PIPE TORN OFF METER.

MONTREAL, April 12. (CP). — Charged with attempting to poison her father, mother and six brothers, a pretty 17-year-old girl appeared in arraignment court here to-day.

Romeo Beaudette, father of the girl, Jeannette Beaudette, told the court how he and his wife and six of their 11 children narrowly escaped death when he awakened early to-day to find the house rapidly filling with gas fumes. Others in the house were close to unconsciousness when he flung open the windows and summoned aid.

A search of the house revealed the pipe had been torn away from the gas meter in the house. The girl, who was not in the house at the time but returned shortly after her father had rescued his family, was taken into custody on the complaint of Beaudette who told police he had been having trouble with her for several months.

She was remanded for hearing next week.

Provincial President Urges Support on $200,000 Endowment Fund.

FOR GREATER EXPANSION.

Work in Preventoria, Sanatoria, Baby Clinic Campaigns, Relief is Reviewed.

HAMILTON, Ont., April 12.—(C.P.)—Delegates numbering close to 300 gathered in this city to-day for the meeting of Provincial Chapter, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire. The two day agenda includes many subjects of the greatest importance to the Order. The $200,000 endowment fund to provide for the expansion of work in the province looms large among the matters for debate, and reports are being received upon every phase of the Order's activities.

When the convention opened, Mayor H. E. Wilson extended to the delegates a hearty welcome, and Mrs. M. B. Morden, Hamilton, municipal Regent, also extended greeting, which was responded to by Mrs. T. T. Paul, of Meaford.

Mrs. William Morrison, president of Provincial Chapter, delivered her address. Despite adverse circumstances, the chapters in Ontario were progressing and maintaining a high standard of service. Appealing earnestly to the members for the establishment of financial security through the endowment fund, she declared it was generally realized that if the fund could be brought to the state where larger returns were received, more

Charge Is Reduced Against Thomas Hele

Thomas Hele, charged with attempting to murder his wife, was committed for trial to-day by Magistrate Langley on a charge of assault.

Following His Worship's pronouncement, W. J. Arthur Fair, Hele's counsel, stated, "I do not think you can commit a man on a lesser charge than the one set out in the information."

"Then you move to quash it," urged the magistrate. "I have not the slightest doubt in my mind that I can so commit him."

Mr. Fair said he would make such a move.

Fenelon Falls Pastor Called To Ottawa

OTTAWA, April 12 (C.P.)—The congregation of Erskine Presbyterian Church last night extended a call to Rev. Agnew H. Johnson of Fenelon Falls, in the Presbytery of Lindsay, Ont., and it was understood Mr. Johnson would accept.

The pulpit here has been vacant since Rev. George E. Ross accepted a call to the Maritimes.

What Difference

HALIFAX, April 12 (CP)—Daniel P. Sampson stumbled as he mounted the court house steps to-day.

"Careful," warned Sheriff R. A. Breton, "or you'll break your neck."

"What's the difference?" the negro smiled back. "I might as well break it as have you fellows do it."

There was grim humor in the negro's jest. He went into court to be sentenced to death for murdering 12-year old Bramwell Heffernan. He was sentenced to be hanged June 26.

M. J. HUTCHINSON DIES SUDDENLY

Former City Editor of The Examiner Dies While at His Desk.

WITH MACLEAN COMPANY.

TORONTO, April 12.—(C.P.) — Well known in business and fraternal circles throughout the Dominion, Melvin J. Hutchinson, general advertising director of the Hugh C. MacLean Publications, became ill in his office to-day and died within a short time.

Born on a farm near Bowmanville, Mr. Hutchinson was formerly employed with the Peterborough Examiner, of which he was at one time city editor, and with the Regina Daily Leader and the Edmonton Bulletin, of which he was business manager under Hon. Frank Oliver.

Former colleagues of Mr. Hutchinson on The Examiner and many citizens who remember him during his connection with this newspaper, will learn with regret of his passing. As city editor of The Examiner for a number of years from 1903 to 1907, he had played an important part in the development of this journal and during his residence in Peterborough made a host of friends. After leaving this city, Mr. Hutchinson had a successful journalistic career with the Regina Leader and the Edmonton Bulletin. Later he moved to Toronto, where his ability was recognized by the MacLean publication of which he became general advertising director. Mr. Hutchinson was a past president of the Toronto Rotary Club, and during his term of office headed a large delegation from that club which paid an inter-city visit to Peterborough Rotarians.

NO SPECULATING IN CURRENCY IS BANKER'S CLAIM

General Manager of the Royal Bank Appears Before House Committee.

RATES OF INTEREST.

Higher Rate of Interest Charged Through Privy Council Judgment.

OTTAWA, April 12. (CP). — A general denial that banks speculate in currency or set the level of the Canadian dollar abroad was entered here to-day by M. W. Wilson, general manager of the Royal Bank, appearing before the House Banking Committee.

Banks operate as currency merchants, buying and selling to fill orders, the committee was told. Sometimes a profit resulted, sometimes a loss due to the sudden and wide fluctuations. At the same time, Mr. Wilson said there was no agreement among the bankers on currency levels. "As bankers we agree wonderfully well after hours but we fight like the devil during hours."

Privy Council Judgment

For 20 years, the Canadian banks have used a Privy Council judgment to extend loans at rates higher than the seven percent maximum set by the Bank Act, Mr. Wilson said. This was done through the loan applicant agreeing to eight or nine percent, rendering the extra interest irrecoverable in the courts, according to the 1913 judgment of the Privy Council. The present revision of the Bank Act will make this impossible, rendering the banks and their managers liable to fines if the seven percent maximum is exceeded.

"I would give the same advice to-day under similar conditions" said Mr. Wilson, summing up the support given the Montreal Stock Exchange in 1931 when the United Kingdom abandoned the gold standard. Prices were pegged on the Monday morning at Saturday's closing prices and "I think this averted a panic on the exchange." Brokers were not called to post additional collateral beyond the pegged prices and the market permitted to sink to its own level slowly and orderly.

Canada would not have felt the depression if the Dominion could have maintained the volume of her business, and kept up her commod-

2 NEW JUDGES ARE APPOINTED

F. W. Wilson, Windsor M.L.A., Named for Lanark County, Guthrie Announces.

A. E. HONEYWELL, YORK.

OTTAWA, April 12 (CP)—Frank W. Wilson, M.L.A. of Windsor, Ont., has been appointed Judge of the County of Lanark, it was announced to-day by Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice.

The Minister also announced the appointment of A. E. Honeywell, M.L.A., as Junior Judge of the County of York.

Judge Frank Worthington Wilson, K.C., was born in Tilbury, Ont., August 24, 1889, a son of the late Arthur A. and Ada F. Wilson. The father was for years prominent in municipal matters and at one time was Warden of Kent County.

Judge Wilson was educated in Tilbury Public Schools and Chatham Collegiate and Osgoode Hall. He was a law student in the office of the late Judge Raney in Toronto, and was articled with Stone, Gundy and Brackin in Chatham. He was called to the Bar when 22 years of age.

After graduation he practised law for a time in Tilbury, then went to Vancouver where he was called to the British Columbia Bar. He came to Windsor in 1914. In 1923 he was elected to the Legislature and has since retained the seat. He has been a leading advocate of "beer by the glass." He was made K.C. in 1928. He was married in 1923 to Ruth M. Kolfage of Chatham, and they have two children.

Judge Honeywell was born in Ottawa in 1878. He graduated from Osgoode Hall in 1906, his early education having been received at Kemptville High School. He was first elected to the Legislation at the general elections in 1926. He succeeds Judge Morson.

Hide and Seek

CHICAGO, April 12. (CP)—Maybe the next time Joseph Rizzo finds his automobile he'll drive it to the police station—just to make sure he's still got it.

Someone stole it, he reported to police. But on his way home he found it again. Overjoyed, he ran to a police station to tell them not to bother but when he started back to get it, it was gone again.

ARREST IS NEAR IN TOTS' DEATHS

Police Believe Clues May Lead to Unidentified Mother in Dunbarton Case.

SEEK OTHER BODIES.

DUNBARTON, Ont., April 12 (CP)—Provincial Police intimated to-day they had what they considered sufficient evidence to bring about the arrest of the unidentfied mother of two infants whose decomposed bodies were found in the municipal dump here last Thursday.

It was said to-day officers working on the case believed the bodies had been kept in a house near the dump and were left in the refuse only a short while before they were found by a passing villager. Two "important" clues were discovered by detectives, and it was on these it was expected the arrest would be made.

For days Provincial officers, under Inspector Al Boyd, have been digging around the earthen floor and cellar of an abandoned house close to the dump in the belief other infant bodies might have been hidden. But only an old red eiderdown quilt was found in a shed at the rear. It was expected to form part of the police exhibit to be held in Pickering next Wednesday.

JOHN AYLMER PASSES AWAY

As Engineer-Contractor Helped Construct Section of Trent Canal.

OUTSTANDING CITIZEN.

In the death of John A. Aylmer, engineer and contractor, who passed away at his Weller street residence last evening in his 87th year, the community has lost one of its most respected and beloved citizens.

A member of the contracting firm of Brown, Love and Aylmer, he had completed many important public works contracts, including sections of the Trent Canal and other large enterprises.

Resident in Peterborough for over half a century, Mr. Aylmer did yeoman service during the war years as head of Peterborough Patriotic Fund, and also served on the Exemption Tribunal and assisted other War efforts.

Widely Recognized

Widely recognized throughout Ontario and Quebec as an outstanding member of the engineering profession, Mr. Aylmer possessed a kindly retiring disposition, and was extremely devoted to his home and church.

As a member of St. John's Church, he had served for a term of five continuous years as people's warden and had also held office as honorary vice-president of the Laymen's Association in 1928.

The term of his wardenship which which he served at the time Dr. G. S. Cameron held office as rector's warden, followed upon the War period at a time of unusual activity in the church's history.

A son of the Hon. Henry Aylmer of Quebec, John Aylmer was born in that village on August 28, 1847.

John Pridmore Is Found Not Guilty

(By Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, April 12.—John Pridmore of Belleville, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of William Beebe, Hope Township farmer, about 9 p.m. on February 6, was found not guilty, at 3.30 this afternoon. The jury was out over two hours.

JURY RETURNS TRUE BILL AFTER 14 HOURS' STUDY

Aged Smith's Falls Physician, Unmoved, Pleads Not Guilty.

TRIAL UNDER WAY.

Panel Retires Again to Consider 10 Indictments of Illegal Operations.

PERTH, Ont., April 12. — (CP)—After studying the indictment for 14 hours the Grand Jury today returned a True Bill on the charge of murder against Dr. Wilton Pratt, 70-year-old doctor of Smith's Falls, and the murder trial got under way this afternoon.

As the trial of the doctor in connection with the death of his aged housekeeper, Miss Elizabeth McLean, began, the Grand Jury was still considering 10 indictments of illegal operations against the doctor who pleaded not guilty to the murder count.

The Grand Jury heard 29 witnesses before reaching a finding on the murder indictment, and a great number of witnesses remained to be heard in connection with the illegal operations counts.

Consuming 14 hours of testimony and deliberation the Grand Jury returned the True Bill at 11.35 a.m. It was considered a record sitting of a Grand Jury.

The aged doctor was still in his cell when the bill was presented. The jury was immediately instructed by His Lorship to retire and consider the 10 indictments of illegal operations.

Shortly afterwards the accused was brought into court. He was dressed in a dark grey suit with blue shirt and dark-colored tie and tightly clenched in his hands a brown hat.

Pleads Not Guilty

The doctor was asked to stand in the prisoner's dock while the charge of murder was read. He appeared unmoved. He pleaded not guilty and Donald Smith, defence counsel, intimated he was ready to proceed with the trial.

Defence however asked for a luncheon adjournment, saying it was the usual hour at that time for the accused to have his dinner, but His Lordship said the matter should be settled without delay. He adjourned court however until 1.30 p.m., announcing the court would sit throughout the mornings in this case with a brief adjournment, only one hour for luncheon, and an afternoon sitting to 5 p.m.

Dr. Pratt was then returned to his cell after a brief conference with counsel.

His Lordship told the jury, before they retired to consider the smaller counts, that when they were ready he would hear their findings unless a witness happened to be in the box in the murder trial at the time.

CAPTAIN MASON GIVEN 3 YEARS

Young Skipper of Rum Runner Krombout Convicted on Three Charges.

WILL APPEAL.

HALIFAX, April 12 (CP)—Captain Ross Mason, young skipper of the rum-runner Kromhout, was sentenced to day to serve three years in penitentiary for putting his vessel to sea after she had been seized by a coastguard patrol boat off Cape Breton last December.

Sentence was pronounced upon the Lunenburg Master in Supreme Court on three charges in connection with the liquor-laden craft's escape from seizure with a Royal Canadian Mounted Police prize crew aboard.

Mr. Justice John Doull sentenced him to three years on each of the charges of stealing his ship, stealing its cargo and obstructing law officers. The sentences were to run concurrently.

Immediately, the defence opened a legal battle to save Mason from the Penitentiary. His plea for an arrest of judgment having failed, W. P. Potter, Lunenburg lawyer, filed notice that the petit jury's verdict against Mason would be appealed.

CLAIM PACKERS URGE FARMERS TO SHIP DIRECT

Official Quotes Figures of Stock Bought That Never Saw Exchange.

Truckers Much To Blame.

Sees Cure in Compulsory Sale on Public Market—Boon to Producer.

OTTAWA, April 12 (C.P.). — The charge packers were persuading farmers to ship their cattle direct to their plants, even at lower prices, and keeping them off the open market was heard before the parliamentary price spreads and mass buying probe to-day. The allegations were made by A. B. Quinn, of the Toronto Livestock Exchange.

Canada Packers received 413,000 hogs in 1933, of which 106,000 only were brought on the market.

The same firm brought 33 per cent. of their cattle, 55 per cent. of calves and 45 per cent. of their sheep and lambs by direct shipments to their abattoirs. The Toronto livestock operator told the committee. Canadian Swifts last year had bought 18 per cent. of their cattle, 27 per cent. of their calves and 47 per cent. of their sheep and lambs direct.

The chief factor in increasing direct shipments to plants was the trucker. At the old Davies plant in the east end of Toronto a tremendous volume of livestock literally was "dumped there by the truckers from Eastern Ontario." The "cure-all" to a large degree would be compulsory marketing of all livestock on the public markets, which would restore prices to a satisfactory level, commensurate at least with the cost of production.

The Farmer "Dictator."

If all livestock was dealt with on the public market, the producers would then meet with the buyers through the services of commission houses. "Instead of the packers dictating the prices of livestock," testified Mr. Quinn, "the farmer would then be in a position to be the dictator, and with the concentrated buying power of all the abattoirs and small wholesalers, there would immediately develop a market that would be on a sound competitive basis, arriving at the true values of livestock from day to day. Packing houses would be on an equal footing in securing their supplies and the confidence of the producers would be revived instead of having such an unsatisfactory condition as now exists, not only in the manner of doing business, but also in maintaining their interest in the production of livestock."

Fixed differentials by packers on the prices paid for hogs was an injurious practice to producers, witness told the probe.

The committee will meet again this afternoon.

TWO BOYS DIE OF SUFFOCATION AS HOME BURNS

Father, Recovering From Operation, is Rescued in Critical Condition.

3 SONS LEAP TO SAFETY.

Dog's Barking Wakens Mother, Who Investigates, Only to Have Flames Bar Return.

OTTAWA, April 12 (C.P.). — A dog's barking awakened Mrs. Frederick Coldham a few minutes too late, and to-day two of her five young sons are dead from suffocation and the head of the household, Staff Sergeant Coldham of the Department of National Defence, is in hospital suffering from burns and shock.

The two boys, Roy, 15, and Jack, 4, were found dead in their bed from suffocation by firemen who reached the little frame house in response to an alarm turned in by a passing taxi-driver. Three other lads, aged 17, 11 and six, were apparently awakened by the smoke and escaped death by jumping from an upstairs window into a snowbank.

The cause of the blaze is unknown, but it broke out some hours after the family had retired, at the rear of the ground floor of the house. The dog was downstairs, and his barking awakened Mrs. Coldham, who went below to investigate. Before she could return to the upper floor to warn the others the stairway was cut off by a mass of smoke and flame.

The distracted woman ran out screaming for help, but the alarm had already been turned in, and in a few minutes the firemen were on the scene.

In the meantime the three boys who escaped jumped to safety, and Coldham saved himself from suffocation by standing with his head out the window. He was rescued by firemen but his legs and feet were badly burned. As he was just recovering from an operation, he suffered acutely from shock and his condition early to-day was reported as critical.

The dog died from suffocation.

BROWN BRANDED SLAYER OF WIFE

Veteran Convicted on Circumstantial Evidence, Denies Killing Secret Bride.

FACES LIFE SENTENCE.

EL RENO, Okla., April 12 A.P.), —Branded by a jury as the slayer of his secret bride, Virgil Brown, Shawnee Great War veteran, today faced life imprisonment.

The jury returned its verdict last night after a little more than two hours' deliberation.

Brown, who had cried to the jurors, "I did not kill her—I still love her—she's still my wife," was stolid as he heard the pronouncement.

The body of his wife Mrs Marie Elmsley Brown, formerly of Windsor., Ont., was found in a roadside ditch near here last October 17. Brown was convicted on circumstantial evidence despite his attempts to prove an alibi.

The State had asked the death penalty, County Attorney Sam Robertson urging the jurors to have "backbone."

PRIDMORE TRIAL EVIDENCE HEARD READY FOR JURY

Defendant Thought Object He Struck Was Yellow Dog.

GAVE POLICE STATEMENT.

Contradicts Much of the Evidence Submitted by Moncton Transient.

(By Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, April 12.—Evidence for the defense in the trial of John Pridmore of Belleville who is charged with manslaughter in the death of William Bebee, Hope township farmer who was struck by an automobile and instantly killed while walking on the provincial highway four miles west of Welcome about 9 p.m., February 6, was concluded at 8.45 o'clock last night.

At the adjournment of court Mr. Justice J. A. McEvoy said that the final stage of the trial would begin at 9.30 o'clock this morning with addresses to the jury by counsel, followed by His Lordship's summary to the jury. It was expected that the case would be concluded by noon.

J. E. O'Flynn of Sault Ste. Marie is the special Crown prosecutor, and Chas. A. Payne of Belleville is defending Pridmore.

Pridmore testified in his own behalf yesterday afternoon, contradicting most of the evidence of Henry McGinn, transient of Moncton, N.B., whom the accused drove from Trenton to Toronto.

McGinn had stated that they left Trenton shortly after 6 p.m. Pridmore and several defense witnesses, including Kathleen Ross, telephone operator at Brighton, testified that the accused was in Brighton at 6 o'clock, the time being fixed by the report of a telephone call to Belleville by John Russell, Brighton agent of Sprague Cleaners and Dyers, in which the accused is financially interested.

McGinn had stated in his evidence that they passed through Port Hope at twenty minutes to nine, and Pridmore swore it was fifteen minutes to eight. The fatal accident four miles west of Welcome occurred at about ten minutes to nine, according to estimates of the time by Crown witnesses who found the body. This place on the highway which had been subsequently pointed out to him, was four mies from the scene of the episode in which the car struck what Pridmore thought was a "yellow collie dog", the accused stated.

Both Pridmore and McGinn said that they did not think the automobile had hit a man, but when the transient youth read of the Bebee

MOOSEJAW RADIO BODY PROTESTS BEFORE INQUIRY

Claim Radio Commission Tried to Put Station Out of Business.

REFUSED PROGRAMS.

Ashcroft Lists 25 Stations He Represents — Advises Against Government Ownership.

OTTAWA, April 12 (C.P.) — A charge that the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission had made a determined effort to put his station out of business was made before the House Radio Committee yesterday by H. C. Buchanan, representative of the Moose Jaw Radio Association, operating station CHJ B in the Saskatchewan town. It was the only station that had been refused Commission programs and had been operating 80 hours a week until recently without any assistance from the Commission.

"Too many discouraging things have happened to us for them to be entirely incidental or accidental," the witness said. The Commission had refused to operate with his station unless $8,000 was spent on it and the station was forced to close down for a time but was revived by popular demand.

Chain of 25 Stations

Earlier in the hearing the Commission was bitterly criticised by R. W. Ashcroft, president of the Dominion Broadcasters' Association who claimed to represent 25 stations which were original charter members of the body. These stations were located all across Canada from Sydney to Victoria.

Mr. Ashcroft claimed that misleading information had been given the committee by Commission witnesses with respect to the cost of operating their station in Toronto and with respect to the size of the staff there. He urged that the Government go out of the broadcasting business and adopt an alternative plan which he suggested some weeks ago, involving a wide measure of Government control with privately operated stations on a commercial basis.

When Mr. Ashcroft appeared before the committee some weeks ago he declined to give the names of the 25 broadcasting stations he claimed to represent. After telegrams had been read from a large number of stations denying membership in Mr. Ashcroft's astociation, the witness agreed to consult with his membership and reveal their names at a later appearance.

Submits List

Yesterday Mr. Ashcroft submitted a list of his members. He accused the Radio Commission of having perpetrated a "clumsy roarback against him on the occasion of his last appearance.

"The libel that was circulated from coast to coast by the Radio Commission among a large number of stations was that I was in Ottawa claiming to represent at these hearings each and every private radio station in Canada," Mr. Ashcroft said. "In effect, that I was here under false pretences.

SHERWOOD PLAY UNDER POLICE EYE IN TORONTO

Complaints Send Morality Officers Hot Foot to "Reunion in Vienna" at Royal Alex.

OPINION KEPT SECRET.

Scenes Termed Risque, Suggestive—Worse Than Burlesque at Empire Theatre.

TORONTO, April 12 (C.P.). — Keepers of this town's morals, encouraged by victory over a trouping burlesque show, to-day focussed their gaze on the doings of Toronto's single legitimate theatre. From a "strip tease" act and a booklet called "Hot Dog" they turned their attention to Robert E Sherwood's play, "Re-union in Vienna."

Indignant citizens, the Police Commission revealed last night, have written complaints against the lines and business of Sherwood's play, being performed on the stage of the Royal Alexandra Theatre, describing them as "risque" and "suggestive," terms applied previously to a fan dance at the now-dark Empire Theatre's burlesque.

The complaints sent post haste to the Alexandra Inspector Thomas Sockett, chief of the police morality squad. The inspector saw last night's performance, but authorities maintained silence regarding his conclusions.

The burlesque troupe has departed. Its members said police activities scared off the customers and reduced box office takings to a point where production was no longer feasible.

Before it left, however, its manager was convicted of permitting an indecent performance and a concessionaire who sold "Hot Dog" in the aisles during intermissions was convicted of circulating indecent literature.

Worse Than Empire Show

Police attention to "Re-union in Vienna" was prompted by numerous letters, one of which described the play as "Even more offensive than the burlesque displays at the Empire Theatre."

Reaction of Maurice Colbourne and Barry Jones, British actor-producers of the piece, was one of amazement mixed with some bitterness. They recalled the play had long runs in London and New York without arousing an audible 'tut.'

Chief complaints were prompted by a scene near the end of the play in which Lily Cahill, leading lady, enters the room of a man and emerges with her clothing "most suggestively disarranged." One correspondent described this as seduction "almost openly portrayed."

One patrol who attended with the Queen's University Alumni party said he was ashamed the Alumni had given their support. "I am not overly moral," he declared, "and it is without doubt the most risque presentation I have ever seen."

Mr. Colbourne, at first incredulous when he was told a policeman had watched the performance, asked: "You're not pulling my leg, are you?" subsequently he said: "At the final Judgment Day, other virtues will be taken into account besides bodily chastity."

More Life

GREENLEAF, Kas., April 12 (C.P.).—Several years ago life on the farm grew dull for L. T. Stout and he and his wife moved here, where they thought they would find plenty of activity.

"It was too dull in town," he explained.

RELIEF BARRED TO NEWCOMERS IN N. MONAGHAN

Approve Action in Requesting Further Grant of $4,000 for Wood Cutting.

COUNCIL MEETS.

$821.30 Unpaid Taxes for 1932 Turned Over to County for Collection.

The North Monaghan Council held their regular monthly meeting at the Court House, Peterborough, on Monday, April 9th. All the members of the Council were present, with Reeve Hi Wood presiding.

A resolution was passed that taxes to the extent of $821.30 for the year 1932 be returned to the County of Peterborough for collection.

James Patterson was appointed foreman of the Burleigh wood camp. John Dossitt was appointed cook for the Burleigh camp, with Fred McBride, helper.

The action of the Reeve and the Deputy-Reeve in requesting the relief department for a further grant of $4,000 for wood-cutting contract was approved by the Council.

A letter was read from Mr. Mathews of Minden, regarding the purchase of a lot or two in the south end of the city.

A resolution was passed that no lots be sold by the township unless building restrictions are incorporated therein. That the value of the building must be at least $600.

A resolution was passed that the Township of North Monaghan positively refuses to give relief to newcomers moving into the township.

A resolution was passed that men cutting wood and those receiving direct relief be allowed half a cord of wood a month.

KIDNAP STORY LAID TO NERVES

Father of Toronto Youth Blames Tension Over Examination Study.

POLICE CEASE HUNT.

TORONTO, April 12. — (CP) — Curzon Clarkson's story of kidnapping was blamed today on overwrought nerves caused by the young student's worry over the coming examinations at the University of Toronto. The youth's father, F. C. Clarkson said his son had become very nervous as the examinations drew near.

Police had abandoned their inquiry into Clarkson's story of being kidnapped. The father said he believed his son had invented the story, seeking an effort to explain his absence from home.

Yesterday young Clarkson arrived in Toronto with the kidnapping story. He said he had been overpowered as he sat in his car in Toronto, chloroformed and driven to London, Ont. The 19-year-old youth appeared early in the morning at Byron sanitorium, near London wet from the rain and shivering from the cold. His car was found in a gully near the sanitorium.

FACTORY FIRE COSTS $200,000

Blaze Sweeps Block Long, Three Storey Building in Downtown Toronto.

SIX HOUR FIGHT.

TORONTO, April 12. — (CP) — Damage of more than $300,000 was caused by fire which swept through a block-long, three-storey factory building at Queen and Abell streets here early today.

Flames shooting 40-feet into the air brought hundreds of spectators to the spectacular three - alarm blaze. Called at 12.30, firemen used 14 lines of hose in a six-hour fight with the blaze. Shortly after it started they seemed to have it under control but it reached a stock of mattresses and excelsior and burned more fiercely than ever.

The fire started on the third floor, occupied by the Way Sagless Spring Company, and also damaged the quarters of three other companies on the second story. The unoccupied first floor was flooded with water.

An hour and a half after the fire started the roof of the building, 450 feet long and 150 feet wide, collapsed. The only occupant, a watchman, had completed his rounds and was standing outside the building when the fire was discovered. Its origin is unknown.

CHURCH PARTY YOUNG'S POINT

Miss E. McIlmoyl and F. Carroll Are Winners at Cards —12 Tables Played.

DANCING FOLLOWS.

YOUNG'S POINT, April 12 (Examiner Correspondence) — One of the best parties of the season was held in Ed Young's hall under the auspices of St. Mary's Church on Monday evening.

Twelve tables of cards were played with the prizes being awarded to Miss Edith McIlmoyle of Selwyn and Mr. Frank Carroll of Young's Point. The lucky door ticket was held by Mrs. Charles Merrell.

During the past week, tickets had been sold on a pair of flannelette blankets and the draw was made at the party by Master Norman Davey of Burleigh Falls, Mrs. W. C. Young being the winner.

Refreshments were served by the committee in charge, after which the hall was cleared and made ready for dancing to music supplied by Messrs. J. LaRoche, J. Young and F. Young.

The largest crowd of the season was in attendance with people from Selwyn, Lakefield, Sixteenth Line and Burleigh Falls present.

BENNETT HINTS EARLY REVISION FOR B. N. A. ACT

has no power to amend its own constitution, and this situation exists because of Canada's own choice. Differences of viewpoint between the Provinces and the Dominion were no doubt some of the difficulties to which the Prime Minister referred.

The draft of the British North America Act was prepared at a conference of the representatives of the original four uniting provinces —Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick—and some constitutional thinkers have argued it represents a contract between them and cannot be altered without their consent. Others look upon it as merely an Act of Parliament which stands by itself.

In recent conflicts of jurisdiction between the Dominion and the Provinces, Quebec and Ontario have tended to stand out strongly for the mantenance of the full powers of the Provincial Legislatures.

United Against Change

When the new autonomus status of the British Dominions was being defined at the Imperial Conference of 1926 and 1930 Quebec and Ontario united in making representations against a change in the law which would confer on Canada the right to amend the Act.

They looked upon the fact a change had to be made by the British parliament as a security for the rights of the provinces against an extension of the federal power. Consequently the statute of Westminster, which confers on other dominions the right to change their constitutions contains an express reservation to exempt Canada from its provisions in this respect.

The vital clauses of the Act to which the revision mentioned by Mr. Bennett is likely to relate are those which set out the respective legislative powers of the Dominion and the provinces. The provinces are given exclusive control over property and civil rights and most of the mooted social legislation would fall under this head.

A change which would authorize the Dominion to embark on a program of social legislation would entail the transfer from the provinces to the Dominion of at least a part of the jurisdiction over property and civil rights.

There was no indication yesterday as to whether the House would complete discussion of the relief bill to-day. It has been under consideration since before Easter.

Sweep Amendment Out.

The Senate yesterday, by the casting vote of the chairman of the committee of the whole, rejected an amendment to the sweepstakes by the bill to be used for the aid of universities as well as hospitals. The change was proposed by Hon. C. P. Beaubien, who said he had in mind the University of Montreal.

The bill was reported from committee and stands for third reading after Senator James Murdock advanced a further argument against it. He suggested its enactment might be an unfriendly act towards a friendly nation as sweepstakes were illegal in the United States, and Canadian lottery tickets would certainly be sold illegally in that country.

The morals of the United States were their own business, said Senator G. H. Barnard, sponsor of the bill. He refused to worry about them. Canada had already suffered a loss of millions of dollars through prohibiting the export of liquor to the United States.

Queen Mary Buys King's Underwear

LONDON. — The good example set by Queen Mary is credited with having been a potent factor in the record business done by the British Industrial Fair.

The publicity which resulted from the Queen's action in purchasing the King's underwear there brought out people in unprecedented droves.

Large orders were placed by buyers for American department stores visited by members of the royal family.

On her two visits to Olympia the Queen spent six and a half hours buying articles, and made purchases at 87 stands. It is estimated that the Queen's visits were alone responsible for more than $5,000,000 worth of orders. Throngs came to buy articles similar to those purchased for use by the royal family.

The fair is held annually.

St. Andrew's Y.P.S.

LAKEFIELD, April 12 (Examiner Correspondence).—The program at St. Andrew's Y.P.S. on Monday night was put on by the literary and musical committee under the convenorship of Mrs. Chaplin.

The president, T. W. Chaplin, was in the chair for the opening exercises, and Roger Davis took the chair for the program, which was as follows:

Cornet duet—Messrs. Clark and Scriver; topic, ably presented by Miss Elsie Kidd; piano duet—Misses Nelson and Blakeley; reading—Miss Ruth Grotifeud; banjo solo—Harry Blewett, with piano accompaniment by Mrs. Grotifeud; solo—Mrs. Chaplin.

Rev. R. J. Burtin was welcomed back and took charge of the devotional part of the evening's program.

SAMUEL MOIR DIES IN AUTO

Percy Farmer Dies at Car Wheel After Returning From Campbellford.

HEART ATTACK CAUSE.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 12 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — Death came suddenly late on Tuesday afternoon to Samuel B. Moir of Percy Township, when he died at the wheel of his car in front of his farm home after having spent the afternoon in Campbellford on a shopping trip with his wife.

On the way home he complained of not feeling well, and when nearing the end of the journey his driving became a little unsteady. He was able to stop the car, however, near the house, where Mrs. Moir sought the aid of the hired man to assist her husband to the house, but returning to the car found him dead at the wheel. A heart attack was the cause.

Mr. Moir was well known in the district, being a son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Moir of Campbellford. He was 61 years old. He is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Duncan, an adopted son, two brothers, James of Brighton Township and John of Percy, and two sisters, Mrs. White of Bruce Mines, and Mrs. George Herriott of Seymour. The funeral will be held this (Thursday) afternoon.

MOOSEJAW RADIO BODY PROTESTS

"The intent of this slander was to discredit me before your committee. I challenge the Radio Comfides. It resulted in a barrage of telegrams from a number of stations—telegrams sent by these stations to you at the request of the Radio Commission and which now form part of the record of these hearings.

"I have never claimed to represent these stations before your committee. I challeng the Radio Commission or anyone else to prove that I had authority to so represent these stations. I do not represent them. I do not represent any other individual station. I do, however, represent an association of stations, a list of whose charter members has been filed with your committee."

Paid By No One.

No one—not even the big, bad American radio wolf against which our Don Quixote Canadian Radio Commission is so valiantly tilting—no one, I repeat, is employing me or paying me to appear before your committee. I am here of my own volition, and at my own expense, in the hope that I may be of some service to your committee and to the Canadian radio public.

"For nearly ten years, one of my business connections has been and still is with the company which owns the Toronto radio station now known as CRCT, which was formerly called CKGW.

"About seven years ago, they decided to build this radio station. It was not, initially, the success that had been hoped for. I presently induced the owners to turn it over to me to operate. I conducted it for about five years, as the Trans-Canada Broadcasting Company, and it soon became the most popular station in Ontario, broadcasting programs originating all over the world, and sending programs to many other stations throughout Canada and the United States.

"Then came the Radio Commission, with their attempt to chisel free broadcasting of their programs. And their edict, to become effective April 1, 1933, whereby I would not be allowed to broadcast any of the sponsored programs that I then had on the air and from which I derived enough revenue to pay for Metropolitan Opera and to give it and many other fine performances to the Ontario public.

The Gauntlet

"I refused to do the Commission's broadcasting without compensation; I reduced my schedule from 18 hours to about 9 hours per day, and I was prepared to discontinue my broadcasting operations entirely if and when they carried out their threat to drive my sponsored programs off the air.

"As a result of this situation, a lease of the station was effected with the Radio Commission as of May 15, 1933—and the most contented owners of a radio station in Canada to-day are the proprietors of Station CKGW, as they are getting a satisfactory rental for the property, and have no liability or responsibility.

"I consider the present Commission system grossly unfair to the private radio stations of Canada. The Government should either "fish or cut bait." It should either own and operate or quit attempting to. I think it would be better advised to quit. We have one "white elephant" on our hands in the shape of a railway system, and I cannot understand why we should adopt a baby "white elephant" of a broadcasting system."

Changes in wavelengths in April 1933 had affected nearly every station in the Dominion, although the allotments prevously had been satisfactory, Mr. Ashcroft said.

CHESTERVILLE PASTOR INVITED TO MILLBROOK

Will Exchange Pulpits With Rev. W. Jones at Start of Conference Year.

MILLBROOK, April 12 (Examiner Correspondence)—An invitation, by majority vote, was extended to Rev. Royal E. Newman, of Chesterville, to become the pastor of the Millbrook United Church circuit at the beginning of the next Conference year, exchanging with the Rev. Wesley Jones the present pastor, who will go to Chesterville at the end of June.

The congregational meeting was held in St. Andrew's Church on Tuesday evening, with the circuit well represented, and Rev. Mr. Jones, who is concluding a six year pastorate, in the chair. The recommendation was brought in by the pulpit supply committee, Dr. A. Jemison, Clerk of the Session, and W. Fred Fallis sponsoring the motion for its adoption.

Rev. Mr. Newman was heard in the Millbrook circuit on Sunday, Rev. Mr. Jones being at Chesterville.

The meeting then adjourned. A special meeting to be held at the call of the Reeve for special business. The next regular meeting to be held at the Court House, Peterborough, on May 14th, 1934, at two o'clock in the afternoon.

REV. J. WILKINSON SPEAKS AT SERVICE

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARSAW, April 12. — There was a good attendance at the Warsaw United church on Sunday evening, when Rev. J. W. Wilkinson preached a sermon bearing on W. M.S. work and the Easter thankoffering was taken. The loose collection also went to that organization. A special feature was the three selections by the young people's choir, which were quite acceptable. The choir was nearly all girls of Mrs. G. G. Taylor's class, assisted by a few young men for bass and tenor. The girls wore white surplices with black ties. The thank offering was fairly good..

Rev. Mr. Sutherland preached at Westwood and at Warsaw on Sunday.

Mr. Albert Bryan went to Toronto for a fortnight's visit with his sister.

Harold Payne disced corn land on Monday afternoon (April 9.)

Miss Cora Drain, of Toronto spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Drain.

Sidney Watley is running his sawmill. He has several weeks logs for lumber to cut, before he can begin at the shingles.

Obituary

JANET RENNIE

KEENE, April 12.—The death occurred last evening at her home in Keene of Janet Rennie at the age of 79 years. She had been a resident of Otonabee practically all her life and was held in wide esteem and affection.

She leaves two sons, George and Andrew Rennie, one daughter, Margaret Rennie and two half brothers, Robert and James Rennie of Otonabee.

The funeral is to be held on Friday at 2 p.m. to Little Lake Cemetery at Peterborough. Services will be conducted by the Rev. J. S. Ferguson of Keene.

RICHARD BEAMISH

NORWOOD, April 12 (Examiner Correspondence) — Richard Beamish, a well known and highly respected citizen died at his home on Peterboro' street, Sunday at the age of eighty-six, after a lengthy illness.

He was Norwood's oldest resident.

Mr. Beamish was born in Prince Edward County, near Picton. As a young man he came to Belmont Township, being among the first settlers in Round Lake district. He new well the trials and discomforts of pioneer life, but by perseverance and industry he made his calling a success. Later he farmed in Percy Township for ten years, retiring to Norwood about sixteen years ago.

The deceased was a man of quiet manner, integrity and honor, and bore the respect of all who knew him. He was a member of the Anglican Church.

The funeral was held on Tuesday at two o'clock, conducted by the Rev. Mr. Worrall of Havelock, rector for the parish, with interment in the Maple Grove cemetery, Havelock.

Mr. Beamish was twice married, his first wife was Hannah Richardson of Percy. To this union there were born one daughter and four sons who survive, Mrs. King of Rosewater, Sask.; Henry of Ranfurly, Alta.; Richard, Irwin and Elton of Jarvey, Alta. He is survived by his second wife and one daughter, Mrs. A. J. McCaw of Smith Falls, also one brother, John Beamish of Hastings.

The pall-bearers were his three grandsons, Messrs. Irvin, Gordon and Elton Greenly of Percy; two nephews, Messrs. James Webb and John Beamish, Jr., of Hastings and Mr. W. H. Montgomery of Norwood.

NATHAN ATKINSON.

CAMPBELLFORD, April 12 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Prominent and well-known farmer of Seymour Township, the late Nathan Atkinson was laid to rest in the family plot on the farm on Thursday last, April 5, after the service had been conducted at his late residence by the Rev. J. C. Robinson, pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Campbellford. The funeral was largely attended and bore testimony to the respect and esteem in which the deceased was held. There were many floral tributes. The pall-bearers were: Jack Younger, Harry Atkinson, Tom Hay, Tom Watson, Garnet Lloyd and George Parker. Flowers were carried by Jim Atkinson, Jr., Jack Pierie, Lorne Barnum, Frank Clapperton, Morley Dunk, Hector Arnold and Cliff Maybee.

The late Mr. Atkinson died suddenly of a heart attack on April 2. Born in Seymour Township, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Atkinson, he has resided there all his life, passing away on the same farm where he was born. He was a highly respected resident of the community, and in religion a Presbyterian.

Surviving are his widow; two daughters, Mrs. Willets of New York, and Mrs. Harold Spencer of Campbellford; five brothers: Fred of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., James of Rome, New York, Alfred and George of Seymour and Thomas of town.

Attending the funeral from a distance were: Mr. James Atkinson and James, Junior, of Rome, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Maybee, of Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clapperton, Mrs. James Patterson, Baltimore; Mrs. John Mason, of Cobourg; and Mrs. Frank Fisher, Coldsprings.

Peterborough Team Puts On Degree Work

CAMPBELLFORD, April 12 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — Campbellford Odd Fellows held a gala evening on Tuesday, when about thirty members of Otonabee Lodge, No. 13, of Peterborough, visited Campbellford Lodge No. 248 and exemplified the First Degree, the captain of the degree team being Bro. R. J. Craig, N.G. One candidate was received into lodge membership. Among the notable visitors present were the District Deputy of Peterborough District, No. 46, Bro. W. H. Morton, and Bro. William Green, who is an Odd Fellow of 53 years' standing and a veteran of the lodge.

After the lodge work the Campbellford Rebekah Lodge served a delightful banquet at which short addresses were delivered by several of the visitors. A short musical program included vocal solos by George Lucy of Campbellford and W. Hutchinson of Peterborough, and humorous readings by J. D. McEachern of Campbellford. The pianist for the evening was William Green.

The visitors attending the function were: Otonabee Lodge— C. R. McConnell, W. A. Parker, A. H. Mowry, Y. C. Burrows, S. Hallam, R. Mowry, R. Blair, C. J. Stillwell, C. J. Grant, W. H. SCHOOL SAVINGS.

Although withdrawals have exceeded deposits, as might be expected in a period of economic stress, it is gratifying to note that the saving among Peterborough school children continues to leave the provincial average well behind.

Forty-five per cent. of the pupils in the local Public schools made regular weekly deposits during January and February, according to the report of the Penny Bank, while the aggregate throughout Ontario was only thirty-three per cent.

The two schools in the south, strange enough, occupy top and bottom place in the list, 71 per cent. of the pupils of King Edward school making regular deposits during the period under review while the Prince of Wales school reports regular saving by only 28 per cent. of its pupils, the only school in the city falling below the provincial average.

Central school just equalled that average and Queen Mary school was a little above with 35 per cent. The percentages of the other local schools were: South Central, 69; Queen Alexandra, 65, and King George, 47.

Altogether Peterborough's school children had to their credit in the Penny Bank at the end of February the substantial sum of $15,795.66 as against deposits of $16,407.24 on the same date a year ago.

In other words local pupils drew out during the twelve months some $600 more than was deposited during the same time, some of which was taken out by graduating pupils while the balance has undoubtedly been used to good advantage in meeting the unusual economic conditions of the present period.

CANADA'S NATIONAL PARK.

Despite the sharp decrease in general tourist traffic, it is interesting to learn from the annual report of the Commissioner of National Parks that the number of visitors to these publicly-owned beauty spots during the fiscal year, 1932-33, showed only a slight falling off.

Canada's seventeen national parks attracted in the last fiscal year a total of 582,350, which was only 5.5 per cent. less than the figure for the previous year.

The growth of National park tourist travel in this country is illustrated by the fact that since 1914 there has been an increase of 977 per cent., the total number of visitors in 1914 being 54,064. The peak total was attained in 1931-32 when 616,215 tourists were registered as visiting the nationally-owned park system.

It is evident that Canada's parks are not only serving their original purpose of preserving for the people of the Dominion great areas of recreation grounds, full of scenic beauty, but are at the same time proving a powerful magnet to attract tourists to Canada.

The rapid increase in the number of visitors due not only to the growth of motor transportation and improved road conditions but to an influx of American tourists is testimony to the fact that the National park system is an asset of great value to the Dominion and that its popularity will undoubtedly wax greater with the passing of the years.

The expenditure that has been made in establishing these areas has been amply justified.

A GREAT BUSINESS

The notable broadcast, featuring Canadian artists from all parts of the Dominion which to commemorate the Diamond Jubilee of the London Life Insurance Company, was sent out over a "hook-up" of thirty-three Canadian stations on Tuesday night, was featured by an address by Edward E. Reid, managing director of the company.

According the temptation to use the time at his disposal to advertise the virtues of his own organization, Mr. Reid, with commendable good taste and judgment, chose rather to touch upon the accomplishment of life insurance business in Canada in general and in the course of his remarks he said some very worthwhile things.

Pointing out that there was much in the record of life insurance in this country for which Canadian policyholders may be thankful, Mr. Reid stated that the severe test of the past four year had revealed the strength and value of life insurance service and had emphasized its place in our present day civilization.

"Life insurance," said the speaker, "has met its obligations promptly and efficiently. In actual cash payments it distributed during the year 1922 to policyholders and to beneficiaries in the Dominion $180,000,000 or an equivalent of half a million dollars per day. The figures for 1933 will show a still larger distribution. It is the proud boast of life insurance in Canada that there has not been the failure of a single company and that no policyholder has lost a dollar of the sums guaranteed to him."

The growth of Canada's life insurance the wonderful record of stability it has made justify such speeches as that of Mr. Reid and the managing director of the London Life is to be commended for setting forth some of the accomplishments of a business that has been a source of great strength to this country in the depression era.

ORILLIA SAFEGUARDS ITS CITIZENS.

Orillia has joined the ranks of Ontario municipalities that insist upon all milk sold for human consumption being pasteurized.

A by-law banning the sale of raw milk was passed last week and goes into effect at the end of this month, the Orillia authorities having finally decided that there was no reason for further gambling with the health of the community and that the time had come to adopt what has been proven to be an effective safeguard against milk-borne diseases.

The by-law, it is needless to say, was not passed without a great deal of opposition.

The medical health officer of the town had for years recommended compulsory pasteurization, and on this occasion fourteen other doctors and a deputation of dairymen supported his efforts and urged the Council to take action.

Protests, however, came from farmer-dairymen who retail milk in Orillia that their business would be seriously damaged by such legislation and that the by-law would create a trade monopoly.

Finally, however the arguments of those who urged compulsory pasteurization as a most vital health protection prevailed and after this month only pasteurized milk may be offered for sale in Ontario.

The number of municipalities that have safeguarded their citizens against the danger of raw milk is steadily increasing and if the Ontario government delays its compulsory measure much longer, the most cities and towns in the province will have on their own initiative reached the goal in advance.

BUDGET PROSPECTS.

Good news comes out of Ottawa. It is in the shape of a prediction that there will be no tax increases in the 1934 Budget. More than that, there is a suggestion that Mr. Rhodes' annual financial statement may actually contain announcement of certain decreases in the heavy burdens now laid upon the Canadian people.

• • • •

Mounting revenues, due largely to the general improvement in business all over the country, offer foundation for the report of possible decreases. The situation is decidedly better than that of a year ago. Industrial and commercial interests know this to be the case and it is reflected in the Government's own figures.

One of the most offensive taxes from the standpoint of the general public—although easily collected—is the two cents per pound impost on sugar. Politically, this was a bad idea. For the raising of revenue, however, it has been reasonably painless. Ottawa hears that this tax may be cut to one cent in the next Budget.

In this connection the suggestion has been made frequently that the Government remove the two cents tax on all sugar made in Canada from Canadian-grown beets and leave it on sugar manufactured from imported cane. There would still be a large revenue from the tax for some time to come and the Canadian beet sugar industry would get an important boost. Interest in the beet sugar industry has increased materially in the last year and there seems to be a prospect that production of this form of sweetening will be expanded in a large way in the not distant future. Giving Canadian beet sugar a premium along the lines suggested would obviously accomplish a great deal for the sugar beet growers.

• • • •

Income tax is something that affects a very large number of Canadians. They will be relieved to read predictions that there is no possibility of an increase in this department in 1934, the indications being that this tax has reached "its highest practicable point," and that "any further increase would defeat its own object, probably resulting in a decrease in revenue."

That the public would welcome a decrease in the income tax, no matter how small, goes without saying. It could come either in the rate schedule itself or in the exemptions. It is now generally appreciated that the tax, no matter how equitable it may appear to be on the surface, works a distinct hardship on a large number of persons and is a distinct brake on the business progress of the country. There are some Canadians who are optimistic enough to look forward to the time when it will be possible to do away with the income tax altogether, but we fear that this day is a distant one, unless some Minister of Finance is courageous enough to throw it out and substitute therefore something in the nature of a general turnover tax, a small percentage levy on every transaction.

• • • •

Along this line it is worth recalling the suggestion for a sharp increase in postal rates, say five cent letter postage. It has been estimated by some students of the situation that this would produce sufficient revenue to permit the Government to eliminate certain taxes to which there is so much public objection. One can think of no more "painless" form of taxation than a heavy postage rate. The average citizen who writes only a few letters a month—or, in many cases, a year—would not feel the burden of a five or six-cent stamp, while wealthy individuals and firms sending out vast quantities of mail could easily handle the load.

We have mentioned in these columns on other occasions that the ideal federal taxation system would be one in which every businessman, closing his doors for the day, would have his taxes settled. Plenty of such men, we are sure, would be glad to pay even more than they are shelling out to the Government now, could they thus be relieved of the annual worry of the income tax.

• • • •

Mr. Rhodes, preparing his Budget, has no easy task. Trying to satisfy some millions of citizens, holding various views, is never a simple one. But Mr. Rhodes is an able man and we can rest assured that he will do his work conscientiously, always keeping in mind the necessity of easing the burden on the people wherever it can be done and at the same time providing for revenues essential to operation of the national machine.—Border Cities Star.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Canada's still waiting for the Federal Government's public works program. Meanwhile thousands in the building trades are without work.

With shorter skirts and beer by the glass events of the near future, a contemporary remarks that a lot of the old joints will be out in the open once more.

Only the lowest paid Federal civil servants are to have their pay cuts restored, which at least brings relief to those who need it most.

Slashes in the sugar and liquor tax are hinted at as possible features of the Dominion Budget. It will not do to be too optimistic, however, for the country's financial condition contains few possibilities for lowered taxes.

The relief investigation is not likely to give Canadians a great deal to cheer about. The practice of "soaking the Government" has apparently been regarded as a legitimate activity by municipal authorities in many cases.

CHAPTER 36

That evening Tiggie wrote a letter. It was very briefly but quite courteously worded, and it informed Philip Grierson of his marriage to his step-sister that morning and of their subsequent departure for Farne. Of Viola's health he said nothing, merely stating the two facts with business-like simplicity, and leaving the lawyer to make his own inferences.

"Don't know what you want to write him for. He'll only think you a damn' fool," said Harvey.

"He can think what he likes," was Tiggie's unmoved rejoinder. "But I feel it's up to me to let him know. If he wishes to verify the marriage, he can look at the register."

"Bet you he don't take that trouble," said Harvey.

When the letter was finished, they went out to post it, and then turned along the path that led by the gurgling stream to the shore. A perfect summer night was closing in on the perfect day. The sun had dipped already below the wide waste of waters. The tide was going out and a great peace filled the bay. Far away to the west a bank of rose-lit cloud hung motionless like a shining curtain, and just above it—a silver lamp in the ineffable blue—the evening star glowed vibrant as though it swung from an unseen cord.

Close at hand the sea had the translucent look of molten metal. The breeze had died with the day, and there was scarcely a ripple on its gleaming surface. The rocks stood out with extraordinary clearness, dead black against mother-o'-pearl, while all around and about them gleamed pools that reflected the soft rose of the sunset.

Down by the tiny quay there was some activity. Fishing boats were putting out with the falling tide, and men's voices came to them across the intervening space, scarcely breaking the crystal silence that hung like a spell upon the bay.

They sat down by mutual consent and smoked their pipes, but Tiggie had little relish for his and very soon it smouldered out.

"You'll revel in this place," he observed.

Harvey looked all round at the darkening sea and the frowning cliffs and the magic, fading shore before he answered. "There's not so much difference between the desert and paradise as you think. I hope you'll revel too."

Tiggie sighed and took out his dead pipe. "I'm damnably anxious," he said.

"Yes. It's been pretty rotten for you," said Harvey, with unexpected sympathy. "But the wind'll change. It always does."

Tiggie looked out to sea. "My wedding day!" he said.

Harvey's sympathy evaporated and he laughed. "Well, you didn't want rice and rose leaves, did you?"

Tiggie rose. "No. But I should have liked a wife," he said. "I'm just going round to say good night."

He indicated a little white cottage half way up the cliff from a window of which a light glowed like a beacon.

"All right. I'll wait here," said Harvey.

And Tiggie went away with bent head, treading heavily.

He mounted the little winding path in the dusk. The murmur of the sea grew more distinct as he ascended.

When he reached the porch with its shining white doorstep he paused and looked back over the bay as though half afraid to knock for admittance. The scent of gorse mingled with the salt tang of seaweed, and a throb of emotion which he did not analyze went through him. He turned with a groping movement and found the door open.

"Is that you, Uncle Tiggie?" said a child's voice, and a small figure in a white frock slipped out on to the step and held his hand.

He looked down at her and squeezed the little confiding hand. An odd sensation at the back of his throat prevented speech.

Joyce pressed close to him. "Mummy says, 'Don't worry!'" she said softly. "I stayed up to tell you Auntie Viola is asleep now, and she thinks she'll be better soon."

Tiggie found his voice with an effort. "Oh, that's all right," he said. "I just wanted to know."

"Of course," said Joyce wisely. "You love her the same as we do. Isn't it lovely to have her back—even though she is ill? She'll soon get well here, won't she. Where did you find her, Uncle Tiggie?"

Tiggie sat down on a wooden seat beside the porch. He was beginning to feel that he had traveled far that day. Gently he drew the child on to his knee.

"Yes, I love her—the same as you do," he said. "Do you remember that night in the Red Sea—when you were so ill—nearly dying—and she saved you?"

"I remember," said Joyce, her head against his shoulder. "And I remember you, too, Uncle Tiggie—and how you lifted me up when I thought I was sinking—right down to the bottom of the sea. I wonder—do you think Auntie Viola feels like that now?"

"Not if she's asleep," said Tiggie.

"She is asleep," reiterated Joyce—"in mummy's room. I'm taking care of Jenny Wren tonight. She's asleep too. The two boys are with Jessie the nursemaid at that next cottage up there. Mummy thought it would be quieter."

She paused after explaining all these arrangements, and Tiggi murmured, "Very nice," scarcely knowing that he spoke. The child's gentle spirit and the exquisite peace of the summer night were beginning to have their effect upon him. His anxiety grew less acute.

Joyce sat within the circle of his arm conscious in some dim fashion that he needed comfort, but she did not speak again for some time. Her childish opinion of Tiggie, as expressed to Jack, was that he was one of those nice people who didn't have to be talked to.

Presently, however, she addressed him upon a different subject. "Uncle Tiggie, do you think that when people die they just fall asleep?"

Tiggie started. Somehow, though his thoughts were completely inarticulate, he had been pondering the same sort of problem himself. He answered her sadly. "I don't know."

"It's what the Bible says" suggested Jayce.

"Afraid I dont read the Bible," said Tiggie with simplicity.

"Oh, don't you?" She lifted her head from his shoudler and regarded him, her eyes wide and dark. "Don't you know anything about God, Uncle Tiggie?" she questioned.

"Very little; hardly anything," said Tiggie. He paused a moment, then, wiht an odd sensation of hope at his heart, "Do you?" he said.

"Yes!" said Joyce slowly. "I know He made us, and He watches us every day to see if we're being good, as He wants us to be. And—and—He listens, Uncle Tiggie, in case we have anything special to ask Him for."

"Yes?" said Tiggie.

"And you can get whatever you ask for," proceeded Joyce steadily, "if you can only believe it's coming. Have you ever tried, Uncle Tiggie?"

"Never," said Tiggie.

"I have," said Joyce. "And it came."

"What was it?" said Tiggie.

"It was Jenny Wren," she told him simply. "I did so want a sister as well as brothers. It's lonely being a sister to oneself. So I told mummy, and she said, 'Why don't you pray for one?' So I did, Uncle Tiggie, all by myself, every day and every night, outside my ordinary prayers which don't really count, and when I'd kept on for ages and ages, so that I nearly gave up, only mummy told me not to—she came. Of course she was very tiny. She is still. But she'll be a proper sister some day when she's a little older. She's very nice to play with even now. And I was so glad I kept on," ended Joyce, with a faint sigh over the weariness of that prolonged importunity. "It does show that God listens, doesn't it, even though He may be too busy to attend straight away?"

"Yes, of course," acquiesced Tiggie.

She was still looking at him through the gloom with her beautiful child-eyes of faith. "And there's something else the Bible says," she said softly. "It says if two people make up their minds to pray for the same thing, they'll get it much quicker than one alone. Shall we do that, Uncle Tiggie? Shall we both, when we've said our prayers, ask God to make Auntie Viola well again?"

"All right," said Tiggie. He was deeply moved, but he could think of nothing else to say. If a shining pathway to Heaven had suddenly been revealed and she had suggested that they should walk up it together, he would probably have said the same.

Joyce got off his knee. Her face was very reverent, mysteriously confident. "You must remember all the time that it's going to be done," she said. "That's very important. You won't forget that, will you, Uncle Tiggie?"

"I won't forget," he said.

She lifted her lips to kiss his cheek. "I'm going now. It's bedtime. Good night, dear Uncle Tiggie! You will say it, won't you?"

He gathered her close for a minute, hiding his face against her. Then abruptly he let her go.

"Good night, darling," he said huskily. "Yes, I'll say it. I won't forget."

"Then it'll be all right," said little Joyce with confidence.

A Thought

LIFE

Life is a fine thing. There is much joy in the world. It is full of georgeous wonders. Right and left the flowers are blooming, the birds are singing, the sun is shining, and love is whispering. Yet we are in darkness. It is through this darkness we crusaders have to cleave a way.

It is a mighty task. But love is with us. And we shall win.

Baptist Y.P. Hold Social Gathering

CAMPBELLFORD, April 11 (By Examiner Staff Correspondence)—Large numbers attended the social evening held on Monday in the church hall by the Baptist Young People's Union, for which function Group 3 with Miss Evelyn Oliver as leader was in charge. Miss Oliver conducted the devotional exercises, which were followed by a pretty spring flower exercise by several small girls, concluding with a chorus. This was conducted by Miss Grace McMullen. Games and contests were also enjoyed, the evening being concluded by the distribution of candies. Next week Group 4 with Edward Clarke as leader will have charge of the program, which will be devotional.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

A DE SALABERRY KILLED IN ACTION

On this date, in 1812 news reached London of the death in the assault on Badajoz on April 6 of Edward de Salaberry, a younger brother of the more famous Charles Michel, who routed the American invaders at Chateauguay in October, 1813. His was a romantic career. His godparents were H.R.H. The Duke of Kent (father of Queen Victoria, then in garrison at Quebec) and the Comtesse de Saint-Laurent. When he was 14 his godfather sent for him at the family home at Beauport and intimated that he was to go to England for education. On July 16, 1806, he sailed from Quebec and on arrival in England was placed in the military college at Marlow where he displayed such ability that within a year he was transferred to Woolwich to take a course in artillery and engineering. There again he won honors and in 1812 was gazetted lieutenant in the Royal Engineers, proceeding at once on active service to Spain.

In a letter written to the Duke in camp before Badajoz the night before the assault he said: "I have received orders to attack one of the breaches to-night. As this service is most dangerous, and I may never return, I want to assure your royal highness and Madame the Countess that whatever may happen I shall never forget how much I owe you." The day after the action Colonel Fletcher, commanding the Royal Engineers, wrote to the Duke: "I much regret to have to inform your royal highness of the death of Lieut de-Salaberry, which took place in the assault on Badajoz on the night of April 6. This brave officer served under Captain Wilkinson and led the attack on a breach. He was killed by a musket ball while executing his order. He was universally esteemed by his brothers-in-arms who all mourn his death."

Edward was the third deSalaberry to die in the British service. Maurice, who had joined the army in 1807, died of fever in the West Indies in 1809, whilst with the Royal Grenadiers, and Francis, who was an officer in the Royal Scot Fusiliers, died in India. The deSalaberrys fought for France before the conquest; they fought for Britain afterwards many times and ever lived true to the family moto "Force a superbe, mercy a faible," which has been adopted by the 9th. Regiment, the Voltiguers de Quebec, as its regimental motto.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

The slump in butter prices that started early in the week continued yesterday, with a further drop of more than a cent being recorded. Heavy offerings of fresh butter, particularly from Ontario, drove prices further down from the peak of 31c a pound touched last week. Ungraded Ontario or Quebec butter sold at 26½c to 26¾c a pound, while No. 1 grade New Zealands or Westerns brought 27c to 27½c. Receipts totalled 1,657 boxes.

The egg market held steady, with graded shipments in car lots or less being quoted at 19c a dozen for A-large, 18c for A-medium, 17c for B, and 16c for C. A total of 2,336 cases was offered for sale.

On the cheese board, Ontario cheese sold for 11¼c to 11½c for current make. Arrivals amounted to 64 boxes.

Quebec potatoes continued at $1.05 to $1.10 per 80-pound bag, with New Brunswick Mountains at $1.10 to $1.15 for similar quantities. Prince Edward Island Mountains in 90-pound bags brought $1.30 to $1.40.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Rye pitched downward, 2¾c a bushel yesterday, toppled over by Washington announcement that no anti-dumping duty on rye would be enforced against Poland.

Liquidating sales on the part of holders of rye futures began briskly as soon as trading was started. An immediate fall of more than a cent a bushel for rye took place, but it was not until the final hour that selling of rye became general, and that the maximum collapse of the rye market took place, exerting a notable unsettling influence on other grains.

Rye closed nervous, 1⅝c to 1¾c under Tuesday's finish, wheat ¼c to ⅜c down; corn ¼c off ⅛c up; oats at ⅜c to ⅝c decline, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 10c.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, April 12 — Concentrated purchasing in the closing minutes of trading held prices steady on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange yesterday and quotations finished ¼c higher to unchanged. May wheat closed at 67⅞c, July at 68¾c, and October at 70⅝c.

Export demand tapered off following the big sales of Tuesday, but there was evidence of some foreign business and observers reported good resting orders in the market just under the current levels.

Cash grains offerings were restricted and only a limited business was transacted. Fit trade in coarse grains was of a routine nature, with prices holding comparatively firm.

ALL OF US

(By Marshall Maslin.)

TO A RADIO ENTERTAINER

There's a voice coming out of the radio....A smiling, confident voice (please don't tell me a voice can't smile, because some of them do), and the man behind it is announcing he's about to tell me something that will take my mind off the "trials and tribulations of my daily life"....And will I please listen?

No, thank you. I'd rather not. No, thank you, and I hope you'll not be hurt if I rise from my chair and walk across the room and turn a little knob and dial you, my friend with the smiling voice, quite definitely, quite formally, out of my life.

You assume too much. I'd just as soon you didn't take my mind off "the trials and tribulations of my daily life." If I want my mind taken off, thats' my job and not yours. And how do you know that I do wish it?....Perhaps I want to sit here and think of those trials and do what I can to banish them from my days and nights....And I don't really see what good it would do for me to sit here and narcotize myself with your laughter and your melody. After you say goodnight, how am I to know that my troubles wouldn't come trooping back again and hurt me more than before?

At the moment, I don't feel like listening to you. I remind myself to what Ralph Waldo Emerson once said. He remarked, with dignity and finality apropos of something or other which I have forgotten—he remarked, "I do not WISH to be entertained!" He wanted to sit and think. He wanted to face what he was about. He wanted to dig into life and study it and use the scapel of his mind upon it—and thus solve some of the bewilderments that were besetting him. He did not wish to be ENTERTAINED. ....I used to think that remark too solemn. I disapproved of it. I could not understand why anybody on this earth should not wish to be entertained, delighted, diverted.... But I changed my opinion just a moment ago, at the instant I heard you promise so rashly to take my mind away from the trais and tribulations of daily life....I knew then that life is too big for me to turn it over to you to be sweetened and frosted. I'll stick with the trials and tribulations and you can waste your sweetness on the desert air....I hope you do not mind. And, if you wish, you have my free permission to pity me.

Seth Parker Service Is Successful Affair

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, April 12. — A Seth Parker service was a new feature offered on Sunday evening by the choir of the Lakefield United church, and scored a real success. Careful preparation and excellent music well rendered made a triumph of harmony, and was a musical treat. Rev. W. R. Archer, B.A., pastor of the church, was in charge. The following is the program:

Opening chorus by the choir: "We are gathering with the Lord To-day."

Solo, Mrs. MacMillen, "You go to Your Church."

Mixed Quartette, "Calvary," Mesdames Hull and Renwick, Dr. Renwick and W. W. Yale.

Solo, "I will Sing of My Redeemer," Mrs. Hull, and the congregation.

Duet, Mrs. MacMillen and Mrs. Walter Hamblin, "Sweeter as the Years Go By."

Solo, Mrs. A. B. Burrows, "Evening Prayer."

Male quartette: Messrs. Madill, Higgins, Yale and Hill, "When the Roll is Called up Yonder."

Duet, Mrs. Hull and Mrs. Renwick. "In the Garden."

Tenor solo, Mr. E. Hill, "The Old Rugged Cross."

Solo—"Marching to Zion," Miss Eva Hendren and choir and congregation.

Chorus by the choir, "The Church in the Wildwood."

The sweet tuneful melodies which have touched many hearts in the Seth Parker radio programs were just as touching and effective when reverently given by the choir. This program will probably be repeated at an early date.

PAIN OVER KIDNEYS?

WHEN pain over kidneys or bladder irregularities keep you getting up at night; if you feel nervous, despondent, heed the warning. The kidneys may not be working as they should to filter the blood and keep you free from too much uric acid. Drink plenty of pure water and get Dr. Pierce's Anuric at the drug store. Read what George Girling of 48 Metcalfe St., Guelph, Ont., said: "I strained my back some time ago and it was hard for me to straighten up, without pain. I took one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets and was soon relieved of all pain in my back and was able to work again."

Send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory, Fort Erie N., Ont., for a trial package.

BYRD PARTY BATTLES BLIZZARDS MONTH LAYING OUT FOOD CACHES

Temperature Ranges From 15 to 60 Below Most of Time —Dogs Drop in Tracks.

Experience Snow Quake.

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, March 31 (Delayed) (A.P., via MacKay Radio).—Back from a month of struggling in blizzards and snow quakes, the main southern party of the second Byrd Antarctic expedition led by a Canadian came rocketing down the slope to Little America to-day.

Behind three 9-dog Husky teams they had ridden their canvas topped sledges across the rolling ice barrier, 260 miles out and back, marking a trail with orange flags and putting down food depots so that next Spring a trek can be made to the Edsel Ford and Queen Maude ranges.

Captain Alan I. Taylor, formerly of the Royal Mounted Police at Regina and Winnipeg, in command of the expedition, described it as probably the coldest March journey in Antarctic anna's. On the return trip they kept a daily minimum temperature log:

March 16, 30 below; March 17, 54 below; March 18, 45 below; March 19, 36 below; March 20, 15 below; March 21, 28 below; March 22, 52 below; March 23, 60 below; March 24, 30 below; March 25, 48 below; March 26, 24 below; March 27, 43 below; March 28, 34 below; March 29, 61 below; March 30, 15 below.

"We had one terrible day, the 27th," Taylor said. "We broke camp early with the hope of making 77 miles by night. A 31-mile wind made it cruel at 43 below."

WIDE GAINS SEEN IN CHEAPER MINES

Big Gold Shares Narrowly Irregular While Base Metals Firm to Strong.

TORONTO, April 12 (C.P.).—In a slow general market some of the cheap stocks that were given a trip over the roads a few sessions ago, broke out in heavy trading this afternoon and registered wide gains before the close. These fast movers included Bagamac, Maple Leaf and Brownlee. The big gold shares were narrowly irregular, while base metal and silver shares were firm to strong.

Bagamac, which hit 60 last week and 23 this week, started from a low of 24 to-day and closed at 30½ for a net gain of 6 cents.

In the big gold group, Dome lost 50 cents, McIntyre 25, Bralorne 15, while Lake Shore, Pioneer, Teck Hughes and Wright Hargreaves closed off 10 to 50 cents each.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, April 12. (AP)—The stock market was a bit choppy to-day. A number of specialties, particularly preferred issues, rose in active flurries but industrials and rails were irregular. U.S. Smelting lost 2 points. U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Case and Schenley yielded fractions to about a point. American Telephone, Loews and Goodyear were firm. Transfer approximated 1,350,000 shares.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, April 12.—(C.P.) — No fresh cattle were received on the Toronto livestock market this afternoon and most of the 400 head of holdovers had been sold at prices steady with Wednesday's close. Receipts were light with prices unchanged on all classes with the exception of hogs. Some sales on off car and f.o.b. hogs went 10 cents higher while off trucks held steady.

Receipts as reported by the Dominion livestock branch were: Cattle, none; calves, 30; hogs, 220; sheep and lambs, 80.

Weighty steers ranged from $4.85 to $5.90, while choice butcher cattle sold from $5.30 to $5.50. Cows brought $3.50 with plain fed calves moving at $6.00 to $6.25.

The light supply of calves sold steady at $3.00 to $6.00 cwt. according to quality. One sale was made at $7.00. The hog market settled at $7.15 to $7.25 f.o.b. for bacons, $7.50 off truck and $790 to $800 off car.

A few good lambs brought $8.25 with culls at $6.00. No sheep were offered to the few buyers on the market.

Livestock Quotations.

Cattle, calf, hog, sheep and lamb quotations remained unchanged.

HOG PRICES IN ONTARIO.

TORONTO, April 12.—(C.P.) — Bacon hog prices were steady to-day at $7 to $7.15 f.o.b. shipping point, with $1 premium for extras. To-day's prices were: Brantford, $7.15, unchanged; Kitchener, $7.10, unchanged; Hull, Que., $7.75 off truck, unchanged; Peterborough, $7.15, up 15; Barrie, $7, unchanged.

BRITISH CATTLE

OTTAWA, April 12 (CP)—Cattle prices on the Birkenhead Market were generally about 50 cents higher per cwt this week, according to cable advice received to-day by the Department of Agriculture. All Canadian cattle received were cleared by the week-end. The steamer Manchester Brigade was due to arrive at Birkenhead to-day with a load of 506 Canadian cattle.

ROOSEVELT'S HOLIDAY ENDS.

MIAMI, Fla., April 12 (A.P.). — President Roosevelt left here to-day for Washington, at the conclusion of a two-weeks' fishing trip in Bahaman waters.

All But Six Rescued From Bering Floes

MOSCOW, April 12 C.P.). — The Government Rescue Commission announced that 22 more Russians, stranded since February 13 on a drifting ice pack in the Bering Sea, were rescued by airplane to-day. Only six persons remain on the pack.

The brilliant rescue flights executed under hazardous conditions in the Far North, brought the total of those flown to the mainland at Cape Van Karem, Siberia within two days to 84.

An original party of more than 100 was castaway on the ice when the steamer Cheliuskin sunk on the return trip from a scientific expedition to Wrangel Island.

TRADING QUIET IN INDUSTRIALS

Brewery, Food and Bank Shares Show More Gains Than Losses.

Good Balance Maintained.

TORONTO, April 12.—(CP)—Nothing developed today to ruffle the surface of the industrial section of the Toronto Stock Exchange and trading moved quietly at prices showing the narrowest of variations, in most cases, from Wednesday's closing level. Brewery, food and bank shares had more gains than losses but over the board a balance was maintained. Demand was active for Weston's common and that issue set a new high for the year at 37¼, up more than 2 points.

The oils showed nothing outside of a new high for Thayers pfd., up 1½ a gain of ¼ for B. A. and a loss of a point for Supertest ordinary; Interlisted shares recorded a gain for Ford 'A' and small losses for C. P. R. and Nickel while Brazilian closed unchanged. Smelters was off 2 points at the close to 167.

Volume was small in the distillery shares and the close was unchanged except for a loss of ½ for Walker's common.

JOHN AYLMER

and was educated at St. Francis College, Richmond, Quebec. Having family association with Lieut. General Lord Aylmer, K.C.B., the antecedents of the late Mr. Aylmer played a prominent part in the early history of the Dominion.

On Lachine Canal

As a young engineer in the government service, the late Mr. Aylmer had a hand in the construction of the Lachine Canal as his first professional venture. He first came into this district in the year 1882, and worked on the Trent Canal survey, afterwards returning to Montreal.

Following his marriage to Mary Christina Pringle, daughter of the late Judge Pringle of Cornwall, who survives, Mr. Aylmer took up permanent residence in this district and was for two years at Fenelon Falls, before locating in this city in 1885.

Mr. and Mrs. Aylmer who were married at Cornwall, last year celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Since his retirement from active business some fifteen years ago Mr. Aylmer had lived on Weller street, where he spent much of his time in the beautiful grounds surrounding his property. He was always keenly interested in horticulture and gardening.

Life Member E.I.C.

Before becoming connected with the engineering and contracting firm of Brown, Love and Aylmer, he was connected with the firm of Manning and McDonald of Toronto. Other projects on which he had worked during his active professional life, besides the Lachine and Trent canals was on the Soulanges Canal. He was a life member of the Engineering Institute of Canada.

Besides his widow, Mr. Aylmer is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Ella Cross and Mrs. Eric McDougall of Toronto, and Mrs. G. A. Morrison of this city, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services are to be held at St. John's Anglican Church, with Archdeacon Dr. R. C. Blagrave officiating at 2.30 o'clock on Saturday. Interment will be made at Little Lake Cemetery.

UTAH SHOWS PROFIT

NEW YORK, April 12 (C.P). — Utah Copper Co., controlled by Kennecott Copper, reports a net profit of $928,276 for 1933 after taxes, depreciation, and interest, but before depletion. This is equal to 57 cents a share on the capital stock and compared with net loss of $2,469,704 in 1932.

NO SPECULATING IN CURRENCY IS BANKER'S CLAIM

ity price levels, Mr. Wilson informed the committee.

"In view of Canada's dependence on exports," he added, "obviously it was beyond anyone's power to maintain the volume in the face of reduced world purchasing power."

The Royal Bank managing head was the first witness when the committee resumed to-day. He stated the extent of the depression was intensified and extended by sharply declining price levels.

Depression Unavoidable

"No Canadian agency, banking or governmental, could have enabled us entirely to avoid the depression," Mr. Wilson told the committee.

The first duty of a bank was to its depositors, stated the Royal Bank head. "No bank can hope to remain in existence if it adopts a complacent attitude in respect to debts which have become unsatisfactory and threaten to become unsafe."

"Consequently it was necessary for the banks, in a number of cases during the past few years, to advise customers that operating expenses must be reduced in order to minimize losses, that loans must be reduced to figures which would be more in line with lower price levels and reduced business, and that continued impairment of liquid positions through payment of dividends could not be allowed.

"The position of a creditor during a deflationary period is an unenviable one," said Mr. Wilson. "The value of his security and of his borrower's assets is on the downgrade, and his risk of loss is greatly augmented. On the other hand, the debtor, through no fault of his own, finds that the real burden of his obligation has been increased, and that the creditor, whose loans represented so many units of a given commodity when the advances were made, is pressing for reductions or repayment when many more units of the commodity are required to effect liquidation.

"The natural tendency is to regard creditors as unfair; and this applies particularly to banks. For one thing, it is probably in the minds of many, that since banks deal in money, they are, in some way, responsible for its value. For another thing, the size of banks' assets leads to the popular supposition that they are wealthy institutions. Their obligations to depositors are overlooked."

"Ours is a peaceful service—join it with a determination to do just what is best," Mrs. Morrison said. "Take office if it is offered to you—do not shirk responsibility. Do not look for what the Order can do for you, but seek what you can do for the Order."

In concluding, Mrs. Morrison paid tribute to her officers and spoke of the great loss suffered in the death of Mrs. A. F. Rutter of Toronto, long prominent officer in Provincial Chapter.

Mrs. Fred Walker, honorary secretary, Hamilton, presented her report, showing that Chapters had responded generously to demands made upon them for assistance for the needy. An enormous effort had been made in furthering work in preventoria, baby clinics' campaigns for immunization of children against diphtheria and other diseases.

Resolutions forwarded to the National Executive Committee included one from St. Thomas Chapter, urging an active patriotic campaign, and from Windsor, suggesting a crusade in preparation for war.

Mrs. J. A. Yorick of Hamilton reported as to the I.O.D.E. in Hamilton.

New Chapters Named.

In Mrs. Mulock's report, names of the new Chapters in the Province were announced as follows: Angela Bruce, Oakville; Marshall Saunders, Toronto; John Galsworthy Toronto: Lieutenant Dick Crawford, Chatham; Lenora Greenaway, London; and Air Commander Fellowes, Toronto. Chapters within the Province were located as follows: Brantford 8, Chatham 15, Primary and two C. O.E., Hamilton 11, Kingston 5 Kitchenre 3, London 17, Ottawa 8, St. Catharines 8, Toronto 62, Primary and two C.O.E., Windsor 20 Primary and one C.O.E., Provincial 102 Primary and three C.O.E., making a total including 10 Municipal Chapters of 277.

Educational activities were outlined in the report of Mrs. J. D. Detwiler.

A total of $16,444 had been spent on education by the Chapters. This included activities such as the giving of prize books to pupils in schools, scholarships, and a total of $4,550 in sums extended to assist children to attend collegiates and business colleges, technical schools, etc. Assistance had been extended to northern schools.

The Order's publication was submitted by Mrs. O. C. Teal, Port Erie.

"German War Budget Her Own Business"

(By W. E. Brockmann, Associated Press Foreign Staff.)

BERLIN, April 12.—(A. P.)—The Diplomatische Korrespondenz said to-day that if Germany is spending more money for instruments of war—and she is—that's Germany's own business.

The newspaper is the mouthpiece of the German Foreign Office.

"What right," the organ demanded, "is there for astonishment in France or anywhere else" that large increases in military appropriations feature the 1934 budget?

Sixty-one naval craft are being built by Great Britain and 54 by the United States, the Diplomatische Korrespondenz said, so it again asked, "Why all this fuss about the German budget?"

The newspaper reassured the world that "Germany has neither the intention nor any possibility of engaging in an armament race. It sees its duty in providing a minimum for its own defense."

TRADE TALKS ON.

LONDON, April 12.—(C.P. Cable).—Negotiations shortly between the British and Australian governments regarding expiring portions of the trade agreement signed at Ottawa may conceivably have an important bearing on future discussions with other dominions.

Stanley Bruce, Australian High Commissioner, it was thought, would likely play an important role in the coming discussions in laying the foundation for the wider negotiations that will be necessary when the main Ottawa pacts run out.

FAME OF "BEST DRESSED WOMAN" STARTED BY DRESS MADE ENTIRELY OF PINK FEATHERS

Elegance of Clothes Fails to Hold 5 Husbands

Millions know her as Jean Nash, "the best dressed woman in the world." She is known in Canada as the divorced wife of the late Winfield Sifton. Few know of her as the much-married mother of four ,the woman of tragedy whose son has been on trial for murder on the high seas; of the inside story of the life of this famous beauty who has been the toast of three continents. The true story of her life is being told for the first time in a series written exclusively for Central Press Canadian and The Examiner by an internationally known writer.

By EMILY CARTER
Copyright, 1934, Central Press Canadian

NEW YORK, April 12—Thousands of eyes turned toward Eugenia Donaldson as she entered the Albert Hall in London, clad in her striking gown made entirely of pink feathers.

Satin-draped women gasped with envy. Men in full dress uniform wrinkled their eyes appreciatively. As the music swelled and rolled over the heads of the throng, whispers mingled with it, whispers that were to make a woman's reputation for wearing the most remarkable clothes in the world.

At this moment, later referred to by Eugenia as the time when "the real foundation for my world-wide distinction was laid," the Englishman by her side retained a gloomy silence.

Needs 24 Trunks

Later he murmured something about wishing to drag her from the dance floor.

That episode symbolizes the life of Jean Nash, as she is now best known, whose excellent sartorial taste and breath-taking extravagances have made her famous on three continents. Her lavish success, public acclaim, self-satisfaction have not held the devotions of four husbands.

Mrs. Paul Dubonnet has her mother, Mrs. Andrew Donaldson (who is shown with her), at her side during trial of her son, Andrew Kirwan, in New York, on murder charges. The "best-dressed woman in the world" is shown below as she appeared about the time .she .wed Capt. John V. Nash (right) British officer. Thereafter her maiden name of Eugenia was dropped and she became famous as Jean Nash.

Paris dressmakers vie for the trade of "the best-dressed woman in the world"; she travels with 24 trunks; when a gown has the slightest fingermark on it, she discards it.

She owns ten fur coats, including a $45,000 sable; she sleeps only between crepe-de-chine sheets; she purchased $30,000 worth of underwear in one day and said it would last only two years. She has 150 hats. She orders 120 costumes each year, wearing each three or four times before they are "passe."

But she has been married five times, and the first four times all her studied effect failed to charm one man for any length of time.

Her record outstrips even that of Peggy Hopkins Joyce. Lilyan Tashman and Mrs. Harrison Williams, others who have been called "best-dressed," have met with the same irony; Lilyan Tashman was married twice; Mrs. Williams three times.

Concentration on the outer trappings of beauty necessitated absorption that apparently irked three of the five husbands of the girl who was born Eugenia Donaldson, daughter of Andrew Donaldson of New York, once vice-president of the Erie Railroad.

From Lieutenant to Captain

The middle three, Lieut. Winfield B. Sifton of the Canadian Army; Capt. John Victor Nash of London, and Prince Sabit Bey, favorite nephew of the king of Egypt, wrote finis to their unions with the fascinating Jean in three very different kinds of divorce. Sifton's was a divorce from the Canadian Senate; Nash's granted by a British judge who excoriated Jean's extravagance; the prince's came from his own lips, according to good Mohammedan law.

Jean's first marriage, from which sprang her 23-year-old son now on trial for murder on the high seas, was annulled. That fact was not known until Jean, wearing her beaver coat and brown halo-straw hat, every detail perfect—"One must dress as do other women in the world of sparkling jewels, gaming tables and champagne!" she once said—came to the trial of her son, charged with murder upon the high seas, in New York Federal Court.

Then, with her present husband, Paul Dubonnet of the French brandy family, beside her, the story of a runaway marriage, annulment,, and the birth of her first son came out.

Wed First at Sixteen

Eugenia Donaldson, even with the gaucherie of 16, must have had the fascination that brought her fame in later years. She was judged one of the five most beautiful girls in America in what must have been one of America's earliest beauty contest, back in 1911.

Small wonder that John S. Kirwan, 16-year-old son of a real estate broker, meeting her at a subdeb. dance, fell in love with her blonde loveliness at sight. After a whirlwind courtship they eloped in the gray dawn and were married.

Their parents were wrathful, and being socially prominent and wealthy as well, they arranged the dissolution of the marriage ties.

When the first judge who was to concern himself with Jean's marital affairs handed down the annulment, undoubtedly Jean's parents thought their daughter's troubles wer ended. But only a little later their 16-year-old daughter became a mother. And went on to new marital complications!

SCIENTISTS LED INTO NEW GUINEA

Party Has Many Specimens for American Museum of Natural History.

WOLFVILLE, N.S., April 12 (CP)—Austin L. Rand, Nova Scotian scientist who led a party of explorers into the wilds of New Guinea, will arrive in New York next month with hundreds of specimens for the American Museum of Natural History.

News of the expedition was received here by the young leader's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Rand, who hope to welcome their son home next summer.

The letter was written from Rand's supply base in New Guinea just after he and his companions had brought to a successful conclusion their trip into the mountainous region and were about to start a big-game hunt in the western region which has not been entered by collectors for half a century.

In his letter, now several months old, Rand did not mention his personal hardships in the New Guinea mountains, where head-hunting natives were encountered according to other reports of the expedition. Only his work, the study of bird life, was sketched in the brief note. On the mountain expedition the collectors secured 160 specimens, which have been packed ready for shipment to the museum.

One was a bird five feet tall and weighing 70 pounds. On the west coast trip the collectors expected to add at least 150 other specimens.

Rand mentioned that he had not heard from home for many weeks. One reason for this, he thought, was the fact that a Kieal policeman who fell into the Kea River lost a batch of mail.

Hastings

Wesley Andrews whose farm is situated about four miles from the village is reported as one of the first in this district to commence plowing, having turned the first sod on Saturday on high land. Although there has been a great deal of frost in the ground, the roads are quite passable, many egg and cream trucks making their regular routes. The fields are drying and growth is noticed on the fields of fall grain which seem to have survived the severe cold winter. The farmers are most anxious to commence spring plowing as due to the dry fall a great deal remained undone. Feed is becoming very scarce and difficult to buy and many are buying seed grain in preparation for seeding.

Miss Effie Stewart of Oshawa was a recent guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stewart.

Mr. Virgil Oliver returned home from Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough on Saturday.

Miss Georgina Beavis of Norwood spent Saturday with relatives in the village.

Mr. Everett Hess left during the past week for St. Catharines, where he has accepted a position.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Graham of Wellington spent Sunday with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Haig, Evelyn and Bert of Toronto spent the weekend at their summer home.

Mrs. T. W. Larke returned to her home in Walkerville after a visit with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Baker.

Miss Irene Richardson spent several days with her sister, Mrs. O. Mason of Campbellford.

PRIDMORE TRIAL EVIDENCE HEARD

fatality the next day he reported the incident "west of Welcome" to the Toronto police, and gave them the license number of Pridmore's car, which McGinn had mentally noted during a stop at Newtonville to examine a dent in the right front fender.

McGinn testified that the car was stopped in about one hundred feet after striking "the object", and Pridmore's estimate was about fifty feet.

"And if you had walked back to see whether you had hit a man or a yellow dog, you would not be here today," Mr. O'Flynn remarked in his cross-examination of the accused.

The Crown prosecutor directed a series of questions to Pridmore as to the color of "the object." Witnesses had told the court Bebee was wearing a brown overcoat and yellow khaki overalls, and the accused admitted that in his brief glance as "the object" suddenly appeared in the snow storm directly in front and to the right of his car it seemed to have two shades of brown.

Transient's Evidence.

McGinn's story to the jury as elicited by J. E. O'Flynn's' examination related that he was "hitch-hiking" that day from Kingston to London.

At Trenton he met Mr. Pridmore who was driving west, and left that town about 6.10 p.m. They stayed an hour and a half at Brighton and passed through Port Hope at twenty minutes to 9. About four miles west of Welcome the automobile hit something causing the car to swerve to one side.

"I could not see what the object was. The windows was 'steamed over. I helped Mr. Pridmore on the trip by keeping the steam wiped off the part of the window in front of him. We were going about 40 or 45 miles an hour. I remember that when the car swerved I was reaching into my pocket for tobacco.

I said: "My God what did we hit? We'd better stop."

Pridmore stopped the car about 100 feet further on. I started to run back along the road. Pridmore called out: 'Come on. To hell with it.' he said that if a human being had been hit we'd have heard a scream. At Newtonville we stopped the car and tried to straighten the right front fender which was dented. At that time I noticed the license number of the car.

Pridmore told me several times after that not to say anything about the accident to anybody. I read the next day about the death of Mr. Bebee and reported to the Toronto police.

McGinn stated to Mr. Payne, defense counsel, that Pridmore had been driving on the proper side of the highway.

"I had no suspicion that we had hit a man, until I read about Beebe's death."

Mr. Payne's searching cross-examination failed to bring out any material variation from the evidence in chief.

Constable Smith.

Provincial Constable W. E. Smith of Bowmanville, the first police officer called to investigate the fatality. He submitted a written statement made by Mr. Pridmore at Cobourg, the admission of which was permitted by Mr. Justice McEvoy after nearly two hours' discussion in the absence of the jury.

The statement briefly recounted the defendant's trip from Belleville to Toronto from 4.30 p.m. to 11.15 p.m. Pridmore's car was a Chrysler coupe. In his statement he wrote that west of Welcome he felt a "thud on the right side of the automobile as if some object had been struck. The car swerved toward the south side of the pavement. From a fleeting glance Pridmore though he had hit a yellow collie dog.' The car was stopped near a wayside service station and it was noticed by the defendant that the right front bumper was bent.

"I worried then, and thought it must have been something heavier than a dog. The young man with me went back the road but saw nothing."

Earlier in the trial it was testified that Beebe was wearing a brown overcoat and yellow khaki overalls.

Part of Pridmore's statement was as follows: "Just west of highway scales and west of Welcome on sloping grade, meeting the headlights of another car, when just as it passed me we felt a thud or bump on the right side at front of our car. When my vision was clear on car passing me I saw from the front of vision of my side of windshield what appeared to be the back of a yellow collie dog; this form to me jumped as a dog and we felt the side swipe....East of Newtonville the boy with me first saw the dent in the bumper. I worried from then on that it must of been heavier than a dog. But did not think of phoning back and reporting to official. Nor did I then feel satisfied in my own mind this necessary as the young man went back and saw nor heard nothing."

"While Pridmore was writing the statement," Constable Smith continued, "he asked me if Bebee walked stooped over. I told him the man had been described to me as habitually walking in some way like that.

Pridmore then exclaimed: "By gum it was him."

To Mr. Payne witness said that the first information he had received from Mr. Kingston, who found the body, was that a coupe which had passed him west of Welcome, also west bound, was a Chevrolet. When telephoning to police at Scarboro he asked them to examine all cars and especially to look out for a Chevrolet coupe.

Mr. Smith expressed the opinion that Bebee must have been carried 60 feet on the bumper of the car that struck him. The only superficial wound was a slight cut on one finger.

Mr. Payne referred to McGinn's evidence that there was no blood on Pridmore's car. Mr. Smith said he did not have a chance to examine it.

Provincial Constable W. J. Carey corroborated Smith's testimony and read a supplementary statement which Pridmore voluntarily wrote, partly repeating the original document. It declared that at no time immediately after the incident on the highway did he think the car had struck a man. Observation of the dent in the bumper at Newtonville created the first feeling of deep concern as Pridmore realized that the object must have been heavier than a dog. Even after reading a newspaper account of Beebe's death, Pridmore did not think he had struck a man the night before, and that he was involved in the fatality. The statement added that Pridmore had told McGinn, the transient, that "if anything should come out of this, be careful what you say. State only the facts."

Pridmore's Examination

John Pridmore, defendant, was called to the witness stand by Mr. Payne, and recounted the incidents of his affairs in the evening of February 6. He has a cartage agency in Brockville, and is financially interested in Sprague's Dyers and Cleaners of Belleville, where he is presently residing.

Mr. Pridmore sad he left Belleville at 5.40 p.m. and stopped at Trenton, Brighton and Colborne. He left Colborne about 7 o'clock.

Mr. Payne: McGinn swore that when you went through Port Hope he looked at the town clock and noticed that it was twenty minutes to nine. Could he see it through the window?

Mr. Pridmore said he left Belleville was covered with frost; I suppose from our breaths. I usually look at that clock, but that night I could not see it. On the main street I looked at my watch and it was fifteen minutes to eight."

The accused said he was driving at 25 to 30 miles an hour west of Welcome because the storm was more severe beyond Port Hope.

"About four miles west of Welcome I noticed an object on the road, low down, like a dog. It seemed to rise and just then I felt a glancing thud. Nothing impeded the car. It swerved to the south side as if there had been a glancing blow. I stopped the car within 50 feet. I am positive it was not a human being that was struck. I asked McGinn to turn back and see what it was. He was gone two or three minutes. I asked him if he had seen anything. He said, 'Nd.' So I said, "Well, come on."

Mr. Payne: Did you yell out to him: "Come on; to hell with it."

Mr. Pridmore: I did not.

Mr. Payne: McGinn says that beyond Newtonville you told him to say nothing about it. What do you say as to that?

Mr. Pridmore: No. I didn't use those words.

"He says you repeated the same thing in Toronto?"

"I did not."

"What did you say?"

"I thought I might not see him again. I said to him: 'If you hear anything about this, be careful what you say. Just state the facts.'

"Did you know what was struck by your car?"

"No."

"Did McGinn know?"

"I asked him, and he said he couldn't see anything."

Pridmore told Mr. Payne that he had since seen the place where Beebe was killed, but it was about three miles away from where defendant's car hit some object in the snow storm.

License Plates Changed

Mr. Payne referred to Constable Carey's evidence, that defendant's car had new 1934 license plates when he saw it two days after the Beebe death. Mr. Pridmore said he went to the Department of Highways in Toronto on February 7 because licenses for heavy trucks at his Brockville office had to be obtained at the Department.

Mr. Payne: It has been suggested or inferred that you got a new license by reason of having hit some object on the highway?

Mr. O'Flynn interrupted the defence with an assertion that there had been no suggestion of that kind by any witness.

Mr. Payne: When you made a statement to Constable Smith, did you say, "By gum, that was him"

Mr. Pridmore: I did not.

To Mr. Flynn, the accused asserted that he stopped his car within fifty feet.

"And you didn't go back only 50 feet you say, to see what you had hit?"

"No."

"To see whether it was a man or a yellow dog?"

"I thought McGinn——" Pridmore began to reply.

"But you were the owner and the driver of the car?"

"Yes. I didn't feel that I should go back. It didn't seem serious to me."

Mr. O'Flynn: If you had gone back you wouldn't be here to-day.

FOUR MISSING IN PLANE

SHANGHAI, April 11 (AP)—Heavy fog hindered to-day a search for three American fliers believed marooned somewhere in island-dotted Hangchow Bay.

The missing men are Robert Gast, pilot of Louisville, Ky., and James Finck, co-pilot of Miami, Fla., and Ivan Carlson of Donna, Texas, unreported since they hopped off early Tuesday in their mail plane from Shanghai for Canton. They had a Japanese passenger, a Tokyo businessman.

RING-BOLT RECALLS SHIPPING DISASTER

White Star Liner Atlantic Carried 562 Passengers to Death on April Fool's Day.

HALIFAX, April 12 (C.P.) — A rusty old ring-bolt eaten by time and tide found its way to a Halifax junk shop the other day recalling one of the most dreadful marine disasters in history. It was the ring-bolt that held taut the life-line when the White Star liner Atlantic grounded on jagged Marr's rock off Prospect, 25 miles from here, in April 1873.

Five hundred and sixtytwo lives were lost when the merciless sea claimed this great liner of former days. She split in two on the rocks and one end of her slid into the water 15 minutes later, drowning all women passengers aboard. The ring-bolt was brought to Halifax by a Prospect fisherman whose grandfather still recounts to village children details of that eventful night.

Word reaching Halifax of the disaster for it was April Fool's day But as more and more of the 400 passengers who climbed ashore by means of the life line, straggled into the city, wildly excited citizens made for the scene by road and boat.

April is the month of great marine disasters. The Titanic, the Atlantic, the Daniel Steinman and the Empress of Ireland all were lost in April, and all on this side of the Atlantic. This ship was on a voyage from Liverpool to New York. Running short of fuel, her skipper decided to make Halifax, lost his bearings, and the shark-like teeth of Marr's Rrock snapped the Atlantic's hull.

In the Anglican church yard in Terrance Bay a monument is erected to the lost ones.

Slabs of granite, ring-bolts which held life lines, bits of hulls, other old relics every now and again recall these tragedies.

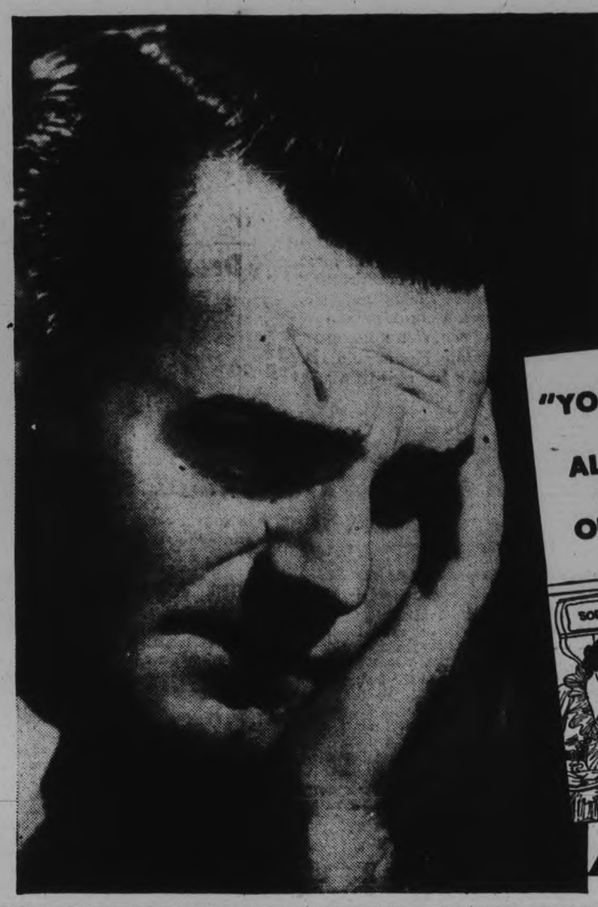
Expert finds many packaged Coffees... Stale

Thousands are drinking it—not only flat and tasteless in the cup—but a constant source of Nervous Irritation



MORE than half the packaged coffees bought in 16 cities in a recent investigation were found to be stale. This means that you may be drinking coffee that goes flat in the cup—and is nervously irritating.

Stale coffee develops rancid oil. If you drink it regularly, you are very apt to find yourself easily disturbed, flying into trivial rages.

How can you tell how old your coffee is? You can when you buy Chase & Sanborn's—the coffee with a wonderful dating system.

Every tin of Chase & Sanborn's is Dated. We watch this Date and see that no tin remains on the grocer's shelf more than 10 days!

You know Dated Coffee is fresh—full-flavored and healthfully stimulating. From now on—ask for Chase & Sanborn's Dated Coffee! Packed in pound and half-pound tins.

Lumbago Made a Cripple of Him

But Dodd's Kidney Pills Soon Made Him Well Again.

Toronto Man Banished Lumbago and Sciatica.

Toronto, Ont., April 12 (Special)—"Twelve months ago I was crippled from an attack of Lumbago and Sciatica," writes Mr. R Allan, 205 Glebemount Avenue. "It was agony to get around to work I took six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills, and am glad to say I have not had a twinge of pain for six months."

Dodd's Kidney Pills increase in popularity daily. This is not a matter of chance nor is it because of promises they make, but because of the good they do.

Dodd's Kidney Pills have been on the market for half a century. They have been used with marvellous success by thousands of people suffering from various forms of Kidney complaint, such as Backache, Rheumatism, Lumbago, and Bladder Trouble.

Ask your friends and neighbors about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Y.M.C.A. LEADERS WILL MEET IN CITY

Ontario Leaders' Corp Convention Will Be Held Here Saturday.

Peterborough will be host to more than one hundred young Y.M.C.A. men from many cities of Ontario this week-end when the annual Ontario Leaders' Corp conference convenes on Saturday and Sunday in the local assocation building. A large banquet Saturday evening, a gymnastic display the same evening, and a final luncheon at noon on Sunday will be features of the event.

Charles E. Sisson, recently appointed to the physical committee of the Y.M.C.A. National Council in Toronto and a former Peterborough man, will address the opening banquet. Other speakers will dedicate the convention and outline the work to be done. For a nominal admission charge, the public will be permitted to see the Leaders' Corp gymnastic championship competitions in the gymnasium shortly after eight o'clock. Teams of four, representing each corp, will contend for honors on the high bar, the parallel bars and the side horse and a number of special "stunts," comic and otherwise, will be presented.

"Leadership Challenges of Today" will be the theme of the conference. Following morning devotions conducted by Rev. J. D. Paterson at 9.15 o'clock Sunday morning, the young men will divide into two groups to discuss two sides of this theme during the morning. One group will take as its topic, "The Challenge of Leadership in the Building" and the other will base its discussions on "The Challenge of Leadership in the Community." Under the leadership of Edward B. Otter, acting secretary of the physical committee, Y.M.C.A. National Council, the two groups will be combined and their findings resolved.

Rev. C. D. Daniel, pastor of Mark Street United Church, will address the Sunday luncheon. With the election of officers for the coming year and the disposition of other business, the conference will be concluded after the luncheon.

Any persons who can assist the conference by offering billets for delegates have been asked to communicate with the Y.M.C.A.

FALSE TEETH

"Stay Put" Says Druggist

"With my gums gradually shrinking I had difficulty keeping my plate in position with various denture powders. Most of them tasted only a few hours. Now I use FASTEETH, and what a difference! I now wear my plate for 24 hours with absolute security and comfort. Fasteeth does not wash away or become thinned out, but "STAYS PUT" until I am ready to remove plate. FASTEETH is tasteless. Does not sour or cause foul breath. Holds false teeth all day long."

Accept only FASTEETH to enjoy false teeth comfort like you've never had before. Ask for FASTEETH. 35c or 60c size, at any good drug store. Send for free trial size to Fasteeth, Ltd., 54 Wellington W., Toronto.

SUPER-SLEUTH TRACES CRIME WITH SCIENCE

Vancouver's 'Sherlock Holmes' Enlists Science to Unravel Seemingly Unsolvable Crimes.

UP-TO-DATE LABORATORY.

VANCOUVER, April 12 — (C.P.) —Broken glass, paint or a footprint mean little to the layman, but under the searching eye of Vancouver's criminologist, Inspector John Fleming Cullen Brown Vance, of the police bureau of science, such trifling clues are unravelled to reveal the story of a criminal and his crime.

In fact so successful has the inspector been in securing convictions against criminals that three attempts have been made on his life and were thwarted only through his keen powers of observation and the vigilance of the police officers who guard him day and night.

For months he received threatening letters by the score, warning him to lay off certain cases. Only his keen analytical and inquiring mind saved him and a score of others from certain death when a parcel was delivered at his laboratory. It was found to contain an ingeniously constructed bomb.

Another attempt was nipped in the bud when a guard, tracing a smell of burning powder, discovered a bomb with a burning fuse beneath a corner of the house in time to prevent it exploding, and possibly killing the inspector's wife and two children.

From a pair of footprints on a stone ledge, and a bit of rubbed paint on the wall above it, the inspector reconstructed the description of a burglar who fled from a crime unseen. His description enabled the police to arrest the man who subsequently was convicted.

Pieces of glass from a broken window and particles of paint scraped from a wall, found on the clothing of two prisoners sent the pair to jail for a daring robbery. They had pleaded not guilty but when Inspector Vance completed his testimony at the trial they refused to take the stand in their own defence.

A footprint on a carton of tobacco convicted a man arrested near a warehouse which had been burglarized of a quantity of cigarettes and tobacco. Sudden death holding the elements of a mystery thriller, and to all appearances, murder, was unfolded to reveal an accident.

For two weeks the police of two cities in British Columbia, puzzled over the death of a woman whose body was found, fully clothed and with a small suitcase strapped to the wrist, in an abandoned well, which had a loose plank covering on top. Purplish stains, similar to cyanide, about the month, led to suspicions she had been murdered and thrown into the well.

Inspector Vance, through chemical analysis of the woman's stomach, disproved the poison theory, and found the stains were caused by dye from the woman's clothing. When the inspector's finding was made public the farmer who made the gruesome find probed his memory and remembered he had placed the planks over the well to eliminate just such an accident—in this case too late.

On the top floor at police headquarters, Inspector Vance already famous throughout Canada and the United States for his solving of baffling crimes, works with two assistants. Here the criminologist, looking more like a college professor preparing a class lecture than a detective, delves into crime clues in a laboratory only equalled by the famous scientific bureaux of London and Paris.

All the instruments known to science for detecting crime are here. The microscope, one of the pioneer instruments of scientific police work; the magniscope, which reveals in a matter of seconds, a forged signature; cameras used in finger print work; ultra-violet ray machines which will prove a handkerchief found at the scene of a crime came from the pocket of the prisoner. And in this modern laboratory a myriad of seemingly unsolvable problems occupy the smiling inspector as he continues his work of aiding the forces of the law.

FOR DAY AND NIGHT

If You're Young Here Are Two Smart Costumes for Street and Evening Wear

By LISBETH.

PLAIDS GLOW in rich, soft colors or bright sparkling ones in the daytime mode, effectually banishing any winter left over feelings of gloom.

But for evening, if you're very young and gay, black is just too awfully distinguishing—and taffeta is ravishing—and black may be accentuated with color, you know.

Patricia Ellis, left, is delightfully young and chic in a three-quarter-length jacket suit of two-toned blue, white and black plaid with large lapels. The ascot tie of the dress is black, and a small but cocky black straw hat is worn with the suit—quite in keeping with the design, also black gloves, shoes and handbag.

Demure and sweet is Elizabeth Young, right, in her black taffeta dance frock. The wide, graduated ruffles on the skirt, the butterfly effect of the sleeves, and the flame-colored poppies at the point of the neckline, are the delectable style points. The off-the-shoulder decolletage is quaint and becoming.

Young's Point

GAY OPERETTA IS PRESENTED BY KNOX CHOIR

"Princess Bulbul" is Name of Annual Production of Choir.

BRIGHT COSTUMES.

Program Repeated This Evening in Knox Church Hall.

[By JEANETTE]

"Princess Bulbul" is the title of the gay comic operetta that forms this season's offering by the choir of Knox United Church, with its first production last night in the lecture hall and a second performance scheduled for this evening.

Bulbul is the poetical name applied to a Persian nightingale. Although the production has nothing to do with a nightingale, unless Miss Marion Ralston's brilliant soprano voice, in the stellar role, might perhaps be compared to the music of that famous bird, it is a colorful and delightful presentation of catchy music interlarded with the type of humorous dialogue that accompanies a comic operetta. Notable in their brightness and their appropriate value are the costumes, which are much beyond the average in an amateur production.

The action revolves about the episodes which take place in the garden and ballroom of a mythical palace ruled by Iamit, a fussy little monarch who wears his crown slightly askew and is pestered by such important woes as a rise in the price of fish and a debit of fifteen cents in the petty cash. He is a careful person who promises a dance for his daughter's engagement announcement, but balks at a lunch. "For times are hard, you know", and the cost of sandwiches and thin lemonade is a problem. But, withal, he is a "delightful little man," as a blithe chorus assures the listeners, and, during intervals when he hasn't fallen asleep on his throne, with his crown hung on a nail over his head, parades in a gorgeous outfit of royal purple and ruby velvet.

John Donaldson is extremely effective in this role, and sings "A Mild-mannered Monarch Am I."

Bulbul, the beautiful daughter, is Miss Marion Ralston, a striking figure, especially in her pure white frock for the ballroom scene. She makes a dainty heroine and has some exceptionally lovely solo numbers, paramount in the list being the soft-toned, sweet music of "The Sun is in the West", with its murmuring chorus, "Croon, Silver Moon".

The Attic Beak

Bulbul has been doomed to wed a prince with a "perfect Grecian nose," but rebels at the thought, and, instead, bestows her affections on the wandering vendor of perfumes, Caspian (Walter Binks) who sings to her heart's desire and rhapsodizes in poetical language over his wares, one choice sample of which is compounded of essence of a dying rose and the moonlight notes of a nightingale.

Mr. Binks acts admirably in this masquerading role, and sings several attractive tenor solos, among them the softly toned "I Met Dame Fortune on the Road."

The duetts sung by the two lovers are especially fine. One is entitled "Love is a Funny Thing", with Mr. Binks' clear tenor blending happily with Miss Ralston's brilliantly etched soprano, while the second duett, "I Know a Land" brings repeated applause from the audience. The hero wears a very brilliant court costume of black and Chinese blue, in this episode.

A notable figure in the cast, who acts as efficiently and satisfactorily as always, is Miss Annie Crocker, in the part of Ida, the court chaperone, who has her eye on the king and flatters him with exceptional skill.

Miss Crocker, whose work adds much to the interest of the production, sings "He Whispers Perfect Nothings" and "O Bliss, O Rapture."

Minor parts which are equally well portrayed are those of Lilla, a friend to Bulbul (Mrs. H. Wood) who sings "She Speaks Not a word"; Alain, a friend to Caspian (Arthur Pitchford), whose fine voice is heard to great advantage in the jaunty solo, "I Want to be a Soldier" with chorus of men's Voices; Dosay (Edwin McDonald), who is the Keeper of the Royal Spectacles, and wears a rose-pink coat while working hard on an extra verse ordered for the National Anthem, and Justo (Albert Lee), the Keeper of the Royal Cash-Box, resplendant in a brilliant red tunic, who informs the court in rhyme. "When Fish go up, I go down", and also discourses in song with the other members of a frisky quartette, Mrs. Wood, Miss Crocker and Mr. Pitchford, when they tell about their various duties and conclue, "And so can you wonder we don't give a hang for life in a palace."

This buoyant quartette number, sung with a chorus of white-clad housemaids who sweep and dust to a somewhat lagging tempo, is one of the breeziest of the entire show, which abounds in gay choruses that accompany the solo numbers and also add their melodious charm to the presentation.

Dignified Gavotte

A colorful episode is the interlude in the second act which the lords and ladies tread a stately measure to slow music.

Altogether, with its lightsome lyrics, its gay persiflage, its brilliant costuming and tuneful choruses, this is a most attractive and colorful production. Its effective settings are contrived in an original manner by the use of a large reversible back drop painted by Harry Lewis, with a garden for the first act and a pillared ballroom vista for the second. Large curtains lent by the Capitol Theatre are another adjunct of the stage setting.

The Rev. W. McDonald, acted as chairman, referred particularly to the work of the director, William R. Potter, organist and choirleader at Knox Church, to the fine settings by Mr. Lewis and the splendid costumes achieved by the committees in charge. White wigs worn by the courtiers and court ladies were an effective note.

The production has an extremely satisfying ending which need not be outlined too fully, as the second presentation takes place tonight, and a slight touch of suspense heightens the interest of any performance.

Between acts, a tuneful orchestra plays, with Miss May Pollock at the piano, and other members in Messrs. Farr, Murphy, Morocco and Beach.

In addition to the general director, W. R. Potter, there is the Dialogue director, Mrs. A. Huffman, Mrs. W. Binks, Mrs. H. Wood, Miss Mary Morton and Miss Kay Benson, the Property men, Don Charlton and George Davis, and the business manager, Arthur Pitchford.

With the exception of five or six members, the entire production is in the hands of the choir of Knox Church. Maids of Honour are: Mrs. R. MacNab, the Misses Ellen Trotter, Margaret Hill, Eunice Barnes, Alice Davis and Mary Wallace. Housemaids: Mesdames Wedlock, Whyte, Binks, Lewis Langhorne, Scholey, and the Misses Isobel Black, Kay Benson, Hazel Laing, Mary Morton, Irma Darling, Jean McCannan, Margaret Wedlock and Beatrice Morrison. Pedlers and Courtiers: Norman Hughes, Tom Allen, Alex Wedlock, Joe Daynes, Harold Martin, William Herd, James Gerard, Don Charlton and Harry Lewis.

COUNCIL TO RUN LINDSAY RELIEF

Board of Education and Town Fathers Clash Over Teachers' Salaries and Tax Rate.

NEW TRANSIENT RULE.

(Examiner Correspondence)

LINDSAY, April 12.—At the end of the present month the town council will be faced with the task of administering relief. The local Welfare Board has been doing the work during the year, with the citizens subscribing over $7,000 for the purpose of supply food, etc., to those in need. A special committee of the council will handle the work.

"If any good is to come out of this joint meeting, I think it will be that there will be no more joint meetings unless there is a fire or flood or some other crisis at which the assistance of all able bodied men are needed." These were the words of C. Weeks, a member of the Board of Education, following a meeting of the town council and board last night. There has been some misunderstanding of late between these two bodies over salary reductions and the desire of the council to reduce the burden of the taxpayer. Councillor C. G. Frost pointed out that if the town could hew to the line for two or three years it could avoid a crisis. After referring to the difficult position in which the town found itself, stated that in connection with the restoration or partial restoration of teachers' salary cuts, the Board of Education would have to bear responsibility for its own actions. J. E. Anderson, K. C., joint chairman of the Board, said that these joint meetings were not helpful. The Board had faced great difficulties in the two salary cuts made. The educational system here, he stated, was antiquated, and the better teachers should not be lost because of a few dollars. While he had the thought of the town's financial condition on one side of his mind, on the other side he had thoughts of the necessity of equipping local children with proper education.

The death is announced here of Mrs. John D. Copeland, a former resident of the township of Eldon, and sister of Conductor Thomas Ringland, Lndsay. The deceased was in her seventy-third year, and was of a family of thirteen. She is survived by two sons, two daughters, seven brothers and two sisters.

Mrs. R. J. Taylor, of Minden, one of the pioneer residents of the north country passed away on Monday in her eighty-first year. She was a member of the United Church and was for years an active worker in the Methodist church. Seven daughters and one son survive.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Gassien, town, will celebrate their sixtieth wedding anniversary on Thursday. Both are natives of the Province of Quebec, but have resided in Lindsay for a great many years. The anniversary will be observed at the home of one of their sons, Conductor Felix Gassien.

Mrs. N. Brethour, an aged resident of Sunderland, was the victim of a juvenile prank on Monday when she was knocked down on the street by a number of boys and sustained two fractured ribs and other injuries. Phillip Keenan, another aged resident of the village, slipped and fell at his home and broke his leg at the thigh. Owing to his advanced age, much concern is felt over the accident.

Ray Morden, formerly of Peterborough, special officer of the Canadian National Railway, has decreed that no longer will transients be allowed to steal rides on the different lines in this division. great many of them have been in the habit of travelling to and from the construction camps in the north, some of them having sufficient money to pay their way.

Claiming that he intended paying for the wood when it was sold, C. H. Edwards, a trucker, of Lakefield, was remanded by Police Magistrate Jordan on Monday on the charge of false pretenses. It is alleged that he issued a cheque to Fred Dunsford, of Tory Hill, Haliburton County, for payment of a carload of wood. It is further claimed that when the cheque was presented at the bank branch in Lakefield the money was not there.

ARTHUR LISMER TO GIVE LECTURE HERE FRIDAY

Arthur Lismer, A.R.C.A., widely-known art authority, will be the university extension lecture speaker at the Y.M.C.A. to-morrow evening. Contributing to the national theme around which the series of lectures has been built this year, he will speak on "Canadian Art."

A capacity gathering heard Mr. Lismer when brought to the city last year by the Friday Night Supper Club. Educational supervisor of the Toronto Art Gallery and a member of the famed "Group of Seven," he rarely fails to hold the interest of his audience. As in the case of the previous lectures, it will be open to the public, admission being by course tickets or tickets purchased at the door. Before the lecture, Mr. Lismer will be a speaker at the Friday Night Supper Club banquet.

COMPANY INDICTED

TORONTO, April 11 (CP)—The K. and L. Motor Express Company was indicted to-day by an Assize Court Grand Jury for criminal negligence, while one of its drivers, Herbert Braun, had a true bill returned against him on a charge of manslaughter, which arose from the death of four-year-old Barbara Fletcher last month.

Crown prosecutors said it was the first time in their memory a Grand Jury had returned a true bill against owners of a truck as well as a driver.

Tests Being Made to Brighten 900 Miles of Ontario's Heavy Traffic Roads.

TORONTO, April 12. (CP) Backed by statistical deduction that 37 per cent of highway fatalities can be prevented by proper highway lighting, the Illuminating Engineering Society has set out to turn night into day on the "King's Highways" of Ontario. The Society looks forward to the development of the movement in every Canadian province.

Ontario with its 68,470 miles of paved, gravelled or otherwise improved motorways provides a big field for the inception of the scheme. With the enormous power resources of Niagara Falls, the Gatineau and the Beauharnois at its doors the province is in a position to lighten its dark ways at a minimum cost. Co-operation of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission, the provincial Department of Highways and the University of Toronto has been secured for the tests being made for an adequate and economical system.

For the present the promotors aim at the standard illumination of 900 miles of the most "heavily trafficked" provincial highways. The idea is to place approximately 21 lamps to a mile, about 25 feet above the road level a. an estimated cost for installation of from $900,000 to $1,350,000 for the 900 miles.

Making Road Test

For an immediate objective, as a test, the engineers plan lighting a busy eight-mile stretch between Stoney Creek and Grimsby, on the Hamilton-Niagara Falls highway. A delegation organized by the Engineering Society and including highway and hydro officials, members of the engineering faculty of the University and representatives of other interested bodies, is surveying the test ground and reporting on the project.

"We are approaching his question and expressing our opinions entirely in a non-commercial way," said Frank T. Groome, who as a member of the Society executive has been addressing service clubs and other organizations on the subject of highway illumination. "We are looking for a curative for the dangers of our highways and present our scheme for public consideration."

The movement for standard lighting of public highways at night has taken root in England and the continent, where stretches of well-travelled roads have been provided with more or less night illumination. In New York State definite tests have been made on the famous Mohawk Trail. The Canadian engineers have the benefit of these results for the experiment here.

Up to date Ontario as a province has undertaken no responsibility for highway lighting. Every night driver is familiar with the confusing efforts of cities, towns and villages along the highwayh to light their own particular sections of the road. Some lamps high up, some low; lights glaring and dim—according to the whim of the municipality and the extent of its civic financial resources.

The motorist is met with polyglot aurora mixing dangerously with the headlights of cars from the opposite direction. This is one of the conditions the proponents of standard highway lighting hope to eliminate.

DISEASE CARRIERS

CHICAGO, April 12 (CP)—Somebody stole 150 tuberculosis infected white rats from the laboratory of Dr. Royal Fitch.

"Whoever took them," said the doctor, "may try to sell them as pets. If he does, he will be turning loose 150 carriers of the disease."

The police were asked to work fast to recover the rodents.

SISAL! What Is It?

SISAL is an artificial hair, made in the same way as cellophane, and is even more curly than hair. That is why these Mattresses are so comfortable. Like cellophane, SISAL is very tough and does not crumble. It has been used only in expensive mattresses, but now Waysagless gives you this extra value.

COOKING SCHOOL ON SECOND DAY CAPACITY CROWD

Personality of Miss Francis Thompson Appeals to Her Audience.

DELIGHTFUL DISHES.

Many Hints Are Given By Lecturer for Successful Home Making.

[By JEAN WAGAR]

It is certainly a triumph of personality which can draw the crowds of women to hear Frances Thompson expound the principles of cooking—which is, alas, not usually supposed to be a subject of such absorbing interest. However, an eminent author places cooking as the most important of all arts.

Besides, there has been fun and friendship at The Examiner's Cooking School, and every day brings a feast of brand new features which delight the hearts of women.

Health of Family

In serious vein, the lecturer remarked that the health of the family largely depended upon the homemaker's knowledge of foods that are health-giving and her care in seeing that these foods appeared often on her menus. For this reason she is using Stock's 'Vitos' Bread and Silverwood's milk, cream and butter.

The wisdom of "pantry parking" —refrigerator always keeping your General Electric filled with emergency foods was strongly stressed in yesterday's session and Miss Thompson proceeded to make a lemon cream pie, which called for sweetened condensed milk—please note that word "sweetened"—as its main ingredient and that pie filling was certainly intriguing. And next time you're making a meringue for a pie remember to add a pinch of Eggo baking powder to your egg white.

Miss Thompson was very partial to her G.E. refrigerator. The one which has the enclosed coils on the top and the automatic non-skid trays.

A piquant fruit punch which contained all the vitamins was made and the lecturer treated the lady who yesterday drew her attention to an omission and one other thirsty person—you may readily believe there were many thirsty ladies in that audience.

"Come on over—we'll have a game of bridge and a little snack afterward." There is something so cozy and intimate about the mental picture which this neighborly invitation conjures up that it's a wonder anyone ever plans to entertain en masse.

Miss Thompson's "steak and bacon rolls" which she suggested as just the thing for a "hen party" were the most tempting looking morsels. Here they are—and watch the folks go for them if given a chance after a movie or that game of bridge:

4 strips of one-in-thick fillet (you get this at Buehler Bros.)

4 strips of one-inch-thick fillet bacon (from Canada Packers Ltd).

4 tablespoons butter (Silverwood's).

2 tablespoons Laing's C.C. sauce (at your grocers).

2 onions (sliced).

Wrap each strip of steak in strips of bacon. Mix the sauce with butter, and place a dab of the mixture on each roll. Arrange on a rack or boiling pan with onions placed below and cook under top oven element of Hotpoint range. (If you don't happen to have this electrical equipment, a coal or gas range will also do the trick). Turn several times, basting with the juice in the pan. It is so very easy and so inexpensive with these little snacks to keep one's rating for hospitality at the very top of the scale. Did I forget to say you will need a cup of coffee and a few rounds of bread and butter to accompany these dainty rolls.

No need to keep your fingers crossed, when you cut a cake made with Eggo Baking Powder. For, under the high-swirled frosting and the thin, tender brown crust you're sure to find the typical glorious "Eggo" texture.

We have the evidence of our own eyes regarding this, when Miss Thompson turned out her perfectly marvellous "Marble Cake."

The audience almost gasped when they found that Purity, hard-wheat flour was being used for cake; for they believed they must have on hand at least three brands of flour to pass the test as a good cook.

This cake came out in a distinct and lovely pattern of brown (Vi-Tone), pink and white, and let me says ,the swirls of delicious brown icing were composed of icing sugar, butter, Vi-Tone and fresh fruit juices. We are absolutely sure that the cake was perfect, even though we did not taste it.

And, now for the super-excellent dessert, "Coffee Marshmallow Ice Cream," which is so popular with the busy housekeeper and hostess, for its convenience as well as its delicious flavor.

Have I again left the best dish to the last? Well it is good, anyway, even if it does take care of some left-over fish, and makes grand luck out of "pot" luck.

Through the manoeuvres of the quick-witted hostess these left-over morsels may be transformed into a delectable dish, if she follows Miss Thompson's directions for Jellied Fish. The beauty of this dish is its appeal to the eye, as well as to the taste.

It is these little novel touches which women love to acquire in their cooking. Miss Thompson does not presume that Peterborough housewives are not good cooks; but she wishes to give you the benefit of her experience and research, since every ingredient in her recipes has been thoroughly tested and found to be good in the diet kitchen of the Canadian School of Home Science, at Sterling Tower, in Toronto. A cordial invitation was extended to her Peterborough class to visit her (but not all at once) while in the city.

We have not all an electrically-equipped kitchen, but there was not a woman in her audience who did not admire the beautiful set-up, the effective lighting and the whole modern equipment.

When the good fairy of industry waved her wand and brought about the magic of up-to-date electrical appliances "ironing-day" lost its terror. Of course you must appreciate your ironing machine, and true appreciation can not exist if you do not know how to use it to advantage. This is just where Miss Thompson stepped in with her illuminating demonstration showing how this G.E. ironer is manipulated, as well as the new feather-weight Hot-point.

The housekeeper also has her own traffic problems which have nothing to do with by-laws or regulations but with the care and upkeep of her floor-covering. She wages a constant battle against dust and dirt and often wonders where it all comes from. But this is the G.E. vacuum cleaner's "meat," especially when assisted by the little "Handy" cleaner and the moth exterminator.

A bowl of assorted Spring flowers changed the table arrangement yesterday, and was the gift of the Peterborough Floral Company.

Mrs. Coleman, the first prize winner, drew the remaining coupons while Mr. Taylor of The Examiner presented the many beautiful prizes of the day to the following list of winners:

THERE'S DASHING NOTE IN NEW SPRING APPAREL

Stars Burst Forth in Glad Raiment

By LISBETH

There is something dashing about the new spring apparel. It's as if, after the long, cold winter, women are casting off their dark apparel and bursting forth in glad raiment to greet the glorious sunshine, flowers and birds.

Black and white is a sober combination, or so it seems, but as shown at the left of the picture, and worn by pretty young Sylvia Sidney, of the films, it's as gay as can be.

The frock is of black matelasse, with collar and cuffs of white faille and edgings in cartridge effect of white and red. Her Mexican peon hat of white and black straw with red pompom adds the final touch of chic to the costume.

Myrna Loy displays a dramatic dinner gown of deep blue satin, right, with diamond-shaped cutouts forming a yoke in the bodice, and accented with rings of brilliants. It has a high neckline and full capelet sleeves. A 'halo" hat with veil seems the fitting accompaniment to this frock.

Your dress hat may be as wide brimmed as your little heart desires this season. The favored styling is shown by Diana Wynward, top, center. This striking model is black with a crown of white fabric which forms a beret in itself, and white banding across the forehead underneath the brim.

Below, at right, is Diana again, wearing a corded fabric beret—the accompaniment of a tailored suit, with soft brim turned straight back off the face, and mercury wings of the material as trimming.

A street costume worn by Adrienne Ames, left, center, has a gilet of silver lame and a silver fox scarf to give it distinction. She wears black satin gloves, which are a new note and do not show in this picture, and her hat is a simple off-the-face straw.

Getting Prepared

PHILADELPHIA, April 12 (C. P.). — Victor Heson, 20, was at the bar .Miss Edith Flagler, 18, testified she awakened to see him going out her bedroom window with her hope chest under his arm.

"I was after my letters," explained Heson.

"Were they valuable?" the court inquired.

"Well, they might have been, if you know what I mean.'

Heson was held in bail for further hearing.

MISSION CIRCLE NAME OFFICERS

Miss Nellie Lemmon Heads Murray Street Mission Circle.

ANNUAL MEETING.

Miss Nellie Lemmon was chosen as president of the Young Women's Mission Circle of Murray street Baptist Church at the annual meeting which was a supper meeting on Tuesday evening in the church.

Miss M. Nicholls, one of the senior members of the church, and a person greatly interested in the work of missions brought the devotional thought, for the meeting, taking the story of the three talents as an illustration.

The retiring president, Miss Isabel Scott presided for the meeting and reports were heard from the various groups and committees of the society on the work during the past year. Special speakers during the year included Miss Janet Robinson, home on furlough from India who delighted the members by her very enthusiastic talk on her work, and encouraged them in their endeavors. Practical work included the annual White Cross box to India each June which consists of hand knit scarves, bright bags and various smaller articles for use in the schools, such as mounted pictures, pencils, etc. A smaller box of Christmas gifts for the students at Grande Ligne mission is sent each year as well as cards to the missionaries at Christmas and Easter.

NEW 'DEAD SEA' IS DISCOVERED

Exists Below 100 Foot Level in Ocean Between Arabia and India.

CONTAINS NO LIFE.

(By B. C. Pugh, Associated Press Staff Writer.)

CAMBRIDGE, England, April 12 (AP)—Another "Dead Sea" has been discovered—one which, unlike that in Palestine, is not open to the sky and in whose murky and mysterious depth moves no living thing.

It is far down in the ocean between Arabia and India. To depths of from 50 to 100 feet below the surface, the water teem with marine life. Below those levels life does not exist.

The discovery is due to the research of the expedition financed by the late Sir John Murray. The commander sent to-day a fresh report to Prof. Stanley Gardine, expedition secretary.

Prof. Gardiner expressed the opinion that the lack of life in the depths may be laid to the petroleum which has been seeping into the ocean from the land through the ages—producing an effect similar to the familiar Palestinian Dead Sea by btumnous deposts.

The secretary received from the expedition samples of water and ooze from other parts of the ocean between Arabia and India in which he is confident of finding hitherto unknown forms of life. These samples were taken at varying depths of from two to five miles.

The expedition made further soundings and explorations which are held to confirm a previously reported identification of this ocean area with the vanished continent of Gondwanaland or Lemuria, the home of monstrous, scaly reptiles which vanished when the earth there sank—probably owing to volcanic action—millions of years ago.

GRAIN RATE SET FOR GREAT LAKES

Canadian Companies Carry Cargo to Montreal for Six Cents Per Bushel.

MONTREAL, April 12 (CP)—A rate of six cents a bushel for carriage of grain from the head of the Great Lakes to the port of Montreal has been agreed upon by leading Canadian shipping companies. W. H. Coverdale, president of Canada Steamships Lines Limited, told shareholders at the annual meeting here to-day.

Mr. Coverdale explained that a six-cent rate was agreed upon early last season but that the rate had fluctuated much lower. The average rate of the 1933 season was about 3½ cents. The Canada Steamship Lines president said he expected a more stable rate this season, partly due to the application of N.R.A. codes to the United States inland shipping lines which would prevent them from undercutting their Canadian competitors.

Financial condition of the Canadian Steamships Lines is much improved, Mr. Coverdale told the shareholders. Bank loans have been materially reduced and the company has sufficient cash on hand to carry on this season's operations without further bank assistance he said.

Propects for the coming season were better than they had been for the past five years.

Shareholders re-elected the Board of Directors. William C. Franz of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., was elected to the board. At a meeting of directors after the general meeting, company officers were re-elected.

Memorial Planned To Viscount Halifax

LONDON, April 12 (CP)—The Anglican Church's memorial to the late Viscount Halifax, the most famous upholder of the Anglo-Catholic position whose character received veneration in every school of Christian thought, will take the form of a new high altar at York-Minster, and general enrichment of the Choir and Sanctuary.

One hundred years ago the Choir of the ancient edifice was destroyed by fire and the present fittings, although there for a century, are still regarded as temporary. Lord Halifax was always deeply interested in the quest of their replacement.

What Are Present Day Problems, Subject of Dr. Rolls' Address.

UNDER FIVE HEADS.

To Solve Problems People Must Get Back to God Speaker Declares.

"What are the present day problems", asked Dr. C. J. Rolls last evening at Murray Street Church before a good attendance. "Are they the difficulties Paul had to face: Tribulation, distress, persecution, famine, nakedness, peril or sword? To be sure, famine is with us, for in Russia, over two million died in 1932-33 from starvation, and other nations have also been afflicted. But, if not Pauline, are our difficulties political, economic, national, or international? Really, if we go to the New Testament—this book which is perennial in interest and application, though little read—we would find that our difficulties and problems today are all mentioned there, classified under five heads: Problems of nationality, race, class, creed, and sex.

In forceful language, he dealt with each problem in turn, referring to the work of the League of Nations, to the efforts of Premier Smuts in South Africa to bring about equal right for blacks and whites, to Ghandi's tour to get rid of class cleavage in India, to the attempts being made to destroy the capitalist system and substitute some form of socialism, to the new forms of government being tried out in various countries. "All the forms of government that ever existed are to be found in the Bible", he asserted. "Israel passed through autocracy, democracy, socialism, theocracy, anarchy. God tested them all out in His dealings with the chosen people."

Referring to problems of sex, he referred to the attempt of womanhood to get on a parity with men. "It can't be done" he said. "Every invention in the home today, women owe to men. Of course, it is not a matter of inferiority that women are inferior, but a matter of destiny, of what place God intended women to fill". He asserted that the elimination of motherhood created selfishness. He derided the efforts being made to arrive at a common creed, saying that amalgamation of churches was man's way, while God's way was the way of unity. He showed how unity is to be found in every sphere where God works, and stated that in the soluton of world problems the chosen people would have a part to play. The real difficulty, was that the world had gone off the track in pursuit of idols of its own invention, and one by one these were being found wanting. If the problems of today are to be solved, then we must get back to God's word, find out God's will, and use all our capacity to make God's will prevail. In this endeavour, he decried the use of force in any direction. We only can win out by love.

Rev. Dr. Barr led the devotions, while Rev. Millyard offered prayer, and Rev. Sutcliffe closed the service.

Famous Panel Stolen In Ghent Cathedral

GHENT, Belgium, April 12.—(A. P.)— A section of the celebrated Van Eyck Triptych—"The Adoration of the Immaculate Lamb"—is missing from the St. Bavon Cathedral where it was assembled after the Great War.

The panel, which measured five feet by two, was stolen Tuesday night. Authorities said they believed the robbers would be unable to sell the work which is as well known in Europe as the painting of the "Mona Lisa."

The art treasure depicts the lamb, as described in the Apocalypse, surrounded by angels and approached by worshippers in four groups. In the upper part of the picture are the figures of Christ, the Virgin, St. John and St. Cecilia.

LAW BOOKS REMOVED

Expressing his annoyance in police court to-day at the absence of certain law books from the library of the local Law Society, Magistrate Langley said, "I had under consideration for judgment a criminal matter involving some very nice points of law and every one of three modern practical books on criminal authority dealing with this matter was not in the library, and they were not signed for. Such a condtion is not only an inconvenience to other members of the legal profession, but it is also causing inconvenience to courts."

CAST WELL CHOSEN FOR OPERA MIKADO

Costumes Are Elaborate and Appropriate to Japanese Setting.

"There's a fascination frantic in a ruin that's romantic. Do you think you are sufficiently decayed?" asks Ko-Ko, the Lord High Executioner of "The Mikado.", when he converses with the elderly spinster, Katisha, with regard to their approaching nuptials.

Not that Ko-Ko wanted to marry the lady whose sole claim to beauty resided in her elbows and eyebrows. Quite the contrary. But circumstances were too much for the gentleman and he found himself in a position where, unless he chose alternative of frying slowly in hot oil, he was obliged to accept the advances of the elderly dame.

This somewhat reversed romance between Ko-Ko and Katisha is only one of the many entertaining situations that abound in the gay 'Mikado', with the fantastic foolery that Gilbert knew so well how to combine with Sullivan's delightful lyrics.

The cast has been well chosen. The Mikado is to be played by George East; Stanley Willis is the hero of the tale, Nanki-Poo; Don McKay is Ko-Ko, Adam Sands, Junior, is the Lord High Everything Else, Pooh-Bah; John Fowler is a noble lord, Pish-Tush, and Miss Jessie Pattison has the part of Katisha. The three charming little maids from school are Mrs. Grace Munro, as Yum-Yum, heroine of the affair, Miss Emma Lou Chenhall, as Pitti-Sing, and Miss Isobel McKay as Peep-Bo.

Costumes will be elaborate and appropriate to the Japanese setting, They are from Mallabar, Toronto, a costumier who has achieved a Dominion-wide reputation in this way.

The production will be directed by Martin B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O., with members of the choir and Men's Association of St. Paul's Church, assisting in various capacities.

'The Mikado', which is produced by permission of Rupert D'Oyley Carte, will be presented at the Grand Opera House tomorrow, Friday evening, April 13th.

CHARGE HENRY, PRICE BLOCKED JARVIS RETRIAL

Toronto Lawyer Claims Falsehood, Evasion Used to Stop Hearing.

PEPALL KEPT IN U. S.

Two Gov't Heads Brand Allegations Effort to Make Matter "Political Issue."

TORONTO, April 12. (CP).—The Aemilius Jarvis case to-day was the subject of charges against the Premier and Attorney General of Ontario with these two government heads branding the allegations an attempt to make the matter a "political issue." Last night Col. Frank Moss, Toronto barrister who is leader in the attempt to have Jarvis re-tried, charged Premier George S. Henry and Attorney General W. H. Price had hindered a re-hearing of the case.

Mr. Jarvis was convicted in 1924 of conspiracy in connection with bond deals his brokerage firm handled and by which the legislature public accounts committee found the Hon. E. C. Drury Government lost $570,000. Mr. Jarvis was sentenced to six months in jail and paid a $50 000 fine. A movement to obtain another hearing for him was started.

At a meeting last night Col. Moss charged Premier Henry and Attorney General Price were responsible for "evasion and delay" in an effort to block re-trial of Jarvis. His charge was denied by Col. Price and Premier Henry who said the case was being made a "political issue" and was being brought brought before the public on the eve of Ontario's general elections.

Drury at Meeting

Col. Price said he had learned Mr. Drury was present at the meeting where Col. Moss made his charges and that Captain Elmore Philpott former Ontario C.C.F. leader, was chairman. Captain Philpot, however, replied he attended the meeting as an "independent citizen" without political connections.

The Ontario Government was accused by Col. Moss of being responsible for Andrew Pepall's detention in the United States in 1924. Pepall, he said, was a "material witness" in the Jarvis case, and Col. Moss claimed Attorney-General Price's report to Ottawa on the case had misrepresented the facts that Premier Henry supported this action.

Col. Moss charged Premier Henry and Col. Price with following a "deliberate policy of evasion and misrepresentation—and all with the object of preventing a wrong being righted."

In answering the charges, Col. Price said that he and W. F. Nickle, K.C., his predecessor as Attorney-General, had been convinced there had been no miscarriage of justice. At the time of the case Pepall was a resident of California, and the Ontario Government had tried to have him returned here to face the same charges as had been placed against Jarvis and Peter Smith, Provincial Treasurer in the Drury Government.

Deportation Rescinded.

Pepall's deportation had been ordered but Washington authorities later rescinded the order. If Pepall had been deported, Col. Price continued, he would have faced conspiracy charges on which Jarvis and Smith were convicted. Later Pepall was extradited for theft and tried but was acquitted. Col. Price pointed out Pepall could not be tried on conspiracy as it was not an extraditable offence.

"We were unable to try him on a charge of conspiracy and he immediately left for the United States," Col. Price added. "Pepall has never been tried for conspiracy, the charge on which Smith and Jarvis were convicted. If he comes back here at any time we will try him on that charge."

Col. Price said applications for a new trial for Jarvis had been made to Ottawa, but both Hon. Ernest Lapointe, former Minister of Justice, and Hon. Hugh Guthrie, present Minister, had refused these applications.

½ the work and better looking floors!

It can be done—it is being done by smart housewives everywhere who use Poliflor regularly. They know that there IS a difference in floor waxes. They have proved the difference with the "Shine and Shuffle" test—the test that we invite YOU to make in order that you, too, may discover which wax will outlook and outwear whatever other wax you may be using now on the floors of your home.

THE SHINE AND SHUFFLE TEST

While you still have some of your present polish left, get from your dealer a tin of Poliflor and test them both. Use Poliflor on one floor in your home where the finish must be right. Then take a floor where wear is extra hard and do this floor also with Poliflor Wax.

On your other floors use the polish you always have been using. Test the results you get from both finishes over a period of time—we leave the decision to you.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

Not so long ago, the lovely and talented Bette Davis was insured by her studio for $50,000 against becoming fat. Bette, it seems, is ideal when at 120 pounds. It is essential that her weight does not rise above that figure. And the cinema studios hold figure perfection in such high regard, that they even insure their star's measurements.

Figure perfect is just as highly desired by non-professional women as it is by cinema stars. But fatness is not the only thing that can ruin the flawless symmetry of a figure. It's true that slenderness is the keynote of figure perfection today. But there's a bit of difference between slenderness and skinniness! And thin women often find it more difficult to acquire a few curves and surplus pounds than fat gals do to lose some of their excess avoirdupois.

Any lass who is in normal health, but whose figure has become too thin for beauty can do a great deal to round out her countours by proper dieting. Any well-planned gaining weight diet, such as the excellent one outlined in my 'New Figure' booklet, gradually will tend to give any normal gal the added poundage and curves that she desires. But it must be a well-planned diet, don't forget.

In addition, there's another thing that the extremely thin woman can do. That is to take a good tonic. And two of the best known for increasing weight and building up the body are cod liver oil and halibut liver oil.

Cod liver oil, and the more recently discovered halibut liver oil, both are concentrated food substance of great value in the diet. These oils have the same life-giving effects that the ultra-violet rays of the sun do. They activate the tissues, improve the quality of the blood and build up resistance to disease. Indeed, many specialists recommend that all children and adults take a bit of either oil each day, in order to increase their vitality. The best time to take either of these nutrient tonics is after meals. And if the taste of either oils repulsive, it may be taken in a bit of orange or lemon juice. Either of these fruit juices will effectively conceal the taste of the oils without impairing their benefits.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Cosmetics

Mae W.: A soft peach shade of powder, soft orange rouge and light, vivid lipstick should be best for you. Your standard weight is about 120 pounds.

Reducing

Serious: If you start now, you should indeed be able to lose all that excess weight by summer. Reducing course in my 'New Figure' booklet is guaranteed to take off eight to ten pounds in two weeks, and has been proved a healthful routine.

Hair

Becky: If you wish to have your hair made several actual shades lighter, you will have to resort to bleaching. Such work should be done by an expert only, in a reliable shop, and not by an amateur.

Your Health

by DR LOGAN CLENDENING

Having described the slender person and the stockily-built person and the diets for them ,is it possible to make any special recommendations for the person of medium type?

Theoretically these should constitute the largest group of the population, but practically they are probably the smallest. They exhibit mixed types of body, some of them with a digestive system like the slender type, and ductless gland system like the stocky type.

Since the fuel foods predominate in the diet of the slender type, and fruits and vegetables form the bulk of the diet of stocky people, the intermediate type might have all of these things mixed, with a tendency one way or the other, depending on exactly what his own bodily tendency is. The relation of occupation or of the work and exercise done by these people is important in determining the amount of food. The more muscular work that has to be done, the more should the fuel foods be added, and the less exertion that is required in doing the day's work, the more the vegetable and complete intake should be lowered.

In general, it should be said that the variation in the food should consist more in the starches and fats than in the meats and other protein foods. It is not true, necessarily, that the more exercise one takes the more meat is required. Fuel foods, which include starch, sugar and fats, are as valuable for replacing energy as meat itself.

There is no question that mental work does not require extra food or extra fuel food. The amount of fuel that is needed for mental effort is so small as to be negligible.

Diets recommended as suitable for persons of medium build are as follows:

SEDENTARY
(Breakfast)
Orange Juice
Corn Flakes (or other dry cereal)
With Top Milk
Graham Muffins Jam
Coffee
(Lunch)
Chicken Croquettes
Creamed Celery on Toast
Shredded Cabbage Salad
Pineapple Cookies

(Dinner)
Bouillon
Roast Lamb With Mint Sauce
Browned Potatoes Carrots and Peas
Lettuce Salad (French Dressing)
Apple Pie

ACTIVE
(Breakfast)
Stewed Apricots
Cornmeal Mush (With Top Milk)
Shirred Eggs With Two Small Sausages
Toast Coffee
(Lunch)
Clam Chowder
Ham Hash Spinach
Rolls Pear Salad Milk
Brown Betty With Hard Sauce
Dinner)
Cream of Asparagus Soup
Broiled Steak
French Fried Potatoes
Cauliflower, au Gratin
Lettuce and Tomato Salad

Today's Recipes

Baked Fish in Blanket:—Clean and wipe dry a two-pound whitefish. Salt and pepper it inside and out and rub with flour. Make a dressing of one cup hot mashed potatoes, one teaspoon minced parsley, one teaspoon onion juice, one well-beaten egg, one teaspoon butter. Beat this until light and place it in the fish. Make a rich biscuit dough and roll out. Lay the fish in the center, wet edges of dough and wrap fish in it. Place in flat greased pan and bake one hour in moderate oven, 325 degrees. Serve with a white sauce made from two tablespoons flour, one cup milk. Season with salt, dash of red pepper, and two tablespoons lemon juice.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Label Antidotes

"In my kitchen cupboard I have a recipe cabinet divided into two sections," writes a housewife. "One is labeled 'Antidote and Remedies,' and the other 'Stains'. A set of alphabet cards is behind each heading. On separate recipe cards I have written out each stain or antidote and the treatment or remedy for each—ammonia behind the 'a' card, etc. Same in stain section. When an accident occurs I can find in a hurry just what to do."

Orange Sauce

Good with almost any sort of fritter. One cup hot water, the juice and rind of one orange one-half cup sugar, two tablespoons cornstarch, one egg white. Heat water until boiling point. Blend sugar and cornstarch with a little cold water and stir into hot water. Cook for a few minutes, stirring constantly. Then remove from fire and stir in orange juice and rind. Pour over stiffly whipped egg white and serve immediately.

Prevents Curling

When a rug starts to curl up at the corner sew a weight such as used in coats to under side of the corner. Cut a triangular piece of firm material about eight inches on the two similar sides and sew this to the under side of the rug, covering the weight. Sew the two short sides first, then stretch the material tight and sew the long edge of the triangle so that it has a tendency to resist the upward curl.

Celestial Salad

One cup marshmallows, one-half cup chopped almonds, one cup diced pineapple, one-half cup mayonnaise. Mix and let stand seevral hours in refrigerator. When ready to serve fold in one cup of whipped cream.

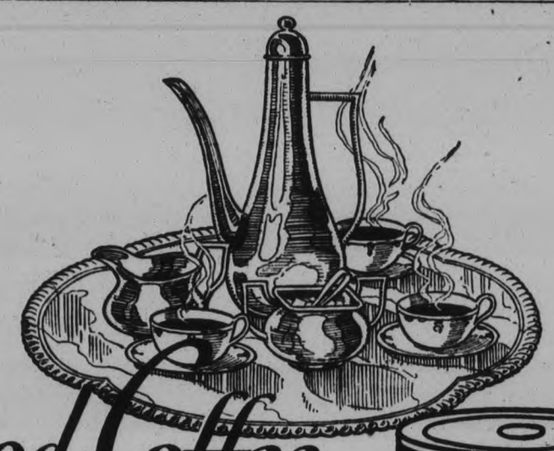
ROAD CAMP IN FINE SHAPE OFFICIAL'S VISIT SHOWS

FORT ERIE, April 11 (CP)—Astonishment at the written charges made by eight Fort Erie young men who returned from Rondeau Camp several days ago, which have been filed with Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests, was expressed to-day by Councillor Herbert T. Guess, following an inspection of Turkey Point Camp, operated through the same commissary as Rondeau.

"At Turkey Point I found food plentiful and most substantial. The tableware was serviceable and not of lead which left a stain on food causing sickness such as these young men alleged at Rondeau. The quarters were clean, sanitation good, and an open inspection was cordially welcomed by officials of the camp."

"I cannot see any reason for criticism."

Councillor Guess escorted the first complement of local men to Rondeau.



Good Coffee DESERVES CARNATION

FILL your prettiest cream pitcher with rich, golden Carnation. Cream your steaming, fragrant cup of coffee—and taste. The taste is a bit different—as if your coffee had been made some new, pleasing way. You'll be delighted with its colour—its taste—and its consistency, too.

Carnation seems to blend better with coffee than ordinary cream does. That's because it is homogenized and sterilized. Try Carnation also for fruit and cereals. We know the result will be its regular use in your home, not only for creaming, but for all recipes calling for milk. Write for two valuable books—"100 Glorified Recipes" and "Contented Babies". Just Between Us Women

When there is heed of instilling zest into a company of adults at a party, try the following games. They are suggested for their novelty, and because a large or small group can play them equally well.

* * * * * * *

It is not easy to costume a woman when four colors are not permitted to be mentioned. Each time any one of them is named it scored 5 against the player. The one whose score is lowest wins the game—and a prize of anything the hostess happens to have on hand, such as a box of fancy crackers, half a dozen homemade cookies, a jar of preserves, a glass of jelly, a new handkerchief, etc. While no prize is needed ,the surprise of receiving anything for an impromptu game, lends zest.

* * * * * * *

One player is the sales person nd she asks three questions of each person, the questions being of her own choosing. The following are suggested: Can I help you get a dress? What kind- What color? Or it may be a hat, gloves, shoes, lingerie, stockings etc. Or the question may be: What costume do you wish to buy for your Spring wardrobe? The questions following depend on what the buyer has chosen, but always the question of color should come in. The colors to be excluded may be white, brown, blue and green, or grey, blue, red and violet, or any preferred ones. The third player to name one of these forbidden colors changes places with the salesperson, and proceeds to question those seated, who represent her customers.

* * * * * * *

The hostess provides six or seven different colored sheets of tissue paper, scissors and library paste. Each guest cuts several circles from the papers, having them about 1¼ inches in diameter. Each represents a flower, and should be held in the centre and pulled toward the circumference to give a flower-like formation.

* * * * * * *

A large sheet of wrapping paper is thumb tacked to the wall or a door. On the paper is drawn a large circle, marked off into 1 inch squares. This represents the bouquet. Each players is given a number and when the hostess calls it, the one called puts a dab of paste on the centre of her flower and goes to the bouquet and sticks it in any one of the squares, before the hostess finishes counting ten. Failure to do this scores five.

* * * * * * *

The object of the game is to avoid putting a duplicate colored flower in any adjacent square already having its colored flower in it. At first this is easy, but it becomes more and more difficult as the squares fill up with flowers. The one who puts a duplicate flower in an adjacent square, either in a straight line with it or diagonal to it, score minus ten. When the bouquet is filled with flowers, the one whose score is lowest wins the game.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

FORCING AND ACE SHOWING COMBINED

Bidders who are not expert feature showers often combine forcing tactics and ace showing to advantage, when seeking slams, as was done here.

Bidding went: West, 1-Diamond; East, 1-Heart; South, 1-Spade; West forced with 3-Diamonds, East showed no losers in spades and support for his partner's suit with 3-Spades; West, 4-Clubs, to show his ace; East, 5-Clubs, to show his king; West, 5-Diamonds;- East, 6-Diamonds, as he could see only a possible loss of a single heart trick. South, doubled, ending bidding.

As South had doubled, North felt obliged to lead his partner's suit, instead of laying down his ace of hearts first. Had North led the ace it would not have defeated the contract. South's double was made upon general principles, because he thought it hard to make 6-odd, not because he had the faintest idea how the contract might be defeated.

Dummy won the spade trick. A low club enabled the declarer to gain entry and have dummy ruff a spade. Upon East's two top clubs the declarer let go his only heart and his third spade. Dummy's king of hearts was led. When the ace did not appear second hand, as the declarer expected it to do, West ruffed. Dummy trumped the declarer's fourth spade and the declarer ruffed a low heart from dummy. West led his last spade and dummy ruffed with its last diamond. The declarer ruffed another of dummy's hearts, then he pulled trumps and scored his doubled contract, with one trick over.

Suppose North had led his ace of hearts. He would have saved losing the one trick which West scored above his contract. Then North would have been obliged to lead a spade, to take that card of entry from dummy. West might have then played the hand in either of two slightly different ways for a small slam.

Probably the safest method of play would have been for West to win two trump tricks in his own hand. Having seen that only a single trump was left, West then might have led his lone ace of clubs. After which dummy's queen of diamonds would have won the next trick, picking up the last outstanding trump, and leaving East's hand with more than sufficient good hearts and clubs for discards of the declarer's four losing spades.

Home and School Association News

QUEEN ALEXANDRA SCHOOL

Queen Alexandra Home and School Association held their regular meeting in the Kindergarten room on Monday evening, with the president, Mrs. E. Telford in the chair. The meeting was opened in the usual way by the singing of "O Canada" followed by the repetition of the Lord's Prayer in unison. The treasurer's report by Mrs. Rogers showed a satisfactory balance of cash on hand. Roll call showed Miss Walker's class had the largest number of mothers present.

The musical program was provided by two pupils of Miss McKee and these young folk acquitted themselves in a way that brought much credit to themselves and to their teacher. The first number consisted of two nicely played piano pieces by Jean Lillow and the second was a piano solo most creditably rendered by Ruth Gaskil.

During the business session it was decided to have a paper collection the last week of April. Reports were received from representatives and from conveners of committees, the convener for relief, Mrs. Parnell, reporting that a number of articles of clothing had been given out as usual during the month, although the demand for such had not been as great as the previous month.

Wonderfully fine reports were given by the delegates who were at the Home and School Federation convention in Toronto during Easter week. There were twenty-seven from Peterborough attending this convention and six of these were from Queen Alexandra Association. These reports submitted by Mrs. Telford, Mrs. R. Ross, Mrs. A. W. Nelson and Mrs. R. Parnell, were most interesting and these delegates brought to the mefbers of their association, not only a vast amount of information, but also a good deal of inspiration which they had gained by their attendance at the various sessions. Some of the things which were stressed the most at the convention were: The necessity for 100% membership in the associations, parent education for a better parenthood, character education and more religious education in the home and in the school, emphasis was also laid on the desirability of having more musical training in the schools.

Before the singing of the National Anthem, Mrs. S. F. Touchburn voiced a vote of thanks to the delegates for the very splendid reports which they had given.

KING GEORGE SCHOOL

The Home and School Association met in the Kindergarten room on Tuesday evening for their monthly meeting.

The president, Mrs. Groombridge was in charge. There was a good attendance present. The meeting opened by all repeating the Lord's Prayer.

Many topics were discussed and finally it was decided to have carpet bowling as an entertainment for the members.

All classes were largely attended by the mothers, especially Mr. Northey's who carried off the banner.

A short but pleasing program was then rendered. Song sheets were passed and all took part in community singing which was lead by Mr. Groombridge.

Mrs. Groombridge, who was the representative to the convention held in Toronto last week, gave an inspiring report.

Mrs. Mitchell very sweetly sang two delightful numbers, "A Brown Bird" and "When You Come to Me" accompanied by Mrs. Greenslade. Next the audience was favored with a 2-act play called "Cross Word Puzzle" presented by ladies from Queen Mary School, which was highly appreciated. Those taking part were; Mrs. Ballard, Mrs. Ingram, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Fitzgerald and Master Ridyard. More community singing was enjoyed, followed by the National Anthem, which brought the meeting to a close.

A dainty lunch was served by the refreshment committee.

Doug To Return For Reconciliation

The first public statement made by Doug. Fairbanks (now in Spain) about his rumored reconciliation with Mary Pickford, his Canadian-born estranged wife, is that he has been in conversation with her and that Mary is very "charming." This, and the fact that Doug. plans to return to the United States in June, would lead one to believe that the famous couple will soon be reconciled. At least Hollywood is confident that Doug. will soon come leaping back to Pickfair (shown above), which became an institution in screendom's "first family." Mary is shown talking to her husband by trans-Atlantic telephone.

James is normal in every way except size, he's active in sports, does well in his studies and walks two miles to school every day.

Admiral Byrd Begins Lonely Vigil

ADMIRAL BYRD

Alone, in a snow-covered hut, with only a radio set and scientific instruments to keep him company, Read Admiral Richard E. Byrd anticipates a pleasant stay of six or seven months separated from other members of his expedition in Little America by 123 miles of snow and ice, while he makes extensive weather observations which he believes will greatly enlarge present knowledge of polar meteorological conditions. While the admiral keeps his lonely vigil in the tiny shack other members of the expedition will carry out the duties he has outlined and follow out the scheme of government he has devised under which all will be equal.

Chick Pleated Sleeves

Patricia Ellis wears black and white.

Charming for the girl who is to be married and must attend many afternoon parties in her honor, and who also is to be entertained at informal dinners and teas, is this black and white frock worn by Patricia Ellis, screen player. The unusual pleated sleeves are the distinguishing feature of this dress, and the manner in which the materials are combined—white top with small standing collar, black sleeves with white edging. Black skirt that comes well up on the bodice section in diamond shape, and flower-like buckle on the self-material belt, the buckle repeating the flower-like effect of the sleeves. The bodice fastens down the back with a line of small black buttons, and the waistline droops slightly, a new note in waistlines.

Greatest Circus Aerialist Grounded For Life

Afredo Codona, known to millions of circus-goers as the only aerialist to make a triple somersault, is on the ground, just a spectator in the stands, as circus season opens. Injury received in act ended his career as world's greatest aerialist. Codona's wife Lilian Leitzel, lost her life in performing a similar stunt. Photos show him when he was at "height of fame", and grounded.

Leaps To Death

Because of a disagreement with her grocery clerk boy friend a few hours before pretty 19-year-old Myrtle Rosendahl leaped to her death from a span on the high level bridge in Edmonton to the frozen ground, 131 feet below. Not until the next day was her body found, lying in a smashed heap near the edge of the Saskatchewan river, over which the bridge structure spans.

Climbs From Cowboy To President

Wilson rounded up cattle in the stockyards before he was elected president of the third largest packing house in the United States.

Just because his father, Thos. E. Wilson, was prominent in Chicago social world, and owner of one of the biggest houses in the United States, was no reason for his son, Edward Foss Wilson, to sit back and coast. Instead, he went west, got himself a cowboy's outfit and became an ordinary cowhand. And he was not spared the "dirty" work either. He stuck it out, and now at 29 he becomes the head of the third largest packing-house in the U.S., and one of the youngest executives in that country. Just another of those romantic "success" stories.

These Beauties Leave The Social Whirl For Films

Rich girs are getting their breaks in the movies these days. Here are five who have deserted the social whirl for a film career. Elizabeth Young is a New York social registerite; Virginia Pine Lehman, a Chicago heiress; Merry Fahrney, also from Chicago, a debutante-sportswoman; Janet Snowden, who became princess by marrying Francesco Don Cra Caravita of Italy, gave up royalty for the camera; Winnie Flint, the daughter of a noted industrialist and wife of Gil Berry famed football star.

PREMIERS BALK AT COMMENTING ON B.N.A. CHANGE

Taschereau Believes All Provinces Should Be Consulted First.

BRACKEN'S VIEW SAME.

Only Macdonald of Nova Scotia is Outstanding in Favor of Revision.

By the Canadian Press

The question of revision of the British North America Act which laid the foundations for the Dominion of Canada 67 years ago, today was squarely before the provincial premiers. Prime Minister R. B. Bennett in the House of Commons yesterday declared he held "A very strong opinion as to the necessity of an early revision of the British North America Act."

Revision, the prime minister said, was necessary for centralizing of administration of social legislation which would require rearrangement of the powers of parliament and the provincial legislatures. Such a step, however, would not be taken until after an appeal to the country.

Provincial premiers hesitated to make definite statements on the question with the exception of Nova Scotia's youthful government head, Hon. Angus L. Macdonald, who has urged such action since he became premier seven months ago.

Premier L. A. Taschereau of Quebec declined to state further than he believed no amendment to the B.N.A. Act should be made "without a conference of all the provinces and their unanimous consent." The Quebec premier awaited further details of Prime Minister Bennett's statement before making any additional remarks.

Awaits Details

Premier W. J. P. MacMillan of Prince Edward Island declined to express an opinion until the nature of the proposed changes had been revealed. Mr. Bennett's statement, he pointed out, referred to social legislation exclusively.

"Sixty seven years cannot pass without change and decay," was the comment of Nova Scotia's premier. It may well be that one of the greatest tasks confronting the people of Canada is the revision of our federal constitution to the end that it may serve Canadians more effectively and more equitably in the years that lie ahead. Since Confederation the provinces had to provide social services which taxed provincial revenues, a burden that had to be solved.

Premier John Bracken of Manitoba described Mr. Bennett's remarks as "an interesting statement." He said changes mentioned by Mr. Bennett had been urged for some time. He expected, however, the provinces would be consulted before any revision occurred.

Voice of the People

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner Office by 5 p.m. on the day before insertion. All letters must be signed by the writer, although a pen-name may be used when inserting non-controversial subject matter. Letters over 400 words will be cut down at discretion of the editor.

FIVE-DAY WEEK

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir, — The war brought changes on the railw . . Schedules, governing rates of pay and working conditions drawn up over a period of years was changed when the war office told them if they could not get the wheat over they would need the men who were equipped and trained overseas. A speedy solution was found. New rates of pay with working conditions were drawn up that could be changed by either parties giving 60 days' notice. Had this been done in 1929 and a new schedule drawn up to suit the changed conditions of the times instead of allowing men to make the equivalent of thirty and forty days a month while others were cut off and their wives and families left to suffer. This should be righted, and a five-day week put into effect at once.

THE PULPIT AND POLITICS

To The Editor of The Examiner:

Sir,—I would be much obliged if you would publish the following letter in connection with my recent resignation from the Keene Presbyterian Church. I quote verbatim with my personal comments thereon:

House of Commons—Canada,
Ottawa, April 4th, 1934.

Reverend John A. Sutherland,
Keene, Ontario.

Dear Sir,—I see by the press that you have resigned your pastorate and have gone over to the C.C.F. the reason assigned by the press is outside interference. That indicates a certain type of preacher and the C.C.F. in general. They will interfere with everybody else, but do not dare let anybody else interfere with them.

You evidently want to take your pulpit into politics; all right, we will take our politics into your pulpit and see how you like it. Some preachers are going into politics and the world apparently is going to the devil. I think it would have been better for you, if you had stayed with Christianity.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) W. D. Cowan.

I have no personal acquaintance with the gentleman who sent me this letter, but judging from the quarter from which it comes, one would presume he is a M.P. in the Federal House. If the surmise be correct, the letter reveals to my mind, not only the crass ignorance of the writer, but reflects very badly on the constituency which he represents. All I say is: God help the country that has got such representation.

To come to the letter itself, I most strenuously deny that, during my twenty-five years' ministry I ever brought politics directly into the pulpit. I have certainly dealt with great moral issues and intend to continue the good work. The fact that the world is chock full of the necessities of life and men, women and children going ill housed, ill clothed and ill fed—litertally starving—is a tremendous moral and spiritual issue and is a theme well worthy of any follower of the Master, "who had compassion on the multitude because they were as sheep having no shepherd". The truth is that this old bogey of bringing politics into the pulpit is a mere blind that carries no weight with really intelligent people. The Gospel of Jesus Christ was meant, and is meant, to give Life and to give it more abundantly. The Master Himself cared for men's bodies, as well as their souls and I hold it is the Churches' duty still.

Could anything show more convincingly the prejudice and ignorance of divorcing the C.C.F. from Christianity than the last sentence of the letter? Why! It is because I believe with my whole soul that the C.C.F., both in its ideals and in its methods, is Christian through and through, that I have the honor to belong to that particular persuasion.

Yours etc.,
John A. Sutherland.

Toronto,
April 9th, 1934.

FINDING WORK

To the Editor of The Examiner,

Dear Sir,—I am taking the liberty of asking you to print the following remarks in your "Peoples Column." I noticed in a recent copy of your paper a statement with reference to those of the unemployed in this city who want to work, that things were opening up and the factories were taking on men again. So I decided to give this piece of "good news" a trial. I spent one afternoon of the past week going the rounds from one factory to another, and, by the way, I called on no less than 8 of them all in the South End and not a single one of them had work to offer. The first large one in the list of course had the old time worn gag of "nothing to-day," which is a familiar phrase with the most of large concerns, these days, and furthermore I understand this plant has an age limit now, so it is an utter impossibility for a man over this stated-age to think he is going to get work there—No. 2 factory was along somewhat similar lines, coupled with a few pointers that all the old hands who are now laid off, would have to be called in first, and a newcomer could have therefore little chance for a long time anyway. The remaining 6 plants all had the same answer. No one being hired. Have all the help needed etc. According to your paper these plants are either taking on men, or on being interviewed they say they are not taking anyone on. Which statement is correct? For my own satisfaction I have proved that those same factories don't need any help, or at least that is the answer I personally got at them all.

Now with reference to the Government Employment office — I called in there stating my business, regarding work in local factories, and was told there was nothing in that line. The only other opportunity was the usual job on the farm, or farming. This "Job on a Farm" is an old story at nearly all Government Employment Bureaus —at this season of the year anyhow. And if this is all that can be held out to an applicant, then the office may as well be in "Timbuctoo" or elsewhere, in other words it might be as well closed for all the jobs it has to offer.

What I would like to know is—what earthly use is a farming job to the man in the city or town, who has been living in an industrial atmosphere nearly all his life and transplant him outright on this farm, without even the rudimentary knowledge which a man should have and is essential to this particular trend of employment. This man wants a job in an industrial environment, to which he naturally belongs and therefore should be placed where he can benefit both himself and employer. As far as the Employment Service Bureau is concerned, I think it needs an extensive overhaul, as I fail to see any proper 3 point contact between employer, office and applicant for work.

One more point, I say it is a safe bet that 50 or 60 per cent of former workers now out of employment will never see the inside of a factory again. Why? Machinery does the work now. Modern automatic machines have driven the craftsman and tradesman out on the street where he gradually loses his identity and gets swallowed up in the maelstrom of present day unemployment. Here's an example — Making electric light bulbs for instance. Up to the year 1920, it took a skilled mechanic a working day to turn out 400 bulbs. Along comes a giant machine, with a minimum of human attention, turns out 78,000 electric light bulbs every 24 hours. Each one of these machines does away with 992 skilled men. A brick making machine turns out 40,000 bricks an hour. Razor blades were turned out at the rate of 500 per day, by one man, before 1914. Now a machine makes 32,000 a day. Boot and shoe industry—1 machine does the work of 250 men multiply by 100—the answer is 25,000 men, thrown out of work. Where is all this leading us to? I think myself its about time to get rid of this camouflage and stop passing the buck, swinging the lead, or what have you; call a spade a spade, and let us at least make a distinction between the truth and mere supposition.

I remain,
Yours hopefully,
Looking for Employment.

Oriental Escapes On Opium Charge

CHATHAM, Ont., April 11. (CP) Lee Kin Nun surrounded by Oriental friends walked jubilant from city police court this morning following a judgment delivered by Magistrate Arnold in which the proprietor of a King street restaurant was dismissed on a charge alleging illegal possession of opium.

Expectations are that the federal authorities, however, will lodge an appeal against the judgment of the magistrate.

Prosecution of Nun resulted from a raid of Mounted Police officers on his sleeping quarters on March 9, and during which they located an opium pipe and paraphernalia for preparing the drug, some decks of opium and a quantity of opium dross. The dope and some of the equipment was found in a secret cupboard in the wall.

No More Piles

Doctor's Prescription Guaranteed.

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

This is the scientific truth about Piles—the real reason why salves and suppositories do not give lasting relief, why cutting does not remove the cause.

Your itching, bleeding or protruding Piles will only go when you actually remove the cause. External treatments can't do this — an internal medicine should be used. HEM-ROID, the prescription of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, sold by good druggists everywhere, succeeds because it stimulates the circulation, drives out congested blood, heals and restores the affected parts.

So why waste time on external remedies or worry about an operation when McDermid & Jury and Bond's Drug Store invites every Pile sufferer to try HEM-ROID with guarantee of money-back if not joyfully satisfied with the help one bottle gives.

SHIP RIVALRY LIVELY IN 1834

Old Advertisement Tells of Speedy Service, Niagara to Montreal in Four Days.

"EVERY COMFORT."

TORONTO, April 12 (C.P.). — Bustling activity along every Great Lake harbor front on the eve of the opening of navigation, duplicate similar scenes 100 years ago when steamships were making serious inroads to the lake's passenger trade Owners of the steamers opened the keenly-fought battle for lake traffic in 1834 with a wide publicity campaign. One "notice" in the Toronto Patriot of 1834 tells its own story of the keen rivalry and competition and changes made to improve the speed of lake passage. The advertisement said:
